C. S.—You are ungracious in your gifts yet expect much of others; you are selfish. You have set your mind on gaining money, not for the good it will do you, but just to have it. No one loves a miser, and you are laying out a hard road for yourself. You could succeed at business, especially in an office where there is a certain amount of routine, but will not make good in trade, unless you get rid of your grasping nature. Your color is blue. You were born on a Saturday.

J. A. D. — Your reading shows promise of much happiness, arising out of service to others. You are sympathetic and kind hearted in a high degree, and have many sterling qualities. Your failing is lack of ambition and stick-to-it-iveness. You have no certain aim and little power of concentration. Until you correct this, you will not gain much material success. Your color is green. You were born on a Monday.

M. S.—You are cramped through application to a job which does not offer scope for your mentality. You should not be tied down to a desk or a bench, but should be a master of men. You have initiative, creative ability, and quick discernment invaluable in an executive. You are very much like a fly, imprisoned by a window. The fly knows it cannot get out, but does not understand what is between it and the out-of-doors it can see. Are you going to wait for someone to open the window, or are you going around by another way? Your color is yellow. You were born on a Wednesday.

R. F. W. — You are capable of much good or evil according as the spirit drives you, and you have indulged in both. You are impressionable, but have probably imbibed more spirit of bad than good through laxity in choosing companions. I advise an immediate house-cleaning. You should make no attempt to influence or guide others, at least until you have settled your path. Send your address for personal advice that cannot be given here. Your colors are red and brown. You were born on a Saturday.

E. H. — You are frivolous and thoughtless of others, with a great deal too much self-conceit. You spend no time in solid thinking or reading, and consider only your own pleasure. At 24 you should be settling down to at least thought of the future and what it will mean. You are light in your affections, and can change if the change seem advantageous. Nothing but an honest soul-searching and a complete overhauling will be of any use to you. Don't put it off, if you desire happiness. Your color is tan. You were born on a Thursday.

C.E.F.—You have suffered much with patience, but have begun to rebel. You have exceptional talent for music, and should not allow anything to stand in the way of your developing it. You are not otherwise gifted, and will not be successful in business. Your affection are bestowed on one person, and you are quite happy to have it so. Fickleness does not show in your makeup. Leave doubtful or sex novels alone; read clean books. Your colors are brown and purple. You were born on a Monday.

J.T.S.—You are sadly deficient in self-confidence; lack weight of character; are constantly liable to undervalue yourself. You should realize by this time that you have great talent for finance and business, and with your live mentality there should be no halting your progress. Mix with worth-while men; see how others have climbed; then go and do likewise. Learn to depend upon yourself. Practice passing judgment on matters that come to your notice even though you have not the opportunity to give them effect. You will learn self-reliance and self-respect. You were born on a Tuesday. Your color is steel.

R.A.C.—You have great power of observation and ability to acquire knowledge. Can make a page of information your own by merely reading it, but have not exercised this as much as might be. Do not undervalue the great gift that is yours. Find some profession that will hold your interest, and get into it. Don't hang around the fringe, of successful men, mix with them. Spur your ambition and you will succeed quickly and surely. Your color is gold. You were born on a Friday.

M.M.K. — You have travelled a great deal and the imppint of what you have seen is in your reading. You are observing and have a retentive mind, but are not capitalizing the knowledge you have gained. You are sympathetic and kind, but more disposed to change than is good. Be constant in your affections and true to your promises, expressed or implied. Don't be afraid to admit your error when you find yourself in the wrong; your moral character needs strengthening. Your color is gray. You were born on a Sunday.

FIRE HISTORY IS SPLENDID BOOK

IS WELL WRITTEN.

Possibly the best seller in Peterborough to-day is a neatly bound, magazine size volume which deals with the history of the local fire department from the time of its inception to the present day. The work is authored by F. H. Dobbin, who has possibly the largest collection of facts in the city regarding events peculiar to it, and who has prepared an achievement of detail and pleasant reminiscences. In addition to matters pertaining to the actual personnel of the brigade, a comprehensive outline may be found dealing with the Waterworks system, and other departments essentially linked with the fire fighting plant.

The greatest value of the book, however, lies in the fact that it provides a means whereby one may become more intimately acquainted with those men who, subject to a call at any time rush in the defence of life and property relegating thought of self to the background. From the earliest known time when the volunteer brigade was established to the present day, all the activities of the department are carefully recorded, while the number and variety of the photographs make the book a veritable treasure trove of interest.

As the standing of the brigade is recorded under different conditions and managements it is evident that the book will have an appeal for all ages as casual reading alone, while the more careful reader will find much of importance relative to the management of the city and the functions of its many departments.

An interesting feature is added by the recording of many of the great fires which have threatened the city at various times, disrupting the quiet tenor of commonplace events for a time, to be forgotten or raked up later as a vague memory in connnection with some later happening. The records contained in this history of the local brigade, supplemented as they are, with many illustrations, will recall those moments of chaos, and remind the reader of past perils. In the back pages of this volume may be found a comprehensive index of fire losses, valuable for drawing comparisons.

From a business standpoint, the book has a definite value as a directory of enterprise for its records through several pages of advertising space the greater number of those engaged in the development of the city through the conduct of local trade.

AVIATORS KILLED.

U. S. Navy Officer and Seamen Die When Plane Crashes.

SAN DIEGO, Calif., Jan. 15. — (Canadian Press)—Lieut. Frederick G. Kahn and Seaman B. L. Law, United States Navy airmen, met death here when their plane fell 1,000 feet into San Diego Bay.

Rubber trees were once regarded as curiosities in Malaya, where millions of dollars are now invested in rubber plantations.

INSURANCE CO. HAD SUCCESSFUL YEAR

The annual meeting of the Canada Life Assurance Company was held on January 14, and its officials were astonished at the excellent results of the past year. The company appears to have shared in the general advance of life insurance to a greater extent than the average, because 22 per cent. was its increase in paid-for business over last year; whereas the average of all companies was about 15 per cent.

The total income for 1925 was over thirty millions, of which $22,962,803 was premiums, $6,184,711 interest and $259,663 profit on the sale of securities.

Such an influx of money has kept the investment department busy with re-investment problems, but an interest yield of over 6 per cent. per annum from a large and varied list of the highest grade of securities was obtained in connection with the past year's operations.

Policyholders are interested chiefly in the stability of the company, and, secondly, in its earning power. The contingency fund of $500,000 and a further investment reserve of more than that sum, combined with the general surplus of $7,232,411 and capital stock, make a total of over $9,278,000 available for the protection of policyholders over and above the regular policy reserves. The surplus earned was $4,576,011, out of which dividends to policyholders will be paid. $3,393,000 will be distributed in 1926.

The large business done last year, exceeding $128,500,000 in paid-for policies, shows the popularity of the company, and the confidence placed in it by the insuring public.

Two twin-brother lawyers appeared in a recent case in a London police court, one for the prosecution and the other for the defence. The two prosecutors were also brothers, as were the three prisoners in the case.

EUCHRE NIGHT.

Members' euchre night at the Knights of Columbus rooms last evening was well patronized. Twelve tables of cards were played. Winners of the five geese offered as prizes were Messrs. W. Thomas, Thos. Minicolo, N. Tobin, J. R. Corkery and J. Leblanc.

After the card games were finished, the players adjourned to the bowling alleys, where a game between two teams was played off for a sixth fat goose. Mr. Thomas Ryan won the bird, with a score of 203, the high single. A feature of the game was the careful bowling of Mr. James Lynch and the energetic service rendered by the two volunteer pin boys, Messrs. Alrick Letellier and Bob McCabe.

BROKEN LEG FATAL.

Elderly Woman's Accident Proved Fatal.

SYDNEY, N.S., Jan. 15.—(Canadian Press.) — Death from the shock of a broken leg, complicated by an impaired condition of the heart, was the verdict of the coroner's jury which investigated the case of Mrs. Kate Lamb, 70, who was found dead at noon in her home. The aged woman lived alone. There was blood spattered about the kitchen floor. Foul play was suspected for a time, but evidence of Dr. J. McLeod, city health officer, showed that the death was due to a fall and the breaking of the leg. A bone pierced the skin and caused bloodletting.

ECLIPSE FASHIONS

Exclusive Patterns by Hazel Bergen

1095

Bordered Materials a Feature of Attractive Frocks

Bordered materials are to be a vogue in themselves for the coming season. This slender-fitting frock of rich bordered crêpe achieves lower fulness by means of groups of small tucks at the front and back of the hips. Again let me emphasize that to be smart, the tuck is made on the inside of your frock and only the seam shows on the outside. The collar turns down, and the opening at the front is cut low enough to allow the frock to slip on over the head. The long full sleeves are joined to the short kimono-shoulders and gathered into narrow bands at the wrists. The diagram shows the simple design of No. 1095, which is in sizes 34, 36, 38, 40, 42 and 44 inches bust. Size 38 bust requires 3¾ yards 36 or 40 inch, or 2⅛ yards 54-inch bordered material. Price 20 cents.

The designs illustrated in our new Fashion Book are advance styles for the home dressmaker, and the woman or girl who desires to wear garments dependable for taste, simplicity and economy will find her desires fulfilled in our patterns. Price of the book 10 cents the copy.

QUESTION MARK COLLAR TRIMS MODISH COAT

Wrap-Around Model With Rich Fur Trim Still is Popular.

ANNETTE BRADSHAW

The vogue for wraps which concentrate their fur-trimming at the hem has passed, for the use of fur at the neckline is too becoming for women to discard it for long.

Now we have the new collars which use long lengths of fur. It encircles the neck in good enveloping fashion, and extends down to the bottom of the coat —but never around the bottom. The result is the question-mark collar. It is like a backward-curving question mark, with the curve extending into the side of the coat.

The same type of collar is smart for evening, as seen in the lovely evening coat sketched at the right. The material is brocaded velvet, in cherry and white black. The thick, luxurious collar which describes its question-mark curve, is of white fox. This question mark is shorter than the other, as the lower part of the collar gradually disappears under the side of the coat.

The same type of collar is used for all ages, and we see greatly abbreviated coats for tiny children, which have diminutive fur collars.

WOMEN'S ASSOCIATION.

St. John's Church Ladies Hold Annual Meeting—Officers Elected.

The Church Woman's Association of St. John's Church held their annual meeting in the Parish House on Friday afternoon, January 8th. The association has just closed a most successful year. Increased membership, interest in the work, and funds all show progress.

The aim of the Association has been the paying off of the the mortgage on the rectory, which was fully accomplished this year, $1,035.- to being paid to the wardens for this purpose. A sincere and hearty vote of thanks was tendered the retiring president, Mrs. A. E. Coulthard, for the splendid way in which the work has been carried on under her faithful guidance.

Election of officers for the ensuing year followed, and are:

Hon. President—Mrs. Blagrave.
President—Mrs. A. A. Stratton.
1st Vice-President—Miss English.
2nd Vice-President — Mrs. W. Holloway.
Secretary—Mrs. E. W. Borbridge.
Treasurer—Mrs. H. Morphet.
Convener of Visiting Committee—Mrs. D. Mulholland.
Convener of Decorating Committee—Mrs. W. J. Hopwood.

At the close of the meeting Dr. Blagrave spoke of the great work accomplished by the executive and members, and the wonderful spirit of unity and good will prevailing in the Association.

The Secrets Of Charm

By Lucrezia Bori

The woman who keeps thinking of growing fat and worrying about it, is so often the woman who does manage to put on excessive flesh.

This is because she worries over excessive fat during the time when she ought to forget worry and just put all her energy into the business of exercising and keeping in trim.

Thinking yourself thin and active is a good method, which many women I know find effective. They simply don't let themselves stop and worry about taking on flesh. They feel active and they are active—and the fat has no time to gather.

This Exercise Done Daily Will Make Your Body Lithe.

Imagine the woman who sits and worries. She may contemplate going out to walk, but she thinks "Dear me! I am so fat that I will have gone only a short distance before I feel exhausted and will have to return. What's the use of going at all?" This is the woman who stays fat, as you can readily imagine.

Activity is the great fat-antidote. I do not mean nervous activity, but well-planned, systematic activity. The woman who fills up her time with this kind of motion need not fear the obesity that comes from sitting still and worrying over excessive flesh.

In order to plan the simple indoor exercises which you should include as part of your activity, it is necessary for you to have at your finger-tips a number of exercises, which you can go through without having to stop and think them out.

Repeat each day until you can go through the exercise fifteen times daily without becoming tired. This is very good to make your body lithe and graceful and well-balanced.

When you get that tired, lay-me-down-and-die feeling take 15 to 30 drops of Seigel's Syrup in a glass of water. Does the trick and safely. You'll feel like new.

ACIDS IN STOMACH CAUSE INDIGESTION

Create Gas, Sourness and Pain—How To Treat

Medical authorities state that nearly nine-tenths of the cases of stomach trouble, indigestion, sourness, burning, gas bloating, nausea, etc., are due to an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach and not as some believe to a lack of digestive juices. The delicate stomach lining is irritated, digestion is delayed and food sours, causing the disagreeable symptoms which every stomach sufferer knows so well.

Artificial digestents are not needed in such cases and may do real harm. Try laying aside all digestive aids and instead get from any druggist a few ounces of Bisurated Magnesia and take a teaspoonful in a quarter glass of water right after eating. This sweetens the stomach, prevents the formation of excess acid and there is no sourness, gas or pain. Bisurated Magnesia (in powder or tablet form—never liquid or milk) is harmless to the stomach, inexpensive to take and is the most efficient form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion.

Tomorrow's HOROSCOPE

By Genevieve Kemble

SATURDAY, JANUARY 16.

The astrological figure for this day holds many conflicting aspects. Although there may be lively conditions and many satisfying results in employment, finances and in personal affairs, yet there are some hostile influences that may cause setbacks, delays and disappointments. The principal menace is that of fraud, deception or subtle attack, so it might be well to protect oneself from ambiguous position either in business or other affairs.

Those whose birthday it is are under the forecast of a contradictory year, with many benefits placed in jeopardy by fraud or deceit. It might be well to be fortified against every avenue of intrigue or subtle attack. Sign all writings with particular caution. A child born on this day may have many excellent qualities and opportunities but may be subject to deception at the hands of carelessly made friends.

Her Liver Was Bad And She Felt Tired and Depressed

and the next time I went to town I bought four vials of them.

I have used them regularly, and after two months' use I feel like an entirely different woman.

Now, I always recommend them to any of my friends who are troubled as I was."

Li Leading Large Army in an Effort to Regain Tienstin.

ARSENALS BUSY.

LONDON, Jan. 15 (United Press) —The Peking correspondent of the Daily Mail reports that the Chi Li forces of General Li Ching-Lin, advancing on Tientsin to wrest it from Feng Yu Hsiang's grasp, now number 78,000. It was also reported that in the north, General Chang Tso Lin, the Manchurian war lord, was active after his recent success over General Kuo Sung Lin. The arsenals at Mukden were said to be working overtime.

LUTHER CABINET READY SATURDAY

"Stool Pigeons" Not Welcome in New Government.

BERLIN, Jan. 15.— (Canadian Press).—Dr. Hans Luther, called upon President Von Hindenburg to organize a new Government, expects to have his cabinet constituted by Saturday. His negotiations, continued throughout the day, give fair promise of success.

Both Dr. Luther and Gustav Stresemann are firm in their demands that the Reichstag parties which identify themselves with the new Government shall designate only such representatives as Cabinet members as possess complete authority and the backing of their repective parties. Dr. Luther is wholly disinclined to appoint Ministers who merely function as "stool pigeons," as he believes was the case with the German National members of his previous cabinet.

Filling Stations on Pennsylvania Side of State Line Losing Business.

CHEAP IN NEW YORK.

SAYRE, Pa., Jan. 15.—(United Press.) — Gasoline "bootleggers" have grown so numerous that the proprietors of local filling stations are startled. To avoid paying the Pennsylvania State tax, scores of motor cars are driven a few miles to Waverly, N.Y., and their tanks filled with gasoline. Protests to Governors Smith and Pinchot will be unavailing the gas dealers have been told.

MUSSOLINI MARRIED AGAIN BY CHURCH

Went Through Religious Ceremony—Civil Marriage Was Some Time Ago.

LONDON, Jan. 15 (Canadian Press).—There is no confirmation from any source of the report printed by The Daily Herald in a despatch from Chiasso, Switzerland, that Benito Mussolini, Fascist Premier of Italy, has gone through a religious marriage ceremony with his present wife, Rachel, to whom he was previously joined in a civil ceremony.

The ceremony, the dispatch adds, was performed at Mussolini's private residence, the Vatican having granted the marriage license in compliance with the Premier's wish to keep the matter secret.

GERMANS PLAN USE SYNTHETIC RUBBER

BERLIN, aJn. 15 (United Press) —Germany is seriously contemplating reversion to pre-war time manufacture of synthetic rubber in view of the rubber shortage, which she like the United States, is now entering. Processes of manufacture have been vastly improved since the war days.

Suggestions for a German-American fight on the British rubber monopoly are somewhat cooled by reports that Secretary Hoover is planning an attack on Germany's potash and nitrate monopolies.

One Man's Viewpoint.

W. H. BRADBURN, M.P.P.

"It's a pretty bad mess and to my mind a general election is no' far off," was the comment of W. H. Bradburn on the reception accorded Mr. Meighen's lack of confidence motion last night. "At one time," he continued, "Sir George Ross carried on for a number of years with a majority of only one, but that was in the days when there were two parties so that he was not forced to rely upon a doubtful affiliation. As a matter of fact the Liberal cause in the province was practically ruined for the party has had little success in elections since that time.

"It would have been bad, no matter which way the vote had gone. The first concern of the Liberal party now is to obtain a seat for their leader and the member who is willing to exchange his status for that of a Senator will likely supply the way out of the difficulty. This would only be effected at the expense of the party which would be weakened materially as a result. It is distressing that a minor party should control

VANCOUVER NEEDS GRAIN EXCHANGE

Prices as Published Are Usually Incorrect.

CALGARY, Alta., Jan. 15.— (Canadian Press.) — Vancouver grain prices as given out for publication, according to local grain men, are invariably incorrect. The reason, it is stated, is because there is no actual grain market there. For example, some small lots, of say Number 1 Northern, are sold to fill a special order, the price of all the other grades is immediately based on that sale, and although those prices are quoted there is no real market. This has been particularly noticeable of late and the Calgary Exchange took the matter up with the Board of Harbor Commissioners, the grain dealers say. The Board was asked if it was prepared to buy at the prices quoted, but the Harbor Commissioners referred them to the Vancouver Merchants' Exchange.

Y. W. CAMPAIGN IS PROGRESSING

Elementary Group Leads in Contest For New Members.

GREAT INTEREST.

The standing of the clocks yesterday in the campaign now in progress at the Young Women's Christian Association for members for the gymnasium was as follows: Elementary, 5; Ladies, 4; Intermediate, 3; Dancing, 3; Seniors, 1; Senior School, 1; Boys' classes, 1.

The campaign is going ahead apace, with satisfactory interest manifested on all sides and it is hoped that the results will be as gratifying as the result of the Financial Campaign, in which $1650 has been realized to date.

A banquet to wind up the campaign will be held on February 4th, when prizes will be given to those who have brought in most new members. With this event will be combined the gymnasium banquet, when all senior members who have joined the Association during November, December and January are invited. Ladies in charge are Mrs. E. Harvey, convenor of the Physical Committee, Mrs. R. Cormack, convenor Social Committee, and Miss A. Wood, convenor of the Membership Committee.

7 Per Cent. Short Loans To Assist German Farmers

BERLIN, Jan. 15. — Canadian Press, — The financial relief for which German agricultural interests have been clamoring for several months, will now be afforded through a co-operative arrangement arrived at by the Reichsbank, the Gold Discount Bank and the Renten Kredit Anstalt, the national agrarian financial institution.

Funds for the proposed relief will come out of the capital reserves of the Gold Discount Bank. Agricultural interests will receive loans running from three to five years at seven per cent. These will be covered by farm mortgage bonds assigned over to the Gold Discount Bank, which it is reported, will place its paid in capital of about 6,500,000 pounds at the disposal of the agrarian bank.

FIRE THREATENS ORONO VILLAGE

Several Buildings Destroyed By Blaze Early To-day.

DAMAGE $20,000.

ORONO, Jan. 15. — (Canadian Press).—Fire early to-day destroyed a number of buildings in the village of Orono, causing damage estimated at $20,000. The buildings destroyed were Mercer's garage, with five motor cars; William Davies' harness shop, his residence and garage; and Fetchette's meat market. Two motor cars behind this latter place were also burnt. Other stores and houses were threatened, but saved from complete destruction by the strenuous efforts of the villagers, who resolved themselves into a volunteer fire fighting force.

The fire originated in Fetchette's meat store, from a cause which has not yet been discovered.

Several of the volunteer fire-fighters were overcome by smoke.

"OUT IT GOES" WARNS R. FORKE

few weeks may therefore pass before Premier King can be elected to the House, with the ever-present possibility of a surprise amendment bringing on another crisis.

Relations between the 19 Progressives who voted with the Government and the Government will no doubt now give rise to much speculation. Some of the Progressives, it is stated, take the view that they should be given an opportunity to express their approval or disapproval of legislation before it is brought down in the House, although without accepting Ministerial responsibility.

Senate Complications.

In the Senate, the debate on the address has opened. There, the Conservatives, when two existing vacancies are filled, will have a majority of about ten. When some of the legislation forecasted in the Speech from the Throne leaves the House, it may meet with rough handling in the Senate.

Drop the Motion.

The confidence motion of Hon. Ernest Lapointe introduced on the opening day of Parliament will not be pressed. This was stated by Mr. Lapointe today. The Speaker of the House of Commons has not yet given his ruling as to whether the motion was in order or not, but the attitude taken by the Government is that there is no need to debate the motion at present, in view of the decision on the Meighen amendment. Mr. Lapointe said that now the Government resumed its normal powers, although he doubted whether any very important appointments would be made at present.

It is understood that on Monday, the Speaker will announce that he has received the resignation of one of the members of Parliament, who gives way for the Prime Minister. Writs will be issued without delay and Mr. King will contest a constituency. He will not, of course, be in Parliament during the debate on the Address, and the resignation of one of the Liberal members to give him a seat will further reduce the ranks of the Government. But, decision, it is believed, has been reached to take this chance rather than adjourn Parliament before considering the address.

Take in Progressive?

Official announcement is lacking, but it is rumored that the Premier will seek election in Prescott, following the resignation of G. Evanturel, the sitting member. The desirability of a closer working alliance between the Progressives and the Government was pointed out by one of the Cabinet ministers today. The possibility of the Prime Minister inviting one or two prominent members of the third party into his cabinet when the time for reorganization arrive, was suggested and the minister said this might be considered.

PLAN NEW ATTEMPT TO OVERTHROW KING

A nother Amendment By Meighen Said To Be Ready For Monday.

OTTAWA, Jan. 15 (Canadian Press).—The battle for political supremacy in the House of Commons will in all probability be resumed when Parliament reassembles on Monday. It is understood the Conservatives now contemplate moving a further amendment as soon as the debate on the Throne Speech begins Indications are that the amendment will likely be presented by Mr. Meighen on Monday afternoon.

It is understood the amendment will involve a want of confidence vote in the King Government, but whether it will be a straight vote of confidence has not been definitely decided.

The Conservative amendment voted on this morning, so Conservatives contended, was on the competency of the Government to introduce the Throne speech. If a straight want of confidence motion is decided on, it will, it is believed, be based upon the trustworthiness of the King Government to function under the political circumstances.

BRINGING BODIES FROM COAL MINE

Mining Inspector Is Starting Investigation To-day.

AT WILBURTON.

WILBURTON, Okla., Jan. 15 (Canadian Press)—The grim work of removing 91 bodies from the Degnan-McConnell Mine 21 near here, which was wrecked by a gas explosion early Wednesday halted temporarily late last night when 81 bodies had been recovered. The remaining bodies are in the debris and passage way will have to be cleared before they can be reached.

At the mine it was reported a fresh crew of men would start work after midnight and it is possible all the bodies will be recovered soon.

In an undertaking parlor the bodies are lying in rows while across the street in a temporary morgue 37 caskets contained other corpses.

Funeral services for many of the dead will be held today, some of them from the undertaking parlor and others from the various churches of the city. Forty convicts from the State Penitentiary at McAlester will arive here this morning to dig graves.

Ed Boyle, State Mining Inspector, who is here, said last night that he would start a thorough investigation of the tragedy today. He stated his belief that the explosion was caused by a gas pocket.

Most of the bodies which were recovered indicated that the miners had died from suffocation and not from external injuries.

FLOOD CAUSING MUCH SUFFERING

Thousands Homeless and Lack Food and Clothing in Mexico.

2,000 LIVES LOST.

NOGALES, Ariz. (Canadian Press).—There is intense suffering in the flood devastated districts of the State of Nayarit, Mexico, and hundreds of homeless persons are without proper food, clothing, and shelter. Telegrams says that although the flood waters have subsided after the most disastrous flood in the history of that region, the flood relief problem is a serious one.

Estimates are that about 9,000 persons are homeless and the loss of life is now placed at 2,000. The property loss is estimated at $5,000,000.

CORPSE IS FOUND; SUSPECT MURDER

British Columbia Police Believe Foul Play in Death of Man.

VANCOUVER, B.C., Jan. 15. — (Canadian Press). — Murder was suggested by the British Columbia police last night after the threads of the search for Clarence F. Peppard, a wealthy Winnipeg and Minneapolis contractor, who vanished after leaving a local hotel on the morning of December 10, were re-woven with the discovery of the naked and battered body off the shores of Blubber Bay, 100 miles north of Vancouver. "Suspect foul play" was the message received from Constable A. C. Sutton there to divisional headquarters here.

The body had been in the water about a month, the message stated.

Clarence Peppard was carrying $5,000 when he arrived here from Minneapolis a month ago, according to a statement by his wife. He came to Vancouver to visit a brother residing at Chilliwack.

W.M.S. BANQUET.

Retiring and Incoming Officers Guests at St. Andrew's.

The executive of St. Andrew's W.M.S. held a banquet last evening in honor of the retiring officers and to welcome the new ones. At six o'clock the ladies sat down to a most delightful supper, after which speeches were given by Mrs. J. John, president of the society, who, in a few well-chosen words, thanked the retiring officers for their faithful services and co-operation and also welcomed the new officers. Mrs. J. Mackintosh spoke on behalf of the retiring officers, while Mrs. Nelson represented the new ones. Altogether a most enjoyable and happy time was spent.

Speculators Struggle; Bears Force Prices Down

NEW YORK, Jan. 15 (Canadian Press).—Opposing speculative forces struggled today to break prices out of the narrow trading area within which they have been fluctuating for the last fortnight, with the day's advantage on the bear side. Speculators for a decline succeeded in forcing reactions of 2 to 4 points in more than a score of issues. Intermittent rallies staged by bull pools in such issues as American International, Rock Island, Wabash, and Nash Motors, failed to hold. The general market was inclined to follow the leadership of United States Steel Common, which broke below 133, as compared with the recent subscription price of 136 to employees of the Corporation, on a heavily increased turnover. American Can, South Porto Rico Sugar, Railway Steel Spring, Hudson Motors, National Lead, and American Brake Shoe and Foundry all sold 3 to 4 points below their previous closing quotations.

Substantial Gains Made By Mine Shares To-day

TORONTO, Jan. 15. — Canadian Press.—Several issues were substantially advanced in heavy trading on the standard mining exchange to-day. Lake Shore was run up to 11.25, closing morning at that mark, which was 1.26 higher than yesterday. Wright-Hargreaves was marked up 45 at 8.40. Teck Hughes, the most heavily dealt in stock, climbed 48 to 3.60. Lorrain gained a point at 10; Beaver 1½ at 54, Vipond 2 at 172, Hunton 1 at 13½ and Kirkland Lake 2 points at 92. Argonaut, Consolidated West Dome, Goldale and Crown Reserve absorbed a great deal of trading but tended to easiness.

Big Argentine Surplus Sends Wheat Price Down

CHICAGO, Jan. 15 (Canadian Press),—Influenced by a decline in prices at Buenos Aires and by reports of relatively cheap offerings of Argentine wheat to Europe, the wheat market here underwent an early downturn today. The fact that the United States is very close to a profitable basis for imports from Canada tended also to weaken values, besides foreign statisticians continued to reiterate an estimate that the new crop exportable wheat surplus in Argentina is 140 millions bushels against 113 million bushels exported last season. Chicago opening prices, unchanged to 5-8c lower, May 176 1-8 to 176 1-2, new, and July 152 1-4 to 152 1-2, were followed by a material setback all around.

Corn and oats showed a heavy undertone from the outset. Selling of corn continued on the part of the holders, who purchased recently owing to movements for farm legislation. After opening 1-8 to 5-8 cents down, May 86 5-8 to 86 3-4, corn suffered a decided further setback. Oats started unchanged to 1-4 cent off, May 45 5-8 to 45 3-4, and later weakened a little more.

In line with the corn market, provisions tended down grade.

HOME AND SCHOOL ASSOCIATION MET

The regular meeting of the Central Home and School Association was held on Thursday evening in the kindergarten room of the school, the president, Mrs. E. H. Howson, in the chair. There was a good attendance of members. A short business session was held, when considerable interest was shown in the paper collection, which has been quite successful. It was announced that on February 12th, the teachers of the school would supervise a concert, with a programme by the children. The annual meeting and election of officers will take place later this month.

The banner for the month was won by Miss Bonnycastle's room.

The programme included a very interesting and illuminative address on the League of Nations, by Mrs. K. S. Wightman, songs by Mrs. T. E. Curvin and Miss Daisy Davidson and an instrumental selection by Miss Phyllis Jackson. Candy was served at the conclusion of the entertainment.

INSTALLATION OF LADY FORESTERS

D.D.H.C.C. Was Installing Officer—Many Members Present.

On Thursday evening, in the Sons of England Hall, the Companions of the Forest, I.L.F., held their installation of officers. P.D.D. Comp. Mrs. Stevens presided, and the installing officer was the District Deputy H.C.C., Mrs. Mitchell of Bowmanville. There was a large attendance of Companions.

After the meeting the social committee served refreshments and a pleasant time was spent.

London Women Wear Socks Mud Splashes Bare Limbs

LONDON, Jan. 15 (United Press).—Socks are visible on the legs of a few daring London women. The evolution of the fad is described as follows:

Fashionable women change their hose three times a day because of the mud splashed on them, from London's always sloppy streets. Then the Russian boot, which protected the stocking arrived, Now the boot fad having begun to wane, the sock is suggested as a means of retiring the boot without restoring three pairs of stockings, stockings daily to the wash. "Mud is good for the skin and easier to wash off than on stockings," the women say.

BUILD CHARACTER SAYS REV. MAGUIRE

Kiwanis Club Hears Montreal Lecturer in Splendid Address.

Rev. G. R. Maguire, Montreal, the speaker of the day at Kiwanis Club, took as his subject, "We Build," the Kiwanis motto. He is afraid the tendency of service clubs is mutual admiration and good fellowship, generally, but declared "we are here for something better."

We are here as builders to build up our own city but we must look beyond the city and province. We must give every boy and girl in the dominion a chance. You men in the social service clubs are the picked men in the city and you can make your city what you want to. You can make your politicians statesmen. It is not popular in politics to take a progressive attitude."

The average prayer in Canadian churches is "keep our minister humble and we'll keep him poor."

We must build first in our own lives, for that is where community building starts. If we are self-centred the community will be self-centred.

The country is suffering because of lack of leaders and statesmen.

Social conditions in Canada are alarming. No man dare pull the curtain aside and show the true picture—he would be unpopular. Statistics show that penitentiaries are crowded with juveniles. If we are real builders we are not satisfied to swing the flag and shout for the Union Jack. We must be builders of character to bring up a race of men and women to whom the world will look for leadership.

Don't blame the war for everything, the speaker urged. Business standards have changed from years ago, when a business man's word was his bond.

"Let us stem the tide of worldliness and infidelity. There is a battle in our church now on 'modernism' and 'fundamentalism' and, as a matter fact, it is ignorance on both sides.

"Have the true vision," he urged. "Have the vision of the Man of Galilee: of Paul. Remember that no service in itself is small. True greatness does not consist in rank or title but in character. What are we building?"

Rev. Mr. Maguire told of overcrowding in the professions and urged facilities for the youths who do not wish to enter white collar jobs.

He referred to the "spectacle" at Ottawa this morning, where "men are putting partizanship first." Gladstone put his God and his country above partizanship and himself. "We have men in Canada of that stamp if we would only encourage them. Its' not Liberal or Conservative we want. It's statesmen. We have a country we should be proud of. But we have to put our boys on the soil. You have it in your power to do these things. If all the service clubs got together with a big plan for their country, every man would live under his own fig tree. Every man ought to be compelled to work. There ought to be work for every man.

"We have far too much reckless optimism. We want the truth; we want to know the why and the wherefore. If people are idle we want to know why."

Prize-winners

Pete Lang was the booster of the day and he urged the payment of income tax in Peterborough instead of sending it out of the city.

The executive of the W. M. S. Presbyterial met in St. Paul's church, Peterborough, at 9.30 a.m. Jan. 14th, 1926. Mrs. D. Ewart, president, was in the chair and the meeting opened by devotional exercises. The following reports were received. Secretary, Miss Harvey, Cobourg; financial treas., Mrs. McDougall, Lakeport; Mission Band secretary, Miss Thomson, Hastings. Discussion followed, after which all were invited to dinner, which was served by the ladies of the W.M.S.

Afternoon Session.

Reports continued. Supply secretary, Mrs. Eakins, Millbrook; Glad Tidings secretary, Mrs. Fred Weir, Peterborough; Welcome and Welfare secretary, Mrs. Dr. Armstrong, Warkworth; Home and Helpers' report read by Miss Harvey in the absence of Mrs. Plant, Hastings; Press secretary, Mrs. E. E. Cox, Peterborough; Library secretary, Miss E. Cameron, Peterborough; Literature secretary, Mrs. Dr. Armstrong Warkworth was appointed.

Mrs. H. Stenson moved the adoption of the reports, seconded by Mrs. Roger, Cobourg.

The annual W.M.S. meeting is to be held in Port Hope, and will be arranged by a sub-committee in regards to date for month of May.

A hearty vote of thanks was moved by Mrs. Hume, seconded by Mrs. Cox, for appreciation and thanks for the beautiful repast served by the ladies of St. Paul's W.M.S. members.

The meeting closed by prayer by the President, Mrs. Ewart.

SOCIAL EVENING FOR GIRLS' S. S. CLASS

Gathered at Home of the Teacher—Shower Given Bride.

On Thursday evening, Jan. 4th, one of the girl's classes of St. James' Sunday school gathered at the home of the teachers, Mrs. Rowe, 538 Chamberlain street, where an evening of games, music and social intercourse was spent. A special feature of the evening was the presentation of a miscellaneous shower to Mrs. Edwin Byers (nee Wilma Davis) whose marriage took place on Christmas eve. Mrs. Byers, although taken by surprise, made a very suitable reply in acknowlewgment of the gifts. Dainty refreshments were served and the jolly evening brought to a close.

Quick Relief for Rheumatics

Local Druggists Sell Rheuma on Money-Back Plan

If you suffer from torturing rheumatic pains, swollen, twisted joints, and suffer intensely because your system is full of that dangerous poison that makes thousands helpless and kills thousands years before their time, then you need Rheuma, and need it now.

Many people, the most skeptical of skeptics right in this city and in the country hereabouts, bless the day when McDermid & Jury and other druggists offered Rheuma to the afflicted at a small price and guaranteed money refunded if not satisfied. If you have rheumatism get a bottle of Rheuma today.

live stock insurance company at Montreal, use of it in order to expose bogus claims by thrifty cattle-owners. Insurance companies, both in Canada and U.S. have often claimed that they were victims of conspiracies which could not be absolutely proved, and that they have frequently paid claims on animals other than those covered by the policies. Consequently they hailed the system as a boon and helped to spread its use. Fraudulent claims are not yet things of the past, but that is accounted for by the fact that the system is not yet so widely used as it should be.

How It Is Done.

Farmers often and with justice, look askance at proposals that are likely to swell the costs side of the ledger, but the taking of the noseprint of a cow is easy and inexpensive and is a one-man operation.

Holding the animal's head under one arm, he performs the task with the free hand. First he wipes the nose dry with a flannel cloth. This is necessary as the cow sweats freely through the nose. Then a common stamp pad is rubbed backward and forward or held firmly against the nose until the ridges are all well inked. The print is taken by pressing firmly against the inked nose a sheet of soft paper fastened to a board, beginning with the lower edge of the paper at the base of the upper lip and rolling downward toward the face.

With this print, the farmer at a negligible cost secures a good identification card for his animal, valuable in the making of insurance claims and more potent than any brand or mark in proving ownership in the event of of the animal straying or being stolen.

HAMILTON TEAM HERE MONDAY

The game with Hamilton Rowing Club on Monday night is the last chance to see the Petes perform at home for nearly two weeks, and the fans, realizing that fact, are likely to turn out strong. The Petes need this game to stay on top of the heap, and are not underrating the ability of the Scullers, who, although occupying a lowly position in the group race, have some good material, and are liable to spill the beans for some of the contenders. The Petes are determined that the Hamilton outfit will not do so at their expense, and they will take no chances Monday night. The reserved seat plan is on sale at Bert McLeod's drug store, and the pasteboards will likely be in demand.

MARMORA BEAT MADOC EASILY

Game Was Played During Intermittent Snow Storm at Marmora.

MARMORA, Jan. 15.—Marmora beat Madoc easily by the score of 8 to 2 in a Hastings County League hockey game last night. The home team led all the way and was never pressed. The victory give the Green and White a clear lead in the Hastings County championship.

Considerable interest centres in their first encounter with Stirling next Tuesday. The superior speed shown by the Marmora forwards up to the present is calculated to be more advantageous on the larger rinks. Stirling will endeavor to stem Marmora's tide of success, and Hastings County hockey fans see in Tuesday's game at Stirling a struggle unexcelled for keenness by any between these teams in history.

There was a splendid attendance last night, but the expectations of congenial weather conditions which the early afternoon gave rise to were not realized, snow falling for an hour previous to the scheduled start and continuing more or less throughout the game. A volunteer broom brigade, however, thoroughly swept the surface of the rink, so that play suffered little.

Marmora took the aggressive from the start, and carried it throughout the game. The combination of their forwards completely baffled the opposing sextette. It was apparent from the first that Madoc was a beaten team, but the players fought so completely to the last and took their possible to plow any field on the farm with a tractor.

The pioneer log cabin was replaced by a modern residence 38 years ago one of those substantial structures of solid brick upon which passing time appears to have no effect. Then followed the bank barn and the modern machinery that revolutionized the methods of former days.

When the the father turned over the management of the farm to his son the latter adhered to the progressive policy that had been followed by his predecessor. The buildings and stock were improved from time to time and now there is on the farm a fine herd of dairy cattle comfortably housed. Mr. Thomson does not patronize the cheese factory but sells the cream produced to a Trenton firm.

The Lighting Plant.

The installation of a lighting plant brings this place up to date in every sense of the term. The five horsepower gasolme engine which operates the plant is located in the creamery and there are 16 lights in the house and nine in the outbuildings. Even the hen-house and pig-pen are lighted and as the danger of fire in the outbuildings is reduced to a minimum Mr. Thomson expects to secure a reduction in his insurance rates. To supply these 25 lights it is necessary to run the engine half an hour in the morning and about the same length of time in the evening. Mr. Thomson will equip his plant so as to operate his root pulper his cream separator and his sawing machine with the same engine as well as the churn and washing machine in the house and when this is done the charging of the batteries to supply the lights will practically cost nothing.

The location of this farm is ideal as the rolling land is easily drained and the buildings stand high and dry on an elevation that commands a fine view of the surrounding country.

[illegible]NG EWES [illegible]S BREEDING

Results in Quicker Lambing —Should Be Done Twice Yearly.

HANDLE CAREFULLY

Ewes should be tagged at least twice annually. I usually tag just before the breeding season opens, as the ewes get with lamb more readily if this matter is attended to. Maybe you have noticed that if there are some ewes in the flock that have tails and some that have not the ewes with tails fail to get with lamb until after the ones without tails have been bred, unless the tails have been clipped.

I tag again in the winter season, about three weeks before the lambs are expected. At this time I remove all filthy wool from the hind quarters, and I clip the wool away from the udder, too. This tagging lessens the danger of infection if there are troubles in lambing, and permits the lamb to have freer access to the udder. Ewes may easily be injured at this time, so be careful how you handle them.

JACK MINER HAS INVENTED NET TO CATCH CROWS

Puts Them to Death in Humane Way When Caught.

DECREASES NUMBER

Kingsville, the most southern town in Canada, has been visited during the last few days by several newspaper reporters who were seeking an interview with Jack Miner, the Canadian Naturalist, in order to inspect the new net invented by him for catching crows.

For years the common American crow has increased in such numbers that they are hindering the song, insectiverous and game birds from multiplying as they should. This bird lives, during the spring, almost entirely on the eggs and young fledglings of other varieties while nesting.

Jack Miner has expressed himself in this manner: "During the past century man has paid too much attention to the invention and perfection of firearms, that is, the quick action automatic guns have replaced the old muzzle loader and the quick nitrate powder has eliminated the old black powder. Although I would not like to see the extermination of the American crows, yet I would like to see them decrease in number to the same extent that our dear little song, insectiverous and game birds have been depleted in the last twenty-five years."

Sportsmen and conservationists all over the continent have tried to devise some plan to rid the country of crows to some degree. The Dupont Powder Company has distributed literature advocating to hunters the shooting of the crow. In the meantime Jack Miner—Canada's Great Out-a-Door Man—has been working on a scheme for trapping them and to-day he is glad to announce that he has designed a net which is a complete success. The first time he pulled the string that tripped the trap doors he caught five hundred and ten birds which he later put to death in a humane way.

It is his intention to patent this net as soon as possible, not that he wishes to obtain from it any monetary return for his idea, but to prevent any unscrupulous promoter from stealing it in order to make money out of it. After these proceedings are complete and such protection is assured, he will distribute several hundred blue-prints of this net to all interested parties in Canada and the United States. If the Izaak Walton League is interested, he is willing to turn over its distribution in the latter country to them.

The net will not exterminate the crow, but it will decrease their numbers by tens of thousands—Jack Miner says "as other birds have decreased."

On asking Jack Miner how such success in all his undertakings on the Miner Sanctuary made him feel, he quietly replied, "It is only God's promise fulfilled—'Let man have dominion over all'."

DEVELOPMENT OF UDDER IMPORTANT

But Little Attention Paid It in Choosing Brood Sows.

In choosing brood sows too little attention is paid to udder development and indications of milk production. Both breeders and swine judges err in this regard.

A recent experience illustrates very well, although it may be a bit extreme. Ninety-five students recently participated in a college judging-contest, and several classes of hogs were judged. In one ring of under-year sows there were two notable individuals, one a flashy sow with beautifully arched back and good sides, while the other was a bit straight on top but very long both in body and under-line.

One outstanding difference between the two sows was udder development. The first sow carried but nine teats, one blind, with the front pair placed nearly at the middle of her belly. The other carried twelve prominent teats, well developed, all well spaced and well placed. You can readily see why one sow was more valuable than the other, assuming that both should farrow ten or more pigs.

Yet, out of the 95 student judges, coached by livestock professors, less than 15 made adequate reference to udder development and brood-sow qualities in giving reasons on that ring of sows. Possibly several had noted that difference but forgot to mention it when the time came. However, too many of them were thinking and talking just "hogs" instead of "breeding sows."

Years ago Professor Henry of Wisconsin reported that it requires 293 pounds of feed for 100 pounds of gain on pigs going from 15 to 50 pounds in weight, whereas it takes 400 pounds of feed for 100 pounds gain on pigs going from 50 pounds to 100 pounds each. Pigs are suckling most of the time while going from 15 pounds to 50 pounds in weight. They get their feed in the form of milk and the mother must have an udder or the pigs don't get the milk. Moreover, the mother must have constitution and digestive capacity in order to supply to the mammary glands the nutriment from which milk is secreted.

ROSENEATH U.F.O. WILL NOT ENTER POLITICAL FIELD

Decides to Confine Activities to Co-operative Shipping.

OFFICERS ELECTED

Annual Meeting Was Held on Jan. 4 in Town Hall.

ROSENEATH, Jan. 15.—Roseneath Farmers' Club held its annual meeting in the town hall on Monday evening, January 4. The old officers were all re-elected, namely:

President—Bruce Parker.
Vice-President—And. Brown.
Secretary—A. J. Campbell.
Directors—H. Blodgett and I. Brown.
Auditor—And. Brown.
Stock Shipper—Cecil Radley.
Egg and Poultry Shipper—C. W. Varcoe.

The egg and poultry shipper is to receive two cents per dozen commission, providing weekly shipments do not reach 15 cases, and if 15 cases or over are shipped, his commission is to be one-half e nt per dozen.

Considerable discussion took place regarding the stand the U. F. O. convention took in regard to entering the political field again and finally a resolution by C. W. Varcoe and Cecil Radley, passed unanimously, resolving that the Roseneath Club should refuse to have anything to do with politics but confine itself solely to co-operative shipping and buying.

BABY BEEF SELLS AT HIGHEST PRICE

In these days, with the market demand for light or handyweight cattle from which the high-class small cuts are obtained, the production of baby beef is important and real high quality baby beeves usually sell at or near the top of the market. A few years back an effort was made to put this class of cattle on the market at around fourteen or fifteen months of age, some going forward even younger than that. Butchers and abattoir men now claim that the beef does not attain its best flavour until the animal is seventeen or eighteen months of age. It is a well-known fact that there is a stage in the animal's life between the veal weight and the beef weight during which it does not make very satisfactory meat, being rather tough and stringy and lacking flavour, so that it is important that cattle finished for baby beef carry not only the best possible beef type and finish but that they have reached the right age to insure good flavour.

Of course, the best quality of baby beef is made from well-bred cattle that have been allowed to nurse their dams. Most feeders believe that whole milk is necessary in the production of baby beef, and, undoubtedly, the highest quality product is obtained from cattle which nurse until at least nine or ten months old. Experiments at the O.A.C. have proven that under average conditions with good grade cows reasonable profits may be made from the raising of baby beef where the calves suck the cows. In addition to the whole milk, as soon as the calves will eat it, good alfalfa hay, pulped roots, silage and, while the calf is young, whole or rolled oats to which a little oilcake has been added and later during the finishing period a mixture of barley and oats or corn and oats are amongst the best feeds to be used. In all steer feeding it is well to remember that around a pound of good alfalfa hay per 100 pounds live weight and an average of one-half pound of grain per 100 pounds live weight during the feeding period generally brings good results. Usually the feeder starts with a smaller proportion of grain than that mentioned, gradually increases until the middle of the period when the animal gets the rate mentioned, while at the end of the period he may be getting nearly a pound of grain per 100 pounds live weight per day. In the handling of baby beeves, it is well not to let them out on grass unless it be in paddocks and only at night. All young cattle, particularly calves that are being pushed for rapid gains, do better kept in partially darkened box stalls during the day throughout the summer. It is wise, however, to let such cattle have some outdoor exercise both winter and summer. An hour in the open yard on fine days in winter and spending the nights in the paddocks during summer makes for greater vigour and bigger returns.

DRILLING VS. BROADCASTING.

I have learned that one method may be better one time, and the other better at another time. Broadcasting by hand, which was a common way years ago, was likely to sow the oats unevenly and the old spike-tooth harrow did not cover them well. The spring-tooth often covered some too deep, while the drill sowed evenly and covered them evenly—an advantage for drilling. But when the sowing and covering are done right, broadcasting gives as good yields as drilling.—F. G. S.

GOOD SEASON AT CHEESE FACTORY

Brickley Company Had Increase of 14,000 Pounds of Cheese.

GOOD PRICES

HASTINGS, Jan. 14.—The Secretary of the Brickley Cheese Factory has completed the report for the last season and has stated that the past year has been the best in the history of the factory. An increase of 14,000 pounds of cheese is reported.

Number of pounds of cheese made, 114,773.

Value per standard, $43.67.

Proceeds from whey cream, $1,125.89.

TURNIPS KILLED QUACK GRASS

Land Given Up to Pest for Years Cleaned in One Season.

GOOD CROP, TOO

I had an acre of land which I cleared of quack-grass. The land had been given up to the pest for years. A year ago last June I had the land plowed and put on 500 pounds of fertilizer, nothing else. When the plow went through it sounded like cutting leather. I immediately sowed it to Purple Top Canada turnips. They came up in a few days and took possession of the land entirely. This year I planted the land to corn and have seen no signs of the grass. Thus I got rid of the pest that had spoiled the land, and had 300 or 400 bushels of good turnips for my labor.—C. S. D., Mass.

BEES SENT TO NEW ZEALAND TO EARN THEIR KEEP INSTEAD OF HIBERNATING ALL WINTER

Gold In Gobbler's Gizzard Sets Investigators Agog

EDMONTON, Alta., Jan. 15 (By Canadian Press). — Enterprising citizens are conducting exhaustive inquiries as to the source from which Floyd Quigley of Edmonton obtained his Christmas turkey.

These investigators are certain that within the confines of the city limits there possibly lies a fortune in gold, for the gobbler which served as the festive diet for the Quigley family, bore mute testimony to their contentions.

In preparing the bird for the holiday repast, Mr. Quigley discovered in its gizzard several small nuggets of gold. With willing assistants, Mr. Quigley is endeavouring to locate the farmyard gold mine.

Nelson Beekeeper is Making Experiment This Winter.

SAVING MONEY

Less Food to be Provided and Travelling Cases Cheap.

VANCOUVER B.C. Jan. 15.—Down on the other side of the world in New Zealand 140 000 odd bees are buzzing around making a living for themselves instead of hibernating in Canada and eating up the store they laid in when it was summer here.

This is a fresh development in beekeeping science that is in the experimental stage now. It is aimed to make the bees work the year round and to produce two crops of honey instead of only one as at present. The experimenter is James Ballantyne of Nelson B.C. who accompanied a shipment of 30 pounds of working insects including 10 queens. The bees were shaken off the combs in October after they had completed a busy summer.

Work Year Round.

In New Zealand they are being asked to produce another crop following which with their natural increase they will be divided into 20 lots and be brought back to Canada next April or May to escape the idle winter season in the Antipodes.

Economically and financially says Mr. Ballantyne, it would appear that he recurrent expenses of so great a journey would outbalance the returns. He argues from ascertained facts, however, that the saving in the expense of winter feeding for 20 weeks, pays for the few pounds of sugar the bees will need on the journey, by land at two ends and the intervening Pacific voyage; also that the expense for special traveling cages is not so great as the cost of winter cases, or a bee cellar, so necessary in Canada; also that the doubled natural increase of the bees will pay for personal transportation when once migrations are on a commercial scale.

Habits of Bees.

Mr. Ballantyne is most interesting regarding the habits of bees, so long regarded as the pinnacle of industrial perfection. Recent research work of students of bee culture show, he says, that, after all, the hustle and bustle is more apparent than real, and is the cause of a feeling of disillusionment.

In experiments, a number of bees were marked with distinctive colors, in such a way that their outward and return trips could be counted. It was revealed that each of these marked bees—field workers—spends an unconscionable length of time over the disposal of the nectar and pollen in the honey combs and the brood combs of the hive.

Notwithstanding what must, in the aggregate, total a surprising amount of wasted time, in commercial apiaries yields of surplus honey of 100,150 and 200 pounds per colony are common.

Great Disadvantage.

But opportunity for harvesting the honey extends through only six or eight weeks of the latter part of the summer, and a bee-keeper's season of preparation, operation, harvesting and marketing can be compressed into six months. That is one of the disadvantages of bee-keeping as a whole time occupation; there are alternate seasons of too much rush and too little to do.

A comparatively few bee-keepers, says Mr. Ballantyne, have attempted to mend matters by operations in the warmer Southern American states—Alabama, Georgia, Florida, etc., but not so much through additional honey production as through the breeding of earlier colonies, which can be subdivided, shipped north and often become strong enough in their subdivisions to harvest the later crop of northern honey from sweet clover, alfalfa, alsike clover, basswood, firewood, etc.

Advocate Destruction.

Some Canadian and northern farmers are advocating the complete destruction of bee colonies each fall, and their replacement in the spring by southern imported bees, the saving of honey otherwise required to winter the bees paying for the imported packages.

For many years, continues Mr. Ballantyne, there has existed a profitable and expanding commerce in queens and bees from the south to the north, to meet the needs of a continually growing industry. He says that while the longer and warmer summer of the southern states is ideal for the inexpensive multiplication of bees in colonies, and for the breeding of queens, in many districts the honey plants that abound do not produce a finely flavored article; nor is the yield so heavy.

In California, Utah, Wyoming and Montana, what is known as migratory bee-keeping, is practiced to some extent. Whole apiaries, bees, hives, brood combs and all, are moved hundreds of miles, enabling the bees to work successively upon orange blossome, sage and then the clovers, thus prolonging the working season, and making the whole more profitable.

The proposition of shipping from Canada to New Zealand, and vice versa, looks feasible, says Mr. Ballantyne, provided good honey locations are chosen, both in Canada and New Zealand, and annual re-queening is practised. Incidentally, he says, it may be stated that the cost of bee transportation for 6,300 miles overseas is less than for 500 miles over land.

So far as ship storage of bees is concerned, conditions are likely to approach those of the underground cellars in which bees are wintered at a temperature around 45 degrees Fahr.—this temperature recognized by experience as the most conducive to successful wintering.

Only a few weeks, according to Mr. Ballantyne, are needed to reveal how the experiment succeeds. In the meantime it is of interest to all those who raise bees and like honey.

PROPER FOODS FOR VEAL CALF

GRAIN MIXTURES

For the first two weeks the calf should be fed three times daily. During the first week it should receive eight to ten pounds of milk a day and during the second week ten to twelve pounds a day. Beginning with the third week, milk and grain supplement, or skim-milk substitute and grain supplement, can gradually replace whole milk. By the end of the third or fourth week, therefore, according to the size and vigor of the calf, the whole milk can be omitted from the feed. The amount of skim-milk can gradually be increased to 16 or 18 pounds daily.

The grain is best fed dry, beginning with a handful after feeding the milk. When the calf is one month old and is being fed entirely on skim-milk, or skim-milk substitute, clover hay and grain, the amount of grain can be one-half pound daily. At the end of two months it can be one pound, and at the end of three months two pounds daily. No further increase is necessary until the calf is six months old. A good grain mixture consists of 100 pounds of cornmeal, 100 pounds of ground oats, 100 pounds of wheat bran, 50 pounds of linseed-oilmeal, and eight pounds of blood flour.

If the supply of skim-milk is limited, various substitutes can be employed after the calf is 30 days old. Commercial calf-meals give fair results, and vigorous calves result from their use without milk after the calves are four weeks old. A home-made calf-meal can be made of equal parts by weight of hominy meal, red dog flour, linseed-oilmeal and blood flour. It is prepared by stirring one pound into seven pounds of water at a temperature of 145° F. and allowing the whole mixture to cool to 90° F.

BREEDING BIRD NEEDS VIGOUR

Hens of Full Maturity Make the Best Breeders.

MALE IMPORTANT

VIGOUR in the birds selected for breeding is of paramount importance. No matter for what purpose the mating is made, vigour in the breeding stock cannot with safety be overlooked.

Results of experiments conducted by the Dominion Experimental Farms show that birds that have reached full maturity make the best breeders. This does not mean that well matured pullets may not be used, but dependence should mainly be placed on hens. The fertility and hatchability of the eggs, in many cases, are just as good, or even better, when pullets are used, but as a rule, the viability and growth of the resulting chicks are much better where hens are used.

A male of known heavy laying ancestry should be selected to head the pen in breeding for heavy egg production. Not only should his female progenitors have laid a large number of eggs, but the eggs should have been of standard size. Too little attention has been paid to this in the past, with the result that many of the high laying strains are now being discredited on account of the small eggs which they are producing.

The male should be full bodied; broad across the back, with the width carried right back to the tail, deep from the back to the bottom of the keel to allow of capacity, and he should stand straight with his legs well apart. The skin should be soft and pliable, the head clean cut, the face smooth and free from wrinkles, and the eye bright and prominent.

The clean cut face and the bright eye are indications of nervous energy, without which, bodily indications count for little.

The points mentioned above should also be considered when selecting the females.

When possible, dependence should be placed on actual trap-nest records, and where this is done it will be found that the best producers are those that very closely conform to the foregoing description.—George Robertson.

FARM NEWS AND PROBLEMS

IDENTIFYING CATTLE PRESENTS DIFFICULT PROBLEM TO OWNER; NOSEPRINTS ARE FOUND USEFUL

IMPORTANT POINT

utili... live stock insurance com... use of it in order to expose bogus claims by thrifty cattle-owners. Insurance companies, both in Canada and U.S. have often claimed that they were victims of conspiracies which could not be absolutely proved, and that they have frequently paid claims on animals other than those covered by the policies. Consequently they hailed the system as a boon and helped to spread its use. Fraudulent claims are not yet things of the past, but that is accounted for by the fact that the system is not yet so widely used as it should be.

How It Is Done.

Farmers often and with justice, look askance at proposals that are likely to swell the costs side of the ledger, but the taking of the noseprint of a cow is easy and inexpensive and is a one-man operation.

Holding the animal's head under one arm, he performs the task with the free hand. First he wipes the nose dry with a flannel cloth. This is necessary as the cow sweats freely through the nose. Then a common stamp pad is rubbed backward and forward or held firmly against the nose until the ridges are all well inked. The print is taken by pressing firmly against the inked nose a sheet of soft paper fastened to a board, beginning with the lower edge of the paper at the base of the upper lip and rolling downward toward the face.

With this print, the farmer at a negligible cost secures a good identification card for his animal, valuable in the making of insurance claims and more potent than any brand or mark in proving ownership in the event of of the animal straying or being stolen.

Educate Farmers To Eat Better Food, Says Farm Wife

The pioneer log cabin was replaced by a modern residence 38 years ago one of those substantial structures of solid brick upon which passing time appears to have no effect. Then followed the bank barn and the modern machinery that revolutionized the methods of former days.

When the the father turned over the management of the farm to his son the latter adhered to the progressive policy that had been followed by his predecessor. The buildings and stock were improved from time to time and now there is on the farm a fine herd of dairy cattle comfortably housed. Mr. Thomson does not patronize the cheese factory but sells the cream produced to a Trenton firm.

The Lighting Plant.

The installation of a lighting plant brings this place up to date in every sense of the term. The five horse-power gasoline engine which operates the plant is located in the creamery and there are 16 lights in the house and nine in the outbuildings. Even the hen-house and pig-pen are lighted and as the danger of fire in the outbuildings is reduced to a minimum Mr. Thomson expects to secure a reduction in his insurance rates. To supply these 25 lights it is necessary to run the engine half an hour in the morning and about the same length of time in the evening. Mr. Thomson will equip his plant so as to operate his root pulper his cream separator and his sawing machine with the same engine as well as the churn and washing machine in the house and when this is done the charging of the batteries to supply the lights will practically cost nothing.

The location of this farm is ideal as the rolling land is easily drained and the buildings stand high and dry on an elevation that commands a fine view of the surrounding country.

...NG EWES ...S BREEDING

Results in Quicker Lambing —Should Be Done Twice Yearly.

HANDLE CAREFULLY

Ewes should be tagged at least twice annually. I usually tag just before the breeding season opens, as the ewes get with lamb more readily if this matter is attended to. Maybe you have noticed that if there are some ewes in the flock that have tails and some that have not the ewes with tails fail to get with lamb until after the ones without tails have been bred, unless the tails have been clipped.

I tag again in the winter season, about three weeks before the lambs are expected. At this time I remove all filthy wool from the hind quarters, and I clip the wool away from the udder, too. This tagging lessens the danger of infection if there are troubles in lambing, and permits the lamb to have freer access to the udder. Ewes may easily be injured at this time, so be careful how you handle them.

JACK MINER HAS INVENTED NET TO CATCH CROWS

Puts Them to Death in Humane Way When Caught.

DECREASES NUMBER

Kingsville, the most southern town in Canada, has been visited during the last few days by several newspaper reporters who were seeking an interview with Jack Miner, the Canadian Naturalist, in order to inspect the new net invented by him for catching crows.

For years the common American crow has increased in such numbers that they are hindering the song, insectiverous and game birds from multiplying as they should. This bird lives, during the spring, almost entirely on the eggs and young fledglings of other varieties while nesting.

Jack Miner has expressed himself in his manner: "During the past century man has paid too much attention to the invention and perfection of firearms, that is, the quick action automatic guns have replaced the old muzzle loader and the quick nitrate powder has eliminated the old black powder. Although I would not like to see the extermination of the American crows, yet I would like to see them decrease in number to the same extent that our dear little song, insectiverous and game birds have been depleted in the last twenty-five years."

Sportsmen and conservationists all over the continent have tried to devise some plan to rid the country of crows to some degree. The Dupont Powder Company has distributed literature advocating to hunters the shooting of the crow. In the meantime Jack Miner—Canada's Great Out-a-Door Man—has been working on a scheme for trapping them and to-day he is glad to announce that he has designed a net which is a complete success. The first time he pulled the string that tripped the trap doors he caught five hundred and ten birds which he later put to death in a humane way.

It is his intention to patent this net as soon as possible, not that he wishes to obtain from it any monetary return for his idea, but to prevent any unscrupulous promoter from stealing it in order to make money out of it. After these proceedings are complete and such protection is assured, he will distribute several hundred blue-prints of this net to all interested parties in Canada and the United States. If the Izaak Walton League is interested, he is willing to turn over its distribution in the latter country to them.

The net will not exterminate the crow, but it will decrease their numbers by tens of thousands—Jack Miner says "as other birds have decreased."

On asking Jack Miner how such success in all his undertakings on the Miner Sanctuary made him feel, he quietly replied, "It is only God's promise fulfilled—'Let man have dominion over all'."

DEVELOPMENT OF UDDER IMPORTANT

In choosing brood sows too little attention is paid to udder development and indications of milk production. Both breeders and swine judges err in this regard.

A recent experience illustrates very well, although it may be a bit extreme. Ninety-five students recently participated in a college judging-contest, and several classes of hogs were judged. In one ring of under-year sows there were two notable individuals, one a flashy sow with beautifully arched back and good sides, while the other was a bit straight on top but very long both in body and under-line.

One outstanding difference between the two sows was udder development. The first sow carried but nine teats, one blind, with the front pair placed nearly at the middle of her belly. The other carried twelve prominent teats, well developed, all well spaced and well placed. You can readily see why one sow was more valuable than the other, assuming that both should farrow ten or more pigs.

Yet, out of the 95 student judges, coached by livestock professors, less than 15 made adequate reference to udder development and brood-sow qualities in giving reasons on that ring of sows. Possibly several had noted that difference but forgot to mention it when the time came. However, too many of them were thinking and talking just "hogs" instead of "breeding sows."

Years ago Professor Henry of Wisconsin reported that it requires 293 pounds of feed for 100 pounds of gain on pigs going from 15 to 50 pounds in weight, whereas it takes 400 pounds of feed for 100 pounds gain on pigs going from 50 pounds to 100 pounds each. Pigs are suckling most of the time while going from 15 pounds to 50 pounds in weight. They get their feed in the form of milk and the mother must have an udder or the pigs don't get the milk. Moreover, the mother must have constitution and digestive capacity in order to supply to the mammary glands the nutriment from which milk is secreted.

ROSENEATH U.F.O. WILL NOT ENTER POLITICAL FIELD

Decides to Confine Activities to Co-operative Shipping.

OFFICERS ELECTED

Annual Meeting Was Held on Jan. 4 in Town Hall.

ROSENEATH, Jan. 15.—Roseneath Farmers' Club held its annual meeting in the town hall on Monday evening, January 4. The old officers were all re-elected, namely:

President—Bruce Parker.
Vice-President—And. Brown.
Secretary—A. J. Campbell.
Directors—H. Blodgett and I. Brown.
Auditor—And. Brown.
Stock Shipper—Cecil Radley.
Egg and Poultry Shipper—C. W. Varcoe.

The egg and poultry shipper is to receive two cents per dozen commission, providing weekly shipments do not reach 15 cases, and if 15 cases or over are shipped, his commission is to be one-half e nt per dozen.

Considerable discussion took place regarding the stand the U. F. O. convention took in regard to entering the poitical field again and finally a resolution by C. W. Varcoe and Cecil Radley, passed unanimously, resolving that the Roseneath Club should refuse to have anything to do with politics but confine itself solely to co-operative shipping and buying.

BABY BEEF SELLS AT HIGHEST PRICE

In these days, with the market demand for light or handyweight cattle from which the high-class small cuts are obtained, the production of baby beef is important and real high quality baby beeves usually sell at or near the top of the market. A few years back an effort was made to put this class of cattle on the market at around fourteen or fifteen months of age, some going forward even younger than that. Butchers and abattoir men now claim that the beef does not attain its best flavour until the animal is seventeen or eighteen months of age. It is a well-known fact that there is a stage in the animal's life between the veal weight and the beef weight during which it does not make very satisfactory meat, being rather tough and stringy and lacking flavour, so that it is important that cattle finished for baby beef carry not only the best possible beef type and finish but that they have reached the right age to insure good flavour.

Of course, the best quality of baby beef is made from well-bred cattle that have been allowed to nurse their dams. Most feeders believe that whole milk is necessary in the production of baby beef, and, undoubtedly, the highest quality product is obtained from cattle which nurse until at least nine or ten months old. Experiments at the O.A.C. have proven that under average conditions with good grade cows reasonable profits may be made from the raising of baby beef where the calves suck the cows. In addition to the whole milk, as soon as the calves will eat it, good alfalfa hay, pulped roots, silage and, while the calf is young, whole or rolled oats to which a little oilcake has been added and later during the finishing period a mixture of barley and oats or corn and oats are amongst the best feeds to be used. In all steer feeding it is well to remember that around a pound of good alfalfa hay per 100 pounds live weight and an average of one-half pound of grain per 100 pounds live weight during the feeding period generally brings good results. Usually the feeder starts with a smaller proportion of grain than that mentioned, gradually increases until the middle of the period when the animal gets the rate mentioned, while at the end of the period he may be getting nearly a pound of grain per 100 pounds live weight per day. In the handling of baby beeves, it is well not to let them out on grass unless it be in paddocks and only at night. All young cattle, particularly calves that are being pushed for rapid gains, do better kept in partially darkened box stalls during the day throughout the summer. It is wise, however, to let such cattle have some outdoor exercise both winter and summer. An hour in the open yard on fine days in winter and spending the nights in the paddocks during summer makes for greater vigour and bigger returns.

DRILLING VS. BROADCASTING.

I have learned that one method may be better one time, and the other better at another time. Broadcasting by hand, which was a common way years ago, was likely to sow the oats unevenly and the old spike-tooth harrow did not cover them well. The spring-tooth often covered some too deep, while the drill sowed evenly and covered them evenly—an advantage for drilling. But when the sowing and covering are done right, broadcasting gives as good yields as drilling.—F. G. S.

Short of wood or coal? Clean up some of the trash in the fence corners and burn it. There is no economy in a tumbledown fence.

Using seed grain that grew on your own farm? Be sure you get all the weed seeds out. You can remove them with a grader.

TURNIPS KILLED QUACK GRASS

Land Given Up to Pest for Years Cleaned in One Season.

GOOD CROP, TOO

I had an acre of land which I cleared of quack-grass. The land had been given up to the pest for years. A year ago last June I had the land plowed and put on 500 pounds of fertilizer nothing else. When the plow went through it sounded like cutting leather. I immediately sowed it to Purple Top Canada turnips. They came up in a few days and took possession of the land entirely. This year I planted the land to corn and have seen no signs of the grass. Thus I got rid of the pest that had spoiled the land, and had 300 or 400 bushels of good turnips for my labor.—C. S. D., Mass.

The oldest binder is claimed by N. W. Miller, Tiffin, O. His machine is 44 years old. N. W. bought it for $10 after it had been discarded, and put it into shape. Who can trot out an older one, still in shape to cut grain?

BEES SENT TO NEW ZEALAND TO EARN THEIR KEEP INSTEAD OF HIBERNATING ALL WINTER

Gold In Gobbler's Gizzard Sets Investigators Agog

EDMONTON, Alta., Jan. 15 (By Canadian Press). — Enterprising citizens are conducting exhaustive inquiries as to the source from which Floyd Quigley of Edmonton obtained his Christmas turkey.

These investigators are certain that within the confines of the city limits there possibly lies a fortune in gold, for the gobbler which served as the festive diet for the Quigley family, bore mute testimony to their contentions.

In preparing the bird for the holiday repast, Mr. Quigley discovered in its gizzard several small nuggets of gold. With willing assistants, Mr. Quigley is endeavouring to locate the farmyard gold mine.

Nelson Beekeeper is Making Experiment This Winter.

SAVING MONEY

Less Food to be Provided and Travelling Cases Cheap.

VANCOUVER B.C. Jan. 15.—Down on the other side of the world in New Zealand 140 000 odd bees are buzzing around making a living for themselves instead of hibernating in Canada and eating up the store they laid in when it was summer here.

This is a fresh development in beekeeping science that is in the experimental stage now. It is aimed to make the bees work the year round and to produce two crops of honey instead of only one as at present. The experimenter is James Ballantyne of Nelson B.C. who accompanied a shipment of 30 pounds of working insects including 10 queens. The bees were shaken off the combs in October after they had completed a busy summer.

Work Year Round.

In New Zealand they are being asked to produce another crop following which with their natural increase they will be divided into 20 lots and be brought back to Canada next April or May to escape the idle winter season in the Antipodes.

Economically and financially says Mr. Ballantyne, it would appear that the recurrent expenses of so great a journey would outbalance the returns. He argues from ascertained facts, however, that the saving in the expense of winter feeding for 20 weeks, pays for the few pounds of sugar the bees will need on the journey, by land at two ends and the intervening Pacific voyage; also that the expense for special traveling cages is not so great as the cost of winter cases, or a bee cellar, so necessary in Canada; also that the doubled natural increase of the bees will pay for personal transportation when once migrations are on a commercial scale.

Habits of Bees.

Mr. Ballantyne is most interesting regarding the habits of bees, so long regarded as the pinnacle of industrial perfection. Recent research work of students of bee culture show, he says, that, after all, the hustle and bustle is more apparent than real, and is the cause of a feeling of disillusionment.

In experiments, a number of bees were marked with distinctive colors, in such a way that their outward and return trips could be counted. It was revealed that each of these marked bees—field workers—spends an unconscionable length of time over the disposal of the nectar and pollen in the honey combs and the brood combs of the hive.

Notwithstanding what must, in the aggregate, total a surprising amount of wasted time, in commercial apiaries yields of surplus honey of 100,150 and 200 pounds per colony are common.

Great Disadvantage.

But opportunity for harvesting the honey extends through only six or eight weeks of the latter part of the summer, and a bee-keeper's season of preparation, operation, harvesting and marketing can be compressed into six months. That is one of the disadvantages of bee-keeping as a whole time occupation; there are alternate seasons of too much rush and too little to do.

A comparatively few bee-keepers, says Mr. Ballantyne, have attempted to mend matters by operations in the warmer Southern American states—Alabama, Georgia, Florida, etc., but not so much through additional honey production, as through the breeding of earlier colonies, which can be subdivided, shipped north and often become strong enough in their subdivisions to harvest the later crop of northern honey from sweet clover, alfalfa, alsike clover, basswood, firewood, etc.

Advocate Destruction.

Some Canadian and northern farmers are advocating the complete destruction of bee colonies each fall, and their replacement in the spring by southern imported bees, the saving of honey otherwise required to winter the bees paying for the imported packages.

For many years, continues Mr. Ballantyne, there has existed a profitable and expanding commerce in queens and bees from the south to the north, to meet the needs of a continually growing industry. He says that while the longer and warmer summer of the southern states is ideal for the inexpensive multiplication of bees in colonies, and for the breeding of queens, in many districts the honey plants that abound do not produce a finely flavored article; nor is the yield so heavy.

In California, Utah, Wyoming and Montana, what is known as migratory bee-keeping, is practiced to some extent. Whole apiaries, bees, hives, brood combs and all, are moved hundreds of miles, enabling the bees to work successively upon orange blossome, sage and then the clovers, thus prolonging the working season, and making the whole more profitable.

The proposition of shipping from Canada to New Zealand, and vice versa, looks feasible, says Mr. Ballantyne, provided good honey locations are chosen, both in Canada and New Zealand, and annual re-queening is practised. Incidentally, he says, it may be stated that the cost of bee transportation for 6,300 miles overseas is less than for 500 miles over land.

So far as ship storage of bees is concerned, conditions are likely to approach those of the underground cellars in which bees are wintered at a temperature around 45 degrees Fahr.—this temperature recognized by experience as the most conducive to successful wintering.

Only a few weeks, according to Mr. Ballantyne, are needed to reveal how the experiment succeeds. In the meantime it is of interest to all those who raise bees and like honey.

New potatoes are harmful if eaten before they are ripe enough.

PROPER FOODS FOR VEAL CALF

GRAIN MIXTURES

For the first two weeks the calf should be fed three times daily. During the first week it should receive eight to ten pounds of milk a day and during the second week ten to twelve pounds a day. Beginning with the third week, milk and grain supplement, or skim-milk substitute and grain supplement, can gradually replace whole milk. By the end of the third or fourth week, therefore, according to the size and vigor of the calf, the whole milk can be omitted from the feed. The amount of skim-milk can gradually be increased to 16 or 18 pounds daily.

The grain is best fed dry, beginning with a handful after feeding the milk. When the calf is one month old and is being fed entirely on skim-milk, or skim-milk substitute, clover hay and grain, the amount of grain can be one-half pound daily. At the end of two months it can be one pound, and at the end of three months two pounds daily. No further increase is necessary until the calf is six months old. A good grain mixture consists of 100 pounds of cornmeal, 100 pounds of ground oats, 100 pounds of wheat bran, 50 pounds of linseed-oilmeal, and eight pounds of blood flour.

If the supply of skim-milk is limited, various substitutes can be employed after the calf is 30 days old. Commercial calf-meals give fair results, and vigorous calves result from their use without milk after the calves are four weeks old. A home-made calf-meal can be made of equal parts by weight of hominy meal, red dog flour, linseed-oilmeal and blood flour. It is prepared by stirring one pound into seven pounds of water at a temperature of 145° F. and allowing the whole mixture to cool to 90° F.

BREEDING BIRD NEEDS VIGOUR

Hens of Full Maturity Make the Best Breeders.

MALE IMPORTANT

VIGOUR in the birds selected for breeding is of paramount importance. No matter for what purpose the mating is made, vigour in the breeding stock cannot with safety be overlooked.

Results of experiments conducted by the Dominion Experimental Farms show that birds that have reached full maturity make the best breeders. This does not mean that well matured pullets may not be used, but dependence should mainly be placed on hens. The fertility and hatchability of the eggs, in many cases, are just as good, or even better, when pullets are used, but as a rule, the viability and growth of the resulting chicks are much better where hens are used.

A male of known heavy laying ancestry should be selected to head the pen in breeding for heavy egg production. Not only should his female progenitors have laid a large number of eggs, but the eggs should have been of standard size. Too little attention has been paid to this in the past, with the result that many of the high laying strains are now being discredited on account of the small eggs which they are producing.

The male should be full bodied; broad across the back, with the width carried right back to the tail, deep from the back to the bottom of the keel to allow of capacity, and he should stand straight with his legs well apart. The skin should be soft and pliable, the head clean cut, the face smooth and free from wrinkles, and the eye bright and prominent.

The clean cut face and the bright eye are indications of nervous energy, without which, bodily indications count for little.

The points mentioned above should also be considered when selecting the females.

When possible, dependence should be placed on actual trap-nest records, and where this is done it will be found that the best producers are those that very closely conform to the foregoing description.—George Robertson.

JIM CONNAL AND RAY BEST WIN DISTRICT TANKARD ROUND FROM REESOR AND O'CONNOR AT LINDSAY

Aggregate Score Was 34 to 29, Connal Scoring 7—Shot Victory.

GREAT CURLING

LINDSAY, Jan. 15.—Lindsay and Peterboro were the only two clubs of the eight entitled to play in the District Tankard games to battle for honors on local ice Thursday. Victory perched on the stones of the Electric City curlers to the tune of five shots, and they deserved the victory as well as all the glory that usually goes with a Tankard fixture. Indeed has better curling been witnessed in a district tankard competition.

Lindsay trotted out two rinks of Tankard veterans with the exception of one player (H. Rogers) and they dished up a fine brand of curling. The work of the visiting rinks was of the championship brand. Skips Best and Connell were in superb form and received the best of support from their rink mates. The ice sheets were in excellent condition, and the gallery of spectators witnessed curling which was at all times up to concert pitch.

Skip Jim Connell took on Skip Walter Reesor, and after an initial bad end, a little unsteadiness up to the fifth frame, had the edge on his opponent all the way, and won out by the score of 13 to 20.

Skip Ray Best had as his opponent the redoubtable "Larry" O'Connor, the well-known Tankard winner. This contest was a battle royal. Skip Best had the edge all the way up until the 17th end when the score was tied, 14 to 14. In the final end O'Connor notched two shots, winning out by the score 16 to 14. The game was replete with beautiful draw shots and in all-round play in which excellent judgment and good generalship was displayed. The rinks:

Connell pulled a mighty fine shot on the 16th end, after Reesor apparently had the rock sewn upon the pot lid. There were guards in front—lots o them—but Connell played double raise, which was on an angle, and he got it in perfect style, leaving him two. Reesor played too narrow with his last shot, while Connell drew in for a third with his last stone.

ST. PETER'S HOCKEY.

Forms 2 and 3 of St. Peters School clashed last night in a fast hockey game the result of which was a win for the third form representatives by a 3-1 count. The second form squad was handicapped by the absence of a net guardian but it had a substitute player, whereas the third formers had no one in this capacity.

The line-up:

Third form: Goal, Fitzgerald, defence, Carroll and Grady; wings, O'Toole and Archambault; centre, Finn.

Second form: Defence, Deannard and Carroll; wings, Whaley and Mulvihill; centre, Meaghen; sb., Johnston.

METAL DEPARTMENT WON DELORO HOCKEY

Defeated Oxide-Silver Plant By 2 To 1.

MARMORA, Jan. 14.—The second hockey game of the season was played on the Deloro rink on Wednesday evening, the Metals Dept. challenging the Oxide-Silver plants. The game was of a more thrilling character than the first. The O. S's were the first to score, Berry, in the first period, putting the puck past Lynch. Bond equalized for the Metals in the same period. The next two periods were scoreless. Ten minutes' overtime was necessary to obtain a verdict. In the second half Brown netted, giving the Metals the victory by 2 to 1.

The victors had the best of the play, the sterling play of Murray in goal preventing a larger score.

Following was the line-up of the teams:

Metals	Oxide-Silver

average player is co... can readily be seen that the gre... is describing when it reaches the basket the more ... here is for success.

The importance o... looping your shots can never be brought home any too forcibly. Do not fear that you will give the ball too much height. Such a thing is the last to be afraid of.

The majority of coaches find that players are more prone to lessen the arc rather than to increase it. In the excitement of a game when nervous tension is usually at its greatest an inexperienced player is apt to be too anxious to send the ball on its way and thus will lose height in the loop. The cry of "stick it up" is likely to be heard more often than any other.

Low-ceilinged halls many times play an important part in players reducing the ball's arc. That is where they err. The distance from the basket at which the shot is directed should be lessened rather than the arc. And as basket-ball gains ever-increasing favor the low-ceilinged playing places are fast being eliminated. Thus little by little there is less excuse for not tossing the ball in the proper manner.

On motion, two honorary presidents received their appointments, Mrs. W. H. Bradburn for an additional term, and Miss Peck was also given the distinguished standing.

Mrs. H. T. Fallis.

Mrs. Fallis embodied in her remarks a welcome to old and prospective members. It was the third time that she had stood at a table during an annual meeting and extended that welcome. Matters looked promising in Ottawa, she said, and indicated that Mr. Meighen would be the recognized national leader within a few days. Outlining the reasons for continued monthly meetings of the association, she explained that this was the age of diversified parties and affiliations with the old causes did not now exert the influence which had obtained of old.

Mrs. Fallis would not assert that the Conservative party was infallible, but she did maintain that there was no better alternative open. She urged steadfastness of faith in the party.

COBOURG, Jan. 15.—Mr. A. W. Middleton, prominent in bowling and curling circles, is at present in a hospital in Peterboro receiving treatment for an injured eye. Mr. Middleton is a member of the Cobourg Fire Brigade, and while engaged in fighting a fire in a double house on University avenue, owned by Mr. Geo. Bond, was struck in the eye by some glass while breaking in a window. He went to Peterboro for special treatment in the hope that the sight of the eye might be saved.

Mrs. Middleton went to Peterboro on Monday to visit her husband in the hospital.

WE'D FREEZE.

Even if we should find a way to get to Mars we couldn't go — at least not until we had rigged up some sort of an electric suit that would take heat with us. For landing on that inhospitable shore, says Popular Science Monthly, we should freeze more solid than icicles, owing to the extreme severity of the climate. Dr. W. B. Coblentz of the United States Bureau of Standards, using extraordinarily delicate instruments of his own invention, has concluded that 100 degrees below zero is just ordinary temperature in our frigid neighbor's clime.

OSHAWA JUNIORS WIN CLOSE GAME

OSHAWA, Jan. 15 (Special to The Examiner). — Whitby Junior puck chasers played Oshawa a group No. 4 fixture here last night and were defeated 7 to 5. Sheriff Paxton's posse threw a scare into Oshawa in the first period by scoring the first two goals, while Oshawa got one. In the second, Oshawa ran in four in succession, with Whitby getting one. In the third period both teams scored twice, and the game ended in favor of Oshawa. The teams were:

Whitby—Goal, Pawes; defence, B. Smith and J. Sleightholm; centre, E. Sleightholm; wings, Tucker and Blow; subs., Irwin and Mowsary; sub. goaler, E. Clarke.

PAYS TO ADVERTISE

TO-NIGHT'S GAME IS WORTH SEEING

Young Petes and Lindsay Midgets Meet in Crucial Game at Brock.

TWO FINE TEAMS.

To-night's the night! Lindsay and Peterborough Juniors clash in a game which is of great importance to both teams, and there will be a game worth going miles to see. Both teams are strong, having speed and skill. The visitors have a little more weight but won't be able to use it so well as in Lindsay as the Petes will be more at home, having a big ice surface on which they should manoeuvre around the visitors.

With more room, the Petes' combination, which was a treat to watch in Markham, will give them an edge over their opponents from Scugog-ville. The defence will have more opportunity to stop attacks, and the forwards won't get in each other's way so much. The visitors, however, are a shifty bunch of boys who have had plenty of experience and should be able to adapt themselves to the bigger ring.

HAMILTON TEAM HERE MONDAY

Senior Game Promises To Attract Big Crowd of Fans.

The game with Hamilton Rowing Club on Monday night is the last chance to see the Petes perform at home for nearly two weeks, and the fans, realizing that fact, are likely to turn out strong. The Petes need this game to stay on top of the heap, and are not underrating the ability of the Scullers, who, although occupying a lowly position in the group race, have some good material, and are liable to spill the beans for some of the contenders. The Petes are determined that the Hamilton outfit will not do so at their expense, and they will take no chances Monday night. The reserved seat plan is on sale at Bert McLeod's drug store, and the pasteboards will likely be in demand.

MARMORA BEAT MADOC EASILY

Game Was Played During Intermittent Snow Storm at Marmora.

MARMORA, Jan. 15.—Marmora beat Madoc easily by the score of 8 to 2 in a Hastings County League hockey game last night. The home team led all the way and was never pressed. The victory give the Green and White a clear lead in the Hastings County championship.

Considerable interest centres in their first encounter with Stirling next Tuesday. The superior speed shown by the Marmora forwards up to the present is calculated to be more advantageous on the larger rinks. Stirling will endeavor to stem Marmora's tide of success, and Hastings County hockey fans see in Tuesday's game at Stirling a struggle unexcelled for keenness by any between these teams in history.

There was a splendid attendance last night, but the expectations of congenial weather conditions which the early afternoon gave rise to were not realized, snow falling for an hour previous to the scheduled start and continuing more or less throughout the game. A volunteer broom brigade, however, thoroughly swept the surface of the rink, so that play suffered little.

Marmora took the aggressive from the start, and carried it throughout the game. The combination of their forwards completely baffled the opposing sextette. It was apparent from the first that Madoc was a beaten team, but the players fought gamely to the last and took their defeat good naturedly. They disputed one disallowed goal, however, with the result that Fred Johnston, who was goal umpire for Marmora in the first period, was replaced for the remainder of the game by Clarence Gladney. At the end of the first period, Marmora led by a solitary goal, scored by McWilliams.

Marmora opened the second period with amasing dash, Lenahan being beaten twice within the first ten minutes. The score was carried to five before Madoc found the net. Neal in goal for Marmora, at this period, became a little erratic in leaving the net unwarrantedly but displayed sounder judgment later before the period closed. Marmora added another three goals without response from the Black and Whites.

The homesters took matters easy in the concluding period, permitting Madoc to score a second. Time was called with Marmora winners by 8 goals to 2. This is the record score piled up by Marmora for at lease ten years. Goal scorers were as follows: Marmora—Bond 3, Berry 2, McWilliams 2, Auger 1. Madoc—Moon 1, Rupert 1.

Lineup

Madoc—Goal, K. Lenahan; Defence, L. Blue and T. Rupert; Centre, C. Moon; Wings, S. Ranson and J. Watson. Subs., L. McConnel and E. Smith.

Marmora. — Goal, C. Neal; Defence, R. C. Jack and M. Auger; Centre, J. A. Bond; Wings, A. G. Berry and G. McWilliams. Subs., C. Brady, J. A. Bond.

Referee—T. Beatty, Tweed.

BOWLING

AT K. OF C. ALLEYS.

Ladies' teams bowling at the Knights of Columbus' Alleys last evening were the West Ends (Mrs. J. J. Doris, captain), who won two games out of three from the Poppies (Miss Katie Radey, captain), and the Bluebirds (Miss Carmelita Fitzgerald, captain), who took two games from the Reg'ler Fellers (Miss Florence Giroux, captain). Good scores were made by Miss Carmelita Fitzgerald, with three games of 169, 165 and 175; Miss Rita Maher 171, and Mrs. J. Crowley, 159, both of the Reg'ler Fellers' team; Mrs. G. White, 165, Miss A. Doris 162, and Mrs. J. Picard, 158, all of the West Ends' team.

After the scheduled games were played, the alleys were thrown open to lady bowlers from eight to eleven o'clock, the prizes for the high score, a box of chocolates, being won by Miss Marita Collins, with a score of 238 for one game and 174 for another. Miss Helen Lynch made 164 in one game.

LADIES' MERCANTILE LEAGUE Y. M. C. A.

The first half of the Ladies' Mercantile League at the Y.M.C.A. finished on Wednesday night with the teams grouped very closely. The Hurons and the Superiors ran along closely for nearly all the race and the race for first place was between these two teams with the Ontarios and Eries only a few games in the rear. The Hurons captained by Miss Pearson, however, led the Superiors captained by Miss Agnes Wallace to the finish by three games. The Ontarios, captained by Miss Carmelita Fitzgerald finished in third place, four games behind the Superiors; while the Eries captained by Miss Gladys Gollop, finished in fourth place a few games behind the Ontarios.

The second half of the league promises to be even more close and interesting, and it would be hard to tell from this point who will be the winners of the second half, but the last three teams in the first half, promise that the first half winners won't repeat.

The final standing was as follows:

	Won	Lost	P.C.
Hurons	28	17	622
Superiors	25	20	555
Ontarios	21	24	466
Eries	16	29	355

LADIES' LEAGUE, Y.M.C.A.

The Canaries were right in form and took all three games from the fast travelling Cardinals in the Ladies' League. Miss Rae's nice total of 527 for the three games was a great factor in the Canaries' success. She had two nice singles of 198 and 185. Miss Adams had a nice single of 179.

CUP GAMES ROB SOCCER LEAGUE OF FANS' FAVOR

Scheduled Games Not Awaited With Same Interest as Early in Season.

SATURDAY'S TILTS

Manchester United Much Stronger for Match With Arsenal.

LONDON, Jan. 15.—(Canadian Press Cable)—With the interjection into English soccer of the annual competition for the Engglish Cup, league football has lost something of its zest for the fans, and to a certain extent the scheduled games are not awaited with that same eagerness as was manifested earlier in the season. The League teams are now well on the way through the second part of home-and-home fixtures, and it will remain to be seen whether the results that featured the former contests are to be taken as a criterion of club form. At old Trafford last August, Arsenal defeated Manchester United by one goal. Tomorrow these teams meet again at Highbury. It is a vastly improved team that the Arsenal will face, and after the latter being compelled to take two shots at the third round of the Cup, followers of the game feel that their chances against the United are none to rosy. It is noted that in their last four league games the Highbury Club have won only one and lost two, drawing the fourth. In the same number of tilts, Manchester United have won three and lost one.

Will Sunderland repeat on their own ground on Saturday the five to two victory they gained over West Bromwich in September? Local fans think they will. While it is true that Sunderland are now deplorably weak, as witness their successive defeats at the hands of Leeds United and Birmingham, and the fact that they have not won a game for a month. They nevertheless feel that with the advantage of locale the home team should overcome the Albion who have won only twice in the last six starts. This should furnish one of the interesting contests of a rather dull card.

Huddersfield's Chance.

Huddersfield Town also have the advantage of Terrain against Sheffield United, and they have the memory of a previous three to two victory to sustain them tomorrow. Their position in the League is the best of all contenders and while it is appreciated that the cup-holders have developed some considerable strength lately, they nevertheless feel that the "Blades" are probably concentrating on the Cup prospects, and will not be so ready to risk much on a League game, particularly since they have absolutely no hope of the championship.

Bury, who have won their last eight games in a row, have the memory of a five-nothing defeat to wipe out when they meet Bolton Wanderers, but where the former catastrophe occurred at home, Bury on Saturday must repair to Bolton. Only three points separate Bury from the league leading Arsenal team, and having seured a new lease of life within the past two months, Bury appear to have set their mind towards being in at the kill somewhere—either in the League or the Cup. Bolton have been unimpressive so far and their recent form does not put them in the same class as their opponents. But the ground advantage may count a whole lot.

Other Games.

Other scheduled games are:

Leeds United (2) at Aston Villa (2); Birmingham (2) at Blackburn (0); Cardfff City (2) at Everton (1); Burnley (4) at Leicester (0). Tottenham (1) at Manchester City (0); Newcastle (6) at Notts County (3); Liverool (0) at West Ham (0).

The figure following the teams indicates the number of goals scored at the last game this season between the clubs engaged.

One Man's Viewpoint.

V. J. McELDERRY.

"The present arrangement is unsatisfactory," said Mr. MacElderry, "and it no doubt means that the government will be defeated sooner or later. The result will be a general election in which, quite probably, the Conservatives will sweep the country."

WEIGHT WON IN T.V.L. GAME AT CAMPBELLFORD

Havelock Defeated the Home Team 5-1 in Fast Game.

PLENTY OF SPEED.

Game Was Even Until Superior Strength of Visitors Showed in Second.

CAMPBELLFORD, Jan. 15.—The old saying 't'hat a good big team is better than a good little team" was proven to the crowd that packed Covert's Arena last night, when Havelock defeated Norman Heayan's Kids 5 to 1 in a Trent Valley League fixture.

The railroaders outweighed the local youngsters about fifty pounds per man, and they never failed to take advantage of their extra poundage. While they were fresh, the Kids held their own with their more experienced opponents, but the fast pace and the gruelling they were subjected to had its effect, and they were not as dangerous the last part of the game.

Every man gave all he had, and they never quit trying, but they were opposed to a team with just as much speed with the advantage in weight and experience and this proved the deciding factor in the end.

It would be unfair to pick out any one man as being better than the rest. Fox in goal played his usual wide-awake game, and he had no chance on the five that crossed the blue line.

Flint and McArthur formed the defence, and "Skinny" played the best game of his career. He stepped into the biggest of Havelock's huskies, and always came back for more. He also had better success on his rushes than in other games. McArthur was one of the best, till he was injured, half-way through the second period, and was unable to go on in the last period at all. Wood had his cheek cut, near the end of the first period, went down to a doctor and had it patched up, and was back for the last period. He was badly missed in the middle period, and it was then Havelock scored three of their goals.

Bill Blue was just as good as in the Hastings game, and went at top speed without relief. He scored Campbellford's only goal on a pretty individual play. Relieving Quinn of the puck at centre ice, he swung around the Brennan boys right in on top of Hooper. Labrash showed improvement over his previous game, and passed the puck a little better than usual. Cowell relieved on the forward line and defence, and made a good job of both position. Watt was used some, but showed hardly enough speed.

Havelock has a pretty well balanced outfit with Doug. and Charlie Brennan and Wright the most prominent. Quinn aroused the ire of the crowd by his questionable tactims on the defence.

First Period.

There was no score in the first period, although both teams had numerous chances. The local Kids had just as much of the play as the visitors, and looked to have a fair chance of winning till the superior weight of Havelock began to have its effect. This was the fastest of the game and had the big crowd howling with excitement.

Second Period.

The Orange and Black continued to have their share of play till well on in the second period, the break coming when Wright got possession with only one defence man to beat, and he went right in close. The next one was rather fluky, Jack's slow roller taking a bad hop right at the goal mouth and going over Fox's stick. The next one was rather easy too. Fox came out of his net to stop Jack, and in the mix-up, the puck rolled over to Pollock in front of the empty net. Just before the period ended Blue got his goal, already described.

Third Period.

Both teams showed the effects of the fast pace, and the game slowed up somewhat. Doug. Brennan and Pollock went down in combination. Fox stopped the shot, but in a scramble in front of the net, Brennon butted the puck into the cage. Wright went in alone for the last score of the game.

The line-up:

Havelock—Goal, Hooper; defence Quinn and D. Brennan; centre, Pollock; wings, Wright and C. Brennan; subs., Jack and Armstrong.

Campbellford — Goal, Fox; defence, Flint and McArthur; centre, Blue; wings, Labrash and Wood; subs., Cowell and Watt.

Theatres

AT THE CAPITOL

"THE ANCIENT HIGHWAY."

An all-Canadian programme is the attraction at the Capitol Theatre for this week-end, with Jack Holt, Billie Dove and Montagu Love in a romance of the open roads and deep forests of old Quebec, filmed from one of James Oliver Curwood's stories, "The Ancient Highway."

It is an interesting picture, one of the type in which Jack Holt appears so often. The St. Lawrence River is the great highway of Canada. Jack Holt is the hero, Clifton Brant, and Montagu Love is Ivan Hurd, the most powerful lumberman in Canada. Billie Dove is the heroine of the piece, Antoinette St. Ives, a charming young Frenchwoman.

Hurd, the lumber baron, robs Brant's father of a timber concession while the son is at the Great War, where he is supposed to have been killed. On his return, however, on hearing of his father's death, he declares war on Hurd, and joins forces with the St. Ives family, also opposed to the lumber baron. Hurd, of course, is in love with Antoinette, and Brant's rivalry for her favor only increases the enmity between the two men. The main theme of the story is filmed in the lumber camps of the district, where Antoinette teaches school in the winter, and Brant and Hurd strive for commercial supremacy. The dynamiting of a log jam is one of the big episodes in the picture, also a fight between the two principal masculine characters.

The picture programme opens with a review of winter sports in Canada, showing an exhilarating series of the ski-ing, snowshoeing, tobogganing, skating and hockey sports in which Canadians indulge.

AT THE REGENT

"THE WILD BULL'S LAIR."

A hitherto untapped vein of western action drama, well mixed with comedy, yields a "strike" of rich ore in "The Wild Bull's Lair," Fred Thomson's F. B. O. Production which was shown for the first time here at the Regent Theatre yesterday.

The western star, who has enjoyed a meteoric rise to great popularity in the last year, is at his best in the role of Dan Allen, a fearless cattleman who eventually solves the mystery of "The Wild Bull's Lair" and who is the only rancher immune to the supposedly supernatural which is at work on the summit. Silver King, his wonderful horse, has an excellent part, and struts his stuff with his usual intelligence and spirit. Although Thomson and his horse naturally stand out at the head of the cast, all the roles are filled admirably, and the direction of the picture is fine. Particularly beautiful and effective scenic shots have been obtained of the great bull, silhouetted against the sky on the mountain peak, bellowing his strange challenge to the valley beneath.

The peak of this distinctive story is reached when Allen fights the supposedly "spook" bull, which is really a wild and vicious animal crossed by a renegade Indian with the bison strain. The battle between man and beast is a classic of fights on the screen; and it is doubtful if a more sensational contest could be imagined. Thomson's great strength and trained agility as an athlete make him able actually to "bulldog" the huge creature and drop him as an ordinary cowboy would a yearling steer; but only after a herculean struggle.

SURPLUS HELD FOR SUBURBAN ROADS

Wet Weather and Removal of Some Roadway Meant Less Work.

According to reports presented yesterday at the annual meeting of the Suburban Area Commission there is a considerable surplus remaining after the payment of operating expenses for the year. This is largely due to the fact that the provincial government took off seven miles of roadway which had formerly been under the care of the Commission. In addition to that the wet weather which continued for such an unusual period in the Fall caused an early cessation of activity on the roads. The meeting was held in the Court House with the three commissioners, H. Gainey, chairman, T. Brown and William Brown, present. H. Gainey was re-appointed as chairman for 1926.

Watches and Ford Cars

People do all sort of stunts with Ford cars, but even the most careless give it a bit of oil once in a while.

With watches it is different. People seem to expect a watch to do things that even a Ford car won't do. A watch should receive attention and be looked after, cleaned and oiled just as any fine piece of mechanism. Drop in and let us look at your watch. We will give an honest opinion whether it needs attention or not and you won't be under any obligation either.

Questioned as to his opinion regarding the defeat of Meighen's lack of confidence motion, Hon. G. N. Gordon, K.C., stated that the Government would continue to carry on, putting through its estimates and making the necessary appointments. Mr. Gordon saw a parallel in the present situation and that which characterized the Government in England some years ago, unded the leadership of Ramsay MacDonald.
Mr. Gordon said that six weeks would probably elapse before the Speech from the Throne was debated.

HAMILTON'S "GRAND OLD MAN" ADAM BROWN, DIED THIS MORNING

Deceased Gentleman Would Have Been 100 Years Old in April.

TAKEN ILL THURSDAY.

Had Been in Good Health Up To That Time.

HAMILTON, Ont., Jan. 16 (Canadian Press).—Adam Brown, Hamilton's "grand old man," died this morning at 4.30 at his home on Aberdeen Avenue, in his 100th year. At his bedside were his daughters, Mrs. William Hendrey of this city and Mrs. E. B. Smith of London, and his grandsons, William and George Hendrey. Mr. Brown suffered a fainting spell on Thursday morning, but rallied quickly and seemed to be in his usual health later in the day and during Friday. About three oclock this morning he called for his nurse and asked her to "take a letter". He wished to dictate to a friend in England who had asked him to try and secure him a position. His nurse saw a change come over his face and at once notified his daughters, who went to his room and remained till death came. Shortly after he had asked his nursce to "take a letter" he fell into the sleep that knows no awakening.

Had Mr. Brown lived till April 3 next, he would have celebrated his 100th birthday.

DIED TO-DAY.

ADAM BROWN,
Hamilton's "grand old man," who passed away early this morning in his one hundredth year.

REPAIR CHATEAU.

Reconstruction of Damaged Wing Begun.

MONTREAL, Jan. 16 (Canadian Press).—Work on reconstruction of the damaged wing of the Chateau Frontenac Hotel at Quebec began to-day. It is expected that the building will be completed by June 1 next.

The C. P. R. announcement continues:

"Work of clearing up the debris in the unburned portion of the hotel is going forward apace, and the Chateau will be open for business Monday next, the convenience of the guests being in no way interfered with."

The winter sports programme and other seasonable events will be carrid out in full, the announcement says.

POISON IN PORRIDGE.

Charge Against Farmer in Saskatchewan.

MOOSE JAW, Sask., Jan. 16 — (Canadian Press).—Charged with causing strychnine to be placed in the food of a neighbor, Joseph Nicholson, a farmer living southeast of Maple Creek, has been remanded pending an analysis of the food. Nicholson, it is alleged, ordered his son to place the poison in the food at the home of Hector McQuarrie. Nicholson's wife, it is stated, was employed at the McQuarrie home, and had refused to return to her husband.

Several members of the McQuarrie family were ill after partaking of porridge which was noted to have "a bitter taste."

NORTH MONAGHAN RESIDENTS' ATTENTION

Residents of the Township of North Monaghan are asked to read the By-law No. 876, passed at a meeting of the North Monaghan Council on December 15th last, relating to the public health of the Township. It is published in today's issue.

The By-law became effective on January first, and it is of sufficient interest and importance to every resident of the Township for them to cut it out for further reference.

Interruption Of Weird Prayer Rites For Sick Man Almost Resulted In Offering Intruder As Sacrifice

BROOKLYN, N.Y., January 16 (United Press)—Resenting the intrusion of callers while she was performing prayer rites for her invalid brother, Mrs. Rosa Musca seized a carving knife and with her husband's aid almost made a human sacrifice of Mrs. Rosa Parolla.

Mrs. Parolla was a visitor at the insistence of Joseph Aticia and Francis Aldarmi, friends of the Muscas who had been reported ill.

When the trio entered a darkened room they sawea weird religious ceremony in progress. The Muscas were kneeling and beating their heads against the floor. With a cry Mrs. Musca took the knife and began hacking at Mrs. Parolla's legs. Musca then threw Mrs. Parolla to the floor and ripped out a handful of hair and scalp which he thrust into a chamois bag about his neck and muttered over.

Mrs. Parolla probably will recover. The Muscas were taken to a hospital in straight jackets.

LEAVING PETERBOROUGH

COMMANDANT A. J. SMITH
Of the local Salvation Army Corps, who has been transferred to Toronto.

MRS. A. J. SMITH,

Commandant and Mrs. A. J. Smith, who for the last three years have been in charge of the Army work in the city, will conduct their farewell services on Sunday. Mrs. Smith has fulfilled the duties of police matron during this period.

They will proceed to Toronto headquarters, where the Commandant becomes chief assistant to Col. Hargrave, head of the special efforts and subscribers' department in this territory. They will leave in the city their two eldest children, who have married since coming to the city.

Commandant Smith, in speaking to The Examiner, expressed his appreciation of the support given him by the citizens of all classes and creeds, especially those who helped in the campaign for the erection of the new Temple, after the old one had been destroyed by fire in 1923. Chief of Police Samuel Newhall, he said, had also been of great assistance in the solving of many problems.

Commandant Smith expressed the opinion that he is leaving one of the finest and best equipped Corps in the Army, and he ascribed this excellence to the faithful efforts of the soldiers, who have carried out their duties well.

Commandant and Mrs. Smith and four of their children will leave on Thursday, January 21. They will be succeeded by Field-Major and Mrs. Higden, now located at St. Thomas.

LABOR PLEA TO QUEBEC PREMIER

Trades Congress Officers Present Proposals For Legislations.

COMPENSATION ACT.

QUEBEC, Que., Jan. 16.—(Canadian Press.)—A delegation of officers and members of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada waited upon the Premier and several of his colleagues Friday and submitted a list of resolutions adopted or reiterated at a recent conference of the Congress held at Ottawa, with a request that they be given careful consideration and adopted if possible during the course of the present session of the Legislature.

Twelve resolutions were submitted. Some of them have already been embodied in part, at least, in the proposed new legislation forecast in the speech from the Throne.

The first deals with the Workmen's Compensation Act and the Government is asked to put into operation the recommendations made by the special commission which was appointed by the Government to study the matter and whose report will be submitted to the Legislature during the present session.

The second calls for the adoption of an eight hour day.

Another asks that provisions be made for assistance to mothers of families who are in want through the absence, by death or some other cause, of the bread winner of the home.

In matters of education, the delegation asked: Free education and assistance for compulsory education; compulsory teaching of both French and English in all the schools in the province.

Still another resolution asks the right for all workers, including police constables, to form or organize unions.

RADIO AIDS FARMERS.

Know Prices Before Grain Buyers.

VANCOUVER, B.C., Jan. 16. — (Canadian Press). — Radio has brought into the pockets of Western Canadian farmers thousands of dollars, according to C. A. Randall, a Winnipeg grain dealer, who is visiting Vancouver.

By use of radio, said Mr. Randall, the farmer knows the closing prices several hours before the country agents of grain companies, who obtain their prices by wire. In this way, he is enabled to sell his grain at a better advantage.

MAGISTRATE DEAD.

GANANOQUE, Jan. 16.—W. B. Carroll, K.C., police magistrate of this town, died at six o'clock last evening at St. Vincent De Paul Hospital, Brockville. He was only son of the late Rev. John Carroll, first rector of Christ church of this town. He was mayor of the town at one time and member of the council for a number of years. He was a prominent, active member of Christ church. He is survived by his wife and one son, Dr. J. L. Carroll of Brockville.

TRAPPER'S BODY FOUND IN SHACK BUT MATE GONE

ABSENT SINCE 1923.

Body Kneeling Against Bed Indicated a Fatal Sickness.

Edmonton, Alta., January 16. Canadian Press. — A wireless despatch to the Edmonton Journal from Fort Simpson says:

"A report of what may prove another of the insoluble mysteries of the great lone land has been brought here by W. C. Wilson, post manager of the Northern Traders of Fort Norman.

"In the summer of 1923, J. C. Nichol and L. Beaman, entered into a partnership for the purpose of prospecting and trapping. These men took with them supplies sufficient for two years, so no anxiety was felt on their account until they failed to put in an appearance at any of the posts last summer. Up the Grave river is a recognized route to the Yukon Territory, frequently followed by both Indian and white trappers, and it was supposed that Nichol and Beaman had crossed the mountains and would arrive at some of the trading posts on the Yukon side during the summer or fall of this year.

Found Body in Shack.

"Herbert Hodgson, a trapper for several years resident of Fort Norman, in going over the country to cut out a trap line in November last, came to a cabin of the previous existence of which he did sot know, and on entering found the body of a man kneeling on the floor with his head resting on his arms, face downward, beside the bed. Hodgson lighted a match and pushed back the cap which covered the head of the corpse and recognized the features as those of Nichol. Of Beaman there was no trace and nor any of his belongings in the cabin. Evidence of long sticks having been dragged in through the doorway and poked into the fire without cutting, tend to show that Nichol had been sick and unable to care for himself some time before his death. A calendar was hanging on the wall of the cabin with the dates crossed off, the last so crossed being March 18, 1924. Provisions were found in the cabin so there is no evidence of starvation being the cause of Nichol's death. Bears had got into the cabin and had eaten sugar and other articles of food and weasels and mice had also destroyed some of the perishable foods which the cabin contained.

"Hodgson immediately caused the matter to be reported to the R. C. M. P. at Fort Norman and Constable Gilliams has gone with Hodgson as guide to investigate as far as possible the cause of Nichol's death and of Beaman's disapeparance. Nichols was a stranger in this country, said to be an old Yukoner, but "Shorty" Beaman is known and liked throughout the Northwest territories."

THREE BANDITS ARE EXECUTED

Others Spared on Promise to Show Band's Hiding Place.

TRAIN ROBBERS.

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 16 (Canadian Press). — Summary execution has been meted out to three of the bandits who last week massacred passengers, members of the train crew, and soldier guards of a train running between Guadalajara and the capital. Five of the bandits were captured, but the lives of two were spared because they promised to divulge the location of the other members of the band. Official announcement to this effect has been made by the Government.

Doumergue Learns Etiquette British Rulers To Visit Him

PARIS, Jan. 16.—Having been advised that a State visit from King George and Queen Mary is likely during the coming Spring, Gaston Doumergue, President of the French Republic, is taking a strenuous course in etiquette, and in English. Under expert tutelage the President has learned a considerable number of polite English phrases and the details of court etiquette. It is recalled that the last time Queen Mary came to Paris, M. Doumergue, who was then Premier, made the bad mistake of offering her his left arm to escort her in to dinner, and the guardians of the protocol are determined that such a breach shall not happen again.

UNITED STATES' TREATY ACTION CHEERS LEAGUE

Treaties Transmitted To Geneva For Inclusion in League Series.

FRIENDLY GESTURE.

Voluntary Co-operation By Washington Pleases Officials.

GENEVA, Jan. 16 — (Canadian Press).—It has been a long time since news concerning the relations of the United States with the League of Nations has caused more pleasure in League circles than Friday's announcement that henceforth the United States Government would transmit all treaties signed by the United States for insertion as part of the League treaty series.

Not being a member of the League, the United States was not obliged to take this initiative, and League officials said last night that it was all the more appreciated because of this fact and because it meant that the League's famous treaty series can now be virtually completed. It means that new treaties entered into by the United States with Ecuador, Russia, Egypt, Afghanistan, Turkey and Mexico, which likewise are non-members, can form a part of the series.

The communication of the United States made it clear that its decision did not imply that its treaties were to be formally registered under Article XVIII. of the covenant, which stipulates that all treaties and international agreements signed by members of the League must be registered with the secretariat and published, and that such treaties or engagements were not binding until so registered.

Note of Appreciation.

In acknowledging receipt of the United States note, Sir Eric Drummond, secretary-general of the League, wrote to S. Pinkney Tuck, United States consul at Geneva, expressing the appreciation he was sure all the members of the League felt at the United States initiative. Sir Eric added that although undoubtedly as pointed out in the communication, almost all United States treaties were now registered by another contracting party, nevertheless, the possibility of including other treaties received direct'y from the United States Government would tend to make the League treaty series still more complete.

Friendly Gesture.

League of Nations officials said that they deemed the Washington action as a friendly gesture of co-operation with the League, carried out to further the policy of publicity and open diplomacy. They declared there was a time when League communications remained unanswered for as much as eight months, while now all queries sent to Washington were answered promptly and fully, and that the United States Government sends in regularly information on technical and statistical matters and has given complete information on such subjects as opium and the white slave traffic. One official remarked:

"All misunderstandings and irritations with Washington now have ceased, and the United States is co-operating sincerely with the League."

Recently one of the boa constrictors in the Hamburg zoological gardens swallowed so much of its own body that it became tied up in the form of a ring and suffocated.

PREMIER KING'S DECISION TO RUN IN PRINCE ALBERT, SASK., CAME AS COMPLETE SURPRISE TO LIBERALS

Parents Say "No Bobbing" Men Demand Short Hair

HAYS, Kansas, January 16. — (United Press.) — The battle over bobbed hair in the tiny village of Munjor, near here, will be decided at the altar.

Indignant parents of short-haired daughters, have served notice on the girls that their tresses must be at least 15 inches in length before they will consent to their marriage.

On the other hand the young men of the town, populated almost entirely by Russians, have just as firmly asserted they will marry none but girls with short locks.

Meanwhile both factions await the wedding of one of the bobbed haired daughters set for some time in February, which is to test the parental edict and forever decide the troublesome question of long tresses and spinsterhood and bobbed hair and marriage.

CONGESTION ON OPEN MARKET

PRICES GOOD.

The warm sun of this morning cast a spring-like air over the farmers' market, and seemed to impart an additional vim to the sales on the open section. Whatever was the cause, there was considerable congestion in traffic along the curb which borders the stores on the west side. Loads of hay were much in evidence and spread themselves all over the landscape, along with loads of wood which seemed to be placed in higgledy-piggledy fashion along the causeway. The predominance of the motor vehicle over the horse-drawn cart was manifested in one outstanding instance. Making a lisurely way out to the Simcoe street lane was a load of hay, the driver perched on a high eminence. It had a few feet yet to go, when a truck at the curb decided to go somewhere in a hurry. The driver of the rtuck proceeded forthwith and the load of hay had to back up to allow the machine precedence. Little auto trucks darted in and out, horse-drawn buggies made their way through the crush, and a sociable white horse, taking advvantage of opportunity and a lack of interest on the part of its driver, helped itself liberally to some baled hay outside one of the stores, drawing its attached buggy directly across the sidewalk. An adventuresome lady stooped under the munching head but the majority of the passers-by made their way around the vehicle.

Eggs and butter were fairly plentiful this morning, the former selling from 45 to 50 cents for a dozen and the latter from 40 to 50 cents a pound.

Chickens were priced generally at 30 and 28 cents a pound, with hens and ducks and geese at 25 cents. A seven-pound turkey was quoted at $2.25. A purveyor of home-made woollen things had socks all the way from 50 to 75 cents a pair.

In the open section, the fish man had a brisk sale. Salmon was evidently the favorite buy, at two pounds for 35 cents.

Red onions were 50 cents a peck, parsnips 30 cents, carrots 25 cents. Potatoes were scarce, and were priced at $3 a bag.

Hay was plentiful and was quoted at $13 a load. There was much wood also ranging in price from $9 a load for tamarack to $13 for good hardwood, in stove lengths. Ten and eleven dollars a load for hardwood was the popular price and $10 was the price of a mixed hardwood load in cordwood lengths.

Pork was 20 and 22 cents a pound, in front and hind quarters, and beef 10 and 12 cents.

Spies were $3 a barrel, McMahon Whites 25 cents a peck. z

Sitting Member, Charles MacDonld, Resigned Friday Afternoon.

ELECTION FEB. 15.

Conservatives Call Emergency Meeting To Consider Action.

PRINCE ALBERT, Sask., Jan. 16 (Canadian Press). — An emergency meeting of the executive of the Conservative party here was held last night, to consider what line of action is to be adopted in the approaching Federal by-election brought about by the announcement that the sitting member, Charles MacDonald, will resign to make way for Premier Mackenzie King.

Leaders of the Conservative party declined to comment on the development. The feeling prevails, however, that the seat will be contested.

Andrew Knox, the Progressive candidate in the last general election, also was reticent, barely stating that the Progressive executive would consider the situation created.

The Liberal chiefs maintain that the Premier's announcement "came as a bolt from the blue," but express confidence in electing the Prime Minister.

ELECTION FEB. 15.

OTTAWA, Jan. 16. — Premier King will stand for election in Prince Albert, Sask. Nomination day has been set for February 1 and polling February 15. The member for Prince Albert was Charles MacDonald.

Friday afternoon, the sitting Liberal member, Charles MacDonald, rendered his resignation to the Speaker and writs for a by-election were issued. Nomination day is fixed for February 1 and election day for February 15.

Premier King intends to address a series of meetings in Prince Albert. "I hope that my candidature in Prince Albert," he said, "will be one more means of linking the West more closely with the East."

Plan Recess.

Questioned whether, now that the Conservative amendment had been defeated, the Government would go ahead with appointments, Premier King said the Government would use its discretion. But he did not think there would be any difficulty in this regard. No other by-elections were in immediate prospect. Premier King expressed full confidence that he would be elected. But whether or not he would be in the House before the conclusion of the debate on the address he could not say. That would depend on the length of the debate.

At the recent elections Charles MacDonald was elected by a majority over the combined vote of both his opponents, a Conservative and a Progressive.

The vote was: MacDonald, Liberal, 4,865; Diefenbaker, Conservative, 2,343; Knox, Progressive 2,094.

The vote in the general election of 1921 was: Knox, Progressive, 3,539; Brigham, Liberal, 4,061; Paul, Conservative, 2,427.

THE WEATHER.

The thermometer went down to 1 degree below zero last night. On the whole, however, this winter has so far proved to be comparatively moderate. The following are the low figures for the latter half of the same month last year: Jan. 19th, 26 below; 23rd, 10 below; 24th, 11 below; 27th, 19 below; 28th, 36 below; 29th, 15 below. The 28th had the lowest figures that Peterboro has experienced for 40 years. The following figures are for the preceding year 1924: Jan. 21st, 14 below; 26th 20 below; 27th, 20 below; 28th, 15 below. After perusing these figures the reader will probably come to the conclusion that things are seldom so bad but that they they could be worse.—W. P.

Katchewanooka Summer Resort For Sale.

Situated on Katchewanooka Lake, four miles north-east of Lakefield. Size 40 x 30, including 10-ft. verandah, and has a capacity of thirty-five guests.

Since starting business three years ago, the tourist trade has grown to such an extent that last season was not only filled to capacity, but the owner had at times to turn people away. This should be an excellent business proposition at $4,500. Guests accommodated last season were principally from Cleveland, Buffalo, Niagara Falls, New York, Syracuse and Toronto.

FARM FOR SALE

10% CASH—BALANCE IN 25 YEARS

The Soldier Settlement Board of Canada offers for sale by Public Tender, 100 acres, West½ Lot 9, Concession 10, Township of Harvey, Peterborough County

Terms of sale are 10 per cent of the purchase price in cash on acceptance of the tender, and the balance in twenty-five equal, annual instalments, with interest at 6 per cent per annum on the amortization plan.

Each tender must be accompanied by an accepted cheque for $100. If tender is accepted, this sum will be credited to the purchase price of the land. If tender is not accepted the money will be returned to the tenderer.

Tenders will be opened at Toronto, Ont., on Ferbuary 15th, 1926.

The highest or any tender not necessarily accepted. If the land is not sold on the date above mentioned, the Board will be prepared to receive offers to purchase until such time as it is finally disposed of.

Tenders should be in plain envelopes marked "Tender for the purchase of W½ Lot 9, Concession 10, Harvey Township, Peterborough County." Address tenders and enquiries to:

THE SOLDIER SETTLEMENT BOARD OF CANADA
J. W.McKee, District Superintendent.
Dated at Toronto, Ont. this 17th day of Dec. 1925. 2d--6,30-3996

BY-LAW NUMBER 876

A By-law to make certain provisions relating to the Public Health

1. By-law Number 849 of the Corporation passed on the 11th day of May, 1925, is hereby repealed.

2. The provisions of Section 2 to 9 shall apply only to that district or area of the Township bounded:

(a) On the East by the Monaghan Road, on the North and North West by the Provincial Highway, on the West by Western Avenue and on the South by Lansdowne Street;

(b) That portion bounded on the North by Lansdowne Street, on the West by Monaghan Road, on the South and East by the River Road, with the exception of those properties within this area used as market gardens, and

(c) Properties facing on Orchardson Road from Monaghan Road West to the East side of Erskine Avenue, South of Erskine Avenue to Cameron Street, East on Cameron Street (North side only) to Monaghan Road.

3. All cesspools, sanitary closets, earth closets, privies and privy vaults and all other systems shall be so constructed, screened and maintained that flies neither find access thereto nor breed therein.

4. Every such cesspool, sanitary closet, earth closet, privy and privy vault shall be so constructed that adequate access may be had to every part thereof for the purpose of cleaning and disinfecting.

5. No person other than an officer, servant or agent of the corporation shall clean or dispose of the contents of cesspools, sanitary closets, earth closets, privies and privy vaults, and the cleaning and disposing of the contents of same shall be done exclusively by the corporation, and the corporation its officers and servants shall have all the powers of the Local Board of Health and its officers and servants, and the expense of such cleaning and disposing shall be and is hereby charged against the lands upon which such cesspool, sanitary closet earth closet, privy or privy vault, as the case may be, shall be situate and shall be collected and recovered in like manner as municipal taxes.

6. The owner of every cesspool, sanitary closet, earth closet, privy or privy vault in the Township of North Monaghan shall pay to the Corporation as a fee for the expense of cleaning and disposing of the contents thereof the sum of 40c per month for every sanitary closet, earth closet, privy and privy vault and for every cesspool shall pay the sum of $2.50 every six months.

7. No person shall engage in the business of transportation of night-soil or any other offensive or noxious substance, or drive any cart for such purpose in the Municipality without a permit or license from the Local Board of Health, and all such carts shall be so constructed and leaded as to prevent the escape of any such offensive material during the transportation thereof.

8. No cart or other vehicle for carrying any night-soil or any other offensive or noxious substance or the contents of any closet, privy vault or cesspool shall without necessity thereof be allowed to stand or remain before or near any building, place of business or other premises where any may be; nor shall any such cart or vehicle be allowed to occupy an unreasonable length of time in loading or unloading or in passing along any street or through an inhabited place or grounds.

9. Such carts, vehicles, and all implements used in connection therewith shall be kept in an inoffensive and sanitary condition, and when not in use shall be stored and kept in some place where no needless offence shall be given to any person.

10. All wells in this municipality which are in use, whether such wells are public or private shall be maintained in a proper sanitary condition with waterproof curbing, and where necessary by reason of the accumulation of leaves, dirt or other extraneous objectionable matter they shall be cleaned out before the first day of July of each year and no well shall be used as a privy, privy vault, cesspool or drainage outlet.

11. No person other than a duly licensed scavenger shall transport or convey in, upon, or over any highway in the Township of North Monaghan any dead animal or night soil or any offensive or noxious matter.

12. Every licensed scavenger shall be entitled to receive from the owner thereof for his services in transporting any dead cattle, horses, pigs or sheep the sum of $5.00 for each of said animals, and for transporting a dead dog the sum of $1.00, and in every case of the transporting by a licensed scavenger of a dead animal such scavenger shall be entitled to the skin thereof.

13. No person shall skin any dead animal or dead dog before delivering the same to the scavenger.

14. No person shall construct or maintain in said Municipality any system of sewage disposal by means of privy vault, sanitary closet, dry earth closet, or by bread irrigation, sub-soil irrigation or otherwise, except upon a permit issued by the Local Board of Health of the said Municipality. Application for said permit shall be made in writing to the Local Board of Health and shall be accompanied by a detailed description of the system and its location on the premises of said applicant.

15. Every person who shall construct an earth closet in or in connection with a building within the limits of this Corporation shall provide, construct or in connection with such earth closet suitable means or apparatus for the frequent and effectual application of dry earth, ashes or other deodorising substance to any filth which may from time to time be deposited in the receptacle of such earth closet.

16. All meats, fruits, bread stuffs, cake pastry, vegetables, candy, confectionery, or other articles of food exposed for sale within the municipality shall be protected by gauze or other covering from flies and so covered to protect the same from flies and dust, and all such foods shall be kept at least 18 inches above the floor level.

17. No person shall spit on any of the sidewalks or pavements or in any of the passageways or stairways or entrance to any buildings used by the public or in rooms, halls, buildings or places to which the public resort or in any public conveyance within the Municipality.

18. No person shall deposit or permit to be deposited in any privy vault any brick, stones metals, cans, bottles or other rubbish.

19. Nothing herein contained shall be deemed to limit or restrict the provisions of the Public Health Act or the powers of the Medical Health Officer or of the Board of Health.

20. Any person violating any of the provisions of this By-Law shall for every offence incur a penalty of not less than $5.00 nor more than $50.00, and such penalties shall be recoverable under "The Ontario Summary Convictions Act."

Passed in Open Council this 15th day of December, 1925.

H. B. Rye, Reeve. Bruce Johnston, Clerk.

Katchewanooka Summer Resort For Sale.

Situated on Katchewanooka Lake, four miles north-east of Lakefield. Size 40 x 30, including 10-ft. verandah, and has a capacity of thirty-five guests.

Since starting business three years ago, the tourist trade has grown to such an extent that last season was not only filled to capacity, but the owner had at times to turn people away.

This should be an excellent business proposition at $4,500.

BY-LAW NUMBER 876

A By-law to make certain provisions relating to the Public Health

1. By-law Number 266 of the Corporation passed on the 11th day of May, 1925, is hereby repealed.

2. The provisions of Sections 2 to 9 shall apply only to that district or area of the Township bounded:

(a) On the East by the Monaghan Road, on the North and North West by the Provincial Highway, on the West by Western Avenue and on the South by Lansdowne Street; (b) That portion bounded on the North by Lansdowne Street, on the West by Monaghan Road, on the South and East by the River Otonabee with the exception of those properties within this area used as market gardens, and (c) Properties facing on Orpington Road from the West to the East side of Monaghan Road South of Erskine Avenue to Erskine Avenue, East on Cameron Street (North side only) to Monaghan Road.

3. All cesspools, sanitary closets, earth closets, privies and privy vaults and all other systems shall be so constructed, screened and maintained that flies neither find access thereto nor breed therein.

4. Every such cesspool, sanitary closet, earth closet, privy and privy vault shall be so constructed that adequate access may be had to every part thereof for the purpose of cleansing and disinfecting.

5. No person other than an officer, servant or agent of the corporation shall clean or dispose of the contents of cesspools, sanitary closets, earth closets, privies and privy vaults, and the cleaning and disposing of the contents of same shall be done exclusively by the corporation, and the corporation its officers and servants and the corporation its officers and servants, and the said have all the powers of the Local Board of Health and its officers and servants, and be expense of such cleaning and disposing shall be and is hereby charged against the lands upon which such cesspool, sanitary closet earth closet, privy or privy vault, as the case may be, shall be situate and shall be collected and recovered in like manner as municipal taxes.

6. The owner of every cesspool, sanitary closet, earth closet, privy or privy vault in the Township of North Monaghan shall pay to the Corporation as a fee for the expense of cleaning and disposing of the contents thereof the sum of 40c per month for every sanitary closet, earth closet, privy and privy vault and closet, earth closet, privy and privy vault and for every cesspool shall pay the sum of $2.50 every six months.

7. No person shall engage in the business of transportation of night-soil or any other offensive or noxious substance, or drive any cart for such purpose in the Municipality without a permit or license from the Local Board of Health, and all such carts shall be so constructed and loaded as to prevent the escape of any such offensive material during the transportation thereof.

8. No cart or other vehicle for carrying any night-soil or any other offensive or noxious substance or the contents of any closet, privy vault or cesspool shall without necessity thereof be allowed to stand or remain before or near any building, dwelling or business or other premises where any person may be; nor shall any such cart or vehicle be allowed to occupy an unreasonable length of time in loading or unloading or in passing along any street or through an inhabited place or grounds.

9. Such carts, vehicles, and all implements used in connection therewith shall be kept in an inoffensive and sanitary condition, and when not in use shall be stored and kept in some place where no needless offence shall be given to any person.

10. All wells in this municipality which are in use, whether such wells are public or private shall be maintained in a proper sanitary condition with waterproof tops and where necessary by reason of the accumulation of leaves, dirt or other extraneous objectionable matter they shall be cleaned out before the first day of July of each year and no well shall be used as a privy, privy vault, cesspool or drainage outlet.

11. No person other than a duly licensed scavenger shall transport or convey in, upon, or over any highway in the Township of North Monaghan any dead animal or night soil or any offensive or noxious matter.

12. Every licensed scavenger shall be entitled to receive from the owner there-of for his services in transporting any dead cattle, horses, pigs or sheep the sum of $3.00 for each of said animals, and for transporting a dead dog the sum of $1.00, and in every case of the transporting by a licensed scavenger of a dead animal such scavenger shall be entitled to the skin thereof.

13. No person shall skin any dead animal or dead dog before delivering the same to the scavenger.

14. No person shall construct or maintain in said Municipality any system of sewage disposal by means of privy vault, sanitary closet, dry earth closet, or by bread irrigation, sub-soil irrigation or otherwise, except upon a permit issued by the Local Board of Health of the said Municipality. Application for said permit shall be made in writing to the Local Board of Health and shall be accompanied by a detailed description of the system and its location on the premises of said applicant.

15. Every person who shall construct an earth closet in or in connection with a building within the limits of this Corporation shall provide, construct or fit in connection with such earth closet suitable means or apparatus for the frequent and effectual application of dry earth, ashes or other deodorising substance to any filth which may from time to time be deposited in the receptacle of such earth closet.

16. All meats, fruits, bread stuffs, cake pastry, vegetables, candy, confectionery, or other articles of food exposed for sale within the municipality shall be protected by gauze or other covering from flies and so covered to protect the same from flies and dust, and all such foods shall be kept at least 18 inches above the floor level.

17. No person shall spit on any of the sidewalks or pavements or in any of the passageways or stairways or entrance to any buildings used by the public or in rooms, halls, buildings or places to which the public resort or in any public conveyance within the Municipality.

18. No person shall deposit or permit to be deposited in any privy vault any brick, stones metals, cans, bottles or other rubbish.

19. Nothing herein contained shall be deemed to limit or restrict the provisions of the Public Health Act or the powers of the Medical Health Officer or of the Board of Health.

20. Any person violating any of the provisions of this By-Law shall for every offence incur a penalty of not less than $5.00 nor more than $50.00, and such penalties shall be recoverable under "The Ontario Summary Convictions Act."

PASSED in Open Council this 15th day of December, 1925.

H. B. Rye, Reeve. Bruce Johnston, Clerk.

FIGHTING RUST ON WHEAT WITH SULPHUR DUST

FIELDS SPRAYED.

BRANDON, Man., Jan. 16. — (Canadian Press).—In the absence of wheat varieties free from the menace of rust, experiments have shown that fields sprayed with sulphur dust have offered great resistance to this destructive factor, Dr. D. L. Bailey, head of the Dominion Government Research Laboratories, of the Manitoba Agricultural College, told delegates attending the annual U.F.M. convention here.

A field treated with sulphur last fall, Dr. Bailey said, had produced a yield of 78 per cent. in excess of an infected plot of the same area. In general, he added, it had been found that adequate resistance had been fairly closely confined to Durum and Emmer groups. The problem of crossing these with common wheats and segregating rust-resistant hybrids of the bread type had been rendered very difficult through sterility and shrinkage.

Sulphur spraying offered many difficulties, and the aim of those working in this special field of research was the development of desirable common wheat varieties resistant to rust.

It was not only a question of whether the wheat offered some resistance, Dr. Bailey asserted, but to how many forms of rust it proved immune. He pointed out that fifteen different varieties of rust had been found to date. He endorsed the vigorous methods being pursued in Western Canada towards the complete eradication of the barberry, which investigation had proved to be the source of recurrent rust epidemics.

"We are just on the threshold of our experiments, but with the aid of science we hope to make rapid strides towards the ultimate solution of one of the biggest problems facing the wheat producer," he concluded.

PAPERS ON FOREST USE

At the convention of the Canadian Forest Engineers, which will meet in Toronto for two days, commencing January 20, papers will be read upon forest preservation and utilization by eminent authorities from the United States and Canada. Prominent among the speakers will be: Lef, Ralphp S. Hosmer, head of the department of forestry of Cornell University, and right, Nelson Brown, of the forestry school of the New York state college.

Orange Officers.

No. 1 Centre Hastings District Lodge of the Loyal Orange Association held its annual election of officers in the Orange Hall, Springbrook, on the afternoon of Tuesday, Jan. 12th. The primary lodges of the district were well represented.

The following were elected as officers for 1926:

District Master — Bro. J. H. Wright; Deputy District Master, Bro. M. Barlow; Chaplain, Bro. E. White; Recording Secretary, Bro. M. McComb; Financial Secretary, Bro. A. Smith; Treasurer, Bro. E. Jackman; Lecturers, Bros. W. Scott and Charles Burkitt; Director of Ceremonies, Bro. John Morrison.

The Virtue of Skepticism

By GLENN FRANK

SKEPTICISM is one of the priceless tools of the mind.

If I were compiling a list of seven creative virtues to set against the ancient list of seven deadly sins I should put skepticism well toward the head of the list.

This platitude will not go unchallenged, for skepticism is a battle-scarred word that has taken on all sorts of secondary meanings, until in some quarters the mention of skepticism is as the mention of a plague.

To many the skeptic is mere lythe perverse denier of God and goodness; a sullen cynic whose chief indoor sport is robbing little children of their faith and taking from old men the comfort of their hopes.

These false meanings have been read into skepticism alike by its foolish friends and by its foolish enemies.

Skepticism may, of course, be perverted; but skepticism itself is no perversion.

We get the word "skepticism" from the Greek "skeptomai," which means "I shade my eyes." The skeptic therefore is simply a man who shades his eyes from the distracting glare of prejudice, passion, partisanship and preconceived notions so that he may see clearly and without bias whatever he is trying to understand.

The skeptic is a man who refuses to be satisfied with a fiction when he can get a fact.

The skeptic is a man who refuses to be satisfied with second-hand information when he can get first-hand information.

The skeptic is a man who would rather run the risk of missing a truth now and then by caution than to fill his mind with myths by credulity.

The skeptic is a man who is unwilling to believe a thing simply because it pleases him or profits him.

The skeptic is a man who is willing to believe a thing that is true even if it runs counter to all the cherished notions of his nursery days.

This skeptic is no denier of truth; he is a digger for truth.

And of such is the kingdom of courage. Even lazy men may accept truth; but only courageous men can question truth, proving all things, and holding fast only to that which is good.

This is the skepticism of shaded eyes that shut out the enemies of truth; there is a skepticism of closed eyes that shut out truth itself, a skepticism that is simply a stubborn cynicism.

The skepticism of closed eyes corrodes life; the skepticism of shaded eyes creates life.

APPEALS FOR VETERANS.

Winnipeg City Council Telegraphs To Premier.

WINNIPEG, Man., Jan. 11.—(Canadian Press.)—Charging that discontinuance of assistance to returned soldiers with 20 per cent. or less disability was "a crime against humanity and a breach of faith with the men," a telegram was despatched to Premier King and other members of Parliament Friday.

The telegram, which was drafted by members of the Winnipeg City Council, urged the Federal authorities to "fulfill an obligation" which was assumed when the men were placed in a disability category.

Due to the city policy of non-assistance, considerable hardship has been experienced by hundreds of men cut off the relief roll of the D.S.C.R.

LADIES' AID MEETING.

Mrs. Poulter Entertained Members at the Parsonage.

BETHANY, January 16.—Mrs. (Rev.) Poulter entertained the Ladies' Aid of the United Church at the Parsonage on Wednesday afternoon. Fourteen ladies were present, several joining. As it was also the regular meeting, some business was talked over. Mrs. W. H. Rowan and Mrs. Poulter sang a delightful duet, accompanied by Mrs. Thorndyke at the piano. A dainty lunch was served by the hostess which was enjoyed by all. The February meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. W. L. Rowan.

A deputation from the C.P.R. was in the village this week looking over the railroad situation, and estimating the cost of putting in a switch track to the C.N.R. grain sheds and cattle yards.

A very pleasant evening was spent on Wednesday evening in the Town Hall, when the Athletic Association held a second progressives euchre party. Miss Jean McKinnon at the piano and Mr. Charlie Reynolds on the banjo, helped entertain with their music which was greatly appreciated. Twenty-four tables were occupied; first prize winners were Miss Hazel Swanson and Mr. Alban Sisson, while consolation prizes were given to Miss Norma Staples and Mr. Walter Smith.

After the conclusion of the game, dancing was enjoyed for a time.

Encouraging meetings have been held in the United Church this week it being the Week of Prayer. The meetings have been in charge of the Pastor, Rev. A. Poulter. Interesting discussion were held each night.

Mr. W. A. Brown attended the District Meeting of the Orange Order, held at otus on Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Ward were visitors to Millbrook Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Shea of Fleetwood were visitors to the village Wednesday.

Although the weather was stormy and disagreeable on Thursday afternoon, Mr. Allen Fern's auction sale of farm stock and implements was well attended. Mr. George Graham and son, Ted, of Port Perry, were the auctioneers in charge of the sale. Everything sold brought good prices. Mr. and Mrs. Fern intend moving to Pontypool in the near future. Mr. Weston Hutchinson has rented the farm and expects to move there this coming spring.

Mr. Mervyn Ram has returned to his home at Burketon after spending the past season threshing with Isaac Fallis.

Mr. and Mrs. Herb. Fallis were business visitors to Peterborough on Wednesday.

Isaac Fallis has secured Claude Porteous with his tractor to help him finish the clover threshing. The steam engine Mr. Fallis got for this job has not proved satisfactory.

Mr. Percy Steer is drawing logs to the mill these days. Mr. Steer intends building an addition to his home this coming summer.

Mr. Alban Sisson was a business visitor to Peterboro on Thursday.

LAKEFIELD ALERTS WON FROM WARSAW

LAKEFIELD, Jan. 16. — The Lakefield Alerts and Warsaw met last night in the Lakefield Rink in a Lakefield District Hockey League game. The score was 11-2 for the Alerts. It was a good game although the score shows no indication of the closeness of the play. Warsaw never left off trying, and, in addition, were handicapped by the loss of their former goaltender, who has gone to Detroit.

The teams lined up as follows:

Alerts—Goal, F. Hill; defence, Kerr and S. Hill; centre, Ridpath; wings, R. Payne and R. Hill; subs. F. Wannamaker and W. Hamblin.

Warsaw—Goal, Aitkins; defence, Morgan and H. Darling; centre, R. Darling; wings, Bowen and Bell; subs., R. Payne and Selkirk.

Referee—Braden Blewett.

Mr. Porter of Peterboro was a recent guest of his son, Mr. N. C. Porter.

Mr. H. G. Buck left the first of the week for California to visit his daughters and to attend to some business.

Mrs. C. Copen spent a couple of days in Toronto during the week.

Mr. W. A. Smith of Esten, Sask., who has been visiting friends in the village, is spending a few days in Ottawa.

Misses Cora and Jennie Clysdale returned to Toronto on Thursday.

Miss Berry of the Mothers' Allowance Board was in the district the first of the week, on official business.

The fortnightly euchre party of the I.O.O.F. was held on Friday evening last. Miss Bertha Dienel won th ladies' prize and Mr. Thos. Morrison the gentleman's.

JEWELLERS HOLD TRADE CONVENTION

Manufacturers Will Exhibit One of Most Comprehensive Displays Shown.

TORONTO, Ont., Jan. 14.—(Canadian Press).—Jewellers from all parts of Canada to the number of about 500, will gather in this city for three days, Feb. 9 to 11, for a country-wide convention sponsored by the Canadian Jewellers' Association. Questions of interest to the trade and methods of merchandising will be the chief subjects taken up by the meetings.

At the same time displays by jewelry manufacturers, already prepared, will form perhaps the most comprehensive exhibition of jewelry and allied lines ever gathered together in this country.

Following the business sessions and farewell luncheon on the closing day, Feb. 11 the delegates will devote a day or so to the inspection of local factories, which are already preparing for the advent of the jewellers.

STUDENTS PREPARE FUR TRADE THESES

TORONTO, Ont., Jan. 16.—(By Canadian Press).—Sixteen theses on the Canadian fur trade, written by 16 fourth year students in Commerce and Political Science at the University of Toronto, have been greatly in demand since they were completed in the last academic year. Fur trading firms are constantly requesting copies of them, requests coming from all parts of Canada; the United States, England and Russia.

The theses are the outcome of a remarkable step taken by the University's department of Political Science. The Liberal Arts section, discarding its long-honored tradition of segregation from world affairs, threw itself into intimate contact with trade and commerce when the department instituted a "research in Economic and Social Studies Relating to the Dominion of Canada." The theses are the first tangible product of the new undertaking.

THE ONE WAY OUT

The Examiner, as a non-partizan newspaper, with readers who support one or other of the two old political parties, and some who support neither, feels that it would be derelict in its duty if it did not at this stage set forth its dissatisfaction with the present poltical situation and suggest the one way that offers any real hope of escape from the existing deadlock.

After a week of the most shameless bartering and bargaining on the part of the two old parties with open bribes offered on the floor of the House, and more potent bids whispered behind the scenes of the House of Commons has decided, by a majority of three votes, that the King Government was right in not resigning after the last election and justified in meeting Parliament.

What will come next?

More bidding for Progressive support, more scrapping of political principles and policies, more manoeuverrng on the part of one party to stay in power and on the part of the other to get into office.

The history of the Canadian Parliament has offered no spectacle more shocking to the people of this country, except to those blinded by partizanship, than the events of the past week.

A sorry exhibition it has been by both the old parties, with the new poltical organization, the Progressive Party equally condemned for the avidity with which it has been playing the role of auctioneer in this political bargain sale.

What hope is there of stable government for Canada out of the present mess?

Mr. King said in his memorable speech at Richmond Hill: "This is not a moment in our country's affairs at which to mark time. It is time to march forward."

It matters not a whit whether the ultimate premier turns out to be Mr. King or Mr. Meighen, whether the ultimate government shall be called Liberal or Conservative; in the name of common sense, how can Canada march forward when no matter what the government may be in name, it must be in reality, a government under the thumb of a little group of Progressives, with sectional policies and viewpoint, holding the sword of defeat over the heads of the administration in order to secure its Hudson Bay Railway and its doubtful scheme of rural credits?

Out of the present entanglement, no government can emerge that could carry on without the support of the Progressives.

In other words, if either Mr. King retains or Mr. Meighen secures power, the price to be paid is the handing over to a handful of members of the House the real authority of government.

Mr. King, in his manifesto delivered to the electors at Richmond Hill in announcing the last election, said:

> "Is it sufficient that as a government we should continue in office, drawing our indemnities as members and ministers and enjoying the other fruits of office, when great national questions press for solution with which for want of an adequate majority in Parliament we are unable to cope?"

If that was the condition in the last Parliament, what can be said of the present one?

Hon. Hugh Guthrie said in the House on the 12th inst.:

> "Let me say this in the presence of my leader (Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen) and with his authority that if this motion carries, if this 'Government resigns, and if he is called upon to 'form a Government in this House, he will 'undertake the task. He will undertake to carry 'on that Government from session to session 'without dissolution and he will do so just as 'long as he receives Parliamentary support. 'Honorable members who form the Progressive 'Group in this House will realize this; Their 'position will be just as strong under the new 'administration as it is under the present one. 'They will occupy the same dominant position 'in the councils of this House as they do today, 'and if a new Government were formed and 'legislation satisfactory to them introduced and 'proceeded with, there is no reason why such a 'Government should not continue to the end 'of the parliamentary term'."

How can either one old party or the other, without a clear majority in the House and absolutely dependent upon a score of Progressive members hope to cope with national problems?

Nothing in the events of the past week, nothing in the speeches that have been delivered during the debate on Mr. Meighen's amendment suggests the slightest ground for hoping that a strong efficient government can be secured out of any juggling of the present alignment, temporary as such juggling must necessarily be.

Then what is the solution?

But one suggest itself, i.e., the dissolution of the present parliament as speedily as can be done after arrangements for the necessary supplies have been made.

Nobody wants a general election, it is expensive and disturbing in its effect on business.

But a general election offering even the faintest hope of a return to stable government is to be preferred to a continuation of bargain sale government, a reign of political barter and trading in which the interests of the Canadian people have to give way to the interests of the political parties.

The handing over of the real reins of government to the Progressives is too high a price to pay even for the political prosperity of either Mr. King and his followers or of Mr. Meighen and his party.

One week of this kind of politics has been enough for all but the most bitter of partizans.

Only a general election can clear the air, and The Examiner believes that the majority of people are prepared to endure the inconvenience of a campaign if it will give any assurance of ending the present intolerable situation.

THE KIWANIS ANNIVERSARY.

The Peterboro Kiwanis Club, like all branches of the organization, is next week celebrating the eleventh anniversary of the birth of Kiwanis, which now numbers 1,450 clubs in all parts of the world and has a total membership of 95,000.

The Kiwanis organization in its eleven years has done much wherever its influence has spread to help the less fortunate and to assist community movements and worth-while causes, and Peterboro has many reasons to congratulate itself upon the fact that the movement took root and has had a healthy growth in this city

The Peterboro club was born in 1921 and its record since that time has been one of splendid achievement. Among the many activities that have been carried on by local Kiwanians have been the construction of a dining-room and kitchen, children's swimming-pool and other improvements for the Health Association's camp at Jackson Park; providing financial assistance to the extent of $670 for the Boys' Farm at Bowmanville, helping the Salvation Army, the Boy Scouts' Association, junior sporting clubs; co-operating with the City Council, the Rotary Club and other local organizations, and extending a friendly hand to many other worth-while efforts.

Peterboro has been the better for the advent of Kiwanis in this city, and the Examiner, in expressing a hope that next week's anniversary will be an enjoyable and successful celebration, feels it is voicing the views of the whole community.

CO-OPERATION NEEDED.

In its resolution passed on Monday night calling upon spending bodies to closely scrutinize their expenditures with a view to making a tax reduction possible, the City Council was giving evidence of a real desire to cut down the civic expenditure.

The Examiner suggests that it will be good business if, not only the public bodies mentioned in the Council's resolution, but organizations who look to the city for financial assistance, will co-operate with the Aldermen in their laudable attempt to reduce the cost of civic government.

There are movements and organizations that require a certain amount of help from the civic coffers, but it is not always clear whether in presenting their request for assistance they endeavour to reach the minimum grant or whether they are in the habit of naming an amount larger than they really need.

If there is to be genuine economy exercised it will be necessary for all such organizations to consider what is the lowest sum upon which they can operate, rather than what is the largest amount they will be able to secure.

The estimates will be soon under way, and recipients of civic grants should lose no time in studying their budget in a sincere effort to retrench in their particular field.

Saving must be done all along the line if any worth-while saving is to be accomplished at all.

A SPECTACLE OF CHAOS.

Yet, someone asks, in a country so great, and whose interests are as diversified as are the interests of Canada, how is it possible to arrive at a national policy acceptable to all sections? says the Border Cities Star. Difficult it is, but it does seem that some way can be found through which a maximum of advantage and a minimum of disadvantage for all may be worked out. In the evolving of such a policy, however, there must be the greatest possible measure of good-will; the greatest possible spirit of sympathy and co-operation; and the greatest possible determination to succeed. The Border Cities Star believes that the country is in a receptive mood. It believes that every conscientious Canadian desires to attain the end mentioned. It believes, further, that Canadians, East and West, are prepared to go the limit in extending consideration to the problems of the other fellow and in meeting him more than half way all the time.

Ottawa, at the moment, presents a spectacle of chaos. Mr. Meighen has said there is no government. In a sense, he is right. In another way he is wrong. From any angle, however, the condition is about as unsatisfactory as it could be. No party has a majority, no one is really in power. And just as long as this condition continues, the national interest must suffer. The Progressives hold the key. Their votes will sustain or reject the administration headed by a man who is not even a member of the House. But even if they vote against the Government, the situation can be little improved. Without an election, Mr. Meighen, in office, would be in practically the same position as Mr. King. Members of Parliament, as a whole, do not want an early election. And it is equally to be doubted if the country at large wants an election. Nevertheless, another appeal to the people seems to be the only possible way out of our present difficulties.

A THOUGHT.

THE IRREVOCABLE LAW.

Sitting not far from me at the moment is the most melancholy man I have seen for many a day. He has the ear-marks of good breeding and much intelligence, so you see he is just one of us, after all.

Not far from the man's feet is a small, stray bird twittering and shivering before a biting blast. The songless thing is picking up crumbs on the sidewalk.

Yellow, red and russet leaves are being brushed, by the breath of Winter, past the troubled man. Over the old, rusty iron fence are six scantily arrayed, gaunt, gloomy-looking trees. This makes a most striking picture with a stirring appeal for sympathy.

Over in the west, behind the man-made horizon is high buildings, the cold and cheerless-looking sun is hiding its autumn face.

And through this melancholy man's mind, I seem to see a caravan of Gypsy thoughts that wear the tattered trappings of a tramp—seem to see these slow-footed thoughts marching past his poverty.

There is a thick fold of newspapers under his shabby summer coat, and I can see crystal streaks on his furrowed face.

This man is intelligent and shows every evidence of good breeding, and so do you and the most of us.

My point is this: The man is a man and differs but a very little from you and me.

My second, and perhaps more serious, thought is this: Few of us can escape the punishment of poverty unless we work hard in our early days and spend less than we earn.

You may juggle these thoughts any way you like, but shuffle them as you may, there will always be this fact to face: The man who is not saving something each week is quite sure to find that some day there will be marching past his poverty many slow-footed regrets and in time he will be buried under the snow-slide of remorse.

Extravagance is encompassing more men with its defeat than all else. Intelligent men, as a rule, work enough, but the blithering asses who do not save something seldom escape the terrible torture of actual want.

The smug and satisfied young man will read this, smile, and say to himself: There is time enough to think of thrift or to listen to talks on savings. I'm going to have my fling and then settle down some day and do the old man stuff—save."

What foolish philosophy and how impracticable!

The man I have just pictured was born a gentleman, is very intelligent. He was a "smart guy," but tonight he is hungry, homeless, and apparently hopeless.

Pin this thought above your desk: The man who makes a well-beaten trail to a savings bank will escape the embittering pangs of poverty, but if he fails to save, he will shiver some day.

This is the incontestable truth—the irrevocable law of living. Get it and you have got much.—The Silent Partner.

CATTLE, GRAIN AND PRODUCE

Peterboro—Toronto—Montreal Winnipeg

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

TORONTO, Jan. 15—Receipts of cattle at the Union Stock Yards this week were not too heavy and only slightly over 6,500 head. The market opened weak on Monday due to the attitude of the export buyers who decided that the Old Country market condition compelled them to buy cheaper here. Recent export shipments have lost as much as $20 a bullock. The action of the exporters found a following from the packers' buyers and the trading was quite slow until sellers met the demand for lower prices.

Price concessions were from 25 cents on butchers to as much as 50 cents a cwt. on export steers. Rogers and Maybee bought over 500 for export this week with a top of $8.50 a cwt. on choice steers. The average steer would scarcely make $8 a cwt. Export heifers averaged 25 cents a cwt. down with none higher than $7.35 a cwt. Export bulls were scarcely changed with a price range of $5 to $5.25 a cwt. Heavy coarse steers had the worst market and are not taken willingly by any means. A larger supply of steers and heifers will be wanted next week, but the steers in all cases will have to be finished.

The cut in butchers' cattle was not held throughout the week, and on Wednesday prices were back again to last week's tops. Choice butchers sold from $7.25 to $7.50; good butchers $6.50 to $7 and medium $5.75 to $6.40 a cwt. Butchers' cows held remarkably steady with a supply less than the actual demand. Any good cows are marketable at $5 a cwt. and better. Only a few loads of northwest cattle arrived this week and only a part of these went as stockers at firm prices. Western cattle with a show of fat were bought from $5.25 a cwt. up for killing purposes.

A drop in the Buffalo calf market left calves here without as good support as for several weeks past and prices weakened about 50 cents a cwt. Fancy calves are quoted around 13 1-2 cents a pound, good calves 12 cents and mediums 9 to 11 cents.

Lambs eased following Monday and are off 50 cents a cwt. from the top. Good ewes and weathers are $14.50 a cwt. Choice sheep are steady at $7.50 to $8 a cwt.

Packers tried to cut hogs 25 cents a cwt. at the opening of the week, but a continued light supply turned the market and the price advanced 50 cents a cwt. to $13 a cwt. f.o.b. Sellers regard this market now as easily susceptible to the number of hogs that might come forward.

MONTREAL GRAIN AND PRODUCE

MONTREAL, Que., Jan. 15 (Canadian Press)—The export trade in wheat, oats and barley with the United Kingdom continued slow on the Montreal market today owing to the fact that the demand was indifferent. It was reported that continental buyers were in the market for some Manitoba spring wheat for January shipment which resulted in some business being done.

There was no change in the condition of the market for coarse grains; prices being steady but the demand was again somewhat limited and only a small trade was done.

The spring wheat flour trade was without any special feature to note, prices for all grades being steady with only a small volume of business passing in all directions.

The trade in winter wheat flour was dull, but as the offerings from Ontario millers were light and stocks on spot small the tone of the market was steady and prices were unchanged. The movement of white corn flour was small at $6.80 to $7 per barrel in jute bags, delivered to the trade.

Owing to the continued somewhat limited supplies of millfeed available on spot and the steady demand for broken lots in mixed car orders the undertone to the market remains firm and prices were maintained. A moderate amount of business was done in standard grades of rolled oats at $3.40 to $3.50 per bag of 90 lbs., delivered to the trade.

The demand for baled hay showed no improvement for domestic account and in consequence the market was quiet, but the undertone was steady and prices were unchanged.

Eggs Decline Again

The weak feeling that developed in the local egg situation on Thursday was again the chief feature of the trade today and prices for strictly fresh eggs were reduced 2c to 4c per dozen which was attributed to the continued liberal receipts and the fact that supplies on spot were in excess of the daily requirements on account of retailers holding up prices to such a high level and checking the consumption. The demand for small lots was steady and a fair amount of business was done.

The depression that prevailed in the market for storage eggs on Thursday was more pronounced in a wholsale jobbing way and prices scored a further decline of 2c per dozen with every indication of them going still lower in the near future owing to the fact that holders are becoming more anxious to liquidate. The receipts were 899 cases, as compared with 870 for the same day last week and 199 for the corresponding day a year ago.

The movement of potatoes continues small on account of the fact that the large operators in most cases are well suppied for the time being, but as receipts are light and there is no pressure on the market prices rule firm.

Dairy Products

The receipts of butter were 119 packages, as compared with 54 for the same day last week, and 107 for the corresponding day a year ago. There was no important change in the condition of the market, prices for Canadian grades being steady, but the volume of business was small owing to the fact that buyers in most cases are disposed to hold off and await deevlopments on account of the different reports circulated as to the quantity of New Zealand and Australian butter coming here.

The receipts of cheese were 373 boxes, as against 170 for the same day last week, and 32 for the corresponding day a year ago. The enquiry from foreign buyers for early makes of cheese showed some improvement and although the prices bid were far from being satisfactory to holders yet they were accepted in some cases and a little business was done. The trade on spot between houses was quiet and prices were nominally unchanged.

EGG PRICES

OTTAWA, Jan. 15 (Canadian Press)—The egg market continues weak with a very demoralized condition on storage markets. The impression generally held in the west that the present condition is due to an influx of American eggs is unfounded as it is the extremely heavy production throughout Canada which is causing the present price declines.

Toronto fresh market easy and unchanged. Storage market demoralized and practically impossible to quote because sales are being made at varying prices.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Jan. 16 (Canadian Press) — Big clearances of wheat from Australia did a good deal today to depress wheat values. Besides, the official estimate of the Australian wheat crop was enlarged 15,000,000 bushels. Wheat prices closed unsettled, 3-8c to 1 1-4 cents net lower, May $1.75 1-2 to $1.75 3-8 new, and July $1.52 to $1.52 1-8, with corn 1 3-8 to 1 3-4 cents off, oats 3-8c to 1-2c down, and provisions varying from 62c decline to a rise of 30 cents.

Nearly 5,000,000 bushels of wheat shipments from Australia within a week were announced, and the new official estimate of yield in Australia was given at 115,000,000 bushels, suggesting 65,000,000 or 70,000,000 bushels surplus. Meanwhile, the market here had been bearishly influenced also by an early decline in prices at Buenos Aires and by word of relatively cheap offerings of Argentin wheat to Europe, as well as by insistent estimates that the Argentine wheat to Europe, as well as 000,000 bushels compared with 113,000,000 bushes exported last season.

HUGE ELECTRICAL DEVELOPMENT AND DISTRIBUTION SCHEME FOR BRITAIN PROPOSED BY PREMIER

Government To Create Special Control Board to Manage System.

LIGHT AND POWER.

Co-ordinate Municipal and Private Systems—Supply To Be Increased.

BIRMINGHAM, England, Jan. 16 (Canadian Press).—In order to provide the country with cheaper and more abundant electrical energy for light and power, it is the intention of the Government to foster a great electrical scheme which will utilize the existing sources of supply but greatly enlarge them through co-ordination and standardization under a single control board.

Premier Baldwin outlined the plan in a speech at a political meeting here Friday. He pointed out that the British consumption of electrical energy was about 200 units per capita as against 900 in Canada and 600 in the United States. The great need, he said, was to reduce costs and facilitate the formation of new authorities to undertake the supply in areas not yet covered. To this end the Government proposed to create a special control board, along the lines of the Mersey dock board or the port of London authority. This board would be managed by practical men with powers covering the whole country, for the purpose of establishing inter-connecting lines and co-ordinating stations in large areas.

The board would raise its own capital and work on ordinary commercial lines. After interest and sinking fund have been earned, the surplus would be applied to the reduction of the charges.

No Subsidy Required.

Premier Baldwin believed that no Government subsidy would be required, but that a Government guarantee might be necessary. The board would construct the necessary connecting lines and provide supplies to existing stations, which at present could not be operated under a cheaper rate. The board would have powers to compel all the interests concerned to fall into line.

The necessity of providing electrical energy in greater quantities and at a cheaper rate has been the pre-occupation of every Government and party since the war. The existing energy is provided in part by the municipalities and partly by private enterprise, which has resulted in the employment of differing systems and voltages and widely divergent prices for current.

SAYS HUSBAND WANTED DEATH

Pastor's Wife Said He Suffered From Chronic Indigestion.

MARRIED A WEEK.

EAST LIVERPOOL, Ohio, Jan. 16.—Mrs. Laura Christy pleaded Friday that she poisoned the Rev. William Christy, her 56-year-old husband of one week, because he asked her to do it.

"William is to blame," she told officers, explaining her signed confession that poison she gave Christy was responsible for his death.

"He suffered from chronic indigestion. He was stricken Wednesday morning and asked me to give him poison.

Christy died Wednesday night. Officers began an investigation which led to the arrest of Mrs. Christy on a charge of murder. She is held in the county jail here.

County Prosecutor R. M. Brookes, who told of her alleged confession, said he refused to believe the woman's explanation.

Rev. Mr. Christy was connected with the United Christian Missionary Workers of East Akron, Ohio. Mrs. Christy admitted that her marriage to him a week ago was her fourth marriage.

Mrs. Christy is 43 and her husband was 56. She first met him about two weeks ago.

MORE DELEGATES AT WINTER SCHOOL

Inspiring and Helpful Study Periods Are Being Held.

COBOURG, Jan. 16 (Special)—The number of delegates attending Bay of Quinte Winter School has been largely supplemented, and each day is filled with interesting events. From the opening meeting at 9 a.m. when Rev. R. T. Richards, Peterborough, conducts the worship period, to the last session at night there is not a dull moment. It is Mr. Richard's duty each morning to conduct these helpful devotional services and give the delegates an inspirational message to begin the day and he is doing his work well.

This is followed by the Bible study group, the delegates being arranged in three classes. The general lheme is "Jesus' Way of Life," and the work is being most efficiently taken by Rev. J. S. I. Wilson of Brighton, a former pastor here. Rev. F. Harston, Woodville, past president of the school, and Rev. R. T. Richards. They are splendid leaders and the group is receiving information, inspiration and benefit.

The school has present as song leader and director Rev. Roy Rickard, Northport, but these are not all of Mr. Rickard's duties. Fitted for another task by a course in Boston University where he received the degree of Master of Religious Education, the school meets as a class each morning for forty minutes to take up this great theme, under Mr. Rickard's direction, and it is able guidance too, practical and to the point.

Another interesting period concludes the forenoon's work each day and this is the Mission study class, led by Rev. F. W. Anderson, associate pastor of Port Hope United Church. "Marks of a World Christian," was the theme on Tuesday afternoon and Mr. Anderson brought much careful thought and virile enthusiasm into his teaching.

The delegates are being hospitably entertained in the many Cobourg homes cordially opened to them.

In the Afternoons

The Devotional service on Tuesday was taken by Rev. Dr. Brown pastor of the convention church, where a strong message inciting to more zealous and virile service was a help to all.

The school was fortunate in having present that day also Rev. A. Lloyd Smith, Toronto, who touched upon the possibilities of an encouraging present and a great future, as he dealt so ably with his theme, "The United Church of Canada at Work." It was a master mind dealing with a great subject, and Mr. Smith thrilled and inspired all.

Rev. Harold Neall has an important task that he is well able to carry out, as he takes the Teacher Training Work. In his exemplification the delegates are brought face to face with the Master Teacher as he taught his disciples by Galilean Lake or on Judean plain.

Rev. E. Harston is the able leader of the C.S.E.T. work, is the right man in the right place, and Miss Bonna Mills has come all the way from Nova Scotia to the school to take up the C.G.I.T. work.

On Tuesday evening the Winter School delegates were very pleasantly entertained by the local Young People's League. Wednesday night Plainville League put on their popular play.

The sessions will continue until Sunday and including that day.

RUSSIA OBJECTS TO CONFERENCE ON ARMAMENTS IN SWITZERLAND BECAUSE ENVOY WAS SHOT THERE

Likely To Suggest That Meetings Be Held in Some Other Country.

SOVIET INVITED.

Preliminary Discussions Set For Feb. 15 May Be Postponed.

GENEVA, Jan. 16. — (Canadian Press). — "Preposterous" was the word used by League of Nations officials last night when they were informed that Russia would hint that the proposed preliminary disarmament conference be not convoked on Swiss soil as the European powers knew that Russia could not with propriety accept an invitation to send delegates because of the Vorovsky affair.

The officials emphasized that all the assemblies and league conferences were regularly held at Geneva and that a League meeting elsewhere would form an exception, as was known by Moscow. Some sympathy was manifested with the Russion attitude over the assassination of the Soviet emissary, Vorovsky, in Switzerland, but it was also felt that the Soviet Government was overpressing the question.

League Seeks Results.

The prevailing opinion is that the League will not yield to Russia, although officials of the organization were careful to modify this with the statement that what the League really seeks is success, and that the conference, if necessary, might be convoked elsewhere to attain this.

Russia's reported conditional acceptance of the League invitation to send representatives to the meeting to arrange for the proposed disarmament conference has increased the belief that the meeting of the commission, called for February 15, may be postponed to permit an opportunity for reconciliation between Russia and Switzerland. The fact that Germany will not be a member of the League by that time, and the feeling of many that the attitude of the United States toward the conference needs clarification are emphasized as additional reasons for postponement so as to ensure the success of the pourparlers.

TWO MINISTERS DESERT LUTHER

Chancellor May Assume Defense Portfolio—Gessler Weary of Heckling.

BY RADICALS.

BERLIN, Jan. 16 — (Canadian Press)—Dr. Luther has been held up in his negotiations to complete a new Cabinet by the decision of Dr. Otto Gessler to relinquish the post of Minister of Defence, which he has held under seven Chancellors.

Count Kanitz, Food Controller and Minister of Agriculture in the Luther Cabinet which recently resigned, has also requested that he be relieved of the post and of further service in the new cabinet. The count, who was a non-partisan Minister, informed Dr. Luther that the job was too great a strain politically and physically.

Deserted by his own party and weary with incessant radical hecklings, Dr. Gessler yesterday notified the Chancellor that he had made up his mind unalterably not to join the new Cabinet. Even the persuasion of President Von Hindenburg failed to move him.

Dr. Gessler held office continuously since 1920 as a non-partisan Minister. His continuance in office was desired not only by the President, but by the political leaders who were anxious that his long service as civilian Minister of Defence should be conserved for the benefit of the new Government.

There is a movement on foot, now that he has withdrawn, in favor of linking up the Defence portfolio with the office of the Chancellor, in the person of Dr. Luther. The Chancellor is not attached to any party; therefore, he is considered acceptable to the Reichstag factions generally, the desire being to keep the Defence Ministry outside the range of party politics.

TORONTO, Ont. Jan. 16.—(Canadian Press).—When the International Women's Suffrage Alliance meets in Paris this year it will have several important matters to discuss, notable among these being the question of the appointment of women to the Legislative Council of New South Wales, Australia.

The Legislative Council of New South Wales on Nov. 5 last, rejected the second reading of a bill which had been introduced in the Legislative Assembly by the Labor Government, of which Hon. J. T. Lang is the head, providing for the appointment of women to the Legislative Council. On December 21 the Legislative Assembly appointed 25 additional members to the Legislative Council—against the protest of the Governor of the State, Sir Dudley De Chair—and on December 27 the Assembly passed the bill providing for the appointment of women to the Legislative Council.

Since the last Suffrage Congress, in Rome 1923, there has been an important victory in Newfoundland, according to Mrs. Corbett Ashby's statement in her call to the thirty-six national auxiliaries. In Newfoundland the long struggle for women has been crowned with success, a suffrage measure having been passed giving women the right to vote, though not absolutely on the same terms as men. In India also, three more Provinces have enfranchised their women—the United Provinces, Assam, and Bengal—as have also the native States of Cochin and Mysore. Elsewhere a great step forward toward the emancipation of women has been accomplished by the grant of the municipal vote, already in sight in Italy and Greece, and actually in operation in Spain. In France a suffrage bill is under discussion, and Mrs. Corbett Ashby states there is good hope that the women of France will also have a victory to celebrate.

Gentle Art Of Catching Skunk By Tail Was Found

REGINA, Sask. January 16. Canadian Press — "How to catch a skunk by the tail," and other trapping "secrets," were the stock in trade for William Wroblewsky, formerly a farmer Gretna, Man. Advertising in various papers he offered to sell his secrets for 25 cents. He received 800 letters, most of them containing letters, but the post office authorities became suspicious.

Friday Wroblewsy was convicted in the court here of obtaining money under false pretences. He was fined $25 and costs.

PREACHER TEACHES FLOCK CHARLESTON

Believes in Fostering the Desires of Youth.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16. — He taught his congregation to Charleston, and last night he staged a musical comedy of his own making, and the Church of Our Saviour "dotes" on him.

When Rev. Edmund H. Stevens came here from Minnesota he found his parish virtually youthless. The church is on the outskirts of Washington, and the younger set "went into town" at night to attend dances.

To remedy this, Rev. Stevens began a movement for more dances. He attended every dance and was the life of the party. He planned a parish house where the youngsters could dance every night if they wished.

Then the Charleston came along. The elders were shocked. But not the Rev. Stevens.

He learned it himself and he instructed the elders in the mysteries of weaving knees and careless feet.

The musical comedy was named The Fountain of Youth, and had to do with modern themes. The lines were topical and liberal. Some of the wheezes were directed against the dry laws and a chorus of 40 boys and girls scored a hit with one Charleston number.

"I can't see where our youth is going to perdition because they want to enjoy themselves," said Rev. Stevens. "By showing them I like the things they like, I am gaining their confidence, and, what is more important, they are coming into the church."

HUGE ELECTRICAL DEVELOPMENT AND DISTRIBUTION SCHEME FOR BRITAIN PROPOSED BY PREMIER

Government To Create Special Control Board to Manage System.

LIGHT AND POWER.

Co-ordinate Municipal and Private Systems—Supply To Be Increased.

BIRMINGHAM, England, Jan. 16 (Canadian Press).—In order to provide the country with cheaper and more abundant electrical energy for light and power, it is the intention of the Government to foster a great electrical scheme which will utilize the existing sources of supply but greatly enlarge them through co-ordination and standardization under a single control board.

Premier Baldwin outlined the plan in a speech at a political meeting here Friday. He pointed out that the British consumption of electrical energy was about 200 units per capita as against 900 in Canada and 600 in the United States. The great need, he said, was to reduce costs and facilitate the formation of new authorities to undertake the supply in areas not yet covered. To this end the Government proposed to create a special control board, along the lines of the Mersey dock board or the port of London authority. This board would be managed by practical men with powers covering the whole country, for the purpose of establishing inter-connecting lines and co-ordinating stations in large areas.

The board would raise its own capital and work on ordinary commercial lines. After interest and sinking fund have been earned, the surplus would be applied to the reduction of the charges.

No Subsidy Required.

Premier Baldwin believed that no Government subsidy would be required, but that a Government guarantee might be necessary. The board would construct the necessary connecting lines and provide supplies to existing stations, which at present could not be operated under a cheaper rate. The board would have powers to compel all the interests concerned to fall into line.

The necessity of providing electrical energy in greater quantities and at a cheaper rate has been the pre-occupation of every Government and party since the war. The existing energy is provided in part by the municipalities and partly by private enterprise, which has resulted in the employment of differing systems and voltages and widely divergent prices for current.

SAYS HUSBAND WANTED DEATH

Pastor's Wife Said He Suffered From Chronic Indigestion.

MARRIED A WEEK.

EAST LIVERPOOL, Ohio, Jan. 16.—Mrs. Laura Christy pleaded Friday that she poisoned the Rev. William Christy, her 56-year-old husband of one week, because he asked her to do it.

"William is to blame," she told officers, explaining her signed confession that poison she gave Christy was responsible for his death.

"He suffered from chronic indigestion. He was stricken Wednesday morning and asked me to give him poison.

Christy died Wednesday night. Officers began an investigation which led to the arrest of Mrs. Christy on a charge of murder. She is held in the county jail here.

County Prosecutor R. M. Brookes, who told of her alleged confession, said he refused to believe the woman's explanation.

Rev. Mr. Christy was connected with the United Christian Missionary Workers of East Akron, Ohio. Mrs. Christy admitted that her marriage to him a week ago was her fourth marriage.

Mrs. Christy is 43 and her husband was 56. She first met him about two weeks ago.

MORE DELEGATES AT WINTER SCHOOL

Inspiring and Helpful Study Periods Are Being Held.

COBOURG, Jan. 16 (Special)—The number of delegates attending Bay of Quinte Winter School has been largely supplemented, and each day is filled with interesting events. From the opening meeting at 9 a.m. when Rev. R. T. Richards, Peterborough, conducts the worship period, to the last session at night there is not a dull moment. It is Mr. Richard's duty each morning to conduct these helpful devotional services and give the delegates an inspirational message to begin the day and he is doing his work well.

This is followed by the Bible study group, the delegates being arranged in three classes. The general theme is "Jesus' Way of Life," and the work is being most efficiently taken by Rev. J. S. I. Wilson of Brighton, a former pastor here. Rev. F. Harston, Woodville, past president of the school, and Rev. R. T. Richards. They are splendid leaders and the group is receiving information, inspiration and benefit.

The school has present as song leader and director Rev. Roy Rickard, Northport, but these are not all of Mr. Rickard's duties. Fitted for another task by a course in Boston University where he received the degree of Master of Religious Education, the school meets as a class each morning for forty minutes to take up this great theme, under Mr. Rickard's direction, and it is able guidance too, practical and to the point.

Another interesting period concludes the forenoon's work each day and this is the Mission study class, led by Rev. F. W. Anderson, associate pastor of Port Hope United Church. "Marks of a World Christian," was the theme on Tuesday afternoon and Mr. Anderson brought much careful thought and virile enthusiasm into his teaching.

The delegates are being hospitably entertained in the many Cobourg homes cordially opened to them.

In the Afternoons

The Devotional service on Tuesday was taken by Rev. Dr. Brown pastor of the convention church, where a strong message inciting to more zealous and virile service was a help to all.

The school was fortunate in having present that day also Rev. A. Lloyd Smith, Toronto, who touched upon the possibilities of an encouraging present and a great future, as he dealt so ably with his theme, "The United Church of Canada at Work." It was a master mind dealing with a great subject, and Mr. Smith thrilled and inspired all.

Rev. Harold Neall has an important task that he is well able to carry out, as he takes the Teacher Training Work. In his exemplification the delegates are brought face to face with the Master Teacher as he taught his disciples by Galilean Lake or on Judean plain.

Rev. E. Harston is the able leader of the C.S.E.T. work, is the right man in the right place, and Miss Bonna Mills has come all the way from Nova Scotia to the school to take up the C.G.I.T. work.

On Tuesday evening the Winter School delegates were very pleasantly entertained by the local Young People's League. Wednesday night Plainville League put on their popular play.

The sessions will continue until Sunday and including that day.

RUSSIA OBJECTS TO CONFERENCE ON ARMAMENTS IN SWITZERLAND BECAUSE ENVOY WAS SHOT THERE

Likely To Suggest That Meetings Be Held in Some Other Country.

SOVIET INVITED.

Preliminary Discussions Set For Feb. 15 May Be Postponed.

GENEVA, Jan. 16. — (Canadian Press). — "Preposterous" was the word used by League of Nations officials last night when they were informed that Russia would hint that the proposed preliminary disarmament conference be not convoked on Swiss soil as the European powers knew that Russia could not with propriety accept an invitation to send delegates because of the Vorovsky affair.

The officials emphasized that all the assemblies and league conferences were regularly held at Geneva and that a League meeting elsewhere would form an exception, as was known by Moscow. Some sympathy was manifested with the Russion attitude over the assassination of the Soviet emissary, Vorovsky, in Switzerland, but it was also felt that the Soviet Government was overpressing the question.

League Seeks Results.

The prevailing opinion is that the League will not yield to Russia, although officials of the organization were careful to modify this with the statement that what the League really seeks is success, and that the conference, if necessary, might be convoked elsewhere to attain this.

Russia's reported conditional acceptance of the League invitation to send representatives to the meeting to arrange for the proposed disarmament conference has increased the belief that the meeting of the commission, called for February 15, may be postponed to permit an opportunity for reconciliation between Russia and Switzerland. The fact that Germany will not be a member of the League by that time, and the feeling of many that the attitude of the United States toward the conference needs clarification are emphasized as additional reasons for postponement so as to ensure the success of the pourparlers.

TWO MINISTERS DESERT LUTHER

Chancellor May Assume Defense Portfolio—Gessler Weary of Heckling.

BY RADICALS.

BERLIN, Jan. 16 — (Canadian Press)—Dr. Luther has been held up in his negotiations to complete new Cabinet by the decision of Dr. Otto Gessler to relinquish the post of Minister of Defence, which he has held under seven Chancellors.

Count Kanitz, Food Controller and Minister of Agriculture in the Luther Cabinet which recently resigned, has also requested that he be relieved of the post and of further service in the new cabinet. The count, who was a non-partisan Minister, informed Dr. Luther that the job was too great a strain politically and physically.

Deserted by his own party and weary with incessant radical hecklings, Dr. Gessler yesterday notified the Chancellor that he had made up his mind unalterably not to join the new Cabinet. Even the persuasion of President Von Hindenburg failed to move him.

Dr. Gessler held office continuously since 1920 as a non-partisan Minister. His continuance in office was desired not only by the President, but by the political leaders who were anxious that his long service as civilian Minister of Defence should be conserved for the benefit of the new Government.

There is a movement on foot, now that he has withdrawn, in favor of linking up the Defence portfolio with the office of the Chancellor, in the person of Dr. Luther. The Chancellor is not attached to any party; therefore, he is considered acceptable to the Reichstag factions generally, the desire being to keep the Defence Ministry outside the range of party politics.

KIWANIS CLUB TO CELEBRATE ITS ELEVENTH ANNIVERSARY

International Has Had Remarkable Growth Since January, 1915.

NOW 1,450 CLUBS.

Convention For 1926 Will Be Held in Montreal in June.

The Peterboro Ki anis club will join in with the 1,450 other clubs of Kiwanis International on the North American continent to observe the 11th anniversary of the organization's founding during the recognized anniversary week of January 17-23, was the announcement made by Dr. John J. Craig, president of the local club to-day.

"Our club's programme will be under the direction of the Committee on K.wanis Education and will include several numbers that are to be featured by all the clubs throughout the United States and Canada," said President Craig. "With the 95,000 Kiwanians celebrating the 11th anniversary, it is hoped that the general public will become acquainted with Kiwanis' many achievements, accomplishments, and work during the past 10 years.

The first Kiwanis club was organized in Detroit, Michigan, and the first meeting was held on January 21, 1915. The International organiztaion therefore recognizes January 21 as the authentic anniversary date.

Kiwanis International has had a remarkable growth. Its present number of clubs exceeds 1,450 and has a total membership of more than 95,000. John Moss, of Milwaukee, Wisconsin, is International president, being elected at the 9th International convention in St. Paul, Minn., last June. The 1926 convention will be held in Montreal from June 7-10. Two delegates from the local club will attend the annual session.

MAY SPEED GROWTH WITH ARTIFICIAL SUN

Victoria Gardeners Would Vie With Sunny California —Used With Poultry.

VICTORIA, B.C., Jan. 16—(Canadian Press).—Artificial sunlight may make it possible for Victoria vegetable and flower growers to make a strong bid against California for supremacy in the production of early garden stuff. A series of interesting experiments has been carried out here and the satisfactory results so far achieved indicate that revolutionary changes in plant production may be expected.

Speeding up plant growth with artificial sunlight, it is believed, will cut the growing time in half. Recent developments have proved conclusively that plant growth can be accelerated by the use of simple electric equipment to a point where it matures as much as 27 days in advance of normal growth, or where tulips which ordinarily requir four weeks for forcing into bloom will be in full bloom in from 14 to 18 days. Hyacinths, which ordinarily would require four weeks to bloom, have been brought into full maturity in 17 days, and daffodils have been forced ahead a week.

The theory of electric light to stimulate plant growth is similar to that applied in the case of poultry. It is well known that by burning electric lights in the henhouse for a few hours at night the hens will be kept awake longer, eat more and lay more eggs. Similarly by supplying plant life with a few additional hours of sunshine they are kept awake longer and enable to grow more. According to those in charge of the experiments, plants require a rest just as men an animals do, so the artificial light is burned only five hours a night, leaving the balance of the time for "sleep". They claim that the stronger the light the more marked the results on the average plant, providing excessive heat can be guarded against. Individual plants tend to vary considerably under different light and heat intensities.

Those who are carrying on the work look forward to the time when Vancouver Island growers will be able to market products such as lettuce, tomatoes, asparagus, rhubarb and cut flowers weeks before any other part of the coast and thus benefit from the higher prices that such product commands.

HEAVY LOSS IN MINERS' STRIKE

Men Out $120,000,000 in Wages—Public Pay Higher Prices.

SUBSTITUTES GAIN.

NEW YORK, Jan. 16.—Amid intense bad feeling and threats, operators and mine union leaders went to their homes with no definite plan for bringing to an end the hard coal strike, now well into its fifth month.

Unless the federal government intervenes, and there is no assurance of such action, a long, desperate economic struggle is in prospect.

Such a finish fight will vanquish even the victor, many observers predict. The miners, the operators and the public are certain to lose.

It is estimated that the 158,000 or so miners already have lost around $120,000,000 in wages, the operators have forfeited the profits of a daily production of 270,000 tons of coal, and the public has been forced to pay for substitutes in many cases at prices higher than ordinarily would be paid for anthracite.

Blow To Industry

The introduction of oil burners and the satisfactory use of bituminous coal and coke may have given the hard coal industry a blow from which it will take years to recover.

However much the wiser heads of the conflicting groups desire permanent peace in the industry, present prospects are negligible. To-morrow the miners' representatives in the conferences here will meet the full wage scale committee in Hazelton, Pa., and report the course of the futile negotiations. This meeting will produce nothing but a vote of confidence in the union officials.

Some dissatisfied factions no doubt will propose that the 10,000 maintenance men at the mines be withdrawn. Leaders were confident that this action would not be taken. The maintenance men were kept at work by joint agreement of the conferees at Atlantic City.

Your color is green. You were born on a Friday.

Shorty.—You are happy and cheerful and great company in a quiet way, but do not show your charm to everybody. Avoid introspection and do not bottle yourself up. You would succeed as a mechanic or draughtsman. Your color is tan. You were born on a Tuesday.

B. L. D.—You do not send—our address; envelopes for private replies should be addressed by the sender.

S. T. E.—You have no regard for popularity and are little stirred by either blame or praise. Your ambition is not fired, and you care little whether you succeed or fail. You are lacking in initiative. At 21 you should be full of life and the desire to succeed and make yourself known in the world. Try it and see. Look above the mundane affairs of your daily round and see the hills you may climb, and the glorious view you may have from there. Sure! it takes work to get to the top, but you'll be working harder at your little two by four job in twenty years than you would be if you climbed the hill to a better position. Think it over. You were born on a Friday. Your colors are green and yellow.

D. L. M.—You have a wholesome opinion of your own ability, but do not over-rate it. Still, you are content to let things drift, always promising that tomorrow you will start to study—or try for a higher position—or whatever happens to be your whim for the moment. Today is your day, and tomorrow is uncertain. Why not get a start. You are gifted musically and have considerable artistic sense. You would not succeed at a task requiring concentration on detail, but having mastered the routine you can climb high in callings requiring mental power and quick thought. Your color is blue. You were born on a Sunday.

R. S.—You are fond of travelling, but do not imbibe much good from it. You have a poor memory for places and facts, and require more an intensive course in general study rather than travel, which is a good finishing culture. To better your memory set down in writing some of the things you have seen, and stay with the task until you learn the secret of observation. You are not adapted to an executive position. Your color is purple. You were born on a Tuesday.

P. T. M.—You have a high regard for the good opinion of others, but are not particular about the means you take to gain that opinion. Your moral code is lax in this regard, though you would not willingly defraud anyone out of money. There is not much satisfaction in fame that is not deserved—it turns to ashes in the mouth. Set yourself to lay a solid foundation on which you may rear a character and achievements that will stand the most intense inspection and bombardment. Then you will have something to be proud of, and you will be proud of yourself. Stand up under life's buffetings, if the winds do not always blow warm. Your colors are steel and grey. You were born on a Thursday.

C. W. T.—You are deficient in sympathy and do little to relieve the sufferings of others. Yet you can be affectionate to those who are in your family, and like children well. Cultivate a more charitable outlook on your neighbors; charity begets charity, and charity is the greatest virtue. Remember the commandment: "Love thy neighbor." You are adapted to a mechanical trade but have not the executive ability to climb high as a manager of men. You were born on a Wednesday. Your color is red.

C. J.—You possess a remarkable perception of analogies, and power of rapid criticism; can illustrate your ideas with great clearness, and have extraordinary power to discern new truths. You are logical in argument and have a finesse that fits you for parliamentary pursuits. You are inclined to be stubborn, and do not give your friends the attention they deserve, although you are affectionate in a high degree. Your color is brick. You were born on a Thursday.

G. C. S.—You are slow and deliberate in your thoughts and actions, but get there just the same. You prefer to give things considerable thought, and never leap in the dark. You are timid and watchful; perhaps even nervous. This is not a serious handicap, so long as you do not fail to grasp your opportunities. Remember opportunity will not sneak up on you, grab you, and carry you off. You must have the courage to grasp it as it passes. Play safe, by all means, but not TOO safe. Success does not lie that way. You were born on a Monday. Your colors are red and brick.

D. L. N.—You place a great estimate on your own capabilities; are very high-minded, proud, haughty, and independent, and inclined to carry your head rather too high. Remember that no truly great man is conceited; true greatness belongs rather to modest humility than to egotism and presumption. Do not dwell quite so much on yourself; think more of others. Analyse yourself according to the chart which was printed on December 31; find your true worth honestly; then act in accordance. You are young yet, and successes have turned your head. Your color is green. You were born on a Friday.

H. S. E.—You are unmethodical and disorderly, without system in doing things. This is holding you back from the great achievements to which your mental force entitles you. You are wasting too much time catching up lost time, when you should be studying and learning. Amend this state of things, and curb your ambition for immediate effect so that the results will be real and abiding. You were born on a Thursday. Your color is white.

J. A.—You have only a fine degree of self-confidence, and are apt to underrate your ability. You have excellent mental processes, and can succeed at almost anything. You have considerable tenacity of purpose, and a strong will that carry you through seemingly difficult situations. You would succeed in the realm of science, where attention to detail and the tabulation of information are essential. But there is a strong indication of marriage in your reading, and probably there you will find your greatest development. You are creative and thoughtful, with the ability to make much out of nothing. You will have great taste and genius in beautifying your home and can make it happy for all who live there. You should cultivate system; to reduce the mental strain caused by work that falls behind. Take care of your health and do not overstrain. You are enthusiastic, generous, and kind-hearted, and must not allow your sympathies to run away with your good judgment. Your color is opal. You were born on a Monday. Be patient and agreeable on the day you name. Make no important purchases. It is not a good day for business, but is a good day for entering new social relationships. It would be a good day for marriage, for instance.

Jim (Hastings).—Yours is a curious reading, indicating change and uncertainty coupled with mental and physical force. Are you in your proper sphere? Or are you in a misfit position? You have great social and personal attraction, but lack "stick-to-itiveness." You are inclined to be fickle and changeable, vacillating in purpose and yielding to whims of the moment. You have ability in mechanical things, and might excel where a deft hand and live brain are needed. Your affections are deep, but you are not likely to be satisfied with one object, and could change if circumstances demanded and the new object suitable. Cultivate constancy and concentration. Study to rise above circumstances or whatever is holding you down. Let your ambition have full play, follow it up with work, and you will achieve material success. You have a good share of faith in the unseen, and great hope of future happiness. Don't forget that you must work if your castles in the air are to become habitable. Your color is pink. You were born on a Sunday. The day of which you inquire is suitable for small investments, or for assuming new responsibilities, but not for taking on new social responsibilities.

P. S.—Yours are indications of joy. You like to make others happy, and you are of a happy disposition yourself. You are not easily cast down. You are highly under the influence of the singing and painting, appreciating them if you are not an actual performer. Despite this you have a practical ability for the affairs of everyday life; constructive ability, and a deep appreciation of the life around you. You possess a good perception of analogies, and can follow an event reasonably to its origin, though your intuition guides you almost infallibly in your relations with others. You should avoid worrying, and let others bear their share of the burdens. Seek relaxation and repose, and take life easier. Your reading vibrates to no color, hence its keynote is black, the absence of color. You were born on a Saturday. The day of which you enquire is not one on which to take important steps when your hand is forced. Let things take their natural course; judge according to the rules of logic; and, above all, don't worry.

B. T. S.—You are out of tune with yourself, out of accord with everyone else. You have little sympathy for others and wonder why you are not liked by them. You are self-conceited and self-centred, without the mentality or ability to back up your claims. You lack quality and heart. You must, if you wish to overcome a very unfortunate condition, study to redeem yourself quickly, for age makes for fixity in mental power, physical condition and moral quality. You are probably given to reading inferior, appealing stories and to frittering away your time when you should be getting in some solid work in bettering yourself. If you are as eager to obtain real honors as you are ready to accept spurious and worthless praise you must be prepared to strive towards a definite goal. You can, if you will, succeed in anything not requiring the fineness of mental power that only comes with training from youth and clean life. But if you are to take advantage of this second chance, there is no time to lose. Your big redeeming trait is a love for children. Your color is grey. You were born on a Sunday. The day of which you enquire is suitable for almost any purpose except investment. Don't gamble on that day, and don't take chances on important business.

M. N.—Yours are characteristics of service, but service inspired more by love than by hope of gain. You may have musical ability, and whether you yourself are able to perform you have a soul that understands and interprets musical sounds. You have excellent perception of form, color, and design. You are capable of achieving success in blending and mingling colors; you have good perception of relative size and are good at measuring and working by the eye; you have an excellent perception of configuration and with reasonable practice would succeed in drawing. You have deep affections, sometimes feeling a great deal more than you show. You have a courageous spirit, but are not contentious; you are able to maintain and defend your convictions thoroughly. You should endeavour to cultivate a logical mind, thinking carefully before expressing opinions on subjects, and weighing every important matter well. You have a good share of enthusiasm and appreciation for the sublime and magnificent. Your color is black, since your reading vibrates to no color, and black is the absence of color. You were born on a Thursday. The day of which you enquire is eminently suitable for a change in social relations. I would not advise speculation or new business enterprise.

Jean.—You are not at all self-assertive, and you think more of others than of yourself. You are retiring and reserved in your manner, though you have a great deal of personal charm. Conquer your inward-looking and think more of the outside world; by this means you will find yourself naturally in tune with it. You have considerable business ability, and with increased executive ability would be successful in managing an office or business. You have an aptitude for figures and appreciate the value of details. You are mentally strong and creative, but your vision is limited. Do not be content with a subordinate position in life; reach out and grasp that to which your natural and acquired ability entitle you. You are affectionate, but do not wear your heart on your sleeve. You have the gift of making others happy, and are not fickle. Having found your place in the scheme of things do not rest, spur your ambition and rise to new heights where you will have broader opportunities. You were born on a Thursday. Your color is flame, in several shades, but especially gas-blue.

LUTHER CABINET MEMBERS QUIT

Ministers of Defence and Agriculture Ask To Be Relieved.

DELAYS FORMATION.

BERLIN, Jan. 16.— (Canadian Press.)—Dr. Luther has been held up in his negotiations to complete a new cabinet by the decision of Dr. Otto Gessler to relinquish the post of Minister of Defence, which he has held under seven Chancellors.

Count Kanitz, Food Controller, and Minister of Agriculture in the Luther Cabinet which recently resigned has also requested that he be relieved of the post and of further service in the new cabinet. The count, who was a non-partisan Minister, informed Dr. Luther that the job was too great a strain politically and physically.

CHINESE DRUG OF MANY USES

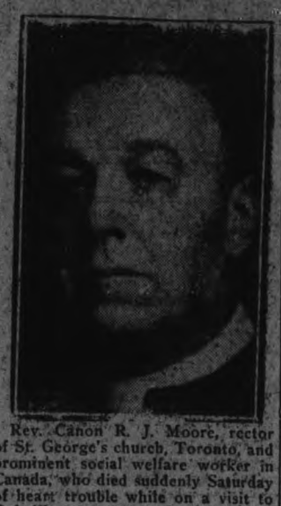
Cures Colds in Head and Asthma, and is Local Anaesthetic.

LOWLY HERBS.

MADISON, Wis., Jan. 16.—(Canadian Press.)—A lowly herb whose virtues have been known to the Chinese for 5,000 years, has yielded a drug which shortly will be adopted by western medicine as a powerful agent with a variety of clinical uses.

Known as 'Ephedrine,' its utility to the physician and surgeon has been demonstrated at the University of Wisconsin by Dr. K. K. Chen. Treating colds in the head, relieving asthma, and for local anaesthesia are three of the uses to which the re-discovered chemical has already been put with marked success.

DIED SUDDENLY.



Rev. Canon R. J. Moore, rector of St. George's church, Toronto, and prominent social welfare worker in Canada, who died suddenly Saturday of heart trouble while on a visit to Oakville.

SNOW PACKS ON ROADS IN CAVAN

FARMERS ACTIVE.

CAVAN, Jan. 16.—There is plenty of snow now for sleighing. After the thaw the roads were quite icy and the gravel showing up above the snow. Then the slight falls of snow came two or three days in succession. The weather was mild and the snow froze to the ice, making travelling safer for the horses. The snowfall of Monday and Tuesday makes sufficient, when it gets packed down.

A little clover threshing is yet to be done. Some farmers are working at wood, others drawing out wheat and alsike.

Beef is being killed more freely and disposed of in quarters.

Potatoes are high. Two dollars and fifty cents is paid for them in the stores and they retail at three dollars.

Mr. Robert Thurston, British Columbia, was a week-end guest of his aunt, Mrs. Touchbourn, Ida.

Mr. Robert Bigelow is back on his farm again, Mr. Foster and family having moved to the Cobourg vicinity.

Mr. Jas. Paul attended the first session of the Cavan council on Monday in Millbrook.

Miss Kelly accompanied Master Kelly and Master Joe Munroe to Peterboro' on Monday. On Tuesday the boys will return to "The Grove School," Lakefield.

The members of Mount Pleasant Institute will present their play, "Mrs. Jones Entertains the Women's Institute," in the Cavan Community Hall on Wednesday evening, January 20.

The young people of St. Thomas Church, Millbrook, staged two plays in the Parish Hall, Ida, on Monday evening.

They were good and the parts well taken. There was a very good crowd, considering the weather. It was snowing steadily all evening. The proceeds were in the neighborhood of forty dollars.

Traveling Library

The traveling library, which the Cavan Women's Institute has got from the agricultural department at Toronto for use during the winter months, contains many interesting books. They are not all fiction; some are on domestic science, agriculture, gardening, history and subjects practical in a rural community. Not many of the books have been taken out to read as yet. They are at Mrs. Harry Tinney's home. Any one wishing a book to read and conforming to the rules of the library, can obtain one.

Mrs. Jas. Paul was a visitor at Millbrook on Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Gray, Millbrook, spent the week-end as guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. Tinney, Cavan.

FORTY MINERS ACCOUNTED FOR

Nineteen Bodies and 21 Living Men Brought From Mine.

EXPLOSION CAUSE.

FAIRMONT, W. Va., Jan. 16.—Canadian Press.—All miners, forty in number, who entered the No. 8 mine of the Jamieson Coal and Coke Company on Thursday night, before it was partially wrecked by an explosion, were accounted for last night.

Twenty one late yesterday walked forth from "the alley of the shadow of death," after having been entombed for more than 18 hours, and 19 bodies were removed from the pit at intervals, following the blast.

DARING ROBBER BACK FOR MORE

Same Man Makes Second Call on Detroit Bank.

SECURED $5,763.

DETROIT, Jan. 16 (Canadian Press).—The man who robbed the Detroit Savings Branch at Hamilton and Collingwood Avenues of $5,000 about six weeks ago, made a second call yesterday and walked out with $5,763, in spite of the courageous attempt of Miss Alice Hunt, a girl clerk, to frustrate him. While the robber was taking the money out of the vault, Miss Hunt worked her way to an alarm signal and pressed the button. A patrolman, who was standing across the street at the time failed to hear the signal, or the thug would have been captured.

PREMIER MAY BE UNOPPOSED

Rumor Says Opposition Parties May Let Him Come Back Early.

UP TO LOCALS.

OTTAWA, Jan. 16.— (Canadian Press.) —When Premier King submits his candidature for parliament to the electors of Prince Albert, Sask., on February 15, it is possible that he will be unopposed. The Conservative and Progressive executives in Ottawa last night declined to comment on the Prime Minister's announcement that he would run in that riding, preferring to leave any decision as to a contest to the party conventions in Prince Albert, but gossip around the Capital has it that the two Opposition parties may simplify the situation by letting the Prime Minister come back to the Commons at the earliest possible moment.

War Trade of Canadian Air Ace Has Faced Death In Many Climes

Major Sussan Escaped Bolshevic Firing Squad By Borrowing Russian Plane and Flying to Caucasus —Fell Victim to Pirates of Batoum — Fought in Great War and in Morocco.

By William H. Ingram.

War is no more dangerous than peace. Such was the declaration of one of Canada's most noted soldiers of fortune, Major Walter J. Sussan of Ottawa, as he sat in an easy chair in a Paris cafe and sipped his aperitiff.

Seeing our look of incredulity, the former commander of the Sherifienne escadrille of the French air force in Morocco went on to prove that this was the case at least so far as he was concerned.

"After the armistice," he said, "I went on a business trip to Russia. Two days after disembarking at Novo Rosslysk on the Black Sea, I was taken prisoner by the Bolshevik soldiers who charged me with being one of General Wrangel's officers. Unfortunately I had on me my aviation papers so, in spite of my indignant protests, I was thrown into prison and after being hauled before the tribunal three times, was condemned to death.

"While in the filthy place I nearly died through exposure, bad food and ill treatment.

"One day I was recognized by a Bolshy officer who had been an aviator in the Czar's army. He gave me an overcoat and a cap and I passed out, duly saluted by the guard. Once outside we proceeded to the aerodrome where an aeroplane was placed at my disposal. Proceeding due south I made a forced landing in the Caucasus and eventually managed to get back to England.

I decided after that to stick to the only metier I knew. But man proposes and le bon Dieu disposes.

"Another business opportunity presented itself. I sailed on the French boat Souirah for Constantinople.

"Further on, after leaving Batoum, we were held up by pirates who had taken passage at our last port of call. The vessel was put out of commission, the officers and crew were made prisoners and we were robbed of everything we had. The villains escaped by forcing the captain to steer the ship close to an isolated part of the coast where they lowered the lifeboats. They were captured several weeks later, but that was no consolation to us.

"I then had a go at the British Guiana diamond mines but with no great success.

"For that matter, I had no better luck when I joined the Greek air force to fight against the Turks. I was forced down in the latter's territory, taken prisoner and detained for several months. But it enabled me to recuperate from my injuries."

Millionaire in Squadron.

"So here I am at the tail end of this Moroccan war. Of course fighting for the French is more congenial. It is a matter of pride.

"We were received in Morocco with great enthusiasm. The sultan granted us an audience and even permitted us to assist at his religious ceremony. Marechal Lyautey welcomed us twice in his residence at Rabat and on both occasions tendered us a banquet.

Major Walter James Sussan, of Ottawa, has just added another chapter to his life-story of adventure, having concluded a period of flying for the French in the Moroccan war zone. In recognition of his services he recently was decorated with the cross of the legion of honor. The ceremony was performed in the court of honor at the Palais des Invalides in Paris, not far from the tomb of Napoleon. A battalion of infantry stood at the "present" while General Henri Gerraud, the one-armed war hero and military governor of Paris, kissed Major Sussan on both cheeks and pinned the red ribbon and the bajawelell and enameled cross on the breast of the Canadian's tunic. Sussan had previously been awarded the croix de guerre and the colonial cross for his services to the republic. He is seen above in the uniform of an officer of the Royal Naval Air Service and also as an officer of the French aviation arm. In the latter picture he is entering his plane at the camp of Beni Malek preparatory to a bombing expedition over the lines of Abd el Krim, the wily and intrepid Riffian leader, who has been such a thorn in the flesh of the French and whose likeness is also shown above.

"However, flying down there is very dangerous owing to the topography of the country, the elements and the difficulty in obtaining supplies. The last made low-flying necessary.

"The flying squadrons was composed of a fine lot of chaps, artists, merchants, professional men and even millionaires."

Major Sussan was born in the Curragh, County Kildare, Ireland, some thirty-five years ago, but he came to Canada when only fifteen. Most of his youth he spent in Ottawa where his family still live. However, it was at Dayton, Ohio, that he learned to fly.

At the aviation school there he was one of a group of airmen who called themselves the Hobo Quartet.

One of the four was Captain Roy Brown, D.S.C. and bar, of Carleton Place, Ontario, who is now a resident of Toronto, and who won such fame as the man who shot down Rittmeister Baron Manfred von Richthofen, German ace of aces and leader of the famous Red Circus of pursuit planes.

Air Full of Iron Crosses.

The epic encounter occurred on the morning of April 21, 1918, in the Amiens sector. On this date a patrol of fifteen Royal Air Force planes was flying along the front under command of Captain Brown.

At 10.25 in the morning an engagement took place near Beaucourt with an enemy Albatross at an altitude of 12,000 feet and Lieut. M. S. Taylor sent the enemy aircraft crashing to earth in flames.

Twenty minutes later the British flyers encountered a large formation of Fokker triplanes accompanied by Albatross fighters. The enemy machines—estimated to number twenty-two—were all brightly painted and camouflaged. Leading them was the redoubtable Richthofen in a brilliant lacquer-red triplane. The Hun machines were harrying two or three British R.E. 8's which had been out on artillery observation work.

Brown altered his course, crossing over the enemy lines to the German side. Seven planes followed him.

What subsequently occurred can best be told in the words of an airman who was present.

"At the time," he says, "we were at an altitude of some fifteen thousand feet and the enemy planes were flying quite low. It was impossible to estimate the exact number of enemy planes engaged at that distance, but we could see quite plainly that they outnumbered us and that they would bring down our observation planes unless help was forthcoming.

"Capt. Brown must have realized the danger at once, for without hesitation he dived and some distance behind the other seven machines followed him. Within a few minutes we were in the middle of a 'dog fight.' The air seemed thick with iron crosses and we discovered that we were attacking 22 enemy machines. Fortunately, the speed of the onslaught threw the Germans off their guard and the old R. E. 8's were able to get away undamaged.

"Our system of fighting was each to select a plane, swoop down upon it from above, pour into it a burst of bullets, and then climb again to swing down upon another plane.

Richthofen Shot Down.

"In the course of this dog fight near Cerisy, one enemy triplane with a blue tail was shot down by Lieut. Mellursh.

"Another enemy aircraft then dived on Lieut. Mellursh, forcing him to spin down to the ground and return to the British lines, zooming along just fifty feet above the ground.

"Captain Brown, as leader of the squadron, was keeping an eye on the entire fight. He had one pilot, Captain 'Wop' May, of Edmonton, who had never before taken part in an air battle and quite naturally he paid particular care to the new man. Capt. May dived with the rest, engaged with a German and after bringing him down, made towards our own lines in accordance with instructions previously given by the squadron commander.

"He had no sooner became detached from the others than Richthofen made after him and opened up heavy fire. Fortunately Capt. Brown had been watching this turn of events and he immediately followed after Richthofen.

"Those of us who were close to the three planes saw Brown open up fire with tracer bullets. His first bullets ripped through the fuselage of the enemy plane. We saw him elevate his fire slightly; Richthofen collapsed in his seat and the plane plunged to the ground.

"When the battle was over, we discovered that we had accounted for eight enemy planes and we had received no damage at all.

"Richthofen," continued the airman, "was usually successful because he invariably followed any plane which became detached from the fight. He reasoned that if a pilot was forced to pull out, he had gun-jam, engine trouble or something else wrong. In following May he was merely adopting what he had always found to be good tactics—but for once he was wrong. I question whether he ever realized that he, in turn, was being followed. He was killed instantaneously by the first burst of bullets and his machine was riddled."

The Australian troops who were holding that part of the line retrieved the dead body of the German ace from the wrecked machine and it was turned over to the Royal Air Force, who buried their former foe with full military honors, six British airmen acting as pall-bearers for the man who had shot down no less than 84 allied planes.

So may it be seen that, though gas, high explosive, tanks and mud have slain chivalry in trench warfare, yet that virtue still made a last struggle for survival among the warriors of the air.

As victor in the air battle, Capt. Roy Brown was presented with the aluminum seat from Richthofen's airplane. He in turn gave it to the Canadian Military Institute, in whose museum in Toronto it is now on exhibition.

Still Craves Adventure.

Despite manifold dangers, both Brown and Sussan came through the war with their lives. Brown fought in France while Sussan was attached to the naval branch of the air force. The other two members of the Hobo Quartet of Dayton days also survived the war. But their ultimate fate gives added proof to Sussan's claim that peace is as dangerous as war, for both Murray Galbraith and Steve Edwards were killed after the armistice.

As he told of their fate a grave look clouded the major's boyish face. He finished his aperitif and sat silent for a moment. Then, leaning forward, he asked anxiously. "Do you think there is any chance of there being a decent war in China next spring?"

If there is, it is a fairly safe bet that Major Sussan will be among those present.

It isn't the first love that matters—it's the last.

Stranger Than Fiction

THE SILVER SERVICE.

(By S. T. Williamson.)

Early one June afternoon twenty years ago the factories, shops and Government bureaus in a certain national capital closed; but instead of going home their employes ranged themselves behind bending police lines along the route between a railroad station and the Royal Palace.

More than five hundred people were overcome by heat or were injured in the crush, and just in time did assistance arrive for the overworked municipal guardians of the law. There came a sound as of pebbles rattling in a giant gourd. Up clattered squadrons of cavalry—trim lancers with gay pennons at the ends of their long spears; dashing huzzars, dolmans flapping over their left shoulders; grim dragoons in blue with black helmets. At each street intersection a troop detached itself from the mounted columns and took up station from curb to curb.

Out of the side streets came a rhythomic crunching sound. Heavily shod, rigidly flowing ranks of infantry marched into the main thoroughfare and formed in solid ranks parallel with the street. Behind such formidable barriers the crowd kept at obedient distance.

Then came a new sound—a roar as of heavy trucks on cobblestones of the river quays. Batteries of artillery were on the way to unlimber and park in the railway station square. The sight of the guns had no overawing effect upon the crowd. Every one knew that in the pigeon-holelike compartments of the caissons was only blank ammunition, and just a little bit more than enough for salutes appropriate to the occasion.

Attention of the spectators was divided between the direction of the station and the route to the palace. Out of the gates of the latter came the music of an excellent and powerful band. A moment later the band itself appeared. Behind it marched, with a precision that had taken months to perfect, the First Foot Guards, the proudest infantry regiment in the army. Every light blue uniformed man was over six feet tall, and in each soldier lived a regimental tradition handed down from the great soldier-king of 130 years before.

The regiment was led by an active, spare young man in a Major's uniform with a tunic that was a kaleidoscope of orders and decorations. He had a friendly though, to some, a sinister face. A long nose and small chin gave him somewhat the look of a wolfhound. An impartial observer might have characterized him as a dashing but irresolute figure.

At sight of this rider the stolid crowds went wild. Such popularity surely betokened a warm and undying devotion. His passage from palace to station was marked by continuous screams and roars of acclaim. The young idol was the heir to the throne, and he was on his way to meet his bride-to-be, to whom he was to be married two days later.

* * *

Loyal subjects of the Emperor and King looked upon the union as a love match. Certainly the young Duchess about to become a Crown Princess, and perhaps ultimately as Empress and Queen, was lovely enough to look upon; and since she came from a royal house within the empire no match more acceptable than this could be imagined. Consequently, after the royal fiancee had alighted from her train and entered the coach that was to take her to the palace, her greeting from the throngs of the capital was as delirious as had been that given the heir to the throne an hour before.

Forty mounted postmen led the procession to the palace. Then came a hundred curious looking men who wore dress suits and opera hats. Most of the men were of huge girth, of monumental proportions—several sizes too large for their horses. Some of the dress suits had the appearance of not belonging to their wearers. These hundred robust individuals were master butchers whose right to a place in the royal bride's procession was first given to their guild in 1666.

After the meat purveyors rode twenty trumpeters. But there was no need for these heralds of the Duchess's coming. The crowd knew it as soon as it saw the dazzling escort from the Garde du Corps—the Emperor and King's mounted household troops in spotless white tunics, golden cuirasses and gold helmets topped with eagles. Between their ranks rode the Duchess in a gilded coach, a coach built 150 years before, and in which many a royal bride had ridden. It was a coach even Cinderella might have envied.

The wedding was solemnized in the chapel of the Royal Palace by the court chaplain and nine of the cathedral clergy. In the first rank of spectators behind the Emperor and the Empress were seventy members of all the royal families of Europe. The remainder of the 200 guests were foreign diplomats and high officials of State, army and navy.

When the wedding was over the guns of every naval vessel and of all the military barracks in the country roared a national salute, and the royal bride and bridegroom proceeded to the palace drawing room for a peculiar ceremony that had been a wedding custom of the reigning house for centuries. This was the Torchlight dance.

The dance was given by twelve pages bearing torches. Behind them, walking slowly but in time to the music, the heir to the throne and his Princess made a tour of the room in which guests were arranged, ten and twelve deep, against the walls.

Next, the royal couple received congratulations from the civil authorities. One delegation was sent by a hundred cities throughout the land with authority to announce one of the most magnificent wedding presents ever given by a people to royalty; 1,000 platers and salvers — the most elaborate silver service on record. For weeks a hundred Burgomasters solicited subscriptions for the gift, and in all $250,000 was collected. Such a careful labor of love was to be expended on the present by master silversmiths of the nation that three or four years, it was expected, must elapse before the Crown Prince and his bride should receive it.

More years than that were destined to pass. The work was postponed by a tremendous event—an event that might have been foretold on the day of the wedding, when, in the capital of a country touching upon the western frontier, a man named Delcasse resigned as Minister of Foreign Affairs. Some blunt words in a speech by the royal bridegroom's father had upset the Minister's colonial policy and his projected control over the Sultanate of Morocco.

"I have reaped enough ingratitud from the thankless German people; now I am going to stand on my rights," the former German Crown Prince told a delegation that sought to settle the question of the disposition of a silver service originally designed as the Prince's wedding gift from one hundred Prussian cities in 1905. The service was not finished in time for the wedding, and it was still in jewelers' hands when the war broke out. Two years ago the silver service was unearthed, and negotiations begun for its disposal. Some City Governments declared that the service should go to a museum. The former Crown Prince announced that the present was his and that there was no use in discussing the question further.

FAMED RUSSIAN CROWN JEWELS OBJECT OF WORLD SPECULATION

Authentic Description Tells of Different Gems in in Collection.

RULERS LIKED THEM.

By S. TROVNITZKI.

From the beginning of Russian history down to our own times foreign observers have noted with amazement the extraordinary number of jeweled ornaments possessed by the monarchs of Russia and by private persons in the royal entourage. The envoy of Heinrich IV came to Kiev in the eleventh century, and he as well as Herberstein, Fletcher, Olearius, Korb and other sixteenth and seventeenth century travelers and even so recent a visitor as Maurice Paleologue, the last French Ambassador, expressed wonder at the marvelous wealth of precious stones they saw in Russia.

The reforms instituted by Peter the Great meant the end of the old established way of living, in which the Church with its pomp and circumstance played so great a part. Peter himself, in his personal life, disliked gaudy display. In his last months, however, he was on one occasion forced to ignore his simple and frugal tastes. On May 7, 1724, having previously declared his wife successor to the throne, he had crowned her as his Empress-Consort.

The First Empress

Everybody remembered that the future Empress of all the Russias had been Peter's mistress before she became his wife, and that her favors had previously been enjoyed by Prince Menshikov, who in turn had purchased her from Marshal Sheremetyev, who had taken her as a prisoner of war in the days when she was a servant in the household of a Livonian pastor. This was the first occasion of a woman's ascension to the Russian throne. Besides, this was the first time that the imperial title was bestowed with the Russian crown, all the sovereigns before Peter having borne merely the title of Czar.

For all these reasons the ceremony, which took place in the Uspensky Cathedral in Moscow was performed with exceptional impressiveness, and the necessary robes and regalia were of unusual richness and splendor. The crown was set with diamonds, some of them enormous, and its arches, decorated with immense pearls, were surmounted by a huge ruby which Prince Gagarin had presented to Menshikov, from whom it had passed to Catherine. Later this ruby and other stones from the crown of Catherine I were used to embellish the crown of her successor, Empress Anna Ivanovna. That crown is now preserved in the Museum of Arms and Armor in Moscow.

Peter's widow was the first of a series of crowned women who ruled the destinies of the Russian Empire for nearly three-quarters of a century. All of them had a passion for precious stones. Since they made no distinction between their personal possessions and the property of the State, they were able to gratify their craving with large sums.

The Empress Anna Ivanovna was so fond of jewels that she had them brought to her by caravan from China, and set up a workshop in her Moscow palace for the cutting and polishing of stones. She would go to watch the men at their task. She restored the so-called "diamond mill" in Petersburg, which had done the same work in Peter's time and had since burned down.

Empress Watched Gem Cutting

The Empress Elizabeth was in the habit of sending to France for most expensive articles. As court life in her reign was marked by great sumptuousness, the King, Louis XV of France, was actually embarrassed when it came to the matter of sending her a suitable present.

Owing to all these circumstances, the Russian sovereigns accumulated an exceptionally rich collection of crown jewels, known as the "diamond collection." It contains pieces executed by such famous jewelers and lapidaries as Pauzier, Duval, Pfisterer—all foreigners who lived in Russia for long periods. Foremost among these items are the crown regalia—two crowns, the great and the small, a sceptre, an imperial globe and the great chain of the Order of St. Andrew.

The great crown was made by Pauzier, the court jeweler, in 1762, for the coronation of Catherine II and figured in the crowning of seven monarchs, from that Empress to the last Czar, Nicholas II. It is of remarkably exquisite design and skillful workmanship and has immense value. It is set with 4,936 gems, amounting to 2,858 carats. Among the gems are seventy-five large diamonds. Mounted above these is a ruby of 400 carats which was bought in 1676 in Peking at a cost of 2,672 rubles. In spite of the lightness of the framework the crown weighs about five pounds.

The imperial globe is a ball of polished gold bearing a design worked out in diamonds. It is surmounted by a large sapphire supporting a cross set with diamonds. This globe dates from the time of Catherine II. The sceptre belongs to the same period; it is a rod of polished gold with eight diamond hoops. Its chief embellishment is the famous Orloff diamond—white, slightly tinged with yellow, and weighing 194¾ carats, or more than the famous Koh-i-noor, which weighs 186 1-6.

The story goes that the Orloff gem, together with its twin, formed the eyes of an idol in a Brahmin temple. Early in the eighteenth century it was stolen by a French soldier. It was next found in the possession of Nadir Shah, the ferocious Persian chief, from whom it was again stolen. All this is more or less plausible legend. The final fact is that this amazing stone was purchased by Catherine's lover, Prince Orloff, and presented to her on her birthday in 1773. At that time Orloff was in disfavor, and the acceptance of this present, which cost him 400,000 rubles, was sign of reconciliation. In return the Empress bestowed upon him a number of extraordinarily generous gifts.

The small crown was made for Empress Maria Feodorovna, the wife of Paul I. It is probably the work of Duval. A duplicate of this was made for the coronation ceremonies of Nicholas II, when two crowns were needed; one for his mother, the dowager empress, and one for his wife. Although the small crown was very costly, it does not compare in beauty of workmanship or in the quality of its stones with the older regalia.

The great chain of the Order of St. Andrew, a work of the late eighteenth century, may be seen in certain portraits of Paul I. It consists of twenty links, from which are suspended a cross and a star. The small chain of the same order dates from the beginning of the nineteenth century.

A particularly interesting piece is a large buckle to fasten a cloak. This dates from the mid eighteenth century. It appears in the portrait of Catherine II painted by Roslin, it is twenty-five centimeters long, and is remarkable for the beauty of its stones. A great artist selected them with a view not to their individual quality but the creation of a brilliant interplay of color and light.

The diamond collection includes also many diadems, necklaces, pendants, aigrets, brooches and fans. One handsome diadem has sheaves of brilliants, another is set with sapphires. Exceptional in design and workmanship is an eighteenth century aigret with two pendants set with brilliants and sapphires, the design representing a fountain or a rocket of brilliants from which the sapphires depend.

A great rariety is an epaulette set with brilliants. In Catherine's time dignitaries wore only one epaulette, under which a ribbon was drawn. Several such epaulettes were in the possession of Catherine's "factotum," the enormously wealthy Prince Potemkin. The one in the imperial diamond collection is probably the only example of its kind that has been preserved. The ollection contains examples of chevrons set with diamonds in the form of a chain of several hundred links sewn upon the border of a kaftan or along its pockets and cuffs. It is doubtful if any similar objects are preserved elsewhere. Artificial corsage bouquets set with gems are also noteworthy among the jewels. An exceptionally beautiful one is a bouquet of diamond flowers and emerald leaves, probably executed at the end of the reign of Empress Elizabeth (1741-1761).

There are individual stones of great beauty and rarity. One of the foremost among these is the famous Shah, a slightly polished oblong diamond, weighing 88 carats. It is engraved with three Arabic inscriptions, dating respectively from the sixteenth, seventeenth and nineteenth centuries, and giving the names of its owners. E. A. Fersman, of the Academy of Sciences, succeeded in establishing the entire history of this stone. It hung before the throne of the Great Mogul, Aurtengzenba, in th second half of the seventeenth century Thence it got into Persia, and was resented by Khozroy-Mirza to Emperor Nicholas I, as indemnity for the assassination of the great Russian playwright, Griboyedov, in Teheran in 1829.

Among extraordinarily handsome stones are a pink brilliant, of three and a half carats, and a blue brilliant weighing seven carats. Two stones of fabulous magnificence and size are a sapphire and an emerald. There is nothing to compare with either of them anywhere. The emerald is nearly cubic in shape, two of its dimensions being 3.5 and 3.2 centimeters, and it weighs 136 carats. It is of wonderful color and purity, and is cut in an ancient graded fashion. The sapphire is somewhat larger and weighs 260 carats.

This collection of the gems of the Czar includes a large number of other valuables, remarkable both for the workmanship and the quality of the gems. It is only since the Revolution that these treasures, preserved intact by the Soviet for the National Museum of Russia, have become available for examination and study.

NEGLECTED PATENT; MISSED A FORTUNE

Inventor of the Motion Picture Projector is Still a Hard-Working Machinist.

Every time Jean A. Le Roy sees a movie he thinks of what might hav been. He might be rolling about in a magnificent car, he might have his own yacht he might summer in the mountains and winter on the Riviera. He might send to Uncle Sam each year income taxes in many figures. He might have been leading the glittering life of a movie magnate.

Instead he is a hard working machinist in New York city an expert at repairing moving picture machines. And all because more than 30 years ago he neglected to take out a patent.

Back in '93 says the February Popular Science Monthly Jean Le Roy as eager a mechanic then as he is today was busy putting together a strange contrivance. It was an odd looking arrangement of wheels levers and gears that he constructed but the next year the queer machine threw a film on the screen for the first time in this country. It was the first motion picture projector in America and Le Roy didn't take out a patent on it.

Once an idea is suggested there are a thousand who seize upon it to alter or improve it. This was the case with the first projector. When Le Roy made his projector moving pictures were considered either a miracle or a joke. That they might be practicable was not even considered.

When the inventor realized the value of his invention it was already too late. He invented other devices and these he patented. He was kept poor he explains defending these patents against theft. Recently he patented an improvement for projectors. Almost immediately there were 26 infringements all of which he had to fight in court.

You might think that his hard luck at missing a fortune would make this little gray haired man bitter but such is not the case. Too busy to waste any time in regrets he keeps ou working away in his little shop.

BRITISH DOGS GIVEN RIGHTS IN LAW COURT

Parliament May Allow Appeal in Cases of Death Sentence.

THE BOBS CASE

Many Dogs Released May Be Re-arrested and Legally Tried.

"Criminal" dogs in Great Britain are to have the right of appeal against the death sentence, in a bill that will be introduced in the House of Commons. According to present indications, this addition to the rights of dogs will be enacted into law without opposition.

"Most people will be surprised to learn that British dogs have no right of appeal under the Dogs act of 1871," Sir Robert Gower, M. P., told an interviewer in London recently. "They will be the more astonished when they remember that a number of condemned dogs have had their cases appealed and their convictions quashed. Three or four such dogs are still living, but we know now that their appeals were illegal. As the law stands, the police have an incontestible right to arrest them again and carry out the death sentences which magistrates have passed on them.

"Under the Dogs act, the only recourse left to the owner of a condemned dog is to incur a penalty of £1 a day for each day the dog lives after the local bench of magistrates has sentenced it. Nobody seems to have known this until last January, when an appeal came up at the Herefordshire Quarter Sessions. An Airedale dog had been sentenced to death by the local magistrates, and when the appeal came on for trial counsel for the magistrates raised the question of its legality. There was much searching of law books, and the court finally upheld the objection. It was found that no right of appeal existed and the appeal was accordingly dismissed with costs.

Court's Finding Was Legal

"This astonished everybody. The National Canine Defense League took advice and discovered that the court's finding was quite legal. We learned then, for the first time, that although a man can appeal against a money fine passed on him by the magistrates, he cannot appeal against a sentence of death on his dog, despite the fact that his dog may be more valuable to him than money.

"Of course it put an end to the Canine Defense League's effort to secure justice in the Blaenau Festiniog dog case. That was a Welsh case, whose appeal was due to be heard January 6, the same day the Herefordshire appeal was lost. The local Justices had condemned the dog in question but had accepted an appeal to the Quarter Sessions at Dolgelly. It was believed that the dog was safe until the appeal was decided; but last December the Justices issued a further summons against the owner for disobedience of the destruction order, and the owner was fined £10 and again ordered to destroy the dog.

"Not being a millionaire, he obeyed. The Canine Defense League was then notified and immediately communicated with the Home Secretary. But the Herefordshire decision intervened. Hence the bill which I am introducing.

"The oddest aspect of the Herefordshire decision is that the Canine Defense League has already appealed a number of dog cases with success. There was the famous Bobs case of 1919. There was a great deal of hostility to dogs then, and they were being condemned to death on such flimsy evidence that the league thought it time to remind our magistrates that it was a serious matter to deprive a man of his dog.

The Great Bobs Case

"Bobs was a South London fox terrier. Two policemen pulled him out of a dog fight one day, and he was said to have snapped at one of them. Accordingly the Clerkenwell magistrates sentenced him to death as a ferocious animal. The league immediately briefed Sir Henry Curtis Bennett, K. C., one of the foremost barristers in London, and appealed the case to the London Sessions. Petitions were sent out and 20,000 signatures were secureed appealing for clemency for Bobs.

"It was a great case. When it came on for trial before Sir Robert Wallace and ten Justices, the league hired charabancs, and everybody from Bob's neighborhood proceeded to court to testify to the dog's friendliness. Bobs went to trial as the 'children's friend.' He was interviewed at the door of the court by reporters and snapped by photographers. I think there were cinema operators waiting for him, in addition to hundreds of children who cheered him as he was led in to face the Justices.

"The two policemen were there to repeat their evidence, but Sir Henry Curtis Bennett picked Bobs up in his arms and made a truly eloquent plea for the dog's life. The Justices set aside the conviction by the magistrates and released Bobs, which was carried out of court amid such cheering as has seldom been heard in a London court. Banners with the word 'saved' upon them were unfurled outside the court, and Bobs was borne away to his home. He is living at a dogs' home in Surrey and, even though we know now that his appeal was illegal, he is unlikely to be put to death.

City Dogs Have Advantage

"Since the Bobs case, the London police have formed the habit of taking out two summonses against a dog's owner, one under the Metropolitan Streets act, which permits a fine to be levied, the other under the Dogs act of 1871, which empowers Magistrates to order a dog to be kept under proper control or to be destroyed, but which empowers them to levy a fine only in case an order for destruction is disobeyed.

"Under the Metropolitan Streets act a fine can be made the subject of an appeal; but we learned in the Herefordshire case of January last that there is no appeal from a conviction under the Dogs act. The use of the Metropolitan Streets act probably gives London dog owners an advantage over owners in the provinces, but my bill, by amending the Dogs act, is intended to put London and provincial owners on the same footing.

"It is also intended to protect dogs against the periodic scares which are apt to influence magistrates. Here in London we have rabies scares, during which dogs are likely to be condemned on the flimsiest of evidence. In the provinces they have sheep-killing scares, when the wrongdoing of one criminal dog may place in jeopardy the lives of all dogs whose owners are brought before the magistrates."

Sir Robert Gower is Chairman of the National Canine Defense League, which is pushing his bill. Four thousand British dog lovers are members of the league and through it they promote legislation and propaganda on behalf of dogs. They oppose the practice of dog-chaining, which is prevalent in the sheep counties and along roads where the motor traffic is heavy. They collect lost dogs and detain them in dogs' homes. The— pay dog license fees fo poor persons. They supply veterinary treatment and pay for the humane killing of old dogs whose owners are unable to afford the cost.

The league also prosecutes farmers who post notices oW their farms threat ening to shoot, trap or poiso dogbb Performing dog acts in threatres are watched. Silver and bronze medals are awarded dog heroes. Promiscuous muzzling orders are opposed and anti-vivizling orders are opposed and anti-vivisection bills—in so far as dogs are concerned—are promoted. At times a deputation from the league descends on the House of Commons to advocate or oppose legislation dealing with dogs.

On the invitation of the Canadian Government the third World's Poultry Congress will be held at Ottawa next year.

THE SUN CAN CAUSE DISASTROUS FIRES

Static Electricity Is Another Natural Firebug, Says Underwriter's Expert.

Among the many causes of costly fires the sun is one that must be reckoned with, according to George B. Muldaur, general agent for the Chicago Fire Underwriters' Laboratories, an organization maintained by insurance companies to test inventions designed to protect property.

"In an Illinois city not long ago a fire broke out in the display window of a jewelry store," says Mr. Muldaur in the February issue of "Popular Science Monthly." "Among the window decorations was a round ball of glass with a picture under it. The glass had focused the rays of the sun so that it acted like a prism and set fire to tissue paper streamers hanging at the back of the window."

"The other day a big garage burned. Thirteen men were injured and 19 cars burned to cinders because a garage workman did 't know that chamois skin and gasoline are a dangerous combination. He was filling a gasoline tank and used a chamois skin inside the funnel to strain out the water. Friction of the gasoline failing on the skin caused static electricity. One good spark was enough to start things going."

While it is true that rats and mice cause fires, it has been proved in the laboratories that even starving rodents will not nibble matches.

"Mice may cause fires by scratching about in matches," says Mr. Muldaur. "In New York City there is a record of a fire caused by a mouse, a cat and a box of matches. The cat was watching a mouse that ran into a match box. The mouse, scrambling about, set the box on fire. The cat pounced on its prey and knocked the box to the floor, where the fire caught in a rug.

"We have found cases where animals were used deliberately to set places on fire. In one town in Missouri a cottage burned to the ground while the owner was away at a picture show. It happened that he had put an unusually heavy insurance on it just the month before. The fire appeared accidental, but the insurance company had the ruins searched thoroughly. In the dining room wreckage were found a lamp, a string and a piece of meat. One bright young fellow measured the string and found that it was just the height of a table. This brought out the story."

DO WE WEAR TOO MUCH CLOTHING?

Men's Garments Too Heavy For Health, Say Experts—

Three million persons, it is reported, have joined a nudity cult. They are swimming without bathing suits, running naked over the hills and doing calisthenics without a thread of clothing.

It began, so far as can be determined, in Germany with a health movie called "The Way to Strength and Beauty." This told of recent discoveries made by scientists concerning the wonderful effects of sunshine on the human body. For the first time, says "Popular Science Monthly" for February, thousands heard about ultra-violet light, those invisible rays in sunshine that increase the percentage of lime and phosphorus in the body fluids and increase resistance to disease. Various clubs were formed to free people of imprisoning clothes. They started sun bath and gymnasium classes. One of the largest clubs holds huge classes in nude gymnasiums in a great coliseum in Berlin.

Now the idea has spread to Switzerland, Sweden and England. Recently Dr. Leonard Hill, director of the National Institute of Medical Research, Great Britain's leading authority on the curative power of sunlight, advised men to abandon their heavy dress and wear as light clothing as women do. To the women who would be healthy and beautiful he urged: "Wear short skirts and artificial silk stockings and leave your arms and necks bare."

That tight, heavy clothing may be detrimental to health seems to be borne out by medical men in America. They have found that with all the protection afforded by woolen underwear, shirts, vests, coats and mufflers, men are more liable to colds and similar ailments than are women who go through the winter with neck and chest exposed.

Dr. D. F. Smiley, who kept careful records of colds at Cornell University for four years, found that as chronic cold catchers the men students vastly outnumbered the co-eds. Insurance company figures on the number of deaths from pneumonia show that for the last 25 years, while women's dress has become briefer and scantier, and men have stuck to their insulation methods, the number of men dying from pneumonia has constantly been greater than the number of women dying from it.

No better costume for men ever has been devised than the short kilts of Scotland, declares Dr. Walter B. James of New York city, who hade an intensive study of the relation of clothing to health.

Fire Worship in Persia

Most of the people in Persia are Moslems and follow, at least to some extent, the teachings of Mohammed. There are, however, parts of the country where the people are mainly "Parsees."

Parsees are persons who believe in the ancient faith of Zoroaster, a priest who lived in eastern Persia about three thousand years ago. This man, the Parsees say, once bathed himself in the most careful manner, and clothed in pure white, lay down to rest. For seven days, the story goes, he slept. When he awoke, he recited the faith which others should hold. His words were written down by his hearers and make up the sacred book known as the Avesta.

In the Avesta people are taught to observe certain rules of morals, and they are told what will happen to men after death. The book also teaches the Parsees to treat fire as a holy thing.

In one Persian city there are thirty churches in which fire, or the spirit behind fire, is worshipped. In each church, the priests keep a lamp always burning. An English woman who lived in Persia for eight years tells how her Parsee servants refused to blow out candles when asked to do so. That was because they feared to stop a flame. Members of the faith are forbidden to smoke, lest the thought of fire should not be kept sacred.

Parsee girls are married at an early age—often when only twelve or thirteen. The wedding takes place at or after midnight, in the house of the bridegroom. Before the event, the bride marches to her future home in company with the groom and the wedding guests. Along the way, perhaps every twenty steps, a bonfire burns and the party must pause until the blaze dies down. Rockets are set off from time to time, in a further effort to bless the marriage with the fire-spirit.

Parsees believe that the stars help to tell the future. New-born babies are visited by "astrologers," who pretend that they know what will happen to each child. Before a marriage takes place, these men tell the bride whether the stars will give her a happy or an unhappy married life.

The Earth's Heat

Why do the men dig that deep ditch to put the water pipe in, Uncle John? Why don't they just put it under the top of the ground and save themselves all that work?

Because they want to get the pipe below the "frost line" so the water in it will not freeze during winter.

What is the "frost line"?

It is an imaginary line, or depth, under the top of the ground, below which the earth does not freeze in the coldest winter. It is about four feet down.

But why does not the earth freeze all the way down?

That, dear, is because the earth is constantly sending up heat from the inside. Just where the heat comes from, the scientific men are not positive. Up to about twenty years ago, they all believed it came from a fire inside the earth, but recently a new and wonderful thing, called Radium, has been discovered, and that has made many change their idea of where the heat comes from.

Radium has a great many wonderful properties, one of which is that it constantly gives out heat without appreciably getting smaller. It does not "burn up" as wood and coal do, when they give out heat.

This Radium is the most costly thing in the world, because it is so hard to get. All of it which has been produced so far will not fill a tea-cup. Yet scientists now know that there is a great deal of it all over the world. In that rock there is a tiny bit, and in every pail of water, there is a wee bit, so that all over the world there really is quite a lot of it. We can not collect it, because it is spread out in such very, very tiny quantities.

But dear, all those wonderful tiny quantities of radium are constantly giving out heat, and it is this heat which, many scientists now believe keeps the earth warm. Also, it is the heat from this Radium which is supposed to keep the earth from freezing far down in winter.

And, Uncle John, if there were no radium would the ground freeze very deep?

Yes, dear, if it were not for the radium or other heat from the inside of the earth, the ground would freeze much deeper than it does. Of course dear, the earth stores up much of the heat of the summer sun, and this too helps to keep the ground from freezing very deeply during the winter. But is possible, and probable, that if there were no internal heat, the ground would freeze so deeply during the winter, that it would not all thaw during the summer.

WOOD MUCH USED.

Coal Viewed With Suspicion and Long Time in Getting Favor.

People are extremely fond of casting back to what they call the "good old days," such recollections being tempered by the harrowing reflection that fuel was $3.25 the cord for good, body, mixed hardwood, and the municipal taxes stood at eleven mils on the dollar of assessment. With an assessment diluted by the friendly sympathy and consideration of the assessor, who, being a man of parts and one of the common people had no elevated ideas of an elevated appraisement or a rate of equal altitude.

The civic rate of three and one-half per cent. is a doleful thing to contemplate, unless one sensibly admits that for the amount of money per individual contributed, he gets about as good value as for any other personal expenditure.

But coming back to that matter of fuel. A most vital and now pressing emergency. Heat and warmth we must have in our homes, and having no general or communal method of bulk heating, must each do our own stoking and get what results we can. Mostly indifferent, for marriage and firing in the furnace are two things that the young householder has to get accustomed to, in order to secure best results.

The wide difference in the methods of heating may be contrasted with the situation in 1865, when only one room at a time was heated, this in the average home. Heat in a bedroom, except in the homes of the alleged affluent, was not thought of. The average boy, bidden to go to bed, snugged in back of the kitchen stove, with his legs thrust under the stove, where the heating was good, got thoroughly warmed, slapped on his coat, turned up the collar, secured his cap and mittens and made a dash along the long and narrow hall to the bedroom, where he inserted himself between sheets of the flexibility of pieces of zinc, shivered for a time and eventually gained a peaceful slumber, to waken in the morning and find the water in the bedroom pitcher frozen solid, and the towel flapping against the window frame like a banner of tin. And those were the good old days that are longed for.

But again, coming back for the second time to this matter of fuel. At the time, as written above, hard coal was on the market, but viewed with a suspicion. While cordwood was reasonably low in cost, and pine and hemlock slabs could be had for hauling from the mill, stoves were all of the wood burning formation, and anthracite coal was averred to be nothing but black stones. It was working its way into favor but accepted doubtfully, despite the commercial fact that the best Lehigh hard coal cost $3.60 per ton, at the mine. It was so abundant, and mined so profusely, as against the limited consumption, that the Lehigh Valley Rail road fired its fleet of locomotives with hard coal and prided itself, and advertised for traffic as "The Road of Anthracite." Who, of us of some mature years will not remember the effulgent "Pheobe Snow," the lady who, garbed in snow white costume, frequented the coaches of the road and so evidenced that neither smoke or soot marred the immaculate spotlessness of her gowns.

So in order to contradict contradiction, following is printed the form of contract submitted to a dealer in fuel, in the spring of the year 1877, the dealer being in business as a woodman in Peterborough. The prices, as quoted, are for the short ton of 2000 lbs. The long ton, when used, meant 2200 lbs., and where used gave the local dealer a rake-off of about ten per cent. on his purchases, a not unreasonable profit, besides the profit on his local selling prices.

Sole Agents for Lehigh Valley Coal Co.'s Coals

This contract does not throw light on the transportation costs, but coal, at the time, was moved largely by water carriage, wherever available. The network of canals that had been constructed to and about the coal districts of Pennsylvania were made use of but coal for use in Central Ontario came by way of Oswego, where it was dumped into schooners and carried to points along the north shore of Lake Ontario, such as Belleville, Port Hope, and ports up west as far as Toronto and Hamilton. The water carrying cost was not expensive, the principal item in the charges being the loading and unloading, largely hand-shovelled.

Memory tells of the retail prices at Peterborough, for good solid, well screened hard nut coal, as $5.50 per ton in the consumer's bin. Gradually stoves were changed, the "heater" being the first to come into use. Of such stoves and heaters the well-known "Radiant Home," was a fine example. Self-feeding, as the term was used, it kept a fine fire going through the long winter evenings and hours of the night. Furnaces came after, and many of the larger homes were fitted with such appliances.

And the ever pressing enquiry is, "if coal cost, at one time $3.50 at the pit mouth, and now retails at $16.50 and $17.00 the ton, where the mischief has the difference gone and who have it." At one time we were disposed to revile the local coal dealer as a morbid grasping, avaricious monopolist, and accuse him of advancing the price of kitchen coal, any morning after breakfast. He had his troubles, decent man as he was. And in succeeding years, miners, owners, operators, brokers, railroads, schooner owners, truckmen, railroad men and roustabouts, all serenely came along, and each in turn and place clapped on additional costs. Let the people pay, was the maxim and motto.

In this symphony of human and commercial progress the cost of wood fuel kept pace. When the citizen, being prodded by the home authorities, hied him to the market, that cockpit of buying and selling, to get a load of wood, he wanted wood and wood only. It was a necessity, had to have it. Turnips nor hay nor any kind of provender would suffice. He must have wood. And the load of hard maple, dragged in over the snow road from Indian River or Nogie's Creek, had a rising value. As coal advanced wood kept time in the march of human necessity. Even the inoffensive and humble slab has now become an object of deep esteem. The hardwood slab, especially. The fuel of our impecunious forefathers has been glorified to honorable estate. And the price is one that commands respect.

Turning back, again, to the fuel and coal days of 1877, it is interesting to consider the conditions under which the $3.60 per ton coal was supplied to those who ordered from the mines. So we make and here print a few extracts from the conditions of sale and shipment of coal, as endorsed on the other side of the form of contract.

1. No contract will be considered as binding until orders in writing have been received from purchasers and the same duly accepted.

3. The price of coal will be the rates as fixed by circular, from time to time, and will be charged at the circular prices at the time of shipment, regardless of the dates of order.

5. Cars are required to be unloaded in accordance with the rules and regulations of the railroads, and demurrage will be charged for detention. Cars are not allowed to be sent beyond the station designed in the manifest as the place of delivery.

6. Coal shipped on board any boats, vessels or cars at any point of sale o delivery, will be thereafter, in all respects at the risk of purchaser . . . and in no event whatever will we hold ourselves responsible for the loss of or damage to the boats, or vessels, thus procured, or coal shipped thereon. When so requested by purchasers we will use exertions to procure insurance on coal, but will not assume any responsibility in reference thereto.

7. If at any time the operations or business of parties at the mines, or on the roads or canals by which they transport coal to any place where delivery is agreed to be made, are interrupted by floods, breaks, accidents, combinations, turn-outs, or strikes among miners, boatmen, or other employees, or by casualties of any kind, or from their refusal to work from any cause whatever; our obligation to deliver coal under our contracts or agreements, may, at our option, be cancelled to the extent of the average daily quantity the purchasers would be entitled to receive under their contracts or agreements during the times such interruptions continues, and no liability shall accrue to us for damage by reason of such non-delivery, or for demurrage of vessels, or otherwise.

Clause No. 5, had been deftly contrived to prevent, to head off, any local dealer who wished to do a litt'e brokerage on the side, by ordering coal shipped to him and then passing it on to some other dealer, at a price, and who might not have been able to make a satisfactory contract for definite supply. And it was specifically specified that purchasers would not be allowed to transfer their contracts to others without consent of the vendors, in writing. All of which was perfectly good business and quite in order.

The average wage of the average mechanic, in the year 1877 would be ten to twelve dollars per week. It now stands at from twenty-seven to thirty. Roughly, a two hundred per cent. advance. The price of domestic fuel, keeping pace, has advanced from $5.50 to $16.50 per ton, that is hard coal. Going up to a two hundred per cent. advance over the original retail prices asked in the years indicated. Have the influences that have pushed up the living wage of the mechanic also shoved up the prices of hard coal. If so, the logical thing to do, though it might not be applauded, would be to stop the shoving and let things stand as they are. But no matter what transpires the cost of fuel will never be allowed to sink below what is now demanded for it. It is not on record, and no instance can be brought forward, where the cost of a necessity has ever been allowed to fall. And the unspoken comment of all in the fuel business, from the miner hewing at the face of the coal bed under the earth, to the last handler of the product is, if the public can afford to buy and run the millions of pleasure cars that we see infesting the streets, then the public can paymore for the fuel to keep warmth and comfort at hand and in use. What we can substitute for hard coal is an open and perplexing question. It is a luxury. If we must, we can become accustomed to the use of substitutes. For a few years we shall see a general disorganization, and much dirt and inevitable disorder, and complaining housewives, but future heating in homes yet to be erected will see provision to use other fuel than the costly, even if agreeable hard coal. Thirty years from the present and we shall see lumps of hard coal displayed on the what-nots and shelves of the living rooms of the people, so preserve as curosities and specimens.

TALKS ON TREES TO ENGINEERS

H. J. Moore Protests Butchering of Trees and Suggests Council Control.

USES OF TREES.

H. J. Moore, of the Provincial Department of Agriculture, presented a most interesting and enlightening talk on "Trees" to the members of the Peterborough branch of the Engineering Institute on Thursday in the council chamber of the Chamber of Commerce. Mr. Moore is the man who planted Armours Hill at the request of the Women's Patriotic League of Ashburnham and was also responsible for the designing and planting of St. Peter's Cathedral grounds. A. L. Killaly, the chairman, made reference to the experience that Mr. Moore had in this line of work. He stated that he had been ten years in the Queen Victoria Park, Niagara Falls, had planted the highway between Niagara Falls and Fort Erie and had been with the Provincial Department of Highways for two years.

Mr. Moore stated that he was not a forester but that he believed in the use of trees to make places beautiful. He said that a tree lives and breathes like a human being. It derives one half its substance from the air and the other half from the soil. A tree absorbs its mineral food from the soil and its carbon food from the air, but cannot use it until it is elaborated or cooked in the leaf. The food is sent from the leaf into every part of the tree. The speaker described how the scientists were producing sugar from formaldehyde, the first product formed by the tree. He informed his listeners that when applying manure to a tree they should not apply it round the trunk of the tree but should apply it around the outsidewhere the rain fell in order that the root hairs on the fibrous feeders would absorb it and pass the moisture on to the roots.

He described the numerous uses that trees have, planting parks, reforestation, for shade purposes, preserving wild flowers and wild birds and even help to make hydro-electric energy as they release the water to the streams. He stated that they enter into the economic life of the country as they supply the pulpwood. They also have a great influence on the climate and rainfalls. He stated that the citizens should be interested in the beautifying of the municipalities as many are suffering from lack of care due to the butchering of trees by inexperienced people. When pruning is properly done, he said, a person cannot tell whether the tree has been touched or not. He was of the opinion that in all towns where trees are growing, the council should prepare a by-law for the protection of the trees that would give the parks commissioner sole authority to touch the trees. After pruning trees, the speaker said, if stubs are left the doom of the tree is sealed, the tree will surely die. Mr. Moore explained his remarks with the aid of very fine lantern slides which showed every phase of the work which was being done for the preservation of tree life in this province. He showed pictures of trees which through neglect had become decayed and had been saved for the benefit of the public by being patched by reinforced concrete. The following poem, written by the speaker, and recited by him, concluded what was adjudged by those present as being one of the most instructive talks that the members of the Institute had been privileged to hear:

VANDAL MAN.
(By Henry J. Moore.)

Barren the hills and barren the plains,
Swept by the winds and washed by the rains,
Gone from the earth the wonderful shade,
The kindliest thing that God ever made,
Gone the glory that once we knew,
Beautiful trees that the Vandal slew.

Gone are the haunts of our childhood's hours
Where grew the lowly woodland flowers;
Bits of love by their Maker given,
Who perfumed them with a breath heaven;
Vandal Man, it is true, they are gone—
No love for flowers in a heart of stone.

Gone are the birds, that once we knew
That lived in the trees, you know you slew;
In exile they sought a shelter from death;
They had to fly from the wintry breath:
Vandal Man, you drove them away—
No love for birds in a heart of clay.

Gone are the rivers, for one by one
Their life's blood dried in the summer sun;
Tombstones of granite, sullen and grey,
Mark the course where they purled their way;
Vandal Man, you know it is true—
The rivers dried when the trees you slew.

Vandal Man, do you know there's a land
Where palm trees shade the sunny strand,
Where the wild birds sing and the flowers bloom
And the rivers chant in the evening gloom?
But angels guard its gates so fair
And vandals may not enter there.

Were Cleaning Out Combustion Chamber of Large Boiler.

AT OTTAWA.

OTTAWA, Jan. 16 (Canadian Press).—As the result of an explosion in the combustion chamber of a large steam boiler in the heating plant of the J. R. Booth Company, about six o'clock last night, Jean Baptiste Morrisette, aged 44 years, and Joseph Lesage, aged 51 years, both of Hull, are in the Civic Hospital, suffering from severe burns to their faces and bodies, which may prove fatal.

The explosion, the cause of which is not exactly known, occurred when both men were inside the combustion chamber of the large boiler engaged in cleaning the deposit of fine ash left by the fuel. It is believed they turned a two-inch hose on the hot ashes and that the explosion resulted from this action.

SEND BATTLE GAGE TO ALL SKI JUMPERS

REVELSTOKE, B.C., Jan. 16—(Canadian Press).— The annual Winter Carnival which will be held here during the last week in January, promises to bring together the most expert ski jumpers on the Continent. The Revelstoke Ski Club, working with the Winter Carnival officials, has sent out a world-wide challenge to followers of the ski-jumping art to come to the carnival and endeavor to better the record of 240 feet made on the Revelstoke Hill on Feb. 4, 1925, by Nels Nelson, the recognized champion ski jumper of the world.

In order to secure as large and representative entry list as possible ski club will furnish full transportation and living allowance on production of proof that all entrants are bonafide and possess sufficient ability to make a satisfactory attempt.

In addition to the ski contests, the Winter Carnival which opens on January 26 and closes January 30, will be featured by the British Columbia Interior Bonspiel, while every other winter sport will be indulged in on a competitive basis.

THE ORACLE GIVES FIRST IN SERIES ON HOW TO ATTAIN HIGHEST SUCCESS

If you are really sincere in applying to The Oracle you will wish to take the advice he gives. If you are not sincere, then this article and those that follow are not for you. Turn to the comics and read something you can understand.

The Oracle, in his readings, presupposes that everyone is eager to advance. It is not taken for granted that anyone is satisfied with his present position, though st ange to relate, there are a few in that class. They are easy to pick out.

In the advice given in these answers to enquiries The Oracle lays special stress on the points that require it. If a person, for instance, has normal affections, normal mentality, normal morality, why tell him? Perhaps the word "ordinary" would be better. It is when a man or a woman has extraordinary ability along certain, perhaps neglected, lines, that it becomes necessary to draw attention to it. And the same applies to faults as well as to ability.

The first thing to consider is the organic quality of your mental processes, and this, you will remember from the chart that was printed on December 31, ranges from "fine-grained" to "dotish." It is presumed that you graded yourself on this chart and now have your reading and your analysis of yourself. Without these the articles that are to follow will be practically useless. If your reading has not come through yet—and there are still a few hundred requests unanswered—clip out the articles and save them.

Those who are too highly organized in physical constitution are inclined to be over-fastidious; they are too susceptible to the exquisite in enjoyment and the intense in suffering. At the other extreme, with persons coarse-grained in structure and sentiment, there is an incapacity for attainment and an uncouthness of temperament that exclude them from mingling with reasonable human beings.

Strange though it may seem, the first advice to be given on how to apply the principles laid down in answers to queries goes no higher than a warning not to overeat. Those who would cultivate organic quality must beware the tendency to eat too much; they must avoid all forms of intemperance, whether their leaning is toward rich pastry, pork, or late suppers with their spirituous concomitants. They must be much in the open air, taking plenty of exercise and keeping the body in just as good condition as possible. They must select good and virtuous companions; cultivate a love of the beautiful in nature; pay attention to religious and mental culture.

It is surprising the change that can be effected in organic quality by a few years' diligent culture along the lines indicated. This, of course, depends a lot upon the occupation followed, which is just one more reason for exercising care in the choice of a vocation.

To the comparative few who are over-organized my advice is to live more in the real, and less in the ideal world. They should endeavour in every legitimate way to promote rest and physical ease; eat, drink, and be merry, and make the best of life. They should bring their minds down to the practical and the tangible. They should remember that all material things were created for a wise purpose, and what appears to them distasteful may be quite right and good and highly necessary.

Is this practical advice? Essentially! There is not one reader who cannot apply it. Some are quite normal, and do not require adjustment.

But if you are among those who have analysed their worth and found room for improvement, do not delay the correction of past errors and present drifting.

Simple Jography

A weekly lesson about the earth: why it whirls and what it wears.

By WILLIAM SILLY

LESSON No 1

Moses was the first geographer, and William Silly is the latest but not the last. Geographers are like politicians, there is an endless supply, and while they talk about the same old thing each man thinks he has a new theory.

It is a breath-taking jump from Moses to William Silly, but the reader may well look back with gladness on the imposing array of geographers he has skipped over, whose names even are not so easy to prounce as Moses and Silly, and whose theories are even less digestible. There are, for instance Discoveritus, Anaxothenes, Axmeanuther, Longilat, Robert Louis Stevenand J. M. Barry. Stevenson is principally remembered because he chronicled for the first time the story of Romance Land, populated by Prince Otto, and J. M. Barry is famous for his outline of Never Neverland.

William Silly's treatise on the science of human evolution, distribution and population is thoroughly up-to-date. Geographers must be changeful as the Globe, whose variations they endeavour to chronicle. From present indications there will be geographers thousands of years hence just as there are and have been. The world seems no nearer completion than when Moses opened his first chapter.

As a previous geographer described it, the sea with its white teeth bites the edges of the continents into new shapes. The glaciers file away the mountains. The fiery demons stoke their fires and blow the valleys nearer the skies, and insects are busy below the oceans, building the foundations of new continents.

Every geographer has something new to write about. Moses said the world started out with one man. "William Silly finds today that it is about to hang out the "standing room only" sign. And a future geographer may tell of the changing of this for a "to let" sign with real estate dealers endeavouring to attract Martinians and other suburban dwellers to the then depopulated metropolis.

However, William Silly does not write of speculation. He deals with facts, and in this simple series of geography lessons he chronicles present day facts which he quite realizes may be out of date in a few thousand years.

In future chapters he will tell of The Earth, Why it Whirls and What it Wears.

CHINESE WAR CAUSE ANTIMONY SCARCITY

VANCOUVER, B.C., Jan. 14.—(Canadian Press).—The civil war in China has cut off the world's supply of antimony and the mining world is now looking to British Columbia to help meet the shortage.

Prices have advanced rapidly as a result of the curtailment of the Chinese supply and British Columbia is one of the few countries that has an extensive supply. There are many extensive deposits in this province, although only two properties have so far been worked to any extent. The cheap coolie labor in China has hitherto tended to keep prices down, British Columbia with her high production coasts being unable to compete with the Oriental supply even in the United States, the largest consumer of antimony in the world. Under the changed conditions it is now hoped that many dormant properties will be revived.

The uses for anitomy are continually expanding, the high prices of lead and zinc driving manufacturers to substitute alloys into which antimony largely enters. The metal is also being successfully used as a substitute for lead and zinc in the

BRANDON, Man., Jan. 16 (Canadian Press).—The United Farmers of Manitoba at the final business session of their annual convention here Friday, decided their position on two questions of national importance.

The convention asked the Dominion Government and the Board of Railway Commissioners to put into effect the lowest freight rates on grain and livestock, over the National transcontinental railway, at which the Canadian National Rilways can operate with loss.

The executive of the association was requested to take action to have the Dominion and Provincial Governments take steps to secure standardization of the value of unoccupied lands to prevent the exploitation of these lands. It was intimated that the action on this matter would be through the Canadian Council of Agriculture, though no mention of that body was made in the resolution.

BURNBRAE PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH CARRIED ON VERY SUCCESSFULLY EVEN AFTER UNIONISTS HAD LEFT

WAS $564.60.

(By A Staff Reporter)

BURNBRAE, Jan. 16.—St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Burnbrae, the parent of all the Presbyterian churches in the district, began the year 1925 with a balance on hand of $184.57. Then came the epochal movement in June when so many members joined the Union movement but those who were left carried on in spite of reverses and discouragements. During the first half of 1925 the total general reserve was $711.62 and for the last six months it was $1925.46. The congregation closed the year with a balance on hand of $564.60 from general revenue alone, one of the best records ever made, according to the church annals.

Besides this general revenue the total receipts were swelled by sums earned or contributed by the various auxiliary societies as follows: Ladies Aid, $498.30; Women's Missionary Society, $87.21; Sunday School, $104.94; Guild, $34.95; Cemetery Committee, $208.72. The total net revenue was $3727.24.

The Annual Meeting.

The above figures were presented at the annual meeting of the congregation which was held Thursday afternoon in the school room, the pastor, Rev. D. A. McKenzie presiding and W. A. Milne, one of the oldest members of the congregation, acting as secretary.

In submitting the report of the session Mr. McKenzie stated that the people had every reason to be thankful for the material and spiritual blessings of the past year. There had been an abundant harvest and the congregation was now well organized to carry on the work. The session appreciated and wished to express gratitude for the loyal support that had been given them during the year by the Ladies' Aid, the Sunday School officers, the Young Peoplie's Society at which there is often an attendance of between 60 and 70, the Guild and the Women's Missionary Society. The managers, too, had been faithful in the discharge of their duties.

Twelve new members had been added to the church roll during the year. There are now 44 families, comprising 104 members, in the congregation.

Reports From Presbytery.

Victor Taylor, representative elder and chairman of the Board of Managers, reported that at the last meeting of the Kingston Presbytery, the Burnbrae congregation had been asked to raise $340, about $4 per member for the Mission fund. W. A. Milne, who also attended the Presbytery meeting, stated that the congregation had been well represented before that body by Mr. Taylor.

"We will have no difficulty," added Mr. Milne, "in raising the $340 for the Mission fund if our members this year contribute as liberally as they did in 1925."

Work Of Ladies' Aid.

No congregation that possessed a live Ladies' Aid Society has occasion to worry over finances and in this respect the Burnbrae people are specially fortunate. Mrs. John Oddie is president, Miss Alice Milne is secretary and Mrs. J. Stewart is treasurer of this organization. During the year the ladies paid $446.93 on the debt on the Manse, and still have a balance in the treasury. This leaves $450 still owing on the building, the only debt on a church property which is valued at $16,009 and which is insured for $11,000. Rev. D. A. McKenzie stated, when the report of this society was read by Mrs Stewart, that the last of the debt would be wiped out this year if the Ladies' Aid received the support to which they were entitled.

The Sunday School.

Alex Milne, superintendent of the Sunday School, reported a successful year, with a good attendance and interest. He thanked the teachers and officers of the school for their efficient and unwearied services.

Prices of Lots Increased.

James Stewart, chairman of the cemetery board, submitted his report, suggesting an increase in the price of lots. It was finally decided to charge $10 instead of $5 for each plot; to members of the congregation and outsiders alike, the former to be given the choice of location.

Officers Elected.

After the reports of all the societies had been read and adopted the officers for the year were all re-elected as follows:

Managers—W. W. Bennett, W. H. Little and Thomas Watson. The managers who hold over from last year are: Victor Taylor, W. McKenzie, George Wallace and Wm. Matthews.

Auditors—Roy Walker and Charles Johns.

Ushers—George Craighead, Ernest Eagleson, Grant Thain and Robert Matthews.

Seating committee—W. A. Milne and George Craighead. The latter will also act as representative of the Presbyterian Record.

Vote of Thanks.

Mr. and Mrs. Victor Taylor were tendered a vote of thanks for entertaining the Belleville Quartette that sang at the fowl supper last Fall. Mr. Taylor also carried the singers in his auto from Belleville and return.

After the business was disposed of a substantial luncheon was served by the members of the Ladies' Aid.

The attendance was good and the interest shown in the work was unmistakable. Optimism marked the entire proceedings, the pastor and Mr. Milne both emphasizing the fact that if the members of the congregation did as well this year as they did in 1925 there would be nothing in the future to fear.

MILLBROOK LODGE OFFICERS INSTALLED

Rebekah District Staff Visited Golden Sheaf Lodge.

MILLBROOK, Jan. 16.—The installation of officers was the special feature of the first meeting of the new year in connection with the Golden Sheaf Rebeka Lodge, No. 16, the ceremony following the regular business session on Tuesday evening.

The local officers for 1926 are:

J.P.G.—Sister Irene Fallis.
N.G.—Sister Caroline Harkness.
V.G.—Sister May Garside.
Warden—Sister Rhea Thorne.
Conductor—Sister Esther Vance.
Chaplain—Sister Ethel Vance.
Financial Secretary—Sister Zella Bentley.
Treasurer—Sister Jennie Henderson.
Recording Secretary—Sister Maud Armstrong.
R.S.N.G.—Sister Mabel Fallis.
L.S.N.G.—Sister Annie Ball.
R.S.V.G.—Sister Pearl Burnham.
L.S.V.G.—Sister Jean Syer.
I.G.—Sister Thelma Ball.
O.G.—Bro. F. N. Alcorn.
Pianist—Sister Ada Attwell.

A number of the visiting officers spoke briefly before lodge was formally closed, and adjournment was made to the dining-hall where a banquet was served by the Social Committee of the Oddfellows' Lodge, the latter returning the courtesy of the previous week when the Social Committee of the Rebeka Lodge provided the supper for the men after their installation ceremony.

The attendance was not as large as usual on such an occasion, other events in the vicinity conflicting with the gathering, but there were no officers absent, and all the chairs were efficiently filled considering the recent election to the several positions, and some changes in the ritual that are just being learned.

W.M.A. Meeting.

The first meeting of the new year of the Women's Missionary Auxiliary of the United Church was held on Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. E. S. Burnham, Main street, nearly fifty being in attendance.

Mrs. (Rev.) F. H. Howard had charge of the opening business period, Mrs. R. H. Edmunds was appointed Literature Secretary in the place of Mrs. W. E. Ball, resigned, and eleven subscriptions to the new magazine, "The Missionary Monthly," were reported.

A letter from the Branch President, Mrs. N. E. Ashton, of Campbellford, was read showing that owing to readjustments because of the Union the year ends a month earlier, in March, instead of April, necessitating taking the Easter thank-offering the first week of March. This will mean some decided changes for the local auxiliaries, and doubtless involve sacrifice on the part of individual members to make their offering equal to other years.

On motion it was decided to make the first Sunday in March a special W.M.A. occasion, including the Circle and Band in the arrangements, and if possible secure a speaker for the morning service, the thank-offering for all three organizations being received at that time.

Group B, Mrs. Ross Edmunds convener, then took charge, and Mrs. V. C. Lambert gave an interesting account of the work being done among the Ukrainians at Oshawa by the W.M.S. missionary, who is taking up the task because of the removal of the native pastor formerly in charge.

Miss S. Hetherington read an article on "Christian Consecration in Korea," giving a vivid word picture of the life, and talent, and money voluntarily subscribed by natives who have been won to Christ through missionary effort.

The Scripture lesson was read by Mrs. Edmunds, with a devotional leaflet, and the study book, "Building With India," was taken up, Mrs. R. H. Edmunds giving "India's Response to Social Service," Mrs. G. Locke "The Awakening of India's Women," Miss Pearl Burnham "India's Political Awakening" and Mrs. J. Hatherly "The Church's Attitude Toward India Aroused."

Prayer on the subject under study was followed by a solo, "What Will You Give to Jesus?" by Mrs. H. W. Johnston.

A pleasant social hour was spent around the tables, when the hostess, assisted by Group B, served refreshments. The offering amounted to nearly $5.00. The group each month that is responsible for the programme has the offering, and any personal subscriptions from its members to add to its funds.

Personals.

Mrs. Thos. Wickett of Port Hope was the guest of Mrs. David Armstrong and Mrs. Annie Kennedy this week.

Reeve Chas. Davidson of Campbellford was a candidate this year for the Wardenship of the United Counties and was in town Thursday, the guest of ex-Warden and Mrs. A. J. Henderson.

AVOIDED EXPENSE OF GOING TO HOSPITAL

That's Why Madame L. Genoud Recommends Dodd's Kidney Pills.

CHARRON, Alta., Jan. 15.—(Special.)— "I have suffered for twenty years with bad kidneys. Have been treated from time to time for anaemia, gastritis of the stomach and neurasthenia and no doctor succeeded in relieving me. I arrived at the most critical period of my life and felt very sick. A good neighbor told me about Dodd's Kidney Pills. In eight days I was on my feet again, avoiding the expense of going to hospital. I can recommend your marvellous pills to all persons who suffer like I did."

This statement was sent to us by Mme. L. Genoud, a well-known resident of this place.

COUNTY MEMBER REPORTS SESSION

LAKEFIELD, Jan. 16.—A joint meeting of the Kalthewanooka and Star Tuxis Squares was held in the basement of the Regent Street Church on Monday evening. Parents and friends of the boys were invited and a fair number responded.

Donald Kidd, leader of the Star Square, was in charge of the opening exercises, after which Ivan Madill, leader of the Katchewanooka Square, took charge. Music for the hymns was provided by a good orchestra, consisting of Stanley Darling, pianist Ivan Madill, violinist, while Mr. W. Madill and Kenneth Kemp played brass instruments. The orchestra also played a selection.

The report of the fifth Older Boys' Parliament was given by the representative of this district, Stanley Darling, who gave a full and well prepared report, and also conveyed a great deal of inspiration by his own personal enthusiasm in the cause.

After thanking the boys for electing him, Stanley told the story of the gathering of boys from all parts of Ontario who gathered at Queen's Park between Christmas and New Years to discuss the problems of boys' work in the Province.

Rev. S. A. Kemp spoke very briefly at the close of Mr. Darling's report, urging a boy community field day on some anniversary. Eight years ago he arranged one in connection with the Boy Scouts, and the result was splendid from an athletic point of view, and also financially. The proceeds went toward the skating rink and toward athletic equipment. He urged also qualifying for special badges for proficiency in some of the vocations. Mr. Burrows is a leader to be proud of and his work among the boys is truly appreciative.

Donald Kidd, leader of the Star Square, spoke strongly in favor of the field day and suggested asking Squares from Peterboro, Havelock and other places to join. Regarding badge work, the boys have started to qualify for some of the badges but have failed to finish, but felt that there must be a definite stand taken in this regard. He feels that the objective of this constituency for the bond selling campaign can easily be reached. In closing he thanked Stanley for his splendid address, which will prove an inspiration to the boys in their work.

Norman Lemay of the Katchewanooka Square suggested another debate with the Star Square. This will be arranged in the near future.

Refreshments were served and a pleasant evening brought to a close.

THE DUTY OF A WOMAN

Is To Tell Her Ailing Sisters How New Health Can Be Obtained.

"The duty of one woman to another is to tell her. But the wrong advice is worse than no advice at all."

"That" says Mrs. Florence Glebe, 311 Royal Apts, Merrick, Street, Hamilton, Ont., is why I feel it my duty to give women a little information concerning Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. In the first place I may say that I am a graduate nurse of one of our Hamilton schools of nurses, having had a number of years' experience in nursing nervous and other cases of women.

"I may state that for the last three years I have not been feeling as I should I have been under the care of our physicians. He informed me that I would not improve until I took a change of climate. My symptoms were that I was tired out easily, palid, short of breath. On going upstairs I had a rapid heart action and a weak feeling. If I entered a warm room I became hot and clammy. Black spots would float before my eyes and I had sharp pains in my head. I did not sleep well at night and would toss around in bed. My appetite was fickle and poor. I tried a number of medicines that were advertised, with no good results. I began to feel despondent as when I met friends they would say, 'My, you look terrible.' I lost in weight and in spirits. My husband came home one evening asking, as he usually did, how I was feeling, and at my answer said, 'Well, try these,' and he handed my a box of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. He said try them anyhow, they may help you. I did try them and they surely gave me quick results. By the time I had taken four boxes I can honestly say I felt like a different person. I could hardly realize it myself. People I met would say, 'Why, you look splendid. What have you been taking?' My reply would be that I had been taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and their answer usually was, "Well, they certainly have helped you." I now sleep well and eat well. The terrible sharp pain has left my head. I do my work and feel toned up. My color has returned, and the pills have given me new vitality. I am deeply thankful that my husband brought me the first box of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I will gladly tell anyone what these pills did for me, and you have full permission to publish this statement in the hope that my experience may help someone else."

If you send your name and address to The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont., a little book, "Building Up the Blood," will be mailed you postpaid. This little book contains many useful health hints.

You can get these pills through any medicine dealer or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Becoming—And So Easy to Make

The essence of daintiness, this nightgown of French origin, fashioned of flesh color crêpe de chine with deep lace bertha. It is quite the easiest thing to make; there are just two pieces, front and back gathered at the oval neck into a narrow binding. The bertha may be fashioned of lace any width desired, or of the material itself, and edged with narrow lace. The bertha is tacked to the neck and finished with ribbon rosettes at the shoulders. No. 1209 is in three sizes only, 36, 40 and 44 inches bust. Size 36 is suitable for 34 and 36 bust; size 40 for 38 and 40 bust; and size 44 for 42 and 44 bust. Size 36 bust requires 8½ yards 32 or 36 inch material. Price 20 cents.

The secret of distinctive dress lies in good taste rather than a lavish expenditure of money. Every woman should want to make her own clothes, and the home dressmaker will find the designs illustrated in our new Fashion Book to be practical and simple, yet maintaining the spirit of the mode of the moment. Price of the book 10 cents the copy.

DANCED ALL NIGHT.

George Washington Stepped Out in His Day.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16. — "We danced all night," "At home all day over cards," ere extracts from Geo. Washington's diaries, advanced by Rupert Hughes, novelist, in answer to the flood of criticism that has descended upon him for painting the father of his country as an "irreligious pleasure loving man."

One newspaper here editorially asserted that Hughes' speech was an "outrageous outburst of vileness," and numerous patriotic society leaders assailed him as unpatriotic.

THOUSANDS OF MOTHERS USE NO OTHER MEDICINE

Canadian mothers are noted for the care they give their little ones—the health of the baby is most jealousy guarded and the mother is always on the lookout for a remedy which is efficient and at the same time absolutely safe. Thousands of mothers have found such a remedy in Baby's Own Tablets and many of them use nothing else for the ailments of their little ones. Among them is Mrs. Howard King, of Truro, N.S., who says:—"I can strongly recommend Baby's Own Tablets to mothers of young children as I know of nothing to equal them for little ones."

TOWNSHIP BOARDS BROUGHT UP AGAIN

Hon. G. H. Ferguson Announces Re-introduction at Speech in Orillia.

ORILLIA, Jan. 16.— (Canadian Press.)—The reconstructed and enlarged Collegiate Institute here was officially opened yesterday. The occasion was marked in the evening by an address by Hon. G. H. Ferguson, Premier and Minister of Education.

Discussing the educational problems of the Province, the Premier stated that he intended again to introduce at the next session of the Provincial House, legislation providing for township school boards, an institution which, he said, would effect a saving of 25 per cent. in the cost of rural education as well as give a much higher degree of efficiency.

THE CAPE RETURNS

As Wrap or Extra Touch to a Frock It May Please.

ANNETTE BRADSHAW

Women who know the attractive things that can be done with the cape fashion will read of its endorsement by Paris with delight. Numbers of the latest openings have featured separate long capes, as well as frocks and coats which exploit the shorter cape attachment.

A smart example of the cape wrap is shown at the left of the sketch. Here a cape which reaches almost to the hem of the frock is worn instead of a top-coat. The cape is made of dark blue woolen material, is cut on generous flare lines, and its only trimming appears in the form of bands of stitching, applied in border arrangement.

At the right of the sketch is shown a cape-frock. The material is soft natural camel's hair, and the trimming bands are of colored flannel, in rust, yellow and green. Covered buttons extend down the front of the frock.

The coat or dress which uses a short cape, reaching about to the elbows, as this does, is perhaps the most favored of the cape models. The cape is almost always shaped so that it moulds the lines of the shoulders, and sometimes there is inset fulness to give it additional flare.

Parisian openings featured such cape-coats in kasha with harmonizing fur collars, and in tweed with notched collars of self material. Sometimes the lower part of the coat shows a set-on flounce to balance the flare of the shoulder cape.

OPTIMISM ON BOURSE.

BERLIN, Jan. 16. —(Canadian Press.)— Preliminary organization of the Rhenish steel combine and a programme of liberal credits to German agriculture, arrangements for which have just been made, stimulated an unusual measure of optimism on the bourse to-day. Optimism was further accelerated by heavy buying orders from abroad.

A Fashion Model's Diary

By Grace Thorncliffe

SHE DESCRIBES A SMALL GIRL'S PARTY FROCK.

This afternoon I was invited to tea with Gaby at the home of one of Madame's most attractive clients.

The house was so attractive it almost took our breath away, and the hostess was so lovely that we felt at home there almost immediately.

She is a lovely young matron, who hardly looks over twenty, but who must be a good bit more because she has three small children.

"She probably never had much trouble taking care of them, because I'm sure she has always had scores of nurses," Pam confided in a whisper when the hostess went out of the room a moment to greet the small children who had just come in from playing in the park.

About this time a small girl with glowing cheeks ran into the room, and her mother introduced us. The little girl made a courtesy and then said:

"Mummy, may I show the ladies my new party frock?"

"Mummy" smiled, and said that as a special favor, she might be allowed to come back down to the library for a moment.

The young thing raced out in high spirits, and her mother explained to us that this was the first dress the child had owned which approached its young owner's ideas of what a real party frock should be, and she was very proud.

In a very short while, the child returned clad in one of the daintiest small frocks I have seen in a long time. The material was flesh crepe de Chine, just the color of the child's delicate glowing skin. Flesh gros-grain ribbon made the trimming, and just above the two bands of flesh ribbon which trimmed the skirt there was a strip of deeper rose crepe de Chine.

"Carefully designed frocks so often have just one touch like that to make them quite different," I reflected.

"Mummy, let me have this white fur for being a good girl," the child

A certain woman has frequently been mentioned in the press as "London's only woman stockbroker." She does carry on business as a stockbroker, but she does not belong to the London Stock Exchange, which steadfastly refuses to admit women to membership.

BELMONT CLUB DANCE

The annual dance of the Belmont Club, held last evening in the G.W.V.A. Hall, was a very successful event. Nearly three hundred people attended and pronounced the affair one of the most enjoyable events of the season. Arrangements were looked after in excellent fashion by a committee composed of Messrs. Herbert Mason, chairman; Dr. S. J. Graham, H. Cobb, F. Bowness, and J. Batten. Mr. Cobb had charge of the decoration, which were exceptionally attractive, and were carried out in varying shades of the club's colors of purple and mauve. The electroliers were covered with long cylinders of silk in different tints of the two colors, caught at the end by a long gold tassel. The walls were entirely covered with panels of mauve and purple sateen, and the front of the orchestra stand was draped with purple velvet, crossed by festoons of gold tinsel and marked by large bronzed club emblems. Intertwined golden initials also decorated the walls. A very effective and unique background to the orchestra staand was a golden illuminated curtain. A white drapery, either side flanked by broken pillars, was covered with golden tinsel in wavy effect, and was lighted from the bottom by orange, green and blue relectors that gave it a beautifully colored radiance. Colored lights also were in the large electroliers.

The small room at the rear was fitted up with wicker furniture and was used for sitting-out purposes. The music, which was extremely good, was furnished by Al Linton's six-piece orchestra from Toronto. Catering was done by Messrs. T. H. Hooper and Sons, and supper was served by a committee of the club members.

She's a Sensible Girl.

Bert G. is convinced that of all the terrible females in existence he drew the worst. And he's ready for a lot of sympathy.

She didn't look peculiar. In fact, she exactly filled Bert's long cherished picture of The Ideal Woman. She was small and slight and sweet, with a soft braid of brown hair around a sensitive appealing face.

"Just the kind of a woman that brings out all that is good in a man," writes Bert in regretful remembrance. "You know how a fellow longs to protect a gentle, timid little woman like that. Well, that's the way she made me feel. And there aren't many such girls now. I sure thought I was a lucky dog.

"Well, I couldn't have asked for anything finer than the first six weeks we were engaged. I was just crazy about that girl, and she certainly seemed fond of me. I would have sworn that there was one girl that wasn't a gold digger.

"She wouldn't let me get her an expensive ring nor spend a lot of money on her on shows. She was working and she said she knew how hard it was to get money. So we used to go to the movies and ride on street cars. Believe me, Elsie, I thought I had some prize.

"Then one night we got to talking about when we would get married. And all of a sudden she began to ask questions. She wanted to know just how much I earned and just how much I had in the bank and what chances of a future there was in my line. I thought that was pretty funny, but I told her. Then she got started on what we would need in the house. She had it all figured out. She was willing to take a cheap place but she wanted a vacuum cleaner and a fireless cooker and a washing machine and about a dozen other new fangled things my own mother never heard of. And to cap it all, she wanted me to draw up a budget—so much for household, so much for the bank—and so much for each of our personal accounts."

This final outrage proved too much for Bert. He pleaded a forgotten business engagement, left, and hasn't been back since. And now he wishes me to make a few mean remarks on mercenary females.

So you've decided that she was a "mercenary female" because she asked a few practical questions about the equipment and opportunities in her new job, have you, Bert? Then are we to gather that if You were asked to enter into a partnership by another business man that you would say: "Certainly. Delighted. Let's go! No, I don't want to know anything about the assets of your business, nor its future nor the sort of a deal you'll give me. It won't be necessary to bind yourself by any promises. Anything you want to do or give me, is good enough for me."

You would say that, would you not, Bert? Yes, you would NOT!

Then why should you expect this girl to follow such an idiotic course? She has already promised to trust her whole life to your keeping. That is proof enough of her faith in and love for you. The questions she asked, and the plans she wished to make, are the simplest precautions which any workman should take concerning a job. She'd be a dumb-bell if she didn't take them. And you've pinned no laurels on yourself by receiving her suggestions with pique and suspicion.

If you're wise, Bert, you'll humble yourself before that little girl before it is too late. You'll acknowledge what an idiot you were and show your belated appreciation of her common sense. And you'll remember That An Ounce of Such Precaution As This Girl Has Shown Is Worth A Ton of Divorce.

"It's too bad," Connemara murmured consolingly, trying not to giggle. "Still, I'm not so sure it's such a bad thing for us they did make a get-away. We've all been mixed up in some pretty queer proceedings, I'm afraid, and Aunt Celimena would just naturally have died if we'd appeared on the front page of the morning papers. As for the money, you leave that to me. I've a sort of hunch—"

She walked over and held out her hand to the weeping Sweetie, who promptly slapped it away.

"Teeth like a darn fox terrier," she sobbed, and continued to rub her wounded leg.

Connemara again reached out her hand, and this time pulled the other girl to her feet. "I'm so sorry—truly, I am. But I just had to. Now—come in here, won't you, for a minute?"

Brushing her tears from her eyes, Sweetie reluctantly followed Connemara within the moonlit sitting room. "What a fine can of oil I turned out to be," she muttered. "To let a soft little social dame put it over on me."

"Don't feel so badly," Connemara smiled. "I didn't play fair. How could you know I'd bite you?" She put a hand on the girl's shoulder and patted her gently. Then a hard note came into her voice. It's no use, you know. Hand it over, please."

Sweetie stared long into Connemara's face. The defiance of her expression gave way to defeat, then to hopelessness. "Yeh, all I get is the wreath of hand-painted raspberries." Shrugging her shoulders, she reached inside her blouse and—

"Take the damn stuff," she said, bitterly, "and a lot of good I hope it does you. Now what? The bulls?"

Connemara smiled winningly. "Bulls? You mean the police? Oh, no, Sweetie. What have they got to do with it? I haven't an idea who really owns this money. If it's yours, I'll give it back when you prove it. Meanwhile—we'll just keep still and watch."

"Oh, well," answered Sweetie, "who cares? Naw, it ain't mine. And if it interests you any, I'll tell you I'm glad to see the last of it."

"Poor kid," said Connemara, and once more she patted Sweetie's shoulder. "I like you—a lot. I want to have a talk with you later. Don't you get terribly sick of this sort of life?"

"Aw, for the love of Mike—don't bother about me. I ain't worth it." Nevertheless, with a quick movement, she grasped Connemara's hand and pressed it. "You're a damn good egg yourself."

Connemara did not hesitate. Her eyelashes flickered slightly in signal to Sweetie as she answered cheerfully, "Um-h'mm, wasn't it bright of me? I must be losing what little mind I have. It's been right where I—I put it, all the time. You just forget what I dreamed about burying it, won't you?"

"Fine," Lacy said imperturbably, but his eyes looked straight into hers with a quick little glow of admiration. "And now, Miss-er, Sweetie, McTish seems to have something he wants to say to you out on the porch."

"Yeh?" Sweetie snickered. "Well, pardon me for livin'." Then to Connemara, "Holler if he gets fresh." She walked sedately out of the room.

"Snap on the lights," Connemara called after her, but Sweetie was already past the switch.

"Never mind the lights," Lacy spoke softly. He advanced to where the slim figure stood, her face lifted slightly in the blue glow of the moonlight. "Connemara——"

Connemara discovered suddenly that she was trembling. There was that in his voice, in the mere saying of her name, that was like little hands caressing her. This must stop. A man she had known for five minutes two years ago, and rather well—she had to admit that—for the twenty-four hours just past. Still, you couldn't call that time enough to—— Or could you?

Who was he? What was he? And what right had he to do such things to her with that caress in his voice? She mustered up her old ally, facetiousness. "What a pity you don't make the stage your career."

But she shattered her silly defense efficiently. "Darling," he whispered. "You darling."

His hands were reaching for her. In a moment he would take her in his arms. . . How to escape? Then, all at once she knew. She didn't want to escape.

"But—but—but, I'm engaged," she stammered weakly.

"You bet your life you are!" Lacy exclaimed. Whatever else he may have meant to do or say was cut short by a blood-curdling shriek. With a thud remarkably reminiscent of that made by a sack of potatoes cast into a wagon, Aunt Celimena sat heavily down upon the top stair, and slid unceremoniously down upon them.

CHAPTER XX.

By George Palmer Putnam.

Halfway down the stairs, Aunt Celimena caught at the banisters, staying her erratic progress hallward, and rose to her feet. Anyone but Aunt Celimena would have been shaken by the sudden pitching forward into the darkness, but that good lady, after the briefest instant of pause to regain her breath, was once more in command of her dignity. Clutching her dressing gown about her, she dominated, by sheer will power, the strange assembly, half grouped in the front hall of Moorelands, and half overflowing upon the broad porch.

"Connemara," she called. "Will you be good enough to come and tell me what this is all about?"

Instead of answering, however, that young lady voiced an observation of her own.

"And now see who's here! The faithful family lawyer himself, completing the cast of our mellow melodrama." Connemara was on the crest, again, her strenuous experiences, apparently even her bruises, for the moment forgotten.

"That, my dear, will do," Aunt Celimena spoke grimly. "Naturally Mr. Brewster heard the extraordinary commotion going on downstairs and came to our assistance. Did you expect anyone to sleep through it?"

Her glance took in with deliberation the group below her, one by one, until it rested upon Sweetie in the doorway.

"Were they burglars, or this—this young person's recent associates?" she demanded. "You may remember that I warned you, Constance Mary, what would certainly be the result of bringing her into the house."

Sweetie took the accusation with entire equanmity. Tilting her snub nose to an angle even more acute than nature intended, she grinned impudently into the disapproving eyes of the lady who had thus libeled her, and shrugged her shoulders. It was Aunt Celimena who looked away first.

"I think," she said, to Mr. Brewster behind her, "that there are a number of matters that need explaining—at once."

The lawyer murmured an eager assent. From his expression it was clear that he very much doubted the ability of a number of people to explain—satisfactorily—a number of things, but he charitably refrained from putting this doubt into words.

Aunt Celimena walked calmly down the remaining stairs, and seated herself on one of the straight-backed chairs that flanked the hall mirror. Mr. Brewster, after a moment of hesitation, took the other. It was not his custom to sit while there were ladies standing, but to be waked suddenly in the middle of the night by such sounds as those which had reached him through his open window, had proved exceedingly unnerving—particularly on top of the unprecedented series of adventures that had occupied the previous day and night.

It was McTish who broke the awkward little pause that followed.

"It's no to be wandered at that ye're a bit upset, ma'am," he said sympathetically. "It's been somethin' of a strain even for mysel', that's been in the service a lang while. But I dinna think I ever laid a trap for smugglers afore that caught so many extraneous folks in it." He waved his hand to include his entire audience, ending with a forefinger pointed significantly at Sweetie. "With one exception."

"We must get all this straightened out in orderly fashion. From what you have explained," Aunt Celimena addressed herself to McTish, "it is now clear to me that you are a United States Revenue officer. Were those—those people last night, connected with rum running—if that is what it is called? Please continue with what you were saying."

"No, ma'am, those birrds don't touch liquor; it's opium they trade in," McTish said bluntly.

Aunt Celimena caught her breath in a gasp of horror.

"Opium!" she whispered painfully. The very word was an offense against all the traditions in which she had been bred. It called up vague visions of evil-smelling dens filled with Chinese cut-throats, incense, heathen idols, and unspeakable people sunk to the lowest dregs of humanity.

She looked at McTish almost pleadingly, upon which that gentleman, with some additions on the part of David Lacy, outlined what lay behind the strange adventures of the past twenty-four hours.

"This gang, noo, the Swede's, I mean," he began slowly, "acted as a sorrt of distributin' agent for the stuff. We could 'a' laid our hands on them any time, but what we wanted was the man higher up. The man, or men, responsible for actually gettin' the dope into the country, past the customs, an' sellin' it to the Swede to pass along. We combed all the ports, we had spies in lots of places were a bit suspicious about, but we didna find our man."

He stopped, and rubbed his red head reflectively.

"I canna go into details," he said finally. "Ye'll have to take my worrd for parrt o't. But we got tipped aff, after a while, to watch the Shanghai Line, a little steamship company runnin' three-four ships to the Orient. The line hadna been doin' well for a few years, but somethin'—nobody knew juist what—kep' them goin'. So by pullin' wires I was slipped into the office force, an' after a while I managed to get into the office o' the president himself—in charge o' his special files."

"So that was it," David Lacy broke into the narrative, his blue eyes alight with excitement. "You old fox! Why didn't you give a hint? When you asked me to lend you the poor old Bloody Nuisance, and told me I could come in blindfold if I wanted to, I never guessed it was anything as big as this."

"Orders," McTish said briefly, though his eyes twinkled. "Canna blab an' catch smugglers—not that I've caught any to speak of the nicht. Well, as usual, ye were fair dyin' for excitement, an' I promised ye some. I let ye bring that car frae ootside New Haven to meet me at Glen Cove, didn't I?"

"Yes, but, confound you, you didn't tell me I was driving a stolen car," Lacy protested. "Suppose I'd been pinched—I nearly was, in Greenwich, though for another reason," and he grinned at Connemara reminiscently.

"As it happens, I didn't know it was stolen," McTish retorted, "though maybe I'd kind of expected it would be. It was the car that Swede promised to furnish to the Shanghai's messenger sent to collect the fifty thousand, due them when the opium was delivered. I thocht the less ye knew the better for ye later. I trusted ye not to gi' the show away when ye fell in with whoever the Swede sent with the money, but I didna foresee the complication of ye invitin' a nun to go ridin' in the middle o' the nicht."

Connemara colored. "So naturally he thought I was one of the gang," she laughed. "If we'd only known!"

"As long as the beans are bein' spilled all over the place," Sweetie added demurely, "I may as well spill a few more. Maybe you don't any of you know how Doc an' me come to be mixed in. The Swede took a notion that poor Pooch wasn't on the level with him any more. An', seein' as how fifty grand was a pretty big sum, he sent me an' Doc to trail him in the Pierce, to make sure Poochie kept to the straight an' narrow."

"And where did we get off the straight an' narrow, Pooch and I?" Lacy inquired with interest. "Wait a bit——" He held up an eager hand. "I'm just remembering something. Pooch told me to follow that car ahead, and at the Roslyn hill, on an impulse, I turned off toward New York, instead of sticking to the Mineola road."

"You've hit it," Sweetie acknowledged. "We sure thought Pooch was makin' tracks with the fifty thou', then."

"H'mm, I begin to see a lot of things," Lacy chuckled. "And of course I was supposed to be the messenger from the Shanghai Line—in other words, McTish himself. Oh, Lord, what a mess!"

The little lawyer straightened up suddenly. As the story progressed an increasing nervousness had seemed to possess him.

"Why, yes, Miss Moore?" With an evident stiffening against some expected blow, Adam Brewster faced his client.

And quickly enough, as brief questions and briefer answers flashed between these two, the reasons for the lawyer's discomfiture became apparent. On her attorney's urgent recommendation, it developed, Celimena Moore had invested heavily in the Shanghai Line—so extensively that she was, in fact, a majority stockholder.

"You realize, sir"—in the good lady's rasping voice spoke the outraged sensibilities of generations of God-fearing New Englanders—"you realize that through your advice I find a considerable portion of my income derived from drug smuggling?"

"But, my dear Miss Cell——"

"But me no buts! It's true, isn't it"—she turned again to McTish—"that the company's done this before?" McTish nodded. "It was your business, Mr. Brewster, to know, to protect me from such a situation. Oh, it's horrible, shamful! I'm done with such enterprises! I'm done. . . ."

Exactly what else Aunt Celimena was done with remained for that moment undetermined, for Connemar a brisk tactician that she was, seized the opening.

"'Auntie, dear," she purred, "you 're done too, aren't you, with all tha' foolery about the will? Just see the trouble it's made. Surely all you want is for me to marry the right man."

"I am. I do." The old lady snapped out the double-barreled affirmative belligerently. "You, Mr. Brewster, I want to draw up a new will to-morrow—no. . . . what's that? . . . three o'clock? . . ." a far-away bell chimed opportunely . . . "no, to-day! How disgracefully late! We must, we really must, get off to bed at once."

Tomorrow's HOROSCOPE

By Genevieve Kemble.

SUNDAY AND MONDAY, JANUARY 17 AND 18.

Sunday's horoscope is not a very important one excepting in the matter of letters or writings or in social activities. Care should be taken not to stir up strife or contention or to act rashly in any connection.

Those whose birthday it is should be on guard against complications brought on by quarrels or impetuosity in business or domestic affairs. A child born on this day should have many good traits which it may be disposed to offset by quarrels and impulsive deeds.

Monday's astrological map is an interesting one showing gain and advancement in many directions. There may be splendid new opportunities involving radical change in employment and environment, with substantial progress. Benefic conditions also obtain in the realm of heart and home.

Those whose birthday it is may look for a splendid year of advancement and substantial gain, probably involving a complete change of environment or employment. The good influences also hold sway in all personal affairs. A child born on this day may be clever, accomplished and ambitious and should rise to high public station through its industry and personal endeavors.

FIRST LEADER OF KLANSMEN WAS CHRIST, DR. HAWKEN ASSERTED AT INCEPTIVE MILLBROOK MEETING

C. Gilbert, Peterboro, King Kleagle, Chairman—"Never Harmed Woman."

Hood an Emblem, Not a Mask, Organizer Stated.

PUBLIC ASSEMBLY

MILLBROOK, Jan. 14.—The first public meeting in the interests of the Ku Klux Klan movement to be held in this locality took place in the Sons of England hall on Tuesday evening, the room being fairly well filled for the gathering.

C. Gilbert, King Kleagle, of Peterborough district, was in the chair, and a dozen or more of supporters, including members of the ladies' branch, who came with the leaders from Peterborough, were seated in a semi-circle behind the chairman.

In his opening remarks Mr. Gilbert expressed a measure of disappointment that the attendance was not larger, stating "when Dr. Hawken is our speaker we usually have to turn people away." Without further preliminaries, and with quite apparent pride, the chairman introduced the speaker of the evening, "Our Chief, Dr. Hawken, K.K.K. organizer for Canada."

Dr. Hawken's opening statement that the "Klan is already in your little city" was a surprise to some, and he followed this with the question, "Have you heard of any outbreak of lawlessness, or crime, since it was organized here?" "The men who belong are just the ones you were born and raised with, who sit at your table, who have possibly intermarried with your families, and who have taken a solemn obligation upon the open Bible. This obligation is no secret but one we are quite willing the world should know."

The Klan, the speaker said, is not of recent origin but has been since the beginning of time. "From the day the Babe of Bethlehem was placed in the manger He has been recognized as the first King and leader of Klansmen. The latter have always fought to dethrone wrong, and offered strenuous resistance to tyranny."

The threatened destruction of human liberty has existed in some form from time immemorial, and the Klan saved civilization in the South, and in the world, when the negro race gained an ascendancy, and planned the extinction of the white peoples, and the population of the world with a mongrel race. Then when it had redeemed the Southland, the Klan disbanded, the members laid aside their robes, or destroyed them. But the speaker emphatically claimed that the Klan has never taken punishment into its own hands until the culprit had been tried by a proper court, and has never raised its hand against a woman.

Life's Proudest Moment.

Relating some personal history in connection with his grandfather's membership in the Klan, Dr. Hawken said, "The proudest moment of my life was when I was given the right to wear the robe, its white emblematic of purity, and the scarlet emblem upon it typical of the red blood which flows in the veins of every true man."

The world war was the next occasion to call the Klan into being, not by any human agency, but at the command of God Who would bring mankind back to a realization of its duty to Him, and to each other. A membership of sixteen men in 1915 has grown into 5,000,000 of the manhood of America. In April, 1924, at Niagara Falls, Ont., it had its entry into Canada, not to create strife, and array brother against brother, but because Christ called the Klan to meet a time of need. It is founded upon Christian ideals, and if used as a menace to Christianity would soon destroy itself.

To the objection that the Klan is not needed in Canada the speaker outlined the history of revolutionary movements in Russia, Italy, and Turkey, and asked, "If such things can occur in Europe is there any reason to believe that they cannot happen in our Dominion?"

"Two blocks from King street on Bay in Toronto, there exists Soviet organization which spends thousands of dollars in propaganda, and scores and hundreds of Canadian boys and girls have been sent to Russia to learn the doctrines and practices of Sovietism with its hellish communism of women. In Winnipeg a Bolshevist paper is circulated among the public school pupils. If these things continue they will, in time, destroy our Canada. Some power must arise, find out the danger points and mark them, and work to build a cleaner, nobler Dominion."

The Chatham Case.

The so-called Klansmen arrested recently at Chatham for lawless acts, the speaker declared, were not members of the Klan at all, and any such who would attempt to take the law into their own hands would be disbanded, would forfeit every right to the support and respect of Klansmen, and would be turned over to the officers of the law for punishment.

"They say we are against certain people—the Jew, for instance. They claim we will not help him—we don't need to, he always helps himself to whatever he wants. Membership in the Klan is based upon belief in Jesus Christ as the Son of God, and this makes imperative a Gentile enrollment.

"Again they claim we refuse membership to Roman Catholics. The Klan will recognize no divided allegiance and those who would put an earthly spiritual authority higher than the British Crown cannot be received in our ranks."

Regard Woman as Queen.

The chastity of womanhood was another point the speaker stressed as being an integral part of the Klan obligation. "If you want Canada to go upon the rocks, and go everlastingly, just lower the standard of womanhood. To a Klansman every woman in Canada is a queen, and the quaint simile was introduced—some, by virtue of unfortunate circumstances, are queen of clubs, some, because of home obligations, are queen of spades; some have reached the status, queen of diamonds; but every one, to a Klansman, and to every true man, is queen of hearts."

"I send my children to the public school to be educated, and I expect them to learn religion at their mother's knee, and from her pastor, but any government that takes the money voted for public schools and pays a Catholic priest to teach religion in these institutions I unhesitatingly condemn."

"Regulation 17 is being disregarded in Ontario to-day, and if you are not willing to learn to speak the language of the country you live in then for Heaven's sake get out of that country."

"The House of Commons refused to adjourn on Queen Victoria's birthday, but it did adjourn on Ascension Day. The Roman Catholics had sufficient authority to accomplish this, Ascension Day being a date specially observed by this church."

"Protestantism is asleep and snoring so loud they can hear you across the continent, and consequently they are stepping over your prostrate body."

Doing More Than Church

"The Klu Klux Klan will fight any church that would pull down, and attempt to destroy any national ideal in Canada," was a remark that followed the reading of extracts from a text book alleged to be in use in a Catholic Theological college. "The Klan is doing more to bring the nation into touch with God than any church in the land. Protestantism is too divided to be a real force. The Klan is trying to produce a practical, working Christianity that will lead mankind into vital touch with Almighty God."

"Tear the mask from the face of the Klansman," is one cry Dr. Hawken said, but we do not wear a mask, we wear a helmet as a part of our regalia, as the fez is of the Shriners'. "I'll tell you just the day and hour when we will take it off—we wear it because we want to, and it's nobody's business, and we'll take it off when we get ready and not before. We do not wear it because the Klan is afraid to show its face, but because it places all members on an equality, no Klansman's face is known to another; it is not a disguise but an emblem.

"The Klan exists to uphold law enforcement, to give allegiance to one flag, one country, one God, one home to protect, and one wife to love."

At the request of the speaker that all the men present who endorsed the principles he had been enunciating, irrespective of the Klan, would rise every one of the fifty or more in the room stood up, and the gathering was dismissed with the National Anthem. Dr. Hawken asked all who would like further information regarding the K.K.K. to be seated and the others to retire. About twenty remained, some of whom signed the obligation, and organization was effected.

YOUR HEALTH

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M.D., Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

There is a peculiar thing about colds. What we call a cold may be "in the head," causing a free discharge from the nose, first watery and later of thick mucus.

The attack may take the form of a sore throat. In this event the trouble may be in the tonsils only, or it may involve the back of the throat, with a feeling of rawness and scratching.

In other persons the larynx may be the seat of disturbance. Hoarseness and even loss of the audible voice are common symptoms.

This year we have muscular symptoms as a frequent consequence of a cold. There are at first the head symptoms and then the back, the shoulder or the leg may become suddenly stiff and painful.

It is probable all colds are the result of germ action. Perhaps it is not always the same variety of germ and it may well be that several kinds of germs may be active in a single case.

Just which tissues will be attacked depends upon the taste and inclination of the infecting germ. Germs possess the property of "selective affinity." What does this mean?

If a child is crying for candy, he won't be satisfied with bread. Only candy will silence him.

Germs are not unlike children in this respect. They want some particular kind of tissue and will take no other. That is, they have a selective affinity for such tissues.

This is the reason why the symptoms of colds differ. While they have some symptoms in common, each cold has its own style and manner of attack. That is why one cold is in the head, another in the tonsils, and others deep down in the throat chest.

This year, as I have said, it is quite common to hear about muscular soreness and stiffness as the chief symptom of the cold. The pain may not be severe except on attempting to use the muscles which are disturbed.

In the treatment of such a cold, you should do the usual things and, in addition, take care of the sore muscles. To this end the part of the body involved should be put at rest. To keep moving increases the pain and adds to the trouble.

Heat is the best remedy. It may be dry heat or moist heat. A hot water bag, or a bag of hot salt will promote comfort. Massage and electricity are useful. Properly applied that will hasten the cure.

ANSWERS TO HEALTH QUERIES

M. J. Q.—What causes ringing in the ears?

A.—This is usually due to nasal catarrh which has extended to the middle ear. For further particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope, restating your question.

* * *

C. M. C. Q.—What causes excessive perspiration?

A.—This is usually due to nerve stimulation. You should have treatment for the nervousness.

* * *

G. H. Q.—Is whooping cough contagious?

A.—Yes, it is contagious.

* * *

W. L. L. Q.—What is the cause of excess salivation?

A.—Hyperacidity of the stomach is often the cause of this condition. Rinsing the mouth after every meal with some alkaline solution will give increased comfort.

* * *

A. R. C. Q.—Is there any cure for arthritis? The joints have become enlarged and are very painful.

2.—What do you suggest for insomnia caused by a nervous indigestion?

A.—Baking, massage, electricity, diet and medication are all effective as treatment, depending upon the cause. For further particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

2.—Correct the indigestion and the insomnia will probably disappear. Careful attention to the diet and regular intestinal elimination should benefit this condition. For full particulars send a stamped, self-addressed envelope and repeat your question.

SUFFERED TEN YEARS FROM RHEUMATISM

—THEN PERFECT HEALTH AGAIN THANKS TO "FRUIT-A-TIVES".

M. ELIE J. MOINEAU

"I have suffered from rheumatism for 10 years and have tried many so-called remedies, and several doctors have treated me with no success.

Fortunately, I was recommended to try "Fruit-a-tives" by a person interested in me, and after taking four boxes was greatly helped, and finally completely relieved, and am never without "Fruit-a-tives." — Elie J. Moineau, 2052 Park Avenue, Montreal, Que.

"Fruit-a-tives" drive Rheumatism out of the system because this famous fruit medicine frees the system of the poisons which cause the pain and inflammation.

"Fruit-a-tives" is a natural medicine, made from intensified juices of apples, oranges, figs and prunes combined with tonics. 25c. and 50c., at all dealers.

GOOD NIGHT STORIES

By Blanche Silver

PEGGY MEETS A DEAR LITTLE MOTHER BIRD.

"Well, of all things!" Peggy exclaimed out loud, when she discovered the silver-like bird walking around on the very bottom of the mountain stream. "I surely must be dreaming." Peggy pinched her arm, until it hurt, to make sure she wasn't asleep. "Oh, dear! I just wish Ha——"

Something touched Peggy's hand and she jumped, only to turn and look into a merry little elfin's face.

"Happy Giggles," she cried shaking the wee elfin's hands. "I was just going to wish for you. Tell me, am I dreaming? Do I really and truly see a silver bird under that water or do I just imagine it?"

"You see a bird, all right, Peggy," laughed Happy Giggles, "but not a silver one. That's Mrs. Dipper, hunting for her dinner, I guess. Hello, there!" and the elfin rapped on the surface of the water with a stick. The bird at the bottom looked up and, seeing who it was calling, swam to the surface of the stream.

"Well, hello there Mrs. Dipper!" greeted the elfin. "I want you to meet Little Peggy Brown. She thought you were a silver bird."

"You looked like a silver bird," said Peggy, "but up on land, you look like a sandpiper. What made you look like silver when you were down in the water?"

"Hello There, Mrs. Dipper!"

"Well, you see I have two coats of feathers," said Mrs. Dippen. "One on the outside, is thick. The water never penetrates to the downy feathers under that thick coat. Yet the thick coat holds the air bubbles, and it is these very same air bubbles that make me look like a silver bird. I'm glad you came to visit me, Happy Giggles. Bring your friend over to see my youngsters."

"Sure enough," laughed Happy Giggles, passing his hand over Peggy's head and muttering something under his breath. "I did that so you could go through the water without getting wet. Come on." He took Peggy's hand and followed Mrs. Dipper right through the waterfall to a dear little nest built upon the rocks behind the falls.

It was shaped like an oven, with a small doorway. It was made of green moss, and the floor was made of small sticks.

Peggy laughed as she looked in at the babies. They were tiny and cute and not one bit afraid of her.

"But what's the idea of having to cross through the falls to get into your house?" she asked. "I suppose you don't mind it with your heavy rain coat on."

"Goodness no," replied Mrs. Dipper. "But I prefer this place to any other I have ever seen. Very few of my enemies will ever cross under the waterfall to steal my eggs or young. They don't like to get wet as much as I do. I know you're hungry youngsters," she patted the babies' fuzzy heads, "and I'll go right now and get you something to eat."

She led Happy Giggles and Peggy back to the bank, then she plunged into the water, once more the silver-bird. Peggy and Happy Giggles watched her until she disappeared under some rocks. Then Peggy bade the elfin good-by and hurried home to her own supper.

SOLUTION OF YESTERDAY'S CROSSWORD PUZZLE.

It is a rare occurrence to find a red-haired person as a patient in a lunatic asylum. Inquiries made a few years ago at 20 large asylums revealed a complete absence of red-haired inmates.

With a record of no arrests and no serious offence against the law throughout the year 1925, Montrose Colorado, lays claim to being the most peaceful community in the United States.

ARTICLE No. 27

In the previous article, a number of interesting hands were given in which the proper lead was discussed. Here is another hand, of a similar type, that has just been submitted by a correspondent:

Hearts — 9, 6, 5, 2
Clubs — A, 10, 8, 4	: Y :
Diamonds — A, K, J, 7	: A B :
Spades — 4	: Z :

No score, first game. Z dealt and bid one heart. A and Y passed and B bid one spade. Z bid two hearts, A and Y passed and B bid two spades. Z bid three hearts, A doubled and all passed. What is A's proper opening lead? A should lead the deuce of hearts. He and his partner have all three suits so why not lead trumps and thus prevent a possible trump by dummy. It is also a hand where the trump lead cannot hurt partner for the bidding and A's trump holding makes it certain that B cannot hold any trump strength. For those reasons it is a hand in which the trump lead is ideal. With the trump opening, the three heart bid would have been defeated by one trick. With any other opening, the declarer would have made his contract; quite a difference.

Another hand has just been submitted and the writer's opinion has been asked as to the proper play.

	Hearts — 10, 8, 3 Clubs — A, 9, 5 Diamonds — A, Q, 10, 4 Spades — Q, 8, 2
Hearts — A, Q, J, 9, 6 Clubs — Q, 10 Diamonds — J, 7, 2 Spades — K, 10, 9	: Y : : A B : : Z :	Hearts — 4, 2 Clubs — K, 7, 6, 3, 2 Diamonds — 9, 8, 6, 5 Spades — 5, 3
	Hearts — K, 7, 5 Clubs — J, 8, 4 Diamonds — K, 3 Spades — A, J, 7, 6, 4

Score, YZ 10, AB 0, rubber game. Z dealt and bid one spade, A two hearts, Y two spades and B passed. Z passed, A bid three hearts, Y three spades and all passed. A opened the deuce of diamonds. How should Z play the hand, provided only the dummy hand is exposed? Z should win the first trick with the king of diamonds and lead the trey of diamonds, finessing the ten spot. He should now lead the eight of spades from dummy and finesse the jack from his own hand. The purpose of this finesse is: First, to catch the king if it is only guarded once in B's hand; and second, to establish a reentry in trumps in Y's hand, if the king of spades is in A's hand. A, of course, wins the trick with the king and no matter what he plays, Z must make three odd. If A plays the ace of hearts, Z's king of hearts will make. If A plays a club, Z should play the ace of clubs in dummy, take two rounds of trumps, winning the second round in dummy with the queen. He should then discard either two clubs or two hearts on the ace queen of diamonds. Played in this way, YZ will only lose one spade trick and three heart tricks at most. It is an interesting hand and very instructive because it is a type that comes up so frequently. With this kind of hand, don't lead the queen of spades toward the king. There is nothing to gain and if the king is on your left as in this hand, you will lose a trick. Play it out in that way and see what happens.

	Hearts — J Clubs — 4, 2 Diamonds — 10, 7, 3 Spades — A, Q, 9
Hearts — none Clubs — 6, 5, 3 Diamonds — K, 8, 6 Spades — 10, 6, 5	: Y : : A B : : Z :	Hearts — none Clubs — K, J, 9, 7 Diamonds — J, 9, 5 Spades — J, 8
	Hearts — none Clubs — A, Q, 10, 8 Diamonds — A, Q, 2 Spades — K, 7

There are no trumps and Z is in the lead. How can YZ win eight of the nine tricks against any defense? Z should lead the king of spades and follow with the seven of spades. Y should win the trick and lead another spade and the jack of hearts. B and Z are forced to make two discards. At trick three B should discard the seven of clubs and Z the eight of clubs. At trick four, B can discard either the five of diamonds or the nine of clubs. He cannot discard a club for if he does, Z should discard the deuce of diamonds, and one lead of clubs through B's hand makes all of Z's clubs good. At trick four, therefore, B must discard the five of diamonds. B should then discard the ten of clubs. Y should now lead the four of clubs and Z should win with queen. Z should now lead the ace of diamonds and follow with the queen, which A is forced to win. YZ must now win the ten of diamonds and the ace of clubs. It is a pretty little problem in forcing discards.

SUGGESTIONS FOR SOLVING CROSS-WORD PUZZLES

Start out by filling in the words of which you feel reasonably sure. These will give you a clue to other words crossing them, and they in turn to still others. A letter belongs in each white space, words starting at the numbered squares and running either horizontally or vertically or both.

Solution will appear in Monday's paper.

BUILDING THE RADIO SET

PART II—THE LIST OF PARTS AND ASSEMBLY

(By Harry J. Marx.)

The important item in a receiver is not only the circuit, but the selection of apparatus used. Contrary to what many think, you cannot substitute anything on hand or that can be bought cheap. A nationally recognized product is one that has earned its reputation. Many a circuit has been condemned simply because the substitutes failed to produce.

The panel and sub-panel are drilled for the parts as listed. Others will not fit—terminals will not be properly located—coupling and interference introduced and results will be lacking.

List of Parts Required

One Hammarlund-Roberts Foundation Unit.
One Set Hammarlund-Roberts Coils.
Two Rauland-Lyric Transformers.
Two Hammarlund S.L.F. Condensers .0005 mfd.
One Hammarlund "Midget" Condenser 16 mmfd.
Five Na-Ald "De-Luxe" Sockets.
One Na-Ald 134 inch dial K-3844.
Two Na-Ald "Super De-Luxe" 4 inch Dials.
One Carter 25 ohm "Imp" Rheostat.
One Carter Single Circuit Jack No. 101.
One Carter "Imp" Battery switch.
One Durham Metallized Resistor (Grid Leak).
Four Radiall Amperites No. 1-A.
One Dubilier Grid Condenser .00025 mfd.—Type 640G.
One Dubilier Fixed Condenser .002 mfd.—Type 640.
Ten Union Phone Tip Jacks.

The foundation unit contains the drilled and engraved front panel, a drilled sub-panel and brackets. In addition it contains a coil mounting plate, grid condenser mounting posts, wire, fixed 4 ohms resistance and all the necessary lugs, screws and nuts for assembly.

The Hammarlund-Roberts Coils consist of two units—with a special primary winding, a standard secondary and a variable coupling tickler coil. These units must be efficient low loss apparatus in order to perform their functions properly.

The variable condensers must be of similar quality so as to eliminate losses and keep the selectivity which is characteristic of the set. The audio transformers were selected because of their ability to step up the voltage passed through them without distortion. They are important factors when clear and beautiful reception is desired. The amperites control the filaments of four tubes and eliminate rheostats with the exception of the Carter Imp which is used as a volume control. The capacity of the neutralizing condenser is important as has been predetermined by the design of the neutralizing system. All the mounting holes, and holes for the wires through the sub-panel are drilled in exactly the proper place for mounting Na-Ald sockets. The grid and also the fixed condensers must be accurate and high quality, for this reason Dubilier has been specified. The mounting holes for the grid condenser have been drilled in the sub-panel for this type. The Union phone tip jacks mounted along the edge of the sub-panel facilitate battery connections and make a neat looking job.

No value is given for the grid leak as it differs for various tubes—but it is important that the resistance remains fixed and not susceptible to atmospheric changes, ink impregnated paper strip types cannot be used. The Durham is a metallized filament leak which remains fixed regardless of changes in temperature.

Front Panel Assembly

The assembly of apparatus on the front panel is shown in figure 2. The brackets are shown but cut off so as to avoid any confusion. The shield plates of the condensers are against the panel. The one on the left in the illustration goes behind the bracket. It is best to mount the condensers and shield plates before fastening the brackets to the panel.

The coil with tickler should be mounted in the position illustrated. It is important that units be fastened with terminals located as shown. The antenna coil mounts on a brass plate, which is fastened with two screws fitting into tapped holes in the right hand bracket.

Sub-Panel Assembly

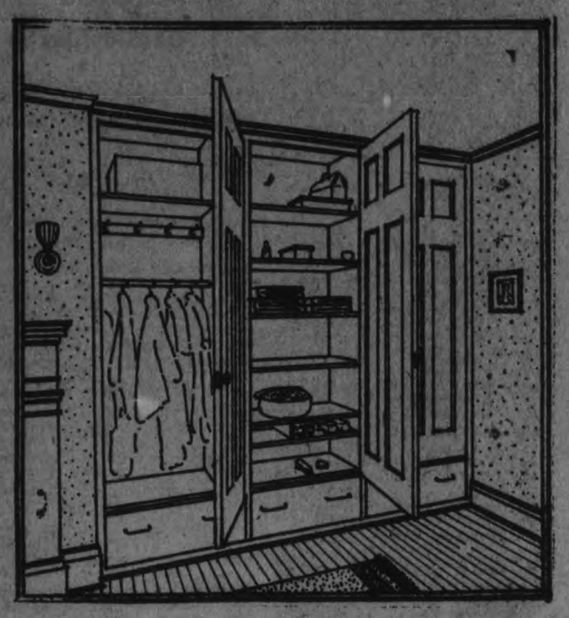
In the sub-panel assembly, there are two sides to be considered, figure 3, the top or upper half of illustration, should be assembled first.

The four sockets on the left have their terminals facing the same but the one on the right is reversed from these. The center socket is fastened with two screws that go into tapped holes in the sub-panel but the others require screws and nuts as clearance holes are drilled for these. The grid leak is mounted on two brass supports, furnished with the foundation unit.

The lower half of figure 3 shows the sub-panel mounted on the brackets with the transformers in place. The ten Union phone tip jacks should be fastened as shown. The Amperites are fastened by means of screws which go into tapped holes in the sub-panel. The four ohm fixed resistance and the .006 by-pass condenser are shown in place but are not fastened, the wiring holds them in place.

The black opal has been adopted as the national stone of Australia.

How To Build Convenient Closets



My husband and I are "cranks" when it comes to closets! We want them light, airy, ample, easily cleaned, attractive! The houses we have bought, if they have had any closets at all, have been provided with the most unattractive, dark, stingy "cubby-holes" imaginable!

The very worst detail of the home we now occupy was the kitchen cupboard. One look within its chocolate-colored depths made me shudder! It suggested dirt—and worse! Its walls were papered with dark brown paper, the shelves were deep and thick, the doors solid wood. I felt I could not live with that horror long, so the first doing-over was chosen to be that spot!

We took off the heavy doors at the top, leaving solid doors below, for the cupboard reached from ceiling to floor. We substituted glass mill-order doors, with a single plain panel in each. The shelves were removed, and all the wall paper taken off. As the walls were not in good shape, they were covered with wall board, and shelves graduating from a wide-width at the bottom to a rather narrow one at the top, four in all, replaced the old shelving. The whole closet was then given several coats of flat cream paint and one of enamel.

Today, that horror is the centre of a most attractive kitchen! All small supplies like spices are kept in glass jars; special emergency supplies or extra-nice jams and jellies are to be found at the top, while the two lower shelves hold the gayest bits of china used in the daily cooking—bowls, plates, pitchers. No one comes into our kitchen without exclaiming over that bright, attractive supply-closet.

Of course, its doing-over led to other improvements in time, cream-painted walls, new bluish linoleums, etc., so that in truth, the whole atmosphere of the work centre of the house is transformed, cheerful, attractive and convenient, as it should be if one is to enjoy working in it.

All bed room closets have been painted. It is not only because paint is more hygienic than paper and can be easily cleaned, but it looks fresh and dainty, as any clothes-press should look. Two of our bedrooms had no closets. In these rooms we built corner closets of wall-board, measuring carefully so that not an extra inch would be used of room space that was needed, and yet that there was width enough for clothes-pole, with which every closet is fitted.

Anyone who has used clothes-poles for hanging know how many more garments can go in a given space than with the old plan of hooks about the wall. The pole sets in a socket, so that it is removable. It is painted to match the wall color, and it hangs at the easiest height at which clothes may be hung, and allow space between them and floor. Above the pole is always a shelf, and not infrequently when ceiling-height allows, two.

Our most successful closet was made out of the unused waste front-end of the upstairs hall. This is about five feet square, opening into the largest bedroom, which before we made the change had only a narrow, single closet to hold the wardrobes of two people.

Now the large closet has a window, shoe-shelves, two wide shelves above the clothes-pole, the lower of which has a hinged cover, which dropping down, rests on the shelf-braces forming a hat-shelf. Closed, it makes a complete hat-case for six hats. All the work we did ourselves, my husband and I, except for the help he had in making over a very old door (which we purchased at a bargain) and hanging it.

When the closet was finished there was still the space bordering the stair-railing in the hall, upstairs. We had no linen closet. We felt this space was the answer to our need.

After carefully measuring the space and consulting mail-order catalogues, we sent for two sets of doors, and began building our new linen closet. It has four shelves for bed linen in its upper two-thirds, and two shelves for bath towels and bathroom supplies in the lower tier, each shut off by their own pair of doors. The side was made of wall-board, as is the back, which, of course, is one side of my large clothes-closet described.

The whole has been papered like the walls of the hall and the doors are white enamelled, with good grade of brass hardware. It is probably the most useful of all the closets in the house, convenient, ample, light, good-looking.

Our store-room has a large closet-space, well shelved as may be done for any storage space of any home. First we made it as tight as possible, so that no dust or dirt would sift in. Then we ran an extension light in, so that every corner is well-lighted and there is no fumbling for a bundle which must be found in a hurry.

Here there are shelves for bedding, each bundle tied and labelled plainly; shelves for travelling bags, all off the floor, and ready for use at any moment; below the bag shelves there are places for the family trunks, easy to get at, closely against the wall, out of the way. There are shelves for hat-boxes, racks for unused pictures and shelves for books.

Books That Have Interested Me

This Is the Seventh of a Series by Peterboro People

W. R. BREYFOGLE

To be asked for an expression of opinion as to the ten most interesting books that one has read, has proved too much of a job for me, although it seemed easy enough to do at first. A casual glance over the library, after I decided on a tentative list, brought a great many reproaciful stares from the unlisted bindings. It is too much like asking one to show the degree of regard that he has for his children, but at any rate, it is never difficult to be interested and satisfied through the perusal of the good old classics.

Mark Twain with his "Tom Sawyer" and "Innocence Abroad," are reminiscent of many happy hours spent in their company. Those who have not read "Tom Sawyer and Huck Finn" have missed something out of their lives. I remember, on the death of Mark Twain, seeing one of the most pathetic cartoons that I think has ever been drawn. It represented a raft in the middle of a river with a draped casket in the centre, and ragged Tom Sawyer peering ahead through the dusk and the equally ragged Huck Finn at the steering oar at the back of the raft. Underneath were simply the words, "Down the Mississippi."

James Fenimore Cooper, in "The Last of the Mohicans" and his other Leather-stocking Tales, is an author that will live forever.

Rudyard Kipling in his incomparable "Light that Failed" and "Kim" have left nothing to be desired.

Donald G. Mitchell (Ik Marvell) in "Dream Life" and "Reveries of a Bachelor" supply something in the literary diet that every man at least needs to read during his contemplative period.

Robert Louis Stevenson—in particular "Treasure Island," "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde" and his essays "Travels with a Donkey," and "An Inland Voyage," gives us stable stuff.

Victor Hugo in "Les Miserables" is undying.

In the biographies—Lincoln's life and Speeches, Hudson's "Far Away," Harold Begbie's "Twice Born Men," Bade's "John Muir," Hendrick's "Life and Letters of Walter H. Page," and Mark Twain's own story of his life, are outstanding in their appeal and interest and are works that one may read over and over again and never exhaust them.

I have derived the most satisfaction in reading the poems of; James Whitcomb Riley, Eugene Field, Walt Whitman, Wm. Cullen Bryant, Tennyson, Kipling and Longfellow, but in poetry, as in prose, I must admit my inability to be satisfied with everything that an author presents, and common to all these poets, there are outstanding contributions by which they will always be remembered with enthusiasm. For this reason I much appreciate Van Dyke's anthology of English and American verse and the anthology by Quiller Couch of English verse. In these works the authors, who are quite qualified to do so, have selected the very best poems from English and American authors of which there is any record. We may, therefore, with these books at hand, save the reading of some comparatively poor poems by these celebrated poets.

I suppose my omission of Shakespeare, as one of the most interesting poets, will bring censure from his devotees. I can read Shakespeare, but not with the degree of interest and satisfaction that appeals to me through the reading of our later poets.

It is to be assumed, of course, that the Bible, from a purely literary standpoint, if no other, must always be included and in the first instance, in any such list as above formulated.

Diagnosing Ether

Most radio enthusiasts are aware that when they listen to a broadcast concert or lecture the ether is frequently full of commercial messages in code sent from ships or land stations, yet, in selective receiving sets, these are not heard because their wavelength is much greater than that to which the sets are tuned, writes Mr. James Stokley in the January Radio Broadcast magazine. Likewise, short-wave transmission, using wave-lengths down to a few meters, which has been so much discussed as making possible the sending of messages over great distances in daytime, does not affect the ordinary set, but requires a special one that is tuned to these waves. Even a short-wave receiving set, however, will not make audible the multitude of still shorter waves that are continually fleeting through space, for radio waves are not the only kind of ether waves. Thousands of times shorter, but otherwise identical with them, are the waves of light, and still shorter are the X-rays, and the rays of radium. Thus there is a complete range of vibrations, all the way from those with waves whose lengths are measured by the millionths of an inch, to others whose waves are miles long. Some occur in nature, some are produced by man with his various pieces of scientific apparatus, and still others are yet to be produced. There are undiscovered gaps in the series which have not yet been filled, but physicists in many countries are busily engaged in closing these gaps, and making the series an unbroken one.

"Most familiar to us, more familiar even than the radio waves, are those which make up visible light. The wavelengths of these are between one 30000th and one 65000th of an inch, the shortest making up violet light and the longest red. Between these are the wavelengths of the other colors, but longer than the longest red waves, and shorter than the shortest violet ones, are the waves which make up what is often referred to as 'invisible light.' Those that are too long to see are called infra-red, and the short ones, ultra-violet.

"When a beam of white light is passed through a prism, the familiar rainbow-like spectrum is the result; a band of colors varying from red at one end to violet at the other. But the red and violet parts are not really the ends; the fact that they seem so is only because our eyes are not as sensitive as some scientific instruments. Take a radiometer, the little device consisting of small vanes, black on one side and silvered on the other, inside a glass bulb, which is often seen in an optician's window, and spins around merrily when the sun shines on it. This is operated by the heat rays, and if it is placed a little beyond the red end of the spectrum, it will twirl, thus showing the presence of heat waves, which are identical with the infra-red. On the other hand, if we allow the spectrum, and the part of it beyond the violet, to fall upon a photographic film, the most impression on the film will be made not by the yellow part of the spectrum, which appears brightest to the eye, but by the darker blue, and there will be a prominent image caused by the presence of the short waves called the ultra-violet. Even the secrets of the spheres are revealed through astronomical photography with invisible light," continues Mr. Stokley in this unusual Radio Broadcast article. "Last summer, at the Mt. Wilson Observatory, in California, when Mars made a close approach to the earth, it was found possible for the first time to measure the extent of the planet's atmosphere, and indeed, to prove to a certainty that it has an atmosphere. These pictures were made with the great 100-inch telescope, the largest in the world. Two sets were made, one by blue light, and the other by infra-red. Not only did the latter exposures show numerous markings on the planet, which were completely obscured in the blue set, but they also showed the diameter of the plant appreciably smaller! This, of course, is what we would expect if Mars had an atmosphere like the earth's. The blue light photographs could not penetrate the Martian layer of air, but the infra-red ones did, and enabled us to see the planet's surface.

This same principle also permits photographs to be made on the earth through great depths of atmosphere, and even through mists so dense that the human eye cannot see through them. Airplane photographs from great heights are made in this manner, and the special plates used reveal all the detail on the ground below. The photographer ordinarily uses a red light in his dark room because light of that color does not affect his sensitive emulsions, but by bathing the plates before use in special dyes, they become sensitive to this part of the spectrum, and may be used with sufficiently fast shutter speeds to permit aerial photography with red, or even infra-red light.

The bathing beauties and the brave ultra-violet rays to thank for their coloration. For sunburn is largely due to light waves shorter than the visible spectrum. Babies are endangered when they lack this sort of light, for it is necessary to their health. One of the most important recent discoveries in the field of nutrition is that foods, such as milk and even lard, when exposed to ultra-violet rays, develop properties that prevent and cure rickets in animals and human beings.

The sun is the greatest and best ultra-violet ray machine we have. The sun is a great doctor. Mercury, vapor lamps can, of course, substitute for the sun, when days are dark or short. Moreover, there should be little or nothing between the sun and the patient for the most effective treatment. For most substances, glass among them, are opague to these short rays. Mr. Stokley concludes by remarking that a sun bath behind a window pane would be ineffectual for this reason many violet-ray machines with lamps housed in glass, are valueless.

PRODUCES MUCH OF WORLD'S ZINC

Seven Per Cent. of Total Supply Obtained As By-Product of Lead.

TRAIL, B.C., Jan. 15—Ten per cent. of the world's lead ouput is produced at the Trail smelter, operated by the Consolidated Mining and Smelting company. This plant, which has been shattering production records with spectacular regularity, has just finished its banner year. Not only did it furnish 10 per cent. of the world's lead supply, but also seven per cent. of the world's zinc.

From its lead refinery, the last stage of its lead process, 335 tons of metal being produced daily on an average, while the zinc refinery, which puts out an electolytic product from the leached roasts of the zinc plant, produces 160 tons of zinc. Nearly all the ore originates at the immense Kimberley mine in the East Kootenay, where a city of 6,000 population has sprung up in the wake of the rapidly expanding industry.

A tremendous programme of development was carried out last year costing millions and this resulted in making the Trail establishment the largest non-ferrous metallurgical plant in the world. At Kimberley the huge concentrator that mills the ore of the Sullivan, biggest zinc-lead mine on the continent, is being increased by the addition of 1,000 tons more capacity. This will make it possible for the mill to treat the ore from low grade streaks as they occur. When the new extensions have been completed—about next August—the capacity of the concentrator will be 4,000 tons daily.

Development of a new process for the handling of the complex ores of the Kimberley district, which a few years ago proved too refractory for profitable use, has been largely responsible for the recent expansion.

Eczema Was So Bad Could Hardly Sleep

Mrs. G. Jones, Kitscoty, Alta., writes:—"I had eczema on my left hand, and my first finger was so swollen, sore and itchy I could hardly sleep at night.

I got a prescription from my doctor, but it did me no good, so I finally began to take

Burdock Blood Bitters.

After I had taken three bottles I was completely relieved of my eczema, and would advise any one suffering from any disease of the blood to use B.B.B., as it is worth its price many times over."

RELIGIOUS SECT HAS PECULIAR UTOPIA

VICTORIA, B.C., Jan. 15.—Followers of Pastor Russell, the evangelist, who established a colony of Bible students at Sooke, twenty miles from here on the West Coast of Vancouver Island, have prospered so well that they are bringing out additional members of their cult from the Middle Western states with the intention of establishing them at another settlement a few miles further north, at Port Renfrew.

The success of the settlement at Sooke is one of the most amazing examples of community settlement in the West. Less than two years ago they founded their colony, taking with them nothing but their household needs. Today they have a community of 300 souls, with assets placed at $150,000 and not one dollar of liability. Their most important enterprise, a fish fertilizer plant which was abandoned as unprofitable before their coming, has a daily revenue of $200, and this money represents almost the entire amount of the settlement's dealings with the outside world. For this utopia there is no such thing as money except insofar as it is obliged to import goods from outside. No money changes hands among the members of the community. They all have their tasks and they work for the community. There is no politics among them, either. No votes are ever recorded. The community is becoming more self-sustained every day.

The brotherhood built their own stores, schools and assembly halls, rehabilitated the fertilizer plant and established a flour mill and textile factory. They acquired gasboats for fishing and a stock of cattle and poultry.

Now they are establishing a settlement at Port Renfrew, known for many years as the potential centre of a vast fishing and timber industry but not until now developed. The students have secured 1,300 acres of rich bottom land and plan to create there the best farm on the coast. They have called their new settlement site Rainbow Valley.

SHIPS WILL NOT INTERFERE WITH BROADCASTING

"Ever since the development of broadcasting on an important scale, the Commerce Department has been deluged with complaints from owners of radio sets relative to the great interference encountered from ship signals," says Professor Morecroft, writing in the January Radio Broadcast magazine. "Fans will be delighted to hear, therefore, that the Commerce Department of this country has agreed with British and Canadian authorities to prohibit the vessels of the three countries from using frequencies in the broadcast band when within 250 miles of the United States, Canada, or the British Isles."

NO DEMAND FOR BRAILLE BOOKS AT THE PETERBOROUGH LIBRARY

Magazines For Blind Are Stored in Basement, Uncalled For.

RAISED SYMBOLS.

Blindness Rare in City and No Use Made of Books in Years.

On a lofty shelf in the basement of the Public Library there may be found several dusty volumes which have not been read for nearly four years. Indeed, should the average person attempt to read them he would be foiled at the outset for the only discernable mark of printer's ink is found on the cover which details the title, the name of the author, and that of the publishing house.

These mysterious volumes are pin-pricked in Braille type and were intended for the use of the blind in the city. At first they were used by two people but of late years there has been no demand for them and they have been relegated to the lower strata of the library, a place haunted by the board-covered remains of ancient newspapers, time wracked skeletons of high-wheeled bicycles, remnants of rock collections and other bits of bric-a-brac the history of which, if recorded would bring to mind long forgotten events, of would stir vagrant memories in the oldest inhabitants.

Seven years ago these books, one should say magazines, for they more-nearly resemble those publications, were presented to the Library by the authorities of the institute for the blind, who have their headquarters in Toronto. It was thought at first that there would be a great demand for them, but fortunately, blindness is rare in this city. Accordingly, when the demand ceased some years ago the volumes were taken to the place of unrequired things.

While the volumes were seldom used it is quite evident that at one time sensitive fingers traced their way across the apparently meaningless jumble of raised symbols. The casual observer is forced to marvel that the reader could follow the line through the width of the page not to speak of the difficulty of "reading" the separate characters. Yet those unfortunates not gifted with the quality of sight are able, after intensive training, to assimilate the knowledge which is obtainable only from the printed page through the media of an entirely different "sense" from that which the ordinary person uses.

Many of the volumes in the possession of the Library are issues known as "Canada's Premier Magazine for the Blind," many of them are copies of various books of the Bible, such as the Psalms of David and the Gospels. A dip into literature is afforded by a Braille translation of Gray's Elegy in a Country Churchyard, a copy which includes, humorously enough, an account of John Gilpin's famous ride. "Paul and Virginia" is a work by Bernardin de St. Pierre, which extends through a multiplicity of volumes. Other works of note are The Deserted Village, The Rime of the Ancient Mariner and the Rosary.

The Braille system was invented by Louis Braille who himself was blind and a professor at the institution for the Young Blind at Paris. By studying and working over a previous invention which had been submitted by one M. Barbier, he devised the comparatively simple and beautiful system which bears his name. The signs in use are arbitrary and consist of six points placed in an oblong. By varying their positions sixty-two different combinations are obtainable, sufficient for the letters of the alphabet and for contraction, punctuation, numerical and other marks.

The first institution for the blind in which reading was taught was established by Valentin Hauy, in 1784. Raised letters were first used while writing was taught by a system of guiding wires which confined the instruments of caligraphy within their proper bounds. The Gospel of St. Matthew was first printed in this type by Sir C. Lowther and appeared in the script or italic form of the Roman letter. The gravitation from the use of the actual type to the symbolic forms started in the middle of the 19th century until at the present day, instead of the cumbersome type there is now the compact and universally recognized Braille alphabet.

A THREE DAYS' COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Chronic coughs and persistent colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action—it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and kills the germ.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and destroys the germs that lead to consumption.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of chronic coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, catarrhal bronchitis and other forms of throat and respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or 'flu.

Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. Creomulsion Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

What Kiwanis Means---Viewpoints and Dollars

VIEWPOINTS

(By Jeanette)

"In the epistle of the worldly physician, Karshish, he tells of his meeting with the risen Lazarus, and how he, having once seen heaven, now saw all earthly things in different proportion and with different values.

"Discourse to him of prodigious armaments
Assembled to besiege the city now,
And of the passage of a mule with gourds:
'Tis one!

"Should his child sicken unto death—why, look
For scarce abatement of his cheefrulness
Or pretermission of his daily craft.
While a word, gesture, glance from that same child
At play, or in the school, or laid asleep,
Will startle him to an agony of fear,
Exasperation just as like."

Mrs. John Smith put the biscuits in the oven. She looked anxiously at the thermometer on the door. The oven was not quite hot enough and she did want the biscuits to be good today. But twelve o'clock would ring soon and the men would come trooping in from the fields, tired, hot and hungry. They were thrashing, twenty-two of them. The fields were filled with the sound of the machines and the loud calls of the men as they brought in the golden grain.

Hot biscuits and heavy, creamy gravy were a pet tit-bit of her husband's. If they did not appear often on the menu, he would ask for them, and Mary Smith had formed the habit o including them with almost every meal lately. There was a giant roast in the oven too, sizzling its way to a well-cooked condition, for John liked his meat well done, and had no patience with rare, red steaks. He was a good provider, John Smith, but a man of few words. If he liked a thing, he said little. It was sufficient that he ate heartily and dropped into his big chair after supper for a smoke before going to bed. Mary always had his slippers waiting for him and the tired man could rest comfortably after the long day.

A little anxious line appeared on his wife's forehead as she once more inspected the thermometer. The potatoes were all ready, mashed with milk in a big iron pot,—and the pies waited, in seemly rows, at the rear of the big range. The biscuits would hardly be done in time. She went and stood by the door, looking out at the fields, the midday sun blazing down on their yellow richness. A little vagrant breeze stole in the doorway. To her mind came the memory of a Russian singer who had been their way with a travelling troupe, the winter before last. She had sung one song that lingered long in Mary Smith's memory, something about the "fields of billowing grain," and had explained in halting English the love of the Russian for his fields and the feeling he cherished as of a rich bosomed mother feeding her children. Mary had often recalled this song and the singer.

As she stood there, there came a thought that had often haunted her, through the long years of her married life. If she were to die, what would John do? He was dependent on her for so much,—all the little comforts that helped to smooth the hard way of life came to him from her hands, it seemed. She cherished a proud feeling that she had never failed him. In his slow, quiet way, he had turned to her all these years for solace and peace and had always found it. She had been a good wife, she reflected, smiling to herself as she watched the sunshine dance on the blue cornflowers in the door yard.

But what of the time when she would be gone and John left? Would some other woman take her place in the comfortable house and go about the daily round? She could not bear to think of it. In the first days of their married life she had thought of persuading John to promise her that he would never marry, should she die before him. But the words would not come to her lips and the matter rested. She frowned now as she thought about it. The idea of another woman in this house of hers made her inner spirit wince and shrink.

She went back to the oven. As she bent to open the door, the little recurrent pain that came lately in her side caught her breath. She leaned back for a moment, then took the heavy pan out of the oven and placed it on the shelf. She went to the cupboard in the corner and took down a small vial of medicine that the doctor had given her for the pain in her side. It seemed a little sharper than usual, today.

When the men came in, the biscuits were ready. John grunted when she asked him if they were hot enough, but she noticed with satisfaction that he ate heartily and asked for a third helping of the thick gravy.

The minister's voice was low and impressive. In the warm room, stuffy and close, for the parlor had been seldom used, a vagrant fly buzzed against the ceiling. The walls were lined with neighbors, women and men who had driven over the country roads to see the last of Mary Smith. It was a pity, they had said in low tones, as they rumbled along in their panting machines, that she had gone in the busy season. And this was a good year for the crops. The harvesting was going ahead in grand style and John Smith was one of those who had his barn full of grain, with a field or two still unthrashed.

"The sting of death is sin" . . . "Man that is born of woman is cut down like a flower" . . . the words of the minister, reading in low tones from a black volume, pierced through the haze that had enveloped John Smith's mind ever since the moment that he had come into the house to find his wife unconscious on the floor. She had not come fully to herself, until the end, when she had spoken only a few words, and those to tell him where he would find the keys to the old chest in the attic, and the savings bank pass book that had its account in their two names, and was stowed away in a secret corner. It was with a little soft sigh that she had gone waay from him, and John Smith, always a man of few words, could do nothing but stare dumbly down at her quiet face.

"The tired body, lying for a space at peace with its feet toward the dawn." The minister was quoting a hymn now. Mary had liked poetry. "The Idylls of the King" had been her favorite in the days of their honeymoon. "The tired body . . ." Yes, she must have been tired. She had been a grand worker, Mary. Always doing something around the house, in the spare moments that came to her from helping with the outside work.

Her husband bent awkwardly to kiss the cold cheek in the coffin. They closed the lid and the pall-bearers advanced to carry it out to the waiting hearse. John Smith spoke inarticulately. His big face worked. The others stared at him in dismay. Surely he would not make a scene here in the house. A curious woman craned her neck from a crowded corner. The big hands dropped and John turned away to join the procession. The funeral cortege wound its way over the long road to the lonely cemetery.

The spirit of Mary Smith lingered about her old home. From the peaceful place to which she had gone first, it had been drawn back, earth-bound by the longing of her husband. To John had come little of relief from the agony of parting with his wife. His sorrow was just as keen as on the day that she left him. Friends and neighbors alike had striven to console the big man, but, although he said little, he went with a weary droop of the head and a slow, tired drag of the feet. Only the thought of the dead woman seemed to dwell in his mind.

Mary made her way on swift, noiseless feet from room to room of the silent house. She smiled—a placid, sweet smile—as she saw the neatness of the whole place. Mrs. Thompson, the widow who had come over to take care of the place after her death, was a good housekeeper. There was no need to worry over his material comfort. If he could just be made to forget his dead wife and think of someone else. For herself then would come the comfort of absolute peace and restfulness. To be bound to the earth by this unavailing longing of her husband's was a hardship to the calm of her spirit.

Mrs. Thompson stood by the stove. Preparation for meals for John Smith was no job for an expert cook, she reflected. He paid no more attention to what was put in his mouth than if it were plain bread and butter instead of her own fine roasts and pies. What was it that Mary had cooked for him so often? Hot biscuits and gravy. The dead woman had often told her of John's fondness for this particular dish. She set about preparing the flour, sifting it carefully. John Smith had been her ideal for many a long day, even before the time when she had married Alex Thompson and had though how happy she would be to possess Mary Anderson's luck.

She looked in the glass and smoothed her hair carefully. Her face was still fresh and blooming, her ankle trim and neat. When John came into supper, he cast a glance of approval at the cheery light from the stove and smiled at Jane Thompson, bustling about the kitchen. When she brought the hot biscuits and gravy to the table, his eyes lighted up in a way that had been foreign for many a long day. "These are fine, Jane," he said, looking up to meet the affectionate glance of the widow Thompson. A thorn in his side through many gloomy hours had been the thought of the meagre bits of thanks he had tendered Mary for her constant care of him. If he married again, he reflected, glancing at the widow, he would remember that women liked a bit of praise now and again.

Standing in the background, the light of her pale radiance lost in the red glow from the fire, Mary Smith comprehended and smiled. As she passed softly out for the last time, she cast a pleased look at her old home and the man and woman sitting at the table.

'How I Earned My First Dollar

GEORGE GIMBLETT

I earned my first money selling papers on the streets of Hamilton. Conditions there were different to what they are in Peterborough as instead of a well-defined route entailing the delivering of papers to regular customers a fellow had to get located on a street corner. By sheer strength one had to maintain his particular corner against the intruders who were always trying to "horn in" especially if the location happened to be a good one. Naturally many fights resulted from the vigorous defence of these "pitches" and I in company with the other boys, had my share of them, sometimes victorious, often not. These stands or "pitches" were considered real money makers in those days as a boy who was at all aggressive could earn from $5.00 a week up, so that they were considered well worth any scrapping that was required to defend them. The real battles, though, used to occur right behind the old "Spectator" office. All the boys would congregate there awaiting the distribution of the papers and from the time the first bundle was handed out until the last, was nothing short of a miniature riot. It was a case of first come first served with the boy who happened to be a "husky" usually getting the better of the deal.

KIWANIS CLUB ACHIEVES MUCH UNDER SUCCESSIVE PRESIDENTS AND PLANS MORE FOR FUTURE

Civic Welfare Well Attended By Members of Progressive Organization.

RECORD TALKS.

Peterborough Club Has Enviable List of Achievements To Its Credit.

In speaking Friday of the Kiwanis club's program for the observance of the 11th anniversary of Kiwanis International's founding Dr. John J. Craig, president of the local club, told of the remarkable growth of the civic organization that now has more than 1450 clubs and over 95,000 members in the United States and Canada. The first Kiwanis meeting to be held was in Detroit, Michigan, on January 21, 1915, and that is why the local club together with all the others will observe Anniversary Week, from January 17-23.

"The year following the beginning of what is now the largest service organization on the North American continent, thirty-five clubs were sponsored in the United States, and at the last International convention in St. Paul last June the report showed that Kiwanis had made a tremendous growth and was steadily growing," said Dr. Craig.

Under Frank Whitehouse.

Here in Peterborough the Kiwanis Club was sponsored by Kingston Kiwanis Club and the charter was presented on Wednesday, November 16, 1921. The first president was Frank Whitehouse, and the record under his leadership in 1921 and 1922 was as follows: In 1921 the Club organized a relief committee and supplied Christmas cheer to thirty families and its sport committee donated 24 jerseys to the school hockey league. In 1922 the Lindsay Kiwanis Club was sponsored, the first building, the dining room, was constructed for the Health Association at Jackson Park; t[illegible]

The following are some of the achievements; assisted families by giving fuel and provisions; donated sums of money to the Boy Scouts Association for its work; subscribed to Harding International Good-will memorial erected at Vancouver; sent a donation, naming a bed, to the British Welcome and Welfare league; co-operated with the City Council on its tourist camp and erected two signs pointing the way to the camp; assisted the Health association at a "Made in Peterborough" fair; assisted at the Rotary club carnival; subscribed for newspapers for the public wards of both hospitals in the city; equipped two ball teams in the junior league and supplied some sporting goods t the shelter children; installed concrete facing at the swimming pool at Jackson park; donated $670 towards the boy's farm being constructed at Bowmanville; provided Chatuaqua tickets for under-privileged children; donated prizes for a costume parade at the flower show of the Horticultural society; distributed baskets to needy families at Christmas.

Exhibition Work.

During Exhibition week in the years 1923, 1924, and 1925, the club held its weekly luncheon at the exhibition grounds in conjunction with the board of directors of the Exhibition. By this means the Kiwanians gave their moral support to the Fair and became better acquainted with friends from the country, many of whom are on the Exhibition Board.

From this splendid record it will be seen that the Kiwanis Club is essentially a service organization, of inestimable value to the city. It is idealistic, but from its achievements during the past it is easily seen that it is also very practical. It applies a civic and social service to every community want. In truth the ideals of Kiwanis are practical in an everyday business like manner.

The Peterborough club, which is planning greater activity than ever for this year, will hold its anniversary meeting on Friday, January 22, at the Empress Hotel. The President for this year, just appointed, is Dr. John J. Craig.

John A. McKone.

Under the presidency of John A. McKone in 1923 the club assisted many needy families. After the burning of the Salvation Army Temple it raised $1,360, by a concert and subscriptions towards re-building. Children of the Health Association to the number of 145 were entertained at dinner, and the second building, the kitchen, was built for the Health Association at Jackson park. The club sponsored and provided for a junior ball team in the city league. The second Kiwanis show was put on, and later reepated for the benefit of the Y.M.C.A.

During 1924, when John R. Marshall was president, the Kiwanis club co-operated with the Health Asociation at the Motor Show, constructed the children's swimming pool and put up swings at Jackson park for the Health Association, placed safety first signs on the sidewalk at busy street corners, assisted at the Rotary club carnival, donated prize for a costume parade at the flower show of the Horticultural society, held a Kiwanis Karnival, provided the Salvation Army with funds for shoes and clothing at Christmas time, and also provided funds for a similar cause through Kiwanis members.

In the banner year just past, when Charles D. Cook was president, the club widened its sphere of activity.

RARE BEAR'S MAMA FOUND ON ISLAND

VICTORIA, B.C., Jan. 16.—(Canadian Press).—The mother of Ursus Kermodei, one of the world's most celebrated bears and the only one of its kind in captivity, has been discovered. And evidently she does not miss her famous off-spring in the slightest for L. N. McPhee of Butedale, Princess Royal Island, says he saw the old lady recently and she was so contentedly eating berries that she did not pay any attention to her terrier that yapped incessantly at her heels.

Princess Royal Island is the only place in the world where the species of bear known as Ursus Kermodei is to be found, according to scientists and big game hunters, Ursus Kermodei is white, but he is not a Polar bear; nor is he an albino, both of which species are comparatively common. The scientific theory is the Ursus Kermodei can probably trace his ancestry to the Polar bear which might have floated down from the Arctic on an ice floe; but this event must have occurred many yeas ago, for many of the Polar bear's characteristics are completely lost in the rare four-footed inhabitants of Princess Royal Island.

The famous little bear which has gained so much fame since its capture more than a year ago is now at Beacon Hill park here in a specially built enclosure. He was taken when, as a cub, he deserted his mother and tried to climb a tree. Mrs. Ursus Kermodei, stalked off and was not seen again until McPhee discovered her and left her in peace.

OKANAGAN FARMERS FIGHT CODLIN MOTH

Crop Damages Left Orchardists Too Weak Financially for Long Fight.

PENTICTON, B.C., Jan. 14.—(Canadian Press).—Farmers of the Okanagan district, whose orchards are once again menaced by the codlin moth, are preparing to wage the most determined campaign so far undertaken against the destructive pest.

The codlin moth menace provides a perennial problem for the fruit growers of the Okanagan, British Columbia's most important orchard district and farm organization leaders believe that the time has arrived for a concerted effort that will lead to the extermination of the moth for all time.

While this attitude seems to be universally shared, the extensive damage done by frost and other agencies last season has left the growers too weak financially to wage a fight on the codlin moth on as big a scale as they would like. The provincial government, however, plans to come to their rescue and large sections will probably be quarantined while the orchards are subjected to heavy spraying and other treatment designed to eradicate the pest.

Conditions throughout the Okanagan Valley at the present time are considered to be in favor of the fruit grower this coming season, the winter so far not being so severe as that of 1923-1924.

Since the first London-Paris air service was inaugurated in 1919, British commercial machines have carried more than 60,000 passengers between London and the Continent.

STRANGER THAN FICTION

IT HAPPENED IN PETERBOROUGH.

In his bed at home John Denton told Roy Lawson that his father had died in a hunting camp of cramps.

Twenty miles away George Washington Lawson lay in a locked cabin, bathed in blood from a gaping gunshot wound in his side. John Denton and he had been alone in the hunting camp buried in the depths of the north country bad lands, far from the nearest habitation.

These briefly were the facts brought to light in a case that raised to eminence a young lawyer in one of the most remarkable examples of deductive detection in the annals of crime in Canada. Acting against the Crown, this lawyer made points that befogged the prosecution, and the mystery of who killed George Lawson remains still unsolved, a secret known only to the rough walls of a log shanty in the backwoods and possibly to John Denton.

Was Lawson shot by Denton? Did he commit suicide? Was he accidentally killed? Did some third person penetrate the forest fastnesses and perpetrate the crime? These are the questions the police authorities of Canada's greatest province are still asking.

John Denton and George Lawson, accompanied by their sons, George Denton and Roy Lawson, went to the hunting camp on Saturday to be ready for the deer hunting season which opened on Monday. From their home, which was a hundred and fifty miles from the nearest city, they went fifteen miles by car, six miles in a wagon over almost impassable roads, and then followed a trackless trail five miles through the virgin tree and rock wrapped country that spreads from Ontario's civilization to the eternal snows. The two boys left the same night with promises to return on Sunday.

Next evening they went to the cabin, found it locked, and concluded their fathers had for some reason gone home. Experienced trackers both, they saw that only one man had travelled the mossy hills lately, accompanied by a dog, but at the time they paid no attention to this significant fact.

On arriving at Denton's house they were told he was in bed; and carrying a flickering candle they mounted to his room for an explanation. "Your father took cramps in the night and died," Denton blurted out. "I had an awful night with him. He shouted and jumped about the shack and cried 'I've got you now.' At eight o'clock this morning I got up and lit the fire. When I had tea ready I went over to call him, and he let an awful shriek, pulled up one leg, and when he fell back I saw he was dead." Denton collapsed on the bed exhausted, his face twitching and his hands working spasmodically in the grip of a great excitement. Roy Lawson turned in silence and sped through the night to arouse the coroner. At three o'clock in the morning he told his breathless story and was instructed to bring out the body.

On Monday, with no tangible thought of foul play, but with on the one hand a deep sorrow in the loss of his father and on the other a sincere sympathy with the boy with whom he had played, worked, and tramped the interminable miles to the little country school, the two boys obtained the cabin key from Denton and went on their sad errand. Opening the shack door, they saw the body lying on the floor beside one of the bunks, covered with a quilt. The shack was lighted only by a small window, partially boarded up. They spread out the litter on which they would carry the body to where their wagon waited five miles away. One at the head and one at the feet they raised the inanimate thing that had been the father of one and the friend of the other—but dropped it, and stand aghast, gazing at each other with horror in their eyes across the body. Blood had gushed from the right side when the body sagged as it was lifted and now ran from the blackened wound to oin the spot on the floor they had not noticed before. Blood pouring from the side of a man whom they had been told died of cramp! After the first startled glance they avoided each other's eyes, for each instinctively saw a picture—two men isolated in the hut—one left locked there dead—the other carrying the key and telling a story of "cramps."

* * *

John Denton was arrested on a charge of wilful murder, and in due course came before one of His Majesty's Supreme Court judges and a jury of twelve good men and true. He was defended by Cecil Arnold, a young and hitherto untried lawyer, and the prosecution was conducted by A. B. Batten, a King's Counsel.

Provincial police had twice been over the scene of the tragedy. They had shack, empty cartridge cases, and had established an apparently securely riveted chain of circumstantial evidence incriminating Denton. The defence lawyer had also visited the camp twice, but what he had learned was not known until the third day of the five-day trial.

Provincial detective R. F. Davis told the court of conflicting statements made by the prisoner, statements that practically branded him as guilty of the crime. He had told several people that Lawson died of cramp and he had seen no blood; later he said Lawson had shot himself; and yet again he told the police he had found Lawson dead when he returned to the shack from the spring. One fantastic story was of Lawson kneeling by the stove with the gun against his side, shooting himself, while he, Denton, watched from behind a tree. In all of the stories the accused man told the same time—eight o'clock in the morning, but the prosecution pointed out that he did not turn up at his home until five in the evening. Where he had been in the meantime no one knew. No motive was shown for the crime, the men apparently being on the best of terms. The fire in the shack had evidently been drenched with water. Three doctors declared the wound could not have been self-inflicted.

The police alleged that Denton, seated on his bunk in the north east corner of the shack had fired at Lawson, standing on a bench to climb into his upper bunk on the south west side; the bullet had pierced his side, had been deflected by the illium and had passed upward through the shack wall. That he was bending at the time the bullet struck him was shown by the fact that the skin was perforated about an inch above the spot where the bullet struck the bone.

When the defence lawyer called his first witness his case appeared hopeless, even to the galaxy of brilliant lawyers who had gathered to witness what was the most interesting trial in the history of the court. "There is not a tittle of evidence," he declared, and proceeded to display the detective powers that made him famous throughout the country. Surprise after surprise and sensation upon sensation swept the court as he produced exhibits from his bag and deduced from them the story of George Lawson's death. A broken belt; a split wooden peg; a nail; a piece of twine; a fragment of charred wood, and a rifle with a hair trigger. Riveted together with wonderful skill and presented in a triumph of forensic oratory, these trifles formed a connected tale that injected into the minds of the jury that reasonable doubt that in British law gives a man his freedom.

"The learned crown prosecutor alleged," Arnold said, "that we had tampered with the evidence. We may have altered the bullet hole slightly when we passed a piece of twine through it and carried the string in a line to the bullet we found in a basswood tree sixty feet away. That line, gentlemen, shows that the bullet was not fired from the north east corner, but from the west side." The bullet was imbedded in the tree at a height of twenty feet, but the detective-lawyer had painstakingly searched until he found it among the hundreds of trees that surrounded the cabin. "Standing at the west side of the cabin," he said, picturing the tragedy, "Lawson reached over the bunk to where the rifle was resting in racks formed of V-shaped branches of trees nailed to the wall, and pulled the rifle out, muzzle first. As it was pulled past the rack, the hammer became cocked. There was no half-cock on the rifle, and when the trigger caught on a nail projecting from the top of the bunk the piece was discharged. Lawson was struck in the side, he fell against the wall—proven by the broken peg, one piece of which was still fastened in the wall while the other was clasped in the dead man's hand. He fell to the ground with the rifle across his arm. Denton, who had been to the spring for water, heard the report of the rifle shot as he reached the corner of the hut; heard the crash of the body as it fell, and the lighter rattle of the falling rifle. He rushed into the shack, seized the rifle that had killed his friend, and threw it outdoors. He caught the stricken man's belt to drag him to the light, and the belt broke. Lawson uttered a piercing shriek in his death agony that scattered the last remnant of Denton's self-possession. He threw his pail of water on the fire, prompted by his woodsman's instinct, locked the cabin, and started out to spread the awful tidings. In his terrorized frame of mind he became wandered in the desolate wilderness of rocks and trees and did not reach home until evening. His experiences had driven him all but insane, and prompted his telling of the untrue stories."

Denton himself declared his innocence to the court. An old man of seventy-two years, robust as a man must be to endure the hardships of Canada's woods in winter; wearing gold ear-rings that swung as he earnestly proclaimed his innocence, Denton told the men who were trying him for his life: "I don't know why I told about the cramp, but I am not guilty, so help me God. As there is a God in the skies, I did not fire the shot."

After deliberating five hours, considering the exhibits produced by the young detective-lawyer, including a section of tree containing the bullet that killed Lawson; the rude rifle racks, the broken belt, the splintered peg, a piece of charred wood, and photographs, the jury brought in a verdict of acquittal.

The judge and jury alike congratulated the counsel who had out of deduction from trifles built up a defense that led John Denton from the shadow of the gallows that were very, very close to him.

SCIENCE PRESERVES ABORIGINE ART

VICTORIA, B.C., Jan. 16.—(Canadian Press)-Carelessness which future generations will be slow to forgive has lost to British Columbia hundreds of specimens of the disappearing art of the aborigines on the Pacific Slope of the Rocky mountains.

But science, represnted in the Victoria Museum at Ottawa, is making a belated effort to preserve that most picturesque of all Indian relics, the totem pole. Harlan I. Smith, archaeologist, devoted considerable time this past summer in Indian settlements restoring and preserving poles that were in neglect. His success is regarded as noteworthy.

The totem carvers belong to a race that is fast dying out, and it is said that there are only half a dozen skillful carvers left in the whole of British Columbia. Most of them are old men whose years are numbered. On this account special efforts are being made to preserve totem poles already in existence.

There was a time not long ago when missionaries implored the Indians to destroy their totem poles, just as they urged and finally had them compelled to discontinue their barbarous potlach festivities.

SECOND OVERTIME GAME IN WEEK LOST BY PETERBOROUGH JUNIORS; LINDSAY WON LAST NIGHT 3 TO 2

Ten Minutes' Extra Time Played in Final Group Game Here.

YOUNG PETES OUT.

Poor Shooting Resulted in Elimination of Locals From Group Race.

For the second time this week Lindsay Juniors had to go overtime to win a decision over the Peterboro kids, winning last night at Brock Street Rink by three goals to two in ten minutes extra play. The win puts the Petes out of the running for this group and gives Lindsay an edge on Markham for the group honors, as the Midgets need win only one game of the home-and-home series to finish in first place.

Poor shooting cost the Petes the game. They had fully two-thirds of the play, swarming around the Lindsay goal like hornets throughout most of the 70 minutes. Much of their poor marksmanship can be attributed to the checking of the Lindsay players, who clung hard to their men, with the result that many shots were spoiled before they were started by hooking the shooter's stick, while those that got away were hurried. Even when they had a good chance the home players were shooting right at Hargrove, who was at the top of his form.

Little combination was shown by either team. The Petes were inclined to try individual rushes. When these were unsuccessful they fell back on their combination but by that time the winners had grown accustomed to their surroundings and broke up the passes. The visitors displayed a little more combination, their second goal being scored whep Moran slid in the puck from the rebound of Reeves' shot after a combination rush.

Styles Similar.

The style of play of both teams was the same — one man would make a rush and shoot, with a pair following to pick up the puck if the first player was checked, or to take a poke at the rebound if he managed to get a shot. Both goals had many narrow escapes from these attacks, and two Lindsay goals were scored on the system.

Woods was the fastest man on the ice, and his rushes were greeted with loud applause. He scored both Peterboro goals, and when he returned to the ice after he had cut his hand, he received a great ovation. He was given worthy support on the defence by LeBarr, who also had to leave the ice for repairs, being hit by the puck. Hall, in goal, played a great game, and had no chance on the three that beat him. He made a lot of hard shots look easy and turned back the Lindsay attackers several times when they got right in on top of him.

Pat Calladine led the attack for the Petes. His dashing style of play secured the favor of the fans. He was robbed a couple of times when he slammed rebounds right back at Hargrove, only to have the visiting goalie make fine stops.

Cripps and Kennealey swept in and out of the Lindsay territory, making attack after attack, but were unable to land the puck in the net. They followed into the corners well, and several times sent out nice passes, most of which were missed, or found their billet on Lindsay sticks. One of these, from Cripps, enabled Woods to score the tying goal in the third period. Thirnbeck, subbing at centre and on the wing, checked well, and made some good rushes, but had no luck with his shooting. Chambers shoved some bullet-like drives at Hargrove, and broke up a lot of attacks with his poke check, which was most effective.

Hargrove was easily the star for the visitors. He turned back the Petes time after time when a goal seemed unavoidable. High shots and low ones were all alike to him and he had no chance to save on the two that beat him.

Cook and Board confined most of their efforts to the defence and did their work well. Their rushes, however, were always dangerous.

It didn't matter which trio of the five forwards was on the ice. Those who were on back-checked hard, and when they secured the puck, broke three abreast in an attack that was hard to solve. Their passes were short and snappy and were rarely intercepted, and they went right in on Hall. All five followed into the corners and went in after the rebounds.

A Few Disputes.

A few disputes enlivened the game. Neither of the original goal-umpires finished the game. The first Peterboro man was protested when he allowed the first Peterboro goal, while the Lindsay man was protested because he didn't allow a goal which the Petes claimed. Referee Murray Rutherford took the goal umpire's decision in each case but new officials were sent out.

A fist fight developed when Cook checked Calladine too hard to suit the fiery wing man, and both combatants were sent to the cooler for a little rest. Each team also had men carried from the ice. Ted LeBarr stopped a wicked shot with his body, as did Calladine. Board was hurt when he body-checked Woods, and again when hit on the head in a scrimmage. Carl Woods cut his hand and had to retire for repairs.

Referee Rutherford received a great deal of panning from the fans. He was very fair, letting little in the line of offsides get away. He issued more warnings than penalties, but any deliberate rough work was punished. Much of the hooting of the fans was caused by poor understanding of the offside rule and the rights given inside the blue lines.

Lindsay. — Goal, Hargrove; defence, Cook and Board; centre, Forbert; wings, Tripp and Reeves; subs., Moran and Switzer.

Peterborough.— Goal, Hall; defence, Woods and LeBarr; centre, Kennealey; wings, Chambers and Calladine; subs., Cripps and Thirnbeck.

Referee—Murray Rutherfore of Toronto.

First Period.

The Petes made the first attack, but being worked into the corner, Play then ranged between the two blue lines, with an occasional shot crossing to give the goal-keepers a little exercise. LeBarr made an excursion down the ice and made Hargrove move fast to save twice, once on the original shot and again on the rebound. Calladine was then chased for cross-checking Reeves, and while he was off Tripp had the first Lindsay shot on goal, a weak effort which was wide by several feet. A rush by Cook was foiled and then LeBarr rushed, to be tripped when almost through the defence. Board drew a sentence for the offence. Woods and LeBarr combined for a rush without profit, and then Calladine hit the top bar of the net. After Hargrove had saved a shot from LeBarr, Woods managed to work around behind the net and reached around to slide the puck in the corner past Hargrove. The goal was disputed, but the referee allowed it. Shortly after Woods did a stretch for a cross-check, but the rest of the period was uneventful, with both nets in danger several times.

Second Period.

The Petes led off in the second period as in the first. Woods was well away when Forbert tripped him, being warned for the offence to the disgust of the fans. Thirnbeck and Calladine then went down, but Hargrove saved Thirnbeck's shot and the rebound was just out of Calladine's reach. Tripp, after several offences, was sent off for holding an right after Calladine went off for boarding. After shots by LeBarr and Chambers had been turned aside Reeves was penalized for a body check in centre ice. An attack by Calladine and Woods missed and then a double penalty was issued, Switzer going off for bodying Kennealey in centre ice and the latter taking a rest for laying his stick across Switzer's back in revenge. Board was hurt when he stopped Woods and Calladine, and Chambers got through while the defence was weakened, only to have Hargrove intercept a pass in front of the goal. Both teams made attacks while the five-men hockey was in vogue, but got nowhere.

Hardly had the delinquents returned when Tripp scored, evening the count. Woods was chased for charging Board, and while he was off a pretty combination rush by Cook and Moran was turned aside by Hall. Moran then scored on a rebound after a persistent Lindsay attack, and the Midgets were in front.

Third Period

Half the third period had been spent in continual attacks on both goals, with the Lindsay goal more often in danger, before the Petes, one goal down, evened the count. A rush by Cripps was turned into the corner, but the little sub doubled back behind the net and passed out to Woods, who beat Hargrove at short range. Forbert served time for throwing his stick and an attack by Calladine and Thirnbeck almost resulted in a score. Kennealey tripped Moran and visited the cooler, and then Calladine and Cook went for resorting to nature's weapons. Woods had to retire when his hand was cut, and the regular time ended with the Petes a man short and the score a tie.

Overtime

The first attack in the overtime was delivered while Calladine, who served a longer sentence than Cook for his share in the battle, was still off. Reeves and Moran forming the raiding party. A Peterborough attack was then foiled by Hargrove who fell on the puck while surrounded by Peterborough players, and Calladine was again requested to leave the ice this time for trying to pry the goal-keeper apart so as to score. The Lindsay man behind the net was removed at the request of the Peterborough team as it was claimed that a goal had been scored. Moran and Forbert then went down and Moran followed his shot behind the net for the winning goal. Woods was chased for throwing his stick, although the toss was too late to prevent the score. From then on, the Midgets played a defensive game, shooting down to the Peterborough end and then checking back fiercely.

Jack Curley, As Interpreter For Carpentier Demonstrated Fact In Interview By Press

NEW YORK, Jan. 16 (Canadian Press).—A more accurate version of Georges Carpentier's interview with newspapermen, given after his arrival from France, came to light today—all because one of the interviewers understood French and gathered the import of remarks supposedly interpreted for newspapermen by Jack Curley, the boxer's American manager.

Curley to Carpentier; "What do you want to give the boys, Georges?"

Carpentier to Curley: "Tell these birds anything you want."

Curley, to Newspapermen: "Georges says he is very happy to be back in this country again and enjoys above all his association with the writers.

Carpentier to Curley: "Get rid of this gang as soon as possible. I've got a date at 7.30.

Curley to Newspapermen: "He says he would like to fight Paul Berlenbach for the light heavyweight title and wishes you boys a Happy New Year."

MONTREAL BANK IS LEADING LEAGUE

Defeated "Big Four" 4-1 in Bankers' League.

On Thursday evening at the Brock street arena, the Bank of Montreal team defeated "The Big Four" team in a fast game by 4-1. They now lead the league with 3 wins. Hamilton, an ex-Lindsay Intermediate, was outstanding for the winners, netting 2 goals and supplying the passes for the other two counters.

For the losers Jack Baird was best, batting in their only marker after a fast rush in combination with Ash.

Cy. Ash was not as effective in carrying the puck, maybe because he roamed and circled too much. Mulholland and Fawcett were also good for the winners, as was also Kearney on the losers' defence.

The game was clean, except for a boxing bout near the end when Baird got mixed up in the Montreal goal, and in a little free for all Goaler Dinsdale looked to come out second best, and Referee Hollingsworth promptly waived Mr. Baird to the dressing rooms for the remainder of the affair. The teams:

"Big Four": Goal, Sedgwick; defence, Kearney and Ash; centre, Baird J., wings, Ackerman and Taylor; subs Payne and Freeman.

LAKEFIELD, Jan. 16 — On Thursday evening Kemp's Krackerjacks beat the M.M.M. class team 2-0 in a Junior League game. Both teams played excellent hockey, taking advantage of the fine sheet of ice. The teams were:

Referee—Wm. Hamblin.

LINDSAY COMMENT ON TANKARD GAMES

Regard Connal as One of Peterboro's Best.

For two successive years Peterboro has defeated Lindsay in the Tankard preliminaries.

"Jimmy" Connal, who curled such a wonderfully fine game for Peterboro yesterday against Walter Reesor, has been curling for a great many years, and he curled just as well yesterday as he did years ago. One things about Mr. Connal, he is a fine gentleman on the ice, and this very essential qualification, combined with his skill, make his one of the best in the Peterboro Club.

Peterboro curlers were accompanied by "C.P.R." Anderson, who always receives a hearty welcome in Lindsay. He is just as obliging as ever, even to holding the train for the boys to get home on.

HOCKEY 'PROS' ARE AMATEURS AT HEART

Minds on Game and Not on Weekly Cheque.

Bill McGeehan, sporting editor of the New York Tribune, is convinced that professional hockey players are more conscientious than salaried athletes in any other branch of sport. He doubts if the leading prize fighters would stand up under the punishment that some of the hockey players have received in games played in Madison Square garden. He says:

"Back of Madison Square garden is the Polyclinic hospital, which is most conveniently located for the gentle sport of hockey. Since the professional hockey league put a team into New York, the night shift in this hospital has been working overtime.

"The other night there were two broken noses to be straightened out and many scalp wounds to be stitched. While these hockey players are professionals they seem to be amateurs at heart. They are playing the game for all that is in them. In most of the professional sports the players become jaded business men. But not the hockey player. Their minds are on the game and not on the weekly cheque.

"There are feuds of long standing among the hockey players. Some time ago Ken Randall broke the ankle of Cleghorn, of Boston, in a collision on the ice. The other night Cleghorn contrived to break the nose of Randall and to cause cuts in his face that required considerable stitching.

"They took Randall to the hospital, where repairs were made and his nose was secured by bandages. He was back on the ice in the next period, playing with all of his accustomed dash. He would not complain about Cleghorn. 'It was a personal matter,' he declared. 'We had a little trouble once before and I expected this. We will meet again.' It was a private feud.

"I doubt if any of our prize-fighters would care to step right back into the battle after receiving injuries of the sort sustained by Randall. But the hockey player seems to feel that these things are all in the game.

"The petulant pop bottle frequently hurtles into the ring at the Montreal rink, especially when Laflamme is officiating. Baseball is not the only sport that excites the innocent by-stander to thoughts of homicide."

Kitchen Benched

Hobie Kitchen, of the Montreal N.H.L., team, may not be with the Gerard outfit long. He has been kept on the bench the greater part of this season and has not been adhering to the training rules, according to Eddie Gerard. He is under suspension at the present time, and rumor has it that he will be sold to St. Pats. Gerard has decided that the only way to beat Ottawa out for the championship is by playing clean hockey, and the "bumping" which marked the play of his team earlier in the season is not so noticeable now, according to the critics.

ADVERTISE IN THE EXAMINER

Inside Sporting Dope

By A Wise Cracker

Mister Sporting Editor:

Well, the Petes is leading the parade in No. 1 group, as I kind of expected last week they would be, altho I didn't want to say so too emphatic like for fear the boys would get too cocky about it. They trimmed Parkdale Wed. night easier than it was to find a drink New Year's Eve and rubbed it in by not allowing the Paddlers to score at all, Mister Dwyer being positively stingy in the nets. It was no great shucks of a hockey game, being loose at times as a flapper's goloshes, but the Petes enjoyed themselves and a very pleasant time was had by the camp followers which made the trip to Toronto.

A scientific friend of mine sez the Paddlers is suffering from a Peterboro complex. I muffed that the first time he threw it at me, but I been putting the old bean to work and I know what he meant—that the Petes has got the Parkdales' goat. They simply got to skate out there and the Paddlers throw up their hands and go down for the third time. Five times in a row the Toronto gang has been walloped by the Petes at the Arena, and I figger that if Parkdale was the only opposition the Petes would Charleston right through to the Allan Cup without a real effort.

Mon. night the blue and white lads will perform at the home ice plant with the Hamilton Rowing Club as their guests. The Hams ain't exactly been burning up the race, but they is a young team with the exception of old Guy Smith, and you can't never tell what a gang like that will do. The Galt Terriers know that, for Windsor slipped in there last week and handed Mickey Murray and his playmates a 1-0 beating that hurt worst than a ulcerated tooth.

The Skullers may provide the Petes with plenty of argument, and anyway the group leaders has been playing good hockey and has earned the support of the home fans, who should be out in gobs Mon. night to see the second local senior O.h.A. clash of the season.

YOU GOTTA BE ON THE ICE.

The Peterboro juniors should have got a valuable bit of hockey education Tues. night at Lindsay if they learned that no player ever scored a goal for his team setting in the penalty box. The Petes' youngsters served thirteen penalties, and at that the game went 20 minutes' overtime before the Midgets finally win by the odd goal. The chances are that if the Petes hadn't of been a man short for about 1/3 of the game they would of win in the regular hour's play. Of course, you run into some poor refereeing in the junior series sometimes, but the lads has got to learn that no matter how cock-eyed the bell-ringers may be they is in charge of the game and their rulings has to go. Outside of their penalties the young Petes played good hockey in the little Lindsay rink and fought till the last bell to cop the game.

The funniest brake of the week in sporting circles was the report from the Soo that Bill Phillips of the Greyhounds had yielded to the money line and was going to join the Montreal Maroons. If a fellow could play 5, 6 years at the Soo without knowing all about the moneyed end of hockey, the chances is he'd never recognize the call when it came. Of course, the Soo management would rather lose a good gate than their right eye any time, and nobody can blame them, because keeping a team like them Greyhounds in cakes and a place to sleep, let alone in pickings, must have been a real financial problem.

HOCKEY AS THE CROW FLIES.

A lotta folks, Mister Sporting Editor, is taking their hockey these nights by the air, listening in to radio reports of the N.L.A. games. It is the cheaper than plunking down twelve bits, plus 15c amusement tax, and a darn sight warmer, too, but it has its drawbacks, Mac, it has its drawbacks.

Not long ago my friend, Smith invited me to "hear" a hockey game. Smith is one of them real radio bugs, a member of the Hoot-owls and the Coo-coo Club, and all them orders of the radio. He's got a set called the Silent Six, with self-starter, four-wheel brakes and n'everything, and he tells me he gets Cubs and Bowmanville and all over, and I know I night he sat up till 4 g.m. and got hell. But anyhow, I takes me and my cut plug up to Smith's house along about 8 o'clock one Tues. night, and he sets me down in a easy chair and goes over to the machine and turns a couple of dinguses. "We ought to get WBZee about here," he sez, and all at once there was the darnest outburst from the loud-speaker, moans, groans, gurgles and whistles.

"They'll be no game tonight," sez I.

"Why?" sez Smith.

"The crowd has hopped on the ice and lynched the referee," sez I. "Listen to them police whistles."

"Oh," sez I, trying to look wise, although I wouldn't recognize static if sumbody showed me a chunk of it on a plate.

Just then a stream of French come out of the loud-speaker.

"No, that's Boston," sez Smith, explaining they had a French announcer there for the benefit of French-Canadian fans.

THE GAME UNDER WAY.

And sure enough we heard an English voice, at least a voice speaking an American version of English, saying: "Broadcasting the game between Ottawa Senators and the Boston Bruins," and then it went on like this, only I leave out all the whistles and gurgels:

"They're off. Geran flips the puck back to Red Stuart. Stuart is coming down the centre fast. He has Jim Herberts in combination with him. He passes to Herberts, who . . . . will sing Irving Berlin's latest hit, 'Aggravating Papa' . . . . and Uncle Wiggily said next week if the candlestick doesn't run off with the ice-cream freezer I'll tell you . . . . this is great hockey out here tonight, folks . . . . Mr. Smith leads the six in diamonds and . . . . Mike Rodden rings his bell and stops the play. Six minutes gone and the score is . . . . the wheat market at Chicago was sluggish today . . . . you are listening to station BLAH. Miss Flapper has just given a talk on a 'Few Wrinkles About Wrinkles' .....Clancy shoots, but Doc Stewar turns it aside . . . . and their next group of dance numbers will be . . . . I want to tell you members of the radio audience that we are burning up money in forest fires . . . . This fellow Nighbor is sure going great tonight. He's got the puck now, coming down fast . . . . and we will be on the air next at 6.45 p.m., Wed. . . . . 'Coo, coo, you've no idea' . . . . The secret of successful basketball is cover up your checks . . . . and Connell stops it just as the bell rings."

The Silent Six rambled on that way for about 1 hour and ½, and I come out of a doze just in time to hear: "WEZee signing off now at 10.20, Eastern Standard time. Good-night, everybody."

"It was a great game," sez Smith.

"'Twas that," sez I. "I wonder who win?"

It's a new way of being a hockey fan, but for me, Mister Sporting Editor, if I can't be at the ringside I'm satisfied to read about it in the paper. You can, any way, be sure of what the score was.

Next week, in addition to tackling the Hame here, the Petes and their big blue box, now cut down a bit, will take the trail to Toronto again, meeting Osgoode Hall on Thurs. The lawyers has some good players, including Mister Taylor, last year with Varsity, and Mister Jack Cameron, who minded goal for the Canadian Olympic team, but the Petes should win the argument and increase their lead in the group race, although they won't be able to do no fooling against Osgoode Hall.

I'm ringing off now, Mister Sporting Editor, but will try and give you a call next week.

Sportfully yrs.,
A. WISE CRACKER.

The Jockey Club, which controls the sport of racing in England, has never been asked to issue a riding license to a woman. If it were, it probably would follow the lead of the French Jockey Club, which refused a jockey license to a Parisian actress shortly after the war.

The magnificent race track at Belmont Park was originally laid out on the English plan, which requires the horses to run to the left instead of to the right. The plan did not prove popular with American turfmen however and in 1920 the track was rebuilt to conform with the American idea.

ST. PATS SCORED DECISIVE TALLY

Americans Given Early Lead Which the Irish Quickly Overcame.

SCORE 4-3.

TORONTO, Jan. 16 (Canadian Press).—Spotting New York Americans a goal in the first minute of last night's National League game at the Arena, St. Patrick's staged a great spurt in the closing minutes of the first period and ran in three counters. The game ended with a score of 4 to 3 in favor of St. Pats. A lead of two goals lasted until six minutes from the end of the game when the star spangled speedsters tied it up. Both teams then opend up and there was a great scurry to end the pastime without overtime. Finally "Shorty" Green was penalized, and this proved the break. There was a face off near the New York goal and Jack Adams secured. He slammed it past Forbes for the winning counter with four minutes to play.

PITTSBURGH, 5; BOSTON, 1

PITTSBURG, Jan. 16 (Canadian Press).—After a string of six straight defeats the Pittsburgh hockey team broke its losing streak by overwhelming Boston last night, 5 to 1, in a bitterly fought game. Pittsburg displayed its best form since the early part of the season. Its teamplay, body checking and skating were really high spots of its decisive triumph. At no time did the Pirate machine fail to function.

LIKES KEENE CURLERS.

Welcome Mat Always Out at Lakefield.

LAKEFIELD, Jan. 15 — Each year the village of Keene has been a loyal supporter of Lakefield's annual Bonspiel sending two or three rinks. This year only one came but nevertheless they were welcomed by the local club. A rink of young men, who frankly admitted that they had not curled much together, represented this sporting little village this year. Although outclassed in many of the games they are real curlers and prove that the young men of Keene are keeping up the game handed down for several generations as Keene is one of the oldest curling centres in this district, some of the old settlers bringing the game from the old land.

History of Trophies

The three handsome trophies which are annually competed for at the open Bonspiel in Lakefield were presented four years ago by Messrs. W. J. Charlton, A. E. Dawson and A. G. Lawless, and many a hard fight has been waged for the possession of one or more of these cups.

The Charlton Cup was won by J. W. McDermid of Peterboro in 1922, by D. H. Charlton in 1923 by J. N. Bacon of Peterboro in 1924 and 1925 and this year by J. C. Strickland.

The Dawson Cup was won by J. N. Bacon in 1922 and by G. F. Vicars of Fenelon Falls in 1923, by J. N. Bacon in 1924 and by R. P. Best in 1925 and by W. J. Oke in 1926.

The Lawless Cup was won by J. W. Ridpath in 1922 and by R. P. Best of Peterboro in 1923 and 1924 and by J. C. Strickland in 1925 and by J. Sedgewick this year.

BALL PLAYERS SOLD.

Oakland Paid $7,500 For Ralph Shinners.

AVALON, Santa Catalina Island, Calif., Jan. 15.—(Canadian Press).—A number of player deals were announced here Thursday just before the delegates went into the final session of the annual gathering of the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues.

Ralph H Shinners, outfielder, was purchased outright by the Oakland club of the Coast League from the St. Louis club of the National League, the price being announced at $7,500.

Second-baseman Eisley, of the Rochester club of the International League, was purchased by the San Antonio club of the Texas League.

BASKETBALL

By THE CAPTAIN

NO. 4—FOUL GOAL SHOOTING

There are edges that apply to basket-ball as well as to any other sport. One is that to do a thing well, adopt the style that has been proven most successful and stick to it. That is of vital importance in basket-shooting.

Particularly does it apply to the style employed in tossing from the foul line. There are ways and ways of making stabs at the basket from the fifteen foot mark. One player will use the underhand shot, another will toss overhand, still another will ease the body into the effort and will not move the arms; while players using the arms and shoulders only are not uncommon.

For Pete's sake adopt one style and stick to it. To know which is best you need only go back to the first lesson. There I advised use of the overhand shot. There are significant reasons why the overhand shot is best for foul-throwing.

You can't shoot one way from one place on the court and adopt another way when in a different location and still be successful. That's as bad as trying to pitch a baseball from both sides. Stick to the overhand shot and you will be more at ease when making free throws.

Stand with the feet apart and spreading slightly outward. Bend the knees slightly as you draw the ball back while taking aim. Straighten the body again as you propel the ball towards its mark. The above diagram gives the respective positions.

Don't stand rigid and expect the arms and shoulders to do the work alone. Ease the body into the shot, just as though you were taking a shot from any other position on the floor. Adopt the overhand shooting and stick to it.

LADIES' LEAGUE, Y. M. C. A.

The second section of the Ladies' League at the Y.M.C.A., is half over and the remaining four weeks of the schedule promises to be very interesting as the teams appear to be very evenly matched so far in the race.

The Bluejays led Miss Mina Ross, who were the runners in the first series are in second place in this series, being led by the Nightingales, captained by Miss Gladys Coulter by one game. Third place in the race is being disputed by the Robins, led by Mrs. L. Clysdale and the Cardinals, led by Miss Carrie Crookshanks. These teams are one game behind the Bluejays. The remaining teams in the league are all separated by about one game apiece.

The Nightingales, by dropping two games on Friday dropped their comfortable lead on first place, and they will now have to fight to remain in their position for the rest of the race.

The standing of the teams as on Friday, January 15th, is as follows:—

	Won	Lost	P.C.
Nightingales	11	4	733
Bluejays	10	5	666
Robins	9	6	600

EUGENE O'BRIEN AS "PERFECT LOVER."

Has Ideal Role in Support of Norma Talmadge in "Graustark."

Eugene O'Brien is known to millions of screen fans as a "perfect lover." Winning new laurels as the handsome young American in Norma Talmadge's triumphant photoplay, "Graustark," O'Brien again proves his versatility.

Garb the dashing Eugene in chaps or evening clothes, old-time habiliment or the last word in 1925 sartorial creations, and he's at his ease. "Graustark" provides an ideal atmosphere for the actor His love-making and romantic adventures in the modernized version of the famous George Barr McCutcheon novel add new luster to a distinguished career that has been marked by many appearances in Norma Talmadge successes.

"Graustark" was produced by Joseph M. Schenck for First National. Directed by Dimitri Buchowetzki, the noted Russian movie-maker, the story of a mythical kingdom and absorbing adventures of the beautiful princess and her American lover places lovely Norma and her leading man in an ideal element.

In the role of Princess Yetive, Miss Talmadge wears gowns and jewels that perfectly blend into the invigorating romance. Love and intrigue permeate the story that has delighted millions of fiction readers and now comes to the screen on a sumptuous scale.

The big supporting cast includes such yell known players as Marc McDermott, Roy D'Arcy, Albert Gran, Lillian Lawrence, Michael Vavitch, Frank Currier, Winter Hall and Wanda Hawley.

Frowning castles and quaint old-world streets were constructed and full-strength regiments of soldiers were recruited to faithfully carry out the development of the plot in McCutcheon's gripping tale.

"Graustark" opens at the Capitol on Monday.

AT THE REGENT

STORY OF TO-DAY AND YESTERDAY THEME OF FILM

Society Drama of Mother's Search For Happiness Has Colorful Background—Lew Cody and Mae Busch Head Company Directed By Robert Z. Leonard.

With many brilliant spectacles of the past as a basis "Time, the Comedian," a Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer production which opens at the Regent Theatre Monday, becomes a great panorama of the march of events of the colorful first quarter of the twentieth century.

Women will be especially interested in the clothes worn by members of the cast since the story opens in 1902. Brilliant balls and parties of that day are brought out in startling contrast to modern modes of life. Men will also find amusement in the fashions that were in vogue at that time for the male sex.

The story has many unique touches and is filled with cleverly handled situations. The life of a woman traced through the first quarter of the twentieth century becomes a recital of the startling changes that time as the jester of life has brought about.

Rallies Failed To Hold Prices Working Lower

NEW YORK, Jan. 16 (Canadian Press). — Rallying tendencies developed in to-day's brief session of the stock market, but they failed to hold, and the general level of prices again worked lower. Rail's displayed a firmer undertone but the early rally in these issues under the leadership of the eastern carriers soon petered out. Associated Oil was bid up to a new high record at 53, and independent strength developed in a few public utilities, foods and shipments. Short covering operations which facilitated an early advance were practically abandoned when selling pressure was resumed.

Easier Trend Was Shown On Toronto Stock Market

TORONTO, Jan. 16. (Canadian Press).—An easier trend was shown during this morning's active session of the Toronto Stock Exchange, though two of the leaders, Brazilian and Consolidated Smelters, were firm. Brazilian closed an eighth higher at 83 5-8, and Smelters 3-4 up at 187. Winnipeg, the third most active stock, was half a point lower rat 48. C.P.R. in active dealing sold a point lower at 148, while Canners Common gained a point at 14. Davies, Brompton, Telephone and Canners Preferred closed slightly lower and MacKay Common eased a point at 136. Lake Shore, again featuring the mines, sold down 42 at 11.00.

Selling Operations Sent Price Of Wheat Down

CHICAGO, Jan. 16 (Canadian Press).—Selling ascribed largely to Eastern sources and to foreigners gave the wheat market a downward trend today in the early dealings. Much of the wheat selling appeared to be based on opinions expressed in some quarters that agitation to promote higher prices for corn had spent its force and that under such circumstances, wheat values were too high. In the aggregate, however, wheat trading was not heavy, and the market was not influenced Opening quotations 3-8 to 7-8c lower, May 174 3-4 to 175 and July 151 1-2 to 151 3-8, was followed by a material further set back.

Liberal arrivals of corn here had a bearish effect on the corn values, and on oats. After opening unchanged to 1-4c off, May 85 1-4 to 8 51-2, the corn market underwent a decided drop all round.

Oats started unchanged to 1-8 to 1-4c lower, May 45 1-4 to 45 3-8, and then continued to sag.

Provision were firmer, owing to upturns in the hog market.

LAST HOME GAME UNTIL JAN. 29TH

That Hamilton Rowing Club are not to be under-rated is shown by the fine stand the Scullers made last night against Osgoode Hall, when they were out-lucked rather than out-played in a 5 to 4 game.

The Hamilton team will battle with the Petes at Brock Street Rink Monday night and the game should be a fast exhibition all the way. Steve Vair of Toronto is slated to handle the bell, and he will start the teams off at 8.30 sharp.

The Petes will likely use the same line-up that beat Parkdale so decisively on Wednesday.

Judging by the demand for reserved seats, a capacity crowd will see the Senior battle, which is the last home fixture until January 29.

CALOMEL IS GREATEST MEDICINE IN THE WORLD

CLEANS AND TONES UP THE WHOLE SYSTEM

To wake up without that tired feeling, without headaches, backaches, coated tongue, nasty breath, no more gas on stomach and feel your best day in and day out. What a glorious feeling. Keep yourself 100 per cent. efficient by taking one Tanol Calomel Tablet before meals or two at bedtime to stimulate your liver, clean your kidneys and stomach and a cup of hot water first thing in the morning to wash all the previous days' wastes, poison and undigestible matter from the bowels, before more food is taken in. Tanol Calomel is harmless, no Salts or Seidlitz are necessary to remove it from the system. Get a few of these tablets from your druggist, and I am sure they will make you eat better and sleep better, digest better, work better and feel much improved in every way. You get a few of these tablets from Webber's drug store.

WATCH THE KIDNEYS

Fatigue and that tired feeling is the result of poison in the blood. When the kidneys fail to remove this poison from the system it leads to backache, rheumatic pains and sometimes to that fatal ailment known as Bright's disease. When this condition exists, don't delay, go to your druggist and get a box of Dr. Banta's Kidney and Rheumatic Pills and they will quickly correct the cause of your trouble.

Mr. Arthur Pinch of Smith Township states that Dr. Banta's Kidney and Rheumatic Pills give him more speedy relief than any other preparation that he had tried.

People do all sort of stunts with Ford cars, but even the most careless give it a bit of oil once in a while.

With watches it is different. People seem to expect a watch to do things that even a Ford car won't do. We will give an honest opinion whether it needs attention or not and you won't be under any obligation either.

CAUSE OF DEATH IS INVESTIGATED

Man Died in Strange Circumstances at Welland Hospital.

BROTHER HELD.

WELLAND, Jan. 16 (Canadian Press)—An autopsy will be made to assist in determining the cause of the death of William T. Ward, aged 39, at the hospital here. Ward was brought in from the village of St. John's, in Thorold Township, apparently suffering from injuries sustained in a fight. Ward was able to proceed to his farm, where he lived with his wife and 13 year old son, but on his arrival home he collapsed and was rushed to the hospital. He succumbed shortly after being admitted. Fred Salsbury, a half brother, who resides on the neighboring farm with his mother, is being held on a nominal charge. Salsbury's face is badly torn and his hands severely injured, apparently in being bitten by human teeth.

POST HOLIDAY TRADE IS FAIR

Better Than Same Period Last Year Calgary Reports.

WINNIPEG, Jan. 16 (Canadian Press).—The weekly trade report of the Canadian Credit Men's Trust Association Ltd., reads:

Halifax—Both wholesale and retail holding up fairly well for this time of the year. Collections fair.

St. John—Wholesale trade quiet and retail trade fair. Collections fair.

MONTREAL.— Trade conditions covering commodities would indicate a slight falling off of sales, which of course is to be expected after the holiday season. Collections, however, appear to be fairly good and accounts are receiving better attention.

Toronto—Retail trade. This line of business naturally has fallen off considerably since of the 1st of the year. Due to comparatively heavy snow which has recently fallen a good volume has been transacted in certain lines. Collection: a fair showing has been made in this connection.

Winnipeg—Business in practically all wholesale lines holding steady and general outlook considered favorable. Retail business fair but colder weather needed to stimulate sales of footwear and heavy clothing. Collections: fair to good.

Regina—Wholesale trade reported fair to steady and retail trade generally fair. Collections holding up well.

Saskatoon—Wholesale prices are generally fair. Retail trade up to expectations for this season and collections are fairly good.

Calgary—Business generally continues to show a substantial increase over the same period last year. Collection holding up fairly well.

OLD MAN MURDERED.

MONTREAL, Que., January 16. — Canadian Press. — A Paquette, 82 years of age, of St. Emelie Street, found dead in the yards of the Dominion Textile Company, Limited, last night by the night watchman of the plant, was murdered it is believed.

An iron bar with blood stains on it, has been found by the police in the yard, between a shed and the fence, and footsteps in the snow led from the bar to the body of the victim.

OBITUARY.

REV. SIMON CROOKSHANKS.

After an illness of several months' duration, with health enfeebled previously, Rev. Simon Crookshanks passed away on Friday afternoon, January 15th. During the last ten years he had participated in the work of the ministry in this city, although he retired from taking active charge as a pastor some years previous.

Deceased was eighty-two years of age, and one of the sons of John Crookshanks and Margaret Johnston, pioneer settlers in the Township of Smith, in this county. His parents came to Canada from Ireland in the year 1839, twenty years after the first settlers gained a way into the forests that covered the township lands in 1819. After the death of his father he, with an elder brother and his mother, moved to Waterloo County in 1843.

His early education was gained in the public schools of the period and afterwards he took a theological course at Victoria College, Cobourg. His first pastorate was at Franklin Centre, in the Eastern Townships, below Montreal, on the south side of the River St. Lawrence. He served with diligence and fidelity on five circuits throughout the townships and afterwards was transferred to rural charges in Ontario Province, the first of which was at Hallowell, in Prince Edward County. Following he carried on his pastoral duties at Rodden, Bay Circuit, Enniskillen, Melrose, Norham, at Bridgenorth, and also at Thomasburg.

Ten years ago he retired from active charge of a circuit and made his home at Peterboro. Here he was ever at the call of his brother clergymen, and to the extent of his capacities to move about and take part, contributed to the work of the ministry among the people.

His was a long life in the service of the Church to which he held adherence. For over fifty years he preached and carried on, faithful to the aims and activities of the denomination to which he belonged. In 1877 he married Eliza M. Howard, daughter of Rev. V. B. Howard, living retired at Cobourg. His wife survives him, and of the family of two sons and four daughters only one remains, Miss Carrie Crookshanks, now at home.

The funeral will be held from George Street United Church, afternoon of Monday next, 18th inst., at half-past two o'clock, with a short service at the home, 626 George street, previous to removal of the body to the church, at 2 o'clock.

IN MEMORIAM.

In loving memory of my dear mother, who passed away Jan. 16th, 1924:
Loving and kind in all her ways,
Upright and just to the end of her days,
Sincere and true in heart and mind

ENGLAND'S TIME OF DEPRESSION IS NEARING END

Army of Unemployed Dropped Quarter Million in Few Months.

SOME LINES BUSY.

(By Clifford L. Day, United Press Staff Correspondent).

LONDON, Jan. 18. — England's "seven lean years of post-war depression, are ending if unemployment numbered 5,314,010, but by December 21 this figure had dropped to 1,102,400 and it was expected to be well under the 1,100,000 mark with publication of the January figures.

An official of the Ministry of Labor told the United Press today that he deemed a good omen that approximately 250,000 more persons found employment during the last four months of the year just closed. Statisticans of the Ministry admitted they could not predict whether the Bible prophesy of seven full years following seven lean ones would be fulfilled, but they felt confident that gains would be largely maintained and that 1926 would show further improvement of the labor situation.

In any event, England started the New Year with 170,000 more persons employed than at the start of 1925 and with 231,000 more than on January 1, 1924.

"The shoe, cotton textile, leather and automotive industries are all working on nearly full time schedules," said an official of the Labor Ministry. "Orders on hand should keep them busy until spring, before which time it is hoped, large additional orders will have been received."

The shipping industry throughout the year experienced an exceedingly severe slump, but there were indication at the close of the year that the coming months might see improvement. Barring unforseen developments, the outlook for 1926 is on the whole decidedly favorable.

The coal situation, however, is gloomy. The subsidy granted to prevent a strike last year at a time when more than 300,000 miners were out of work, will expire in April. This subsidy has cost England $50,000,000 and may cost another $50,000,000 or $75,000,000.

Unless the Government Commission now working on the problem of cheaper production of coal finds a satisfactory solution, England may be faced again in April either by a giant strike or a lockout.

On the other hand, with rubber at $1 or more a pound and tin at $1,435 a ton (compared with $795 in 1922) business is reaping a great harvest from those sources. It is estimated that the profits on rubber sold to the United States, would be sufficient, if prices were maintained, to pay off Britain's debt to America in four years.

PROGRESS SLOW ON DEBT PARLEY

Churchill Urges Agreement This Week by Italian Finance Minister.

DISPUTE AMOUNT

LONDON, Jan. 18.—(Canadian Press).—Becoming somewhat impatient at the slow progress of the Anglo-Italian debt negotiations, Winston Churchill, chancellor of the exchequer, is said to have made a strong appeal for a settlement early this week. No meeting of the principals took place yesterday, but Mr. Churchill and Count Volpi, the Italian finance minister, exchanged personal memoranda dealing with both financial and political aspects of the debt as viewed from the respective sides, and they will have a further conferenc today.

Although experts have been in almost continuous session, studying technical details, they have not even reached an agreement as to what shall be considered the total amount of the debt for funding purposes. Difficulties arise over Italy's claim to have returned to her £22,000,000 in gold, she deposited in the Bank of England as a guarantee for her debt. Italy also wants to be treated on the same terms as by the United States, while Great Britain desires a settlement on lines similar to the existing tentative settlement with France, but making some allowance for Italy's lesser capacity to pay.

REDS DISCIPLINE REBELS IN PARTY

LOST ELECTIONS.

MOSCOW, Jan. 18 (Canadian Press).— Another striking example of the severe fate which awaits those who violate the Communist party regularity, and discipline is to be found in the changes made in the Bolshevik Cabinet on Saturday. In addition to suffering a serious setback in the recent elections to the powerful political bureau, Leo Kameneff and G. Y. Sokonikoff, who with M. Zinovieff were bold enough to participate in a minority movement against the old guard in last party congress, have been further humbled. Kameneff has been relieved of the highly important post of Chairman of the Council of Labor and Defence and Vice-Premier, and Sokonikoff has lost his position as Commissiar of Finance, which he held for three years.

KING'S TRIBUTE TO ADAM BROWN

Life of Hamilton's Patriarch Was a Benediction, Says Premier.

NOBLE CITIZEN

OTTAWA, Ont., Jan. 18.—(Canadian Press).—Premier W. L. Mackenzie King issued the following statement last night on the death on Saturday of the late Adam Brown, former postmaster at Hamilton and member for the old constituency of Hamilton in the Federal Parliament:

"The death of Mr. Adam Brown in his hundredth year will evoke from men and women of all shades of political thought and feeling an expression of sorrow which is nation-wide For a quarter of a century past, the years that lie beyond the allotted span serve to reveal Mr. Brown not only increasingly in the light of a national figure, but in a very real sense to make of him more and more a national possession. He was an example to all of all that is best in kindliness of heart, generosity of nature, and the noblest type of citizenship. Such a life is a benediction not oply to those who have known its immediate influence, but to the land in which it has been lived and to the age to which it belonged. As such, the name and memory of Adam Brown will be held in reverent regard by the people of our Dominion."

DELAY ON WORLD COURT VOTE MAY BRING CLOSURE

Dilatory Tactics Like Filibuster by Opposing U. S. Senators.

PASS DEBT ACCORDS

Total of $600,000 Approved —Sixth Anniversary of Volstead Act.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18.—(Canadian Press.)—The week-end at the Capitol saw the world court issues together with a fifty thousand dollar appropriation for United States' expenses at the Geneva preliminary disarmament conference looming up large on the legislative programme. A measure to provide monies for the United States' delegation at Geneva, drafted at the request of President Coolidge, failed to reach a vote Saturday and will come up to-day.

Meanwhile a move to invoke cloture on the world court affair so as to get it out of the way speedily to make room for the tax reduction bill, developed late Sunday in senatorial circles. Those initiating the movement said an effort to limit debate to one hour for one speaker might be made to-day. It is asserted that dilatory tactics indulged in by opponents of the world court might bring out the necessary two-thirds for a cloture motion.

On Saturday Senator Moses "irreconcilable," delivered a prepared address, attacking the world court as a "League court" and the "lawyer and apologist for the League of Nations."

The sixth anniversary of the passage of the eighteenth amendment which made the United States 'dry' was used as a field day in the Senate by both prohibitionists and antis. Before the debate had concluded only eight or ten senators stayed to hear the "drink evil" or the Volstead Act denounced.

Radio Joker Was Cause Of Great Alarm in Britain

LONDON, Jan. 18 (Canadian Press).—Nation-wide alarm was caused in Great Britain Saturday night when listeners throughout the country heard a news bulletin announcer giving the terrible details of a rising by the unemployed of London. With horrible rapidity, the voice from the ether informed his thousands of frightened hearers that the "Big Ben" Tower of the Houses of Parliament had been levelled to the ground, the Savoy Hotel blown up, the Minister of Transport hanged to a lamppost, and that one angry mob was advancing on the Government offices along Whitehall.

But it was all a joke. The well-known humorist, Rev. Father Knox, was giving a burlesque of the routine nightly news bulletin from Edinburgh.

MURDERED IN MIAMI.

Montreal Man Shot By Bandit.

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 18.—(Canadian Press.)—Walter Isaac, 65, retired estate operator of Montreal, was shot and killed in the negro section of Miami Saturday night by two negro bandits who held up Isaac and Henry Levitt, his brother-in-law. Levitt escaped, the bullets fired by the gunmen when he fled from the scene.

Levitt told the police he and Isaac had delivered laundry to a negro wash woman and were returning home afoot when accosted. While one of the negroes held a pistol at Isaac's head, and the other rifled his pockets, Levitt cried for help and ran. The bandit then shot Isaac and fired at the fleeing survivor.

CHANG IS OPPOSED TO RED INFLUENCE

Threatens to Sever Relations With Peking Government.

PEKING, Jan. 18. — (United Press.)—Mukden advises credited General Chang Tso Lin, Master of Manchuria, as threatening to sever relations with the Peking Government if the regime becomes more bolshevized.

Indications that the Peking Government was leaning more toward Russia have been seen recently by some in the forthcoming visit of General Feng Yu Hsiang to Russia. The "Christian General" has long been credited with sympathy with the Russian Communist movement and he has hitherto been the chief support of the Peking regime.

Zero Weather In England Snow Drifts Block Roads

LONDON, Jan. 18 (Canadian Press)—England's coldest weather in many years upset the launching programme at Southampton Saturday of the first torpedo boat destroyer built since the war. Lady Chatfield, wife of Admiral Sir Alfred Chatfield, broke a bottle of champagne over the destroyer's bows and christened the craft Amazon, but the Amazon would not budge; she was frozen in the slipway.

Zero weather prevails in various parts of the country; highways ar impassable owing to snowdrifts, and railway traffic is also impeded. Many London coal dealers report their stocks exhausted.

FATAL TORNADO IN JUGO-SLAVIA

Belgrade Reports Terrific Storm and Great Property Loss.

RAGED ON SUNDAY.

BELGRADE, Jan. 18 (Canadian Press)—Many lives have been lost in a terrific tornado which swept the country Saturday and Sunday. Huge damage is reported and communications and public utilities are completely disorganized. The extent of the losses cannot be determined for several days.

Late Sunday the storm was still raging.

Snow Blankets France

PARIS, Jan. 18 (Canadian Press)—A heavy snowfall covers most of France, especially in the south and east where numerous deaths are reported from the cold. Telephone and telegraphic communication is interrupted and the roads are blocked.

In the Paris section the heavy fall of snow was succeeded by a thaw and last night most of the streets were covered with slush, causing traffic accidents. The prevalence of a warm wind in districts heavily snowed under has caused some fear of a recurrence of the floods, but experts express the opinion that the rivers are now so near normal that they can run off without danger.

FRONTENAC SENDING TEAM FOR COURSE

County Will be Represented at Swine Course at C.P.C. Plant.

KINGSTON, Jan. 18.—(Special.)—A team from the County of Frontenac is going to Peterborough early this week, to take the special swine course put on by the Canadian Packers' Association, through the Ontario Department of Ontario. A. W. Sirrett, agricultural representative in this district, will be in charge of the party. The course, which is being put on at various centres throughout Ontario, is open to all boys over sixteen years of age, and seven can represent a county. Instruction is given in grading, and judging both live and dressed hogs. The course at Peterborough is for the counties of Eastern Ontario.

CONFERENCE DELAYED?

Germany Wishes to Join League Before Taking Part.

GENEVA, Switzerland, Jan. 18.—(Canadian Press).—Because of articles in the foreign press and also because Foreign Minister Stressman of Germany is reported to favor delay until Germany becomes a member of the League of Nations, League officials said they would not be surprised if the initial meeting of the preparatory disarmament commision was postponed until the latter part of April.

Proclamation Of 'Messiah' Causes Break in Society

LONDON, Jan. 18 (Canadian Press).—At a meeting of the national council of the Theosophical Society in England here yesterday, it was revealed that a number of the members and one complete lodge had withdrawn from the organization on account of the society's adoption of the new world religion instituted for the coming of Dr. Annie Besant's new "Messiah," a young Hindu, J. Krishnamurti, the correspondent learned last night.

TORONTO PASTOR LOCKED OUT BY CONGREGATION

Rev. G. W. Allen, of Ossington Baptist Church, Found Door Barred.

SUPPORTED SHIELDS.

TORONTO, January 18. Canadian Press. — Although dismissed from the pastorate of Ossington avenue Baptist church, and although a substitute had been provided to take charge of the services, yesterday, Rev George W. Allen occupied the pulpit of the church in the morning, and in the evening he preached on the church steps to an enormous crowd which had assembled to witness the result of the church dispute.

Last Wednesday night at the congregation meeting the members ruled by a vote of 106 to 61 that the Rev. W. W. Allen must vacate his pulpit because of his support of the Rev. Dr. T. T. Shields, pastor of the Jarvis street Baptist church, in the latter's controversy with Professor Marshall of McMaster university.

Yesterday morning Mr. Allen entered the church as usual, and opened the services. Immediately members of the congregation jumped up protesting, declaring that he had no right there.

Mr. Allen, however, refused to leave the pulpit and finally those opposed to him rose in a body and left the church to attend a service in another building.

In the evening Mr. Allen arrived to find the church closed to him. Several members of the police force were on hand. Finally one of the doors was unlocked from the outside, and people surged up to gain admittance but were prevented from entering by barricades in the church. There was however, a crowd of Mr. Allen's supporters in the church. Mr. Allen himself got into the church, and the crowd waited patiently singing hymns outside.

Finally Mr. Allen and one of the police inspectors came out and Mr. Allen announced that he thought it would not be wise to try and storm the church. He would hold a service from the church steps, which he did, while his opponents conducted a service inside.

May Take Injunction

TORONTO, Jan. 18 (Special to The Examiner)—Locked doors and window boarded; six burly policemen on the church steps and a bewildered congregation barred out from Sunday evening service, was yesterday's contribution by Ossington Avenue Baptist Church to the Fundamentalist imbroglio. Today the bars will probaby be strengthened by an injunction taken out by the trustees against their pastor, Rev. G. W. Allen, whom they considered they had dismissed, but who refuses to stay dismissed.

All day Sunday the church was a seething scenario of conflicting units. The morning service, called by the trustees, was calmly appropriated by the pastor, but the collection was appropriated by the trustees. A faithful few of the pastor's adherents camped in the church after morning service to establish the possession that is nine points of the law. The trustees added the tenth by locking them in but letting the furnace go out. In the afternoon the trustees regained control of the church and held a prayer meeting locking out the Sunday School children. A Sunday School teacher tried to get in by the fire escape and was "poked in the jaw" by an official of the church.

Sunday evening came and with it the congregation to worship. They found the church in utter darkness and the doors barred against them. Six policemen camped on the church steps and the pastor held his evening service out in the "vaulted cathedral of a winter's night" under the stars and beside the church.

Says Not Legal

Last Wednesday a meeting of the church members passed a resolution declaring the pulpit vacant, intimating to the pastor, in other words, that he was dismissed. There were 166 at the meeting; the membership of the church is 404. The pastor Rev. G. W. Allen, therefore, declined to take this summary proceeding as legal, and arrived at the church on Sunday morning to conduct the service.

Mr. Bagley asked those who wanted Mr. Allen to preach to stand up, and a good proportion of the congregation arose to its feet. Mr. Allen considered himself confirmed as the preacher of the day and the service proceeded. Plainclothesmen from Ossington Ave. police station, who were in the church seeing that the service was then an actual fact, asked several of the interrupters to desist. A number left the church.

Some Locked In

THREE DEAD AND SCORE IN HOSPITAL BY PLUNGE OF STREET CAR INTO OHIO RIVER

Broke Through Guard Rail Near Pittsburgh on Sunday Night—Passengers Crawled Through Windows in Icy Water.

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 18. — (Canadian Press).—Three unidentified persons are dead and a score or more are in hospitals suffering from exposure and injuries as the result of the plunge of a street car into the Ohio River from the Fleming Park bridge at McKee's Rocks, last night. Two of the dead, a woman and a girl, succumbed after reaching a hospital and one body was found floating in the river.

Whether or not there were more fatalities was not known early today.

The passengers saved were brought to shore by police and volunteer rescue workers, and then rushed to hospitals.

According to an eye witness, the car, bound for McKees Rocks from Neville Island, in the Ohio, was running at a fast rate as it came into the bridge, and left the rails. It first struck a telephone pole, the witness said, and then broke through a guard rail and plunged into the water.

Immediately after the trolley had settled to the bottom of the river, he said, there was a smashing of windows, and passengers and crew crawled out into the icy waters.

A call was sent for ambulances and police reserves, and shortly after a crowd of persons estimated to number 10,000 gathered on the scene.

CARE OF TEETH VITAL MATTER SAYS SPEAKER

Dr. Conboy Says Dental Inspection Should Begin at Age of Two.

ADDRESSES ROTARY.

An earnest plea for the support of the Rotary Club on behalf of the campaign of the provincial government to protect the people of Ontario against dental diseases was made by Dr. F. J. Conboy, director of Dental Services for the Ontario Government in the course of a most educative address before the Peterboro Rotary Club today. Among the guests were a number of local dentists including Dr. J. J. Craig, Dr. J. E. Middleton, Dr. Killoran and Dr. O'Brien while the speaker was introduced by Rotarian Dr. M. A. Morrison who represents the dental profession in the local Rotary club.

Dr. Conboy kept his address as far as possible free from technical terms with the result that the laymen in the audience were enabled to get the full benefit from his remarks. In stressing the importance of proper care of the mouth the speaker told of the constant menace to health that was caused by diseased teeth and pointed out the connection between such conditions and other diseases occurring in other parts of the body.

He urged a systematic and regular inspection of the teeth by a competent dentist, commencing at the age of two years and continuing regularly through the life of the individual. Many people made the misake of thinking that the first or milk teeth did not require dental attention but Dr. Conboy pointed out that these teeth were used at the period of greatest development in the child, the period when it required the most nourishment. Secondly he pleaded for a better balanced diet. Too much carbo hydrates in the form of sugar, pastry, candy, etc., were consumed by the Canadian people and the speaker advised less of this kind of food and more raw fruits and vegetables. He also advised systematic artificial cleaning of the teeth and mouth as a means by which dental diseases could be prevented.

Dr. Conboy sketched the programme that is being carried out by the Ontario Dental Services. School dentistry in which connection he paid a warm tribute to the local school dental service and pointed out that the school board which tried to get along without a dental service was losing money, hospital dentistry, travelling clinics and a campaign of public education the need of which he strongly urged upon the members of the dental profession.

The address was full of information an interest to members of the Rotary Club and their visitors.

Rotarian Andrew Brown was appointed chairman of a committee to arrange for a representation of the local club at the District Conference in Niagara Falls in May and the past presidents of the club were instructed to arrange a programme for a special meeting in the near future.

BOARDER IN COURT

Charged With Theft of Rings.

CHATHAM, Ont., Jan. 18 (Canadian Press)—Mrs. Roma deMarlyn, formerly of Blenheim, was arrested at Windsor and brought to Chatham Saturday afternoon to face a charge of theft prefererd by County police. The woman is alleged to have stolen rings and dress-goods from the home of Mrs. L. M. Rogers of Blenheim, where the accused formerly boarded. Mrs. deMarlyn stoutly denied the charge when arraigned, the case being enlarged for a week.

Modern Girl Upheld In Debate At Queen's

KINGSTON, Jan. 18. — (Special.)— That the modern girl is better than her grandmother, was the verdict given in a debate held by the Levana Society of Queen's University. The debate was held at Ban Righ Hall. The debate was on the subject, "Resolved that the girl of our grandmother's day was superior to the girl of to-day." The subject was debated by the years 1926 and 1929, the affirmative being upheld by the first year girls and the negative argued by the graduating class.

AMENDMENT OF NON-CONFIDENCE

Meighen Expected To Question Trustworthiness of Government.

DEBATE ON SPEECH.

OTTAWA, January 18. — Canadian Press. — The House of Commons assembles again this afternoon when the debate on the speech from the throne will begin.

The week-end passed quietly in the Capital after the tumultuous days that had preceded. Many of the Ontario and Quebec members took the opportunity to visit their homes but all it is expected will be in their places when the debate starts.

After the mover and seconder, Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, the Conservative leader will follow, and it is expected that he will move a direct want of confidence amendment which would again bring on the battle for political supremacy.

Hon. Ernest Lapointe, Minister of Justice, is down to follow the Conservative leader, and then it is expected that Robert Forke, the Progressive leader, will speak.

The indications are that the battle has only begun and that this week will see a situation quite as critical as that of last week. The proposed Conservative amendement would, it is stated, challenge the trustworthiness of the government to carry on in view of the outcome of the last election.

The former amendment which was defeated by a majority of three, questioned the competency of the government to introduce the Speech from the throne.

WINNIPEG FIRE CAUSES $150,000 LOSS TO BLOCK

Score of Business Places Scorched in Saturday Night Blaze.

ON PORTAGE AVE.

The Stobart Building, One of Oldest of Kind in City.

WINNIPEG, Man. Jan. 18 (Canadian Press)—Damage of $150,000 resulted from a fire which partially destroyed the Stobart building, one of the city's oldest business and apartment blocks on Portage Ave., near Donald, in the heart of the retail district, Saturday night. Damage to the building is estimated at $40,000, while a score of business places suffered losses ranging from $1,000 to $25,000, those principally affected being the United shoe store, in which premises the fire started, loss about $25,000, the Mitchell-Copp Jewelry Company, $20,000, and the Lyceum Theatre, a motion picture house, $10,000.

One fireman sustained minor injuries when he slipped from a ladder, and two women residents of the block were partially overcome by smoke, but quickly recovered.

The fire was first noticed by a clerk in the shoe store when, at about 9.30 p.m. a cloud of smoke broke through the floor from the basement. The stock of the shoe company was a total loss, while many occupants of the apartments above the store lost all their personal belongings.

Nine Killed, 30 Injured, When Cigar Ignites Gas

GRAFTON, Ill., Jan. 18 (By NEA)—Henry Rand, credit manager of Royal Bros.' departmental store, was found dead in a room in a second class hotel here, with no apparent clue to the cause of death. Although his son maintains that his father did not commit suicide, the room was full of gas when the tragedy was discovered and the deceased was not known to have any enemies. The police are investigating.

FORDS NEW PLANES DESTROYED BY FIRE

Four Machines and Experimental Laboratory Were Burned.

DETROIT, Jan. 18 (Canadian Press).—Four all metal airplanes which had just been completed, together with the airplane experimental laboratory of the Ford Motor Company at Dearborn, were destroyed by fire of unknown origin that broke out at 6 o'clock yesterday morning. The loss is roughly estimated at between $300,000 and $400,000.

When the Dearborn fire department found itself unable to cope with the blaze, aid was summoned from Detroit and Wyandotte, but by the time it arrived the building, a one-storey structure, 200 feet long, was a mass of flames.

THE WEATHER.

On Sunday the temperature was up to 40 degrees, and to-day we had a heavy fall of rain. Do not, however, get the impression that spring is here. A quick change to decidedly cold weather is due shortly, and probably preceded by strong winds. W. P.

SUBMARINE PROBLEM REFUSES TO BE DOWNED IN SPITE OF REPEATED DISASTERS IN USE

Discussion of Value and Safety Re-opened By Challenge.

AS A WEAPON.

Only of Use When Provision For Safety Was Disregarded.

R. L. DUFFUS.

The submarine problem refuses to be downed. Brought to the front by the U-boat warfare, which, it is estimated, destroyed 12,000,000 tons of shipping and hundreds of lives, and temporarily disposed of at the Washington Armament Conference, it has been restored to life again by a chapter of peace-time disasters, ending with the sinking of the British M-1 and the loss of her crew of sixty-eight men. Lady Nancy Astor's summons to a world crusade "to scrap submarines" has reopened a discussion which involves not only the safety of naval crews of underwater craft, but also the foundations of international naval policies and the future peace of the world.

Though there is no obvious connection between the risks incurred by those who go to sea in submarines and the moral question of the proper use—if any—of submarine warfare, it is the latter phase of the subject which has forced itself on the world's attention.

Is the submarine a legitimate weapon? Can it be abolished without strengthening one nation at the expense of another? Are the nations which have most to gain by the abolition of this weapon willing to make concessions to compensate those that feel they will lose?

The Submarine as a Weapon.

These ticklish questions, the answer to which is now considered the key to the future of sea power, were hardly raised at all before the World War. Before that time submarine tactics, despite a long period of experimentation, extending as far back as the Revolutionary War, were chiefly theoretical. No one knew exactly what would happen when they were turned loose in large numbers against surface warships, or against commerce protected by a dominant battle fleet.

The experience of the World War showed two things: First, that the submarine was of comparatively little use in action against battleships when the latter was properly protected by a destroyer "screen," and, second, that they were effective as commerce destroyers only if the old rules regarding visit and search and provision for the safety of civilian crews and passengers were disregarded.

It also demonstrated conclusively what had previously been a matter of supposition, that a power weak in sea forces could go far toward restoring the balance by using underwater craft, if it were not restrained by humanitarian considerations.

Operations Against Warships.

At the beginning of the war the Germans had several brilliant successes against second and third class battleships and cruisers. On Sept. 22, 1914, Captain Otto Weddingen, in the U-29, accomplished the feat of sinking the British armored cruisers Aboukir, Hogue and Cressy, in the space of less than an hour, with the loss of more than 1,300 lives. Later the Germans sank the battleship Audacious. The French admitted a loss of three battleships and five cruisers in submarine attacks. On the allied side the exploits of submarines in the Baltic and the Sea of Marmora showed the uses of the submarine as a raider. One British boat, operating during the Gallipoli campaign, sank forty-eight vessels, some of them ships of war, in two months.

At one time, early in the war, the British Grand Fleet, anchored in Scapa Flow, was in constant apprehension of a successful submarine attack. Later the development of anti-submarine tactics reached a point where capital ships were no longer considered in danger.

The end of the war was followed by a spurt in submarine building and experimenting in all the allied countries, with a tendency toward large boats, more heavily armored and armed, and with greater speed and cruising radius. The British K-26 made 20,000 miles under its own power, much of it submerged, in a test trip to Singapore. A German inventor, Oswald Flamm, came out with plans for a submarine of 7,000 tons, with a cruising range of 20,000 miles and capable of carrying 1,000 mines. Flamm's plans were later reported to have been sold to Japan. The British X-1, launched in 1923, had a displacement of 3,600 tons. Another British submarine is said to have attained a surface speed of thirty knots. One type of post-war submarine is reported to be able to remain away from its base for five months and run 10,000 miles at low speed without refueling.

The historic debates of the Washington conference brought to a head the uneasiness caused by this rapid development of submarines, and particularly by the French submarine program. At the time of the conference, in December, 1921, the United States was estimated to have 83,500 tons of submarines; Great Britain, 80,000; Japan, 32,200; France, 31,500, and Italy, 21,000. The estimates varied somewhat according to the manner of computation, but the figures given indicated the approximate ratios of strength.

The original proposals made by Secretary Hughes were that the United States and Great Britain should each cut its submarine tonnage to 60,000, France and Japan to 31,500 and Italy to 21,000. No demand for complete abolition was presented by the American delegation, though a nation-wide vote taken by the American advisory committee stood at 395,104 for abolition as against 3,708 for retention with restrictions.

The official American attitude toward the submarine as presented by the advisory committee, of which Herbert Hoover, General Pershing and Rear Admiral Rodgers were conspicuous members, was that the submarine should be retained with certain restrictions.

"If the submarine is required to operate under the same rules as combatant surface vessels," said the committee's report, "no objections can be raised as to its use against merchant vessels." But the report went on to say that though "the United States needs a large submarine force to protect its interests, the committee is of the opinion that unlimited warfare by submarines on commerce should be outlawed. The right of visit and search must be exercised by submarines under the same rules as for surface vessels. It does not approve limitations in size of vessels."

Arguments For and Against.

In the meantime two sharply opposing points of view had been developed—that for which Admiral de Bon and M. Sarraut of the French delegation were spokesmen, and that put forward by Balfour and Lord Lee of Fareham. In these debates the submarine problem, substantially as it exists to-day, was stated, often in startlingly frank language.

Lee and Balfour advocated the complete abolition of submarines, as a means of warfare which could not be humanely used. The French reply was, not only that France would not accept abolition, but that the French must have the right, not to the 31,500 tons of the Hughes proposal, but to 90,000 tons. This was far more than the ratio normally required for a battle fleet of 175,000 tons, which France was willing to accept. If other nations were to adopt the same ratio, Balfour pointed out, an increase instead of a reduction in one of the most destructive naval weapons would occur.

"We should have the melancholy spectacle," he said, "of a conference called for the limitation of armament resulting in a vast increase in the very weapon which the most civilized element in all civilized countries condemned."

On the French side the reply was made that France considered sub marines necessary to her safety, though she had no intention of using them against Great Britain or British commerce. One possible occasion for them was to safeguard the transportation of native African troops across the Mediterranean in the event of a new war on the Rhine. Another recommendation for submarines, in the case of a country which was financially embarrassed, was their cheapness. The American committee estimated that the cost per annum of maintaining a fleet of 100,000 tons of submarines would be but $30,000,000—a small sum as naval appropriations go.

The discussion reached a dangerous climax when Balfour quoted a statement ascribed to the French Naval Staff Captain Castex, writing in a naval publication. "Thanks to the submarine, after many centuries of effort, thanks to the ingenuity of man, the instrument, the system, the martingale is a hand which will overthrow for good and all the naval power of the British Empire." Though Admiral de Bon characterized this assertion as "a monstrosity," it emphasized the chasm between the British and French points of view.

It was to smooth over this difficulty that Elihu Root introduced the resolutions which were later incorporated into the treaty, reaffirming the right of visit and search, recognizing "the practical impossibility of using submarines as commerce destroyers without violating the requirements usually accepted by civilized nations for the protection of the lives of neutrals and non-combatants," and agreeing to treat as pirates all submarine commanders who sank unarmed ships, causing loss of life. The French delegation accepted this treaty, though, because of the failure of France to ratify it, it has not yet gone into effect.

Opinions as the value of the submarine under these restrictions, and as to the possibility in actual warfare of enforcing restrictions, vary. American naval experts are frank in opposing the abolition of the submarine and almost as frank in their belief that it will be used against commerce in any future war.

What may be taken as the official naval attitude is summed up in a publication recently issued under the imprint of the Information Section, Office of Naval Intelligence.

"We shall look to the submarine," says this booklet, "to scout, to lay mines and to fire guns and to fire torpedoes, and to stay at sea in enemy waters for long periods. Of course the submarine treaty was intended to limit the use of the submarine against commerce, but the declarations, since the treaty, of those in high authority abroad indicate that that benevolent intention will not be realized in any future war, because each power must, of necessity, to guard its interests, act with as much freedom as any other power acts. It is therefore expected that the submarine in future wars will act against commerce with the same freedom and under the same laws as other vessels of war.

"The American Navy is well below the 5-3 ratio in submarines, as compared with the Japanese Navy. Some appropriations are desired in the near future in order that we may develop two classes of submarines not yet developed in our navy namely, the scout submarine and the cruiser submarine. The cruiser submarine is specially useful as a scout because of the extremely long radius of action, and because it can maintain itself on distant station in enemy-infested waters with comparative safety, where a surface scout would be wholly useless. The cruiser submarine can see and not be seen and can report successfully by radio over very long distances. These are developments of the recent past."

The recommendations of a special naval board, headed by Admiral E. W. Eberle, which reported last January, were that the fleet submarines should "maintain a tonnage based on the 5-5-3 ratio."

However, instead of this ratio, the actual ratios of first-line submarines, measured in tonnage, are, according to the latest available estimates: United States, 4.02; British Empire, 3.02; Japan, 3; France, 2.71; Italy, 1.17.

When it comes to details no two estimates of submarine strength seem to agree. Navy Department figures give the United States third place in fleet submarines, which are able to go out with the battle fleet; Japan first place, Great Britain second and Italy fourth. Of second-line submarines, which are smaller and slower, the same authority gives the United States 48 Great Britain 32 Japan 35 France 18 and Italy 10.

Incomplete Statistics.

These figures are complicated by the fact that it is not always easy to tell what submarines are obsolete and useless and in addition every country maintains a certain degree of secrecy with regard to submarine construction. Both the Japanese and the French have been credited with much more ambitious plans than those made public.

How wide the various may be is shown the statement made recently by Representative Fred A. Britten ranking Republican member of the House Naval Affair Committee. According to Mr. Britten the United States has eighty-three submarines, Great Britain forty-eight and Japan thirty-nine in active commission. A still further element of uncertainty in measuring active strength is that one large, powerful and heavily armored submarine of the latest type, with high speed and a wide cruising radius, may be more effective in war than several of the older types. If new construction alone were considered it is possible that France or Japan might lead.

The safety factor in submarines, though of interest to the general public as well as to the naval personnel, is not thought likely to be a deciding influence in future naval development. It is not even conceded that the submarine service need be any more dangerous than service in surface vessels.

Simon Lake summed up the views of an inventor and builder of submarines in a book published toward the close of the World War. "Accidents have been due," he declared, "as a rule to either of two causes, namely, faulty construction or carelessness. There is not a case on record of a properly constructed, well-handled submarine coming to grief through any cause related to the principle of her operation.

"Submarine vessels may be constructed to-day which are a great deal more trustworthy in their operation and considerably less dangerous to go about in than are certain well-known United States railroads. Nearly every submarine in use in the navies of the world at the present day is capable of functioning in perfect safety, so far as submergence and emergence are concerned. They may be operated with almost exact precision while located many feet beneath the surface. If given sufficient static stability there is no danger that they will dive to the bottom or that they will not come up again."

The structural troubles with submarines, which have sometimes led to disaster, have been due, Mr. Lake believed, to the demand for speed. Engines too light for their work or too heavy for the boat which has to carry them may cause serious breakdowns. The problem is complicated by the fact that submarines must carry oil engines for running on the surface and for charging batteries and electric engines for running when submerged. Some have even had a third set, for use during the critical 60 to 100 seconds when the boat is disappearing or emerging.

The causes of submarine disasters are not always known, but in almost every known case they seem to have been due to something other than a structural defect. Collision is a danger from which a submarine commander cannot always guard himself, though if he will stop his own engines he can usually hear the throb of an approaching propellor, if it is perilously near. Next to collision the most frequent source of trouble is error in operation. A submarine is a mass of delicate machinery, all of which must be operated with precision if safety is to be insured. Sometimes mistakes are made, just as engineers sometimes run their trains past danger signals.

Horror of Lingering Death.

The main difference between being sent to the bottom in a submarine and in an ordinary vessel is that escape from a submarine is more difficult, and at the same time the system of air chambers and air-tight doors may bring the submarine crew a lingering and painful death instead of one mercifully swift. This is the horror always potentially present in submarine navigation, and it was this which gave force to the protest led by Lady Astor.

The list of submarine disasters is a long one. Among the recent tragedies which have shocked humanity have been the United States submarine O-5, which drowned five men in October, 1923; the Japanese submarines 43 and 70, which sank in March, 1924, and in August, 1923, respectively, with a total loss of 128 lives; the British L-24, which was rammed and sunk on January 10, 1924, with a loss of forty-three lives, and the Italian Sebastiano Veniero, which sank last September with a loss of fifty lives. Add to these the thirty-seven lost in the S-51 and the sixty-eight lost in the M-1 and the toll for naval forces in time of peace becomes a heavy one. According to Representative Britten, the United States has lost five submarines, with a total death roll of ninety-eight men.

A number of inventions, existing or proposed, may make the submarine crew's lives safer. One would be a storage battery that would not give off the deadly fumes of chlorine gas when flooded with water. Another would be better means of communicating between submerged submarines and surface ships or stations.

In the early Lake submarines it was possible to leave the craft while on the bottom by means of an air pressure lock and an outside door. But a submarine equipped with torpedoes or mines and two complete sets of high-power engines, with a hull capable of carrying them, does not readily lend itself to such devices.

A certain element of risk, even in peacetime manoeuvres, will probably always remain. Yet, if the opinions expressed in naval circles in every country except Great Britain are representative, the submarine will never be abolished merely because it sometimes kills its crews. It will disappear only with general disarmament or by becoming obsolete.

MURRAY STREET CHURCH REPORT

Annual Statement Shows Very Successful Year—Societies Busy.

LARGE SUMS RAISED

On Wednesday evening, January 13th, the congregation of Murray Street Baptist Church held its Annual Banquet and Business Meeting. Each year this church becomes more attached to its pastor, Rev. Dr. Rose, to whose organizing ability, tact and devotion is largely due the success of the past year's activities. This is especially true of the inauguration and success of the new scheme whereby the Sunday School is no longer a part of the church, but is the whole church organized for Christian education. The popularity of this method of organization is indicated by the absence of adverse criticism and by an average increase in the attendance of 114 members per Sunday. Furthermore, the success of this experiment has commended it to churches far and near.

The Church Clerk reported that, though losses through death and removals have more than been offset by additions, a revision of the roll by which nearly 40 names have been retired made the report show a net decrease.

The place of women in the modern church was attested by the fact that 6 out of 9 reports not dealing with general finance were presented by them. As a "service organization" the Women's Association, though it may not be so widely known might well take its place with Rotary and Kiwanis. Besides an infinite variety of sympathetic service, the ladies raised $1163, of which they contributed $500 to the Parsonage Account.

The report of the Women's Mission Circle covered a year's work, well-planned and full of activity. Besides providing for its members a liberal missionary education, this society raised over $600 for Home and Foreign missions, supported 3 Bible-women in India, sent $100 to Mrs. Haddow in Bolivia and a Christmas hamper, valued at $50, to the Polish Mission in Toronto.

The Young Ladies' Mission Circle reported a prosperous year's work, including the raising of $240 for various missionary activities.

The Mission Band, though its chief function is to teach the children, raised $67.

In spite of financial depression, deaths and removals, this congregation raised over $12,000. The members increased their contributions to current expenses by $150, and reduced the mortgage on the church plant to $2,950. But for certain unforeseen capital expenditure, the church would have ended the year with a credit balance. The unusual calls for charitable purposes are indicated by the fact that, for the first time, the Fellowship Fund was depleted by the end of the year.

The Trustees reported that an adjustment amounting to $6,588 had been made with the insurance companies for loss caused by the recent fire.

During the evening several complimentary references were made to the work of Mr. Francis Sutton, the musical director of the church. Dr. Morgan, chairman of the Choir Committee commended his work, not only in developing purity of tone in the choir music but in establishing, without extra remuneration, classes ranging from Primary children to the adult choir. Evidently Mr. Sutton conceives of his job as much larger than simply leading the choir on Sunday.

A very pleasant feature of the evening was the recognition of the long and faithful service of Deacon Thomas Distin, who was made an Honorary Deacon. Mr. W. W. Richman was elected to fill out Mr. Distin's term on the deaconate.

LAKEFIELD'S FIRE BRIGADE OFFICERS

A. H. Clarke Elected Chief at Annual Meeting.

LAKEFIELD, Jan. 18.—The annual meeting of the Lakefield Fire Department was held on Jan. 13, and these officers elected.—

Chief, A. H. Clarke; Asst. Chief, W. Murduff; Deputy Chief, W. Robinson; Captain of Hose, T. A. Simpson; Captain of Chemical, L. Sabatino; Lieut. of Hose, F. Webster; Lieut. of Chemical, J. Ridpath; Teamster, F. Darling; Chief Engineer, G. Scriver; Sec.-Treasurer, E. Robertshaw.

It was decided to hold a card party on February 15th. Full particulars will be given later.

A. Y. P. A. Party.

The fifth of the series of euchre parties given under the auspices of the A.Y.P.A. was held on Thursday night last and was attended by about forty people. The prizes were won by Mrs. Stenner and Mr. Bert Summers, and the consolation prizes by Mrs. A. Wannamaker and Mr. W. Millage.

Among those present were Rev. and Mrs. Cox, Mr. and Mrs. Bradern Blewett, Mr. and Mrs. Chappell, Mr. and Mrs. W. Millage, Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Northey, Dr. and Mrs. J. C. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. C. Stenner, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Woodhouse, Mrs. Chads, Mrs. Knox, Mrs. Ira Lennox, Mrs. Earl Orr, Mrs. T. Waldon, Mrs. A. Wannamaker, Misses Hampton, Summers, Webster and Graham. Messrs. L. J. Charlton, R. Duff, N. Hampton, R. Murduff, F. Moore, E. Robertshaw, W. Robinson, B. Summers, T. Simpson, G. Strickland, Chas. Thomson, A. Webster, F. Webster, K. Wannamaker.

The Chancel Guild of St. John's Church held their first meeting of the new year at the residence of Mrs. F. J. Tate, on Thursday afternoon and elected officers as follows:

Honorary President, Mrs. F. J. Tate and Mrs. (Rev.) W. Cox; President, Mrs. H. G. FitzGerald; Vice-President, Mrs. O. A. Langley; Sec., Miss Graham; Treasurer, Mrs. Todd; Work Director, Mrs. J. C. Strickland.

The office of the Standard Bank has been moved to the new premises on the east side of Queen St. The new building is a handsome up-to-date structure and an ornament to the village.

Scheduled games played this week in the Lakefield Curling Club are:

Jan. 14: N. A. Moore 6, C. S. Tanner 10, J. N. Charlton 12, P. Spence 20, Rev. P. L. Jull 4, J. E. Galvin 4, J. J. McFadden 5, Theo. Crawford 1.

Personals.

Among those from Young's Point who attended the hockey match on Friday night were Miss Brookes, Mr. T. A. Brown, Mr. L. Wilson, W. Heard and M. Cummings.

Miss Tanner has returned from Agincourt, where she has been visiting Mr. and Mrs. A. Wakeley.

Rev. W. Cox was in Toronto on Friday on business.

Mrs. Kingston and daughter were out from Peterboro' on Thursday, the guests of Mrs. F. Tate.

Mrs. H. Kemp is in Hospital in Toronto, where she underwent a serious operation. Mrs. Kemp's condition is very satisfactory.

Guard Against "Flu" With Musterole

Musterole relieves the congestion and stimulates circulation. It has all the good qualities of the old-fashioned mustard plaster without the blister.

Rub it on with your finger-tips. First you feel a warm tingle as the healing ointment penetrates the pores, then a soothing, cooling sensation and quick relief. Have Musterole handy for emergency use. It may prevent serious illness. The Musterole Co., of Canada, Ltd Montreal.

TEXAS GOLF CHAMPION.

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, Jan. 18.—(Canadian Press.)— MacDonald Smith, of Great Neck, L.I., won the Texas open golf championship here late Sunday with a score of 288 when he sank a two foot putt for a par three on the home green. He was one stroke ahead of Bobby Cruickshank of Chicago.

Don't Cough Your Head Off Don't Cough All Night Long

Mrs. Thos. Gilbert, Welland, Ont., writes:—"Some time ago I took a very severe cold, and it settled on my lungs.

I coughed day and night, and had such severe pains, in my chest I could hardly bear them, but finally I sent and got a bottle of

Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup

After I had taken a couple of doses I found that my cough was relieved and the pains were all gone, and by the time I had finished taking the whole bottle I was completely rid of my trouble.

Now, I will never be without a bottle of 'Dr. Wood's' in my home."

Two Detroit Men Held for Assault.

WINDSOR, Ont., Jan. 18—James R. Nelson, 29, William Sawiski, 33, and Frank Cursy, 31, alleged hijackers, from Detroit, are held by the Windsor police following an alleged attack on Stanley Guffits, 26 years, 1518 Elsemere Ave. Guffits is in Hotel Dieu suffering from serious cuts about the head, including a badly torn ear.

PLANS SUBMITTED

Inspector Brings Data on New School to Warsaw People.

WARSAW, January 18. — Mr. Mr. Richard Lees, inspector of Public Schools, was in Warsaw on Monday. He had plans for a new school building with him. There will be a public meeting on Wednesday afternoon, Jan. 20, in Warsaw school, when estimates will be given, plans submitted, and a chance given for any necessary discussion. The voting will take place on Wednesday, Jan. 27th, in the town hall.

On Wednesday evening, the U.F.O. held its regular monthly meeting. The U.F.W.O. joined with them. Mr. W. Anderson gave the report of the convention. He explained the workings of the U.F.O. Co-operative union. He cited the binder twine buying. The farmers went to the Canadian manufacturers first but they refused to have anything to do with it. Then they went to American manufacturers and got it. Now the binder twine mostly comes from Ireland. He had some of the addresses with him. He said the delegates did not get paid in full unless they attended every session. Each delegate had a booklet and every session he attended was checked as he entered.

He also showed that the organization was a great one, when it could use Massey Hall for three whole days —no other organization did it.

Mrs. E. R. Hamblin, Peterboro director of the U.F.W.O. said that she had attended five of these conventions, and that this wa the best. Before this people were on their feet wanting to speak before they had done much thinking. This year they thought before they got up to speak; there were not so many at it and business was done quickly. The women met in only one session alone. Nearly all the resolutions were accepted, excepting two, viz., the one regarding township trustees and the one regarding eliminating glorification of war from the school schoolbook.

She spoke of co-operative selling. More was got for cream by sending it to the Toronto Co-operative than from any other creamery.

Party politics and politics had been discussed. Clubs, she said, should be interested in politics, but should not take up party politics.

She urged subscribing for the Farmers' Sun.

Mr. Ed. Kidd, Zealandia, Sask., is visiting among old friends in Warsaw district.

Mrs. Wallace Anderson was about 15 hours late reaching her destination. The other side of Chicago they had to wait for the track to be cleared of wreckage.

OUR ANNUAL JANUARY PIANO CLUB

Club Opens Tuesday

It is fitting in a community like this to have such an extraordinary Piano selling event as the Greene Piano Club. It enables parents to give the children whose birthright it is to know and enjoy the inexhaustible beauties and delights of music, the opportunity to purchase a Piano—so conveniently NOW—when the child should be taking lessons, and not have to miss the golden age period through waiting for a more convenient time.

Many of These Same Instruments have been sold right here in our town at $450.00. Hundreds more are being sold every month all over the Dominion of Canada at $450.00. THEY ARE WORTH $450.00. They are worth it on our floors or on the floors of any reputable dealer in the country. The Greene Club price is $337.00. The price includes everything. There are no extras of any kind. No interest to be added. Nothing to be added for cartage, freight or stool — ABSOLUTELY NO EXTRAS. Three hundred and thirty-seven dollars is the price, and the price INCLUDES EVERYTHING.

The saving to each Club member is $113.00 —will pay for the musical education for one child for more than THREE YEARS at 75c a lesson per week.

The Deal and the Instrument

The deal is a straight-cut offer of 20 Pianos. The instruments are of the most reliable, trustworthy character—THE ENNIS (Boudoir style), in which the real value is put on the INSIDE rather than in fancy cases. They are well made by good Canadian workmen in one of the best factories in the world.

Club Books Open on Tuesday

The Club books open at 8.00 a.m. Tuesday. In other words, Tuesday will be the first day you can join the Club. The Pianos, however, are now on display in our warerooms, where you can see and hear them. You are cordially invited.

The Value of Each of These Pianos is $450

Exclusive Club Advantages

OF THE GREENE PIANO CLUB

CASH SAVING—Every member selecting a Piano saves $113.00 cash and pays no interest.

CLUB PAYMENTS—The special Club price is payable in reduced weekly terms of $2.00.

NO INTEREST—Club members pay no interest on Club plans. The Club price includes everything. There are no extras of any kind. This is a great saving also PROTECTIVE INSURANCE—If a Club member dies with all payments made as due, the heirs receive instrument without any further charge.

RELIEF INSURANCE—If a member is taken sick, or becomes unemployed, the privilege of making half-payments is granted for as long a period as he has previously paid in full.

REBATE FEATURE — A Club member can lessen the special Club price still more by paying faster than the Club terms call for.

EXCHANGE PRIVILEGE — Club members have the privilege of exchanging their Piano any time within one year, without loss, for any other new Piano or Player-Piano of equal or greater value.

GUARANTEED — Every Club Piano is guaranteed for five years in writing.

FREE—Stool with Piano and city delivery FREE, if on ground floor; also one FREE tuning.

Just 20 Members

On Tuesday, January 19th, we will inaugurate our eighth Club, one of the biggest events that have ever taken place in the Piano trade. Incidentally, we will have reached our Twenty-first Anniversary in the music business in this city, the business having been established in 1905. In other words, the big Greene Piano Club—with its 20 members participating in the big purchase—is intended to really celebrate our Twenty-first Anniversary in a business way, and, most important, to make it possible for 20 families who really need Pianos to secure them under ideal conditions.

The Greatest Piano Offer in Canada

We have conducted this tremendous Piano event on seven occasions. It has grown in volume and popularity because it is undoubtedly the most attractive Piano offer made in Canada. A great many families are owners of instruments secured through this Club. And they are pleased. Its low price offer, easy terms, no interest and special privileges are the magnet that draws them. You cannot equal elsewhere the value offered here.

20 Ennis Pianos

These 20 Pianos will be sold $6.00 cash, then $2.00 a week. The $6.00 just about covers the cartage and delivering—yet the $6.00 payment made when you join the Club is credited to your account. The instrument is delivered when the initial payment of $6.00 and the two subsequent payments of $2.00 each have been paid.

The Club Price Can be Lessened

THE CIVIC RINKS.

If there are citizens who question the value of the policy of civic skating rinks, a walk around the city on a Saturday afternoon would prove an education.

The city's rinks at Inverlea Park, at the James Stevenson Park and elsewhere are all being extensively used, and no one could look at the rosy cheeks and listen to the happy laughter of the young skaters without coming to the conclusion, "Here is money well spent."

Skating is made available to everybody under safe, comfortable conditions, and hundreds of Peterboro youngsters, as well as many adults, are taking advantage of the facilities provided by the Council with obvious benefit to their health as a result.

It is splendid exercise, and the city fathers have done well to make it possible for children everywhere throughout Peterboro to participate.

The expenditure on such amusement is not very great, and it is amply justified in view of the enjoyment it provides for the children and young people of the city.

Later on perhaps when financial conditions are such as to warrant it, hockey rinks may be provided in order that youngsters can get an early chance to learn Canada's national winter pastime.

SPREADING FALSE REPORTS.

Peterboro does not perhaps differ from any other community in the circulation that is given to slander and gossip—yet it must be confessed that there does not seem to be the slightest difficulty in giving wide publicity to false reports that reflect upon well-known citizens.

Where such reports originate is a mystery, but common sense suggests that they are made out of whole cloth by some one with an axe to grind, some one blinded by jealousy or ill-will, and there is a certain grim satisfaction in the thought that sooner or later these lies may "return to plague the inventor."

The trouble is that once invented there is no limit to the number of agents who are willing, even eager, to pass them on, often adding to and elaborating the original story until it is much worse than the first falsehood, bad though that might have been.

The integrity of a business man or the honour of a woman are not safe from such behind-the-hedge attacks that gain in intensity as they are circulated.

The only way to stop such stories is to be very chary in believing reports that reflect upon others.

Beware of the whispered story that hits at some well-known citizen, and if you cannot help hearing it, you can at least help to stop its circulation by refusing to pass it on to somebody else.

PRAISING GOOD WORK.

The coroner's jury which inquired into the death of a Toronto youngster killed when the bicycle on which he was riding was struck by a motor car, had many nice things to say about the detectives who solved the mystery by ascertaining the identity of the driver.

The praise was merited, for the officers had only a very slender clue upon which to work, and their successful completion of the case was the consequence of very painstaking and intelligent investigation.

The Examiner mentions the incident because of the fact that it is so seldom praise is given police officers, even when it is highly deserved.

They are engaged for that purpose, and yet the officer who takes his duty seriously and concientiously endeavours to carry it out is much more often condemned than praised.

Police are often "booed" and seldom cheered.

There is no logic in this instinct to treat law enforcement officers as if they were engaged in some underhand business instead of protecting our lives and property—but it exists to a considerable degree everywhere, and police officers of experience are perhaps hardened to it.

Nevertheless it is refreshing to see good work by a police department publicly acknowledged as it was in this Toronto case.

ADVERTISING CHANCES.

"World's cheapest good land—close to railways and markets." This is the heading of an attractive advertisement which the Edmonton district is publishing this month in farm papers throughout the central and mid-western sections of the United States, says the Border Cities Star.

This ad is the third of a series for which the people of Edmonton and the country roundabout are paying. So far results have been good. More than 500 inquiries have been received from Yankee farmers anxious to improve their conditions, since the advertising was started two months ago. And it is reasonable to assume that numbers of the inquirers will locate in Alberta later on in the year. Furthermore, those who do make the move will likely be desirable settlers—men with capital enough to make the change and start out in a new location without Government or other assistance.

In Western Ontario we have a great deal of farm land that is either vacant or not worked as well as it might be. Many farms are for sale; many thousand acres of land, as good or better than that in Alberta, are not being worked. Moreover, our land is nearer to railways and large urban markets than that in the Western Province. Why cannot we do the same thing they are doing out there—advertise it in the American farm journals?

GROUP GOVERNMENT.

The Toronto Star says that there is no assurance that after another general election there will not again be three or even more parties in the House.

"There is no means by which this sort of thing can be prevented," remarks the Star, and adds: "For our part, we do not particularly want to see it prevented."

With the first part of this statement there is no particular fault to be found; there is, of course, no guarantee that a repetition of the present situation could be averted by a general election, although even the faintest hope of such a result is worth grasping at.

But it is difficult to understand the Star's admiration for group government as it promises to work out at Ottawa.

Does the Star think it a good thing for this country to have the government of Canada at the mercy of a score of members with a frankly sectional policy as their chart, whose leader boasts to the newspapers that if "the Government doesn't give us what we want out it goes?"

Is it a good thing for this country that the Hudson Bay Railway project should be jammed through in the face of condemnation by experts who have investigated the undertaking and of the demand from the people generally that capital expenditures shall be reduced?

Is it a good thing for this country that, at a time when there is an insistent and ever-growing demand for a reduction in the income tax, that the administration should be under the thumb of a group who are unanimous in favour of maintaining the present tax or even increasing it, for the very obvious as well as very self-interested reason that only a handful of farmers pay income tax?

That Western interests should have representation in the House, that Western problems should be championed, is one thing, but that a score of Western members should be in a position to put through a sectional and class programme at the expense of this country merely because one old party wants to stay in office or another to get there is another and quite different thing, and the Examiner differs from the Star in that we do "want to see it prevented."

THE SOCIAL SIDE OF PARLIAMENT.

In another column we print a letter from a correspondent disapproving of the space and prominence given to the social aspect of the opening of Parliament. This correspondent fears that, in some way, such displays of russet and sheen, and gold and glitter, so incomparably described by the social editors, may sap the democracy and enfeeble the judgments of our new M.P.'s. Their wives, she says (for our complainant is a woman) want to "keep up with the Joneses" with the consequence, in effect, that indemnities are mortgaged for new dresses, and a process begun in which political principles are subordinated to social pre-eminence.

Our correspondent, we feel, is sincere. But we fear that her impressions of Ottawa politics and society are taken from such caricatures as those contained in a recent book of fiction, and, what is more, that she has not thought her subject through to the truth.

In the first place, no member of Parliament, new or old, can find anything compulsory about the social events commonly associated with Parliament. There must be many M.P.'s indeed, married and single, socially inclined and otherwise, who have never attended a Drawing Room, and to suggest, as our correspondent does, that this must visit them with ostracism, reveals only ignorance of realities. There are other ways, if necessary, to "keep up with the Joneses."

But is there anything inherently wrong about events such as the Drawing Room? Is it a sign of decadence, or merely an indication that men and women have a longing for the civilized amenities of life, if at times they throw off the cares and worries of the hour and meet in social intercourse? Would life be sweeter, would democracy be more wholesome, would politics be more honest, if politicians went about with long faces, if statesmen clothed themselves in sackcloth and ashes, if they and their wives stood aloof in hostile camps, without an occasional softening of asperities, without an occasional glint of laughter and good fellowship, of conviviality and comradeship?

Our correspondent asks whether such things took place in the days of Macdonald and Laurier. The answer is yes, and long, very long before that. They have been taking place at the opening of every British Parliament everywhere since the days of Elizabeth—they are the very bone and sinew of the British parliamentary tradition. We wish our correspondent could stand by St. Margarets, near Westminster, and watch the procession go by to a British parliamentary opening, or could sit in the gallery of the Lords and see the beauty and the mysticism, the archaic ritual, the historic symbolism which is blended with the social charm and glamor of the King's appearance there. Walter Hines Page, stoutest of democrats, saw it, and he has left his impressions of it in language that is memorable.

Three years ago, when Ramsay MacDonald and his Labor Ministers dined at Cliveden with Nancy Astor, and later went to Buckingham Palace in breeches and silk stockings, certain Labor people in England made the same protest that our correspondent makes now. They said that such display when people were unemployed was a disgrace to Labor. And they feared that the Labor cause would be sapped by such insidious contact with the enemy.

We wish we had at hand, so that we could print it for our correspondent's benefit, the reply of Ramsay MacDonald. In effect, it was that they did little service to democracy who endeavored to make it unlovely who thought that it must be sad, and sombre, and crude; or that it was a plant that must necessarily wither in an atmosphere of enjoyable society. And Ramsay MacDonald went on to rebuke those whose faith in their principles was so weak that they feared weakening of its fibre through contact with other human beings.

After all, men and women crave and need amusement. It drives away dullness and drabiness; it is wholesome corrective against intellectual stagnation; and, what is most important of all, it keeps people from that most dreadful of all fates—taking themselves too seriously. A famous British statesman once said that when, at times, he became puffed up with vanity, and thought that if he ceased his vigilance the world would cease revolving, he read a little astronomy. It made him realize how small and insignificant he really was—he regarded himself less gravely. And so it is with all of us. We are all apt to become too self-centred, too much engrossed with our labors, too oblivious to the finer and brighter things in the scheme of life. It is then that we nee dcontact with our fellows.—Ottawa Journal.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

In this case, anyway, the newspapers are miles ahead of the politicians. None of the latter have been heard calling for a general election.

Wise and Otherwise.

Music is well said to be the speech of angels.—Carlyle.

We live in deeds, not years: in thought not breaths;
In feelings, not in figures on a dial.
We should count time by heart-throbs.
He most lives
Who thinks most, feels the noblest, acts the best. —Bailey.

What is more insane than to vent on useless things the anger that is felt towards men.—Seneca.

History is the essence of innumerable biographies.—Carlyle.

Nothing is thought rare
Which is not new, and follow'd; yet we know
That what was worn twenty years ago
Come into grace again.
—Beaumont and Fletcher

Friendship should be surrounded with ceremonies and respect, and not crushed to corners. Friendship requires more than poor, busy men can usually command.—Emerson.

Necessity is a violent school-mistress. —Montaigne.

A THOUGHT.

NOW HONESTLY—

How often has something gone wrong, down at the office, and sent you home to take it out on the family?

Cut out the kidding. You've been guilty, just as all of us have.

And, it isn't fair.

If you have got a pet peeve, clear it up at the proper time place. Don't drag it around with you. You only upset yourself and everybody else.

The family likes to hear about the office of course but they'd much rather hear the nice things.

Do you get a sensation of pressure on the heart? Don't be frightened it's not heart trouble—it's indigestion. Seigel's Syrup will fix it. Any drug store.

CATTLE, GRAIN AND PRODUCE

Peterboro—Toronto—Montreal
Winnipeg

MONTREAL GRAIN AND PRODUCE

MONTREAL, Jan. 17 (Canadian Press). — The foreign demand for Canadian grain on the Montreal market Saturday was very quiet and the volume of business transacted was small.

There was no change in the condition of the market for millfeed, prices being firm with a moderate amount of business passing. Standard grades of rolled oats were steady at $3.40 to $3.50 per bag of 90 lbs. delivered to the trade.

The receipts of eggs in Montreal on Saturday were 383 cases, as against 491 for the same day last week, and 243 cases for the corresponding day a year ago, while the arrivals for the week ending January 16, 1926, were 4,860, as compared with 6,527 cases for the previous week, and 1,916 cases for the same week last year. The total receipts from May 1, 1925 to January 16, 1926, were 374,732 cases, as again 402,558 cases for the same period of 1924-25. The receipts last week showed a decrease of 1,667 cases, as compared with the previous week, and an increase of 2,944 cases with the same week a year ago, and the total arrivals from May 1, 1925, to date have been 37,836 cases less than last year.

Egg Production Heavy.

The feature of the trade since this day week has been the continued weakness displayed in the market and prices for strictly fresh eggs scored a net decline of 4c per dozen and they are now 22c per dozen below the highest level they reached a month or six weeks ago. This has been entirely due to the steady increase in the production throughout Canada and the heavy supplies that have come forward here for the season of the year. The consumptive demand has only been fair owing to the continued high prices demanded by the retail trade and in consequence of which stocks on spot have accumulated some.

Prices for storage eggs were reduced 4c to 6c per dozen which was attributed to the fact that holders became anxious owing to the liberal supplies of fresh eggs available and set out to liquidate their holdings, with the result that car lots of extras were disposed of at 32c per dozen, firsts at 30c, and seconds at 25c, but even at these low figures buyers were not disposed to operate freely, and the impression in the trade is that they may possibly go still lower before a clearance is made. In a wholesale jobbing way the demand has been confined to small lots with final sales of extras at 40c, firsts at 35c, and seconds at 28c per dozen.

The receipts of butter in Montreal for the week ending January 16, 1925, were 725 packages, which show a decrease of 427 packages, as compared with the previous week, and a decrease of 447 packages with the same week last year, while the total arrivals from May 1, 1925, to date have been 49,7.. packages smaller than the same period of 1924-25.

A feature of the trade during the past week was the improved demand from some operators for New Zealand creamery butter and as the prices quoted were satisfactory to them, sales of several fair sized lots were made for delivery in the very near future. There was also some demand for Canadian grades, but the volume of business on the whole was not large, and the market was inactive. The offerings of the latter are small for the period of the year and in consequence a steady feeling prevails in the trade.

Cheese Prices Unchanged.

The receipts of cheese in Montreal for the week ending January 16, 1925, were 2,486 boxes which show an increase of 438 boxes, as compared with the previous week, and a decrease of 27 boxes with the same week last year, but the total receipts from May 1, 1925, to date have been 99,255 boxes in excess of the same period a year ago.

There was a slight improvement in the demand from English importers for supplies of early makes, and as the prices bid were better than they have been of late, some business was done, and stocks on spot were reduced, but the trade in the late makes has continued slow and the market on the whole was quiet. Spot prices were nominally unchanged.

STERLING RATES

Sterling demand $4.86 5-8.
Sterling cables $4.75 1-8.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Jan. 16 (Canadian Press).—Corn received much of the blame today for weakness of wheat and of other grain as well. Agitation to promote higher corn prices was represented in various quarters as having largely spent its force. The wheat market closed heavy, 1 1-2 to 2 1-4 cents net lower, May $1.73 3-8 to $1.73 1-2 and July $1.50 1-2 to $1.50 5-8. Corn finished 1 1-4 to 1 3-4c down; oats 3-8 to 1-2 to 5-8 off, and provisions varying from 40 cents decline to 7 cents advance.

One reason for the downward trend of the wheat market was that efforts of industrial and financial institutions to advance prices of corn had resulted in big speculative purchases of corn a short time ago. But that the corn market had been without subsequent adequate support and that under such circumstances wheat values were too high. With this kind of talk current, considerable selling of wheat developed, and brought about a persistent downgrade action, with final quotations at almost the bottom level reached.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

YOUNG PEOPLE TO-DAY.

Dear Editor: Kindly copy the following clipping from the "Mail & Empire." It has been thought that a sermon like this should be preached in Peterborough; also, owing to reports of late, to the condition of affairs here.
—A Reader.

"A caution against allowing the licentious element to enter into the amusements of to-day was given by Rev. H. J. Cody, D.D., preaching in St. Paul's Anglican Church on Sunday. 'When I hear of the parties in which the young folk of to-day take part,' he said, 'I am compelled to wonder whether the path which they are pursuing is not, after all, the course of modern paganism. Can we ask Christ's blessing on immodesty? Can we ask His blessing on semi-intoxication? Would we desire His presence at any of these gatherings? Do not keep Jesus out of your gladness or joy will inevitably be turned to bitterness.' All life, he declared, was the realm of Christ's consecrating influence. He could ennoble and heighten all earthly joys, lifting all common and insipid things to the level of the uncommon and the divine.

"Taking as his theme the manifestation of Christ's story through His first miracle of changing the water into wine, Dr. Cody drew attention first to the marvelous change which had been effected without effort. 'He spake and it was done, He commanded and it was created.' Christ, he said, had never suspended natural law. In His miracles he merely accelerated the process by intervention. He worked as the agent of God according to that divine law by which in the beginning we were made and by which to-day through that continuous creation which we called preservation we lived. We were alive to-day only because of the creative presence of God, and it mattered not how many or how few were the media between that great first cause and that divine ultimate purpose.

Best Waits in Life Beyond.

"The information of the Mother of Jesus contained in the words 'they have no wine,' was, he suggested, synonymous with that great poverty-stricken cry of to-day. 'They have no chance.' At the world's banquet the wine of life was very apt to fail. Christ alone could save the countless millions from their poverty and their shame. His supplies were infinite, and He could satisfy the immortal hunger and the blessed thirst of all.

"'It is a marvel of God's glory,' concluded the preacher, 'that He keeps the best until the last. In our physical life the good wine is always produced first, and at the end the dregs are bitter and undrinkable. But in Divine law the order is reversed. Creation has continued from the darkness and chaos and the formless deep through light and life in its lowest animal form to man and, finally to the highest and the best man. In the fulness of time, God gave His Only Begotten Son. And the end is not here. The best waits in some life beyond, for after all how little may we attain in that short space of three score years and ten?'"

KEENE MAN HURT

KEENE, Jan. 18.— The annual meeting of the Otonabee Agricultural Society will be held in the Council chamber in the Town Hall, Keene, on Wednesday, Jan. 20.

The Otonabee Young People's Club is holding a dance on Tuesday night.

The joint boards of the United Methodist and Presbyterian churches met in the Methodist church on Tuesday afternoon to discuss the coming union of the two churches. Nothing definite was done, although some suggestions will be sent to the Presbytery.

Mr. Charlie Hunter had the misfortune to be kicked in the eye with a horse while grooming it. Being up close to the horse, Mr. Hunter narrowly escaped serious injury.

Miss Winnie Edwards was a visitor to Peterboro friends on Friday.

Mrs. Andrew Rennie and daughter Norma were in Peterborough on Friday.

Mr. Harry Short is improving nicely after his recent accident.

Rev. Andrew McLaughlin was in Peterboro on business Friday.

Miss Katherine McCarthy has returned after spending a few days at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Barnes at Millbrook.

LEAGUE COULD HELP SETTLE DIFFICULTY

Offers Best Chance in Problem of Papacy and Italy.

ROME, Jan. 18. — (Canadian Press)—The good offices of the League of Nations would offer the best chance for a mutually satisfactory solution of the difficult problem of the relations of the Papacy and the Italian State. This is the belief expressed by a cardinal who occupies an important position in the Sacred College but who insists that his identity be not revealed.

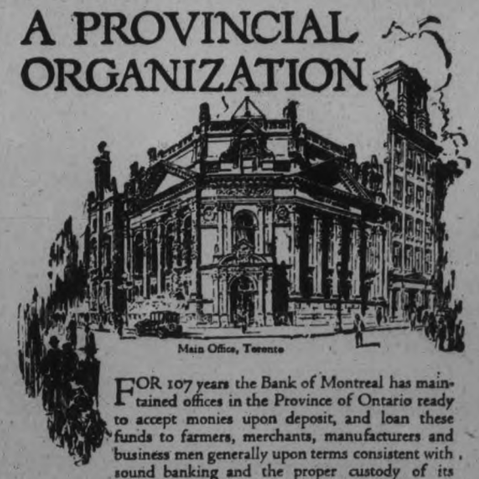
The cardinal said that the League of Nations constitutes the best instrument for bridging over the difficulties which hitherto have prevented the healing of the breach between church and the State caused in 1870 by the destruction of the Pope's temporal power. Every one of these difficulties would be dismissed, this prince of the church explained, if Italy permitted the creation within the confines of the City of Rome of a small papal state, in which the Pope would rule as a mandatory of the nations.

WANTS SETTLEMENT

MILAN, Italy, Jan. 18.—(Canadian Press)—Rome correspondent of the Corriere Della Sera asserts that the Pope desires to settle the question of relations between church and State quickly.

"The Holy See fears," the correspondent adds, "that if an integral solution of the problem is not made quickly, it may never be made, because the generation of our son will end by not even having a notion of it.

A PROVINCIAL ORGANIZATION



Main Office, Toronto

FOR 107 years the Bank of Montreal has maintained offices in the Province of Ontario ready to accept monies upon deposit, and loan these funds to farmers, merchants, manufacturers and business men generally upon terms consistent with sound banking and the proper custody of its depositors' funds.

Since the first office was established in 1818 at Toronto, the Bank has spread throughout the Province until today it has 249 offices in Ontario, with headquarters at Toronto, ready to give prompt and efficient service to people of this Province.

Small accounts are welcome and are accorded the same service as that given to large accounts.

Customers of the Bank have all the advantages resulting from a Provincial Organization, combined with the strength and facilities of a nation-wide Banking Institution having world-wide connections.

RUBBER BEARS FURTHER DEPRESS QUOTATIONS ON LONDON MARKET

Decline of Three Pence a Pound Last Week—U. S. Pressure.

CUT PRODUCTION

LONDON, Jan. 18. — (Canadian Press).—Whether by reason of Herbert Hoover's campaign or because of timidity among the speculators is not quite clear, but raw rubber has a setback to 3 shillings 4¼ pence per pound in Mincing Lane, the raw rubber market. This is three pence down on the week and 14 pence below the highest touched recently. The week's record in share quotations on the stock exchange has been consistently downward.

Experts attribute the weakness to the sensitiveness of the market to bear selling on the evident determination of the United States to protect itself with regard to future requirements, and the publication in the United States of statistics for December, which, with the larger stocks at London, caused a drop in the quotations Because of this, operators sold other securities to find increased margins for the losses on rubber, which the banks were demanding.

Futures Sold.

The temporary high level of rubber has not materially affected the earnings of some of the rubber concerns, which have just issued their 1925 balance sheets, recording average selling prices throughout 1925 as between twenty and thirty pence per pound. Several companies announce that they have sold part of he 1926, 1927 and 1928 output with in that range, in some instances to the United States. The higher average price of 1925 over 1923, however, enabled all the companies to pay higher dividends.

In their annual review, the Figgis Compay, produce merchants, expect a reduction of plantation rubber in 1926 of around 646,000 tons, and estimate arrivals here of 620,000 tons, which, they say, is required for the consumption if it continues on the same scale as in 1925, but they point out it must not be forgotten that reclaimed rubber will be increasingly used, and that the United States has erected plants for an increased output.

MADOC SOCIETY HAD ANNUAL MEETING

Election of Horticultural Officers Was Postponed for Two Weeks.

MADOC, Jan. 18.—A meeting of the Horticultural Society was held Thursday evening. Owing to the absence of the president, Mrs. Geo. West, Mr. W. C. Connor took the chair. After the reading of the minutes, the financial report for the year was presented. The secretary reported sixteen paid-up members for 1926. After some matters of business had been dealt with it was decided to adjourn the meeting until Jan. 28th, when the annual election of officers appointment of committees and appointment of delegates to O.H.A. will be held.

At the annual election of officers for the Alert Fire Company of Madoc, the following officers for 1906 were elected:

Chief—John Armstrong.
Assistant Chief— Richard Wellman.
Captain—George Gordon.
Lieutenant — Leonard Mulrooney.
Secretary—Wm. R. Gray.
Treasurer—B. M. Richmond.
Foreman of Hose—A. L. Connor.

LAID UP BY NEURITIS AND RHEUMATISM

Is quickly put on his feet by simple home treatment

Many people who have suffered for years from the crippling pain of rheumatism or neuritis report that they have got amazing relief from a very simple home treatment.

"I could not walk for two weeks," writes a man from Moncton, N. B., Canada. "I had to be carried around like a baby. But one bottle of Sloan's Liniment put me on my feet again."

Just a little Sloan's patted on lightly—and a healing tide of fresh, germ-destroying blood is sent tingling through the pain-ridden tissues. No rubbing! It's the medicine itself that does the work.

Soon the swelling and inflammation go down. The aching stops. Almost suddenly you find yourself really free from pain, really comfortable at last. Get a bottle today and have it on hand. All druggists—35 cents.

CHEESE FACTORY ANNUAL MEETING

KING'S WHARF, Jan. 18.—The recent thaw and hard frost has made the road acro Pigeon Lake splendid and a larg. number went to Peterborough Saturday by the short road.

A meeting in the interest of the shareholders of the Maple Leaf Cheese Factory was held in the hall Monday afternoon and a large crowd was present. A number of business matters was discussed and Mr. Horton, the cheese maker, read the season's reports.

The following officers were elected:

President—Patrick J. Harrington.

It is hoped the cheese factory will run again next year, as it is a splendid way to get the milk away in summer.

MANY SHOOTINGS DURING WEEK END

Two Dead and Two Mortally Wounded in Detroit.

WOUND FATAL.

DETROIT, Jan. 18 (Canadian Press).—Two men, Biske, and Morley Phillips, were shot to death in Detroit Saturday, one being slain in his office in the afternoon, and the other victim meeting death in the dining room of his home Saturday night. In both instances the slain men were real estate operators and reputed to be wealthy.

Robbery was the motive in one instance. The reason for the other killing is not known.

Two men, H. B. Weller and Clarence Lampman were shot in the abdomen early yesterday morning and are likely to die. The assailant is said to be Christopher Holden, a deputy sheriff.

FASCISTS RUSH OUT OPPONENTS INJURING THREE

Stormy Scene Ends Session After Memorial to Dead Queen.

IMPUNITY SOUGHT

Mussolini Demands Recantation of Popular Party Accusation.

ROME, Jan. 18. — (Canadian Press.)—Political opposition to the Fascist regime is useless and absurd, Premier Mussolini told the Chamber of Deputiees Sunday in announcing that so long as he held power the Aventine oppositionists would not be permitted to return to the chamber unless they renounced their "die-hard" antagonism to Fascism.

The premier's statement was made at a special session called to discuss the "moral question" of the Aventine opposition's accusation that Mussolini was implicated in the murder of the Socialist deputy, Matteotti.

At the memorial services Saturday for Dowager Queen Margherita the so-called Aventine opposition, members of the Popular party, entered the chamber after having refused to take part in the proceedings of that body, for many months. Serious disorders arose in which some of the recalcitrant deputies were injured. Sunday the premier accused them of adding insult to injury in choosing as the moment for their return the commemoration of "The first Italian queen, who loved Fascism intensely, and who was intensely loved by Fascism."

While Premier Mussolini spoke, the majority of the Aventines either took refuge in the library or fled from the Parliament building, knowing what was likely to follow. As soon as the Premier had left the Government bench a group of Fascist Deputies dashed at the remaining Aventines who had stood their ground, dragged them out of their seats by their hair, rushed them to the main entrance of the Parliament building, meanwhile kicking and striking them with much violence, and threw them outside. Three of the Aventines sustained bruises and cuts.

Instead of explaining why they came back, with the "moral question" unsolved, the oppositionists, Mussolini declared, "sneaked into this assembly, hoping for impunity because our emotions were aroused by memory of the great dead.

Imposes Conditions.

"I must repeat my clear intimation," he continued; "I must again confront the oppositionists with our unshakable conditions. The opposition has spoken of Fascism as being a myth. Personally I refuse to be myth; I do not desire to be shelved before my time. I am extremely alive, like all Fascists. Anyhow many of those who desire to burn incense before mythical personages often are liars and cowards. Whoever from Aventine desires to re-enter the chamber, thanks to our tolerance, must solemnly and publicly fulfill these conditions.

"First, acknowledge that the Fascist revolution is an accomplished fact and has by now become a regime which has profoundly changed the constitution of the Italian state, so that any preconceived opposition is politically useless and historically absurd and may be understood only by those who live outside the limits of the state.

"Second, acknowledge not less publicly and solemnly that the nefarious and scandalous campaign of Aventine has miserably failed, because a moral question regarding the Fascist government and party has never existed.

"Third, must publicly and solemnly separate their responsibility from that of persons who across the frontiers continue anti-Fascist agitation.

Mussolini To Stay.

"After having accepted and fulfilled these conditions, the disbanded Aventine deputies may hope that we will be tolerant and that they may re-enter the chamber. But without acceptance nd expectation of these conditions they will never re-enter so long as I shall be in this place, and I expect and intend to remain here for a long time."

"Forever! Forever!" was roared from all the benches in answer. Mussolini was accorded an ovation and was wildly cheered, those in the galleries joining with those on the floor of the House. The Chamber then adjourned until January 21.

Hardly had the last speaker finished extolling the virtues in peace and war of the dead Queen when Fascist Deputies rushed at the Aventine Deputies and violently ejected them from the Parliament building, after some blows had been exchanged. Three of the Aventines were slightly injured in the scuffle.

The Aventine opposition left the chamber immediately after the Matteotti murder, declaring that they would not re-enter it as long as the Facismo remained in power, as there was a "moral question" against Premier Mussolini, whom they openly accused of being implicated in the killing of the Socialist Deputy.

LAW NOT INCLUSIVE

QUEBEC, Jan. 16 (Canadian Press).—There is no present intention on the part of the Government to amend the minimum wage law regarding women in factories. The agitation started in Montreal to have the scope of the law extended so as to include all women who work, not only in factories, but in stores, offices, and as domestics, is not viewed favorably here.

BODY FOUND IS NOT IDENTIFIED

Coroner's Jury Returns an Open Verdict on Corpse.

AT POWELL RIVER.

VANCOUVER, B.C., Jan. 16. — (Canadian Press.) — An inquest held yesterday at Powell River on the body of a man found on the shore of Blubber Bay dissipated the theory that it might have been that of Clarence Peppard of Minneapolis, who disappeared in Vancouver some weeks ago. The jury returned an open verdict that the body had been found and that three was no evidence to reveal its identity.

LEFT MEMBERS LOSE COURAGE

Realize That French Will Not Stand Another Ministerial Crisis.

SUPPORT BILL.

PARIS, Jan. 16. — (Canadian Press).—Realizing that the country would not tolerate another Ministerial crisis, even a partial one, the members of the Left cartel on the Chamber of Deputies Finance Committee have lost courage in their proposal to defeat the financial project of Minister of Finance Doumer. When their courage failed it required very little persuasion by Premier Briand to lead them to agree to call off the special debate set for to-day which was to have ended with the downfall of M. Briand's Government, and to collaborate with the Government in preparing a financial measure which will find the widest possible acceptance and which can be submitted to the Chamber next Wednesday or Thursday.

"Just a minute first, please, Aunt Celimena." The note of quiet decisiveness in Connemara's voice focused attention. Palpably some new sensation was imminent.

As they watched her where she stood beyond the doorway, leading to the porch, with a quick little gesture Connemara threw off the bandeau which bound her head. Her hair—her glorious, gilded hair—tumbled down, its well-kept secret revealed at last. Revealed, that is, but partially. For the light was so tantalizingly dim in the shadows, and the moonlight so discreetly pale.

"Ah!" There was triumph in the ejaculation of Bingham Carrington as he rushed to Connemara from one side—the triumph of victory. "Bobbed, by god!" he cried.

Saltonstall Cabot Adams crowded forward on her other hand, seeking the secret's answer as a stray wisp of moonbeam lit the portion of the girl's head that met his anxious eyes. He saw that the lovely hair still reached her shoulder, and beyond. He had won!

"Not bobbed!" cried Salt fervently. "Not bobbed, thank God!"

"Thank fiddlesticks!"

It was Connemara, irreverent, biting. Then all at once she softened. Putting out her arms she took Bing's nearest hand in one of hers, and Salt's in the other.

"Bing dear, Salt dear," she said, her voice richly happy. "You're both right, and"—she laughed in their puzzled faces—"truly I don't want to be mean, old dears, but——"

She stopped there for a moment, with a little excited intaking of her breath. Then, with a would-be flance by either hand, she stepped out from the shadows into the full light of the moon. "You see, in a way, you're both right. Also—look—you're both wrong!"

They looked again, and saw. On one side of the hair of Connemara was bobbed. On the other its luxurious fullness was untouched.

"I told you," Connemara continued, very matter-of-factly, "that if I bobbed it meant Bing; if not, I chose Salt. Well, you see, dear boys, when that blessed barber got started I had a funk and made him stop right in the middle. I just didn't know. Then I had to keep the awful mess hidden. I thought that perhaps by midnight I could make up my mind. And then, all at once, I realized positively that I simply couldn't. That was impossible. Perhaps——" she smiled brightly at the disconsolate men—"perhaps it was because I liked each of you too well to be willing to give him up, even for the other. Anyway, I ducked out. You know what's happened since—this madhouse night we've all had."

"Admirably," Connemara agreed sweetly. "After all, Aunt Celimena, it was you who really started it all with that edict of yours that I'd have to announce my engagement by midnight or lose Moorelands."

Aunt Celimena sniffed. "In a way, you've done that already, my dear. The important thing is your marriage by October."

"Exactly," Connemara agreed once more.

Came then, as the movies have it, an interruption unexpected, in the person of David Lacy.

"Why wait until October?"

A startled silence followed. A brief silence, all at once broken by Connemara's mischievous laugh.

"Why, indeed?"

With which curious comment Constance Mary Moore stepped boldly—even brazenly—across the intervening yard of moonlit porch to stand close beside Lacy.

"May I?" He bent toward her.

"Just a minute. First, ladies and gentlemen, and whatever, let me announce my engagement . . . to Mr. David Lacy."

Aunt Celimena nodded her head rigidly. "No news to me." Then a smile softened the old lady's face. "This time are you sure, Constance Mary?"

"Quite."

"That"—Aunt Celimena spoke with the deliberation of an oracle—"that is all I wanted. Young man, I congratulate you." With which Miss Celimena Moore gathered her dressing gown about her gaunt shoulders, as regally as angular spinsterhood in dishabille permitted, and left the company to its own devices.

Without waiting for the exhibit to be completed, David Lacy slipped his arm about the girl beside him. Her head suddenly rested on his shoulder. The perfumed glory of the hair of Connemara, half long, half short, brushed his cheek warmly, intoxicatingly. Then two strong hands grasped her shoulders and Connemara found herself swung out at arms' length facing him, his fine level eyes burning into hers, his smiling mouth inviting. . . .

"Oh, David——"

"The guy," opined Sweetie judiciously, "is no slouch. Ahh! They're comin' up for air at last!"

Saltonstall Cabot Adams coughed. Or it may have been Bingham Carrington—certainly one of the two. A distinctly self-conscious cough.

"Won't you congratulate me?" he asked.

"Better than that—congratulate me! It wasn't her hand which Connemara held out, but her lips. And first Bing then Salt kissed her.

"You dear boys!" she cried. "Please, will you both be our best man—best men, I mean?"

"The wedding," added Lacy, "is this afternoon."

At which point the dour McTish contributed his first mite to the galloping conversation.

"A' verra grrand," he burred, "and my pleasure is to make the first wedding present. Here it is." From somewhere about him the little Scotsman extracted the pretentious roll of bills Lacy had received from Connemara after the talk with Sweetie in the moonlit sitting room.

"The fifty grand!" exclaimed Sweetie. "Pete's sake, how that can change hands!"

"The same. It's coming to my friend Lacy, anyway—it's his capture. As the rest of that precious lot has cleaned out, except this Sweetie girl. . ."

"Oh, she's staying with me," Connemara interposed. "Aren't you, Sweetie?"

To which that young woman vehemently replied, "Unanimous."

"Them being gone, as I said, it's easiest to forget 'em," McTish continued. "The gang's broken up, an' there'll be a reorganization i' the Shanghai Line noo. Anyway, oot o' the roll Lacy can fix up the loss of the Bloody Nuisance and a' the rest o't."

"I knew it right along!" gurgled Connemara ecstatically. "Tear up the child, I have the papers! And to think it could have happened in Connecticut."

"Long Island mostly," corrected Lacy. He added, "and Auteuil."

Her eyes smiled into his.

"Auteuil. I remembered you when I first got in the car. I remember your mother too—charming men have charming mothers, don't they? Connecticut? Auteuil? Everywhere—always!" She sighed dreamily. "The happy ending. . ."

"The happy beginning!"

Whatever reply she may have intended to that final interpolation of his was quite completely crushed from her, as David drew her to him.

"Attaboy!" whispered Sweetie to the fragrant night in general. With a regal gesture she herded Saltonstall Cabot Adams and Bingham Carrington toward the hall door. "Come, youse—this here is a private rehearsal."

THE END.

President Tucker Re-elected —Village Officials Appointed By Council.

NEW BANK MANAGER.

STIRLING, Jan. 18.—The village council met on Monday at 11 a.m. for the purpose of organization. The members are the same as 1925, viz: C. B. McGuire, reeve; Messrs. H. Morton, Thos. Cranston, Samuel Hatton and Jetty Thomson as councillors. After some routine business, they adjourned to meet on Thursday afternoon when all were present but Thompson and Hatton.

A by-law was passed in regular form and the following officers were appointed for 1926: Clerk, Geo. H. Luey; treasurer, Thos. G. Clute; assessor, John Tanner, who is also village constable; collector, M. W. Sine; electrician, etc., F. Sprentall; auditor, Earl Eggleton; school trustee, Dr. Potts; Board of Health, R. P. Coulter; fence viewers, R. Vance, Alex. Morton; poundkeeper, Wm. Chambers.

Annual Fair Meeting.

The Stirling Agricultural Society held their annual meeting on Thursday evening with a fair attendance. The treasurer's report showed the following receipts: Government and municipal grants, $519; members' fees and donations, $374; admission to grounds and concessions, &c., $120.50; entries in the field crop competition, $10.50; wood and lumber sold, $16.65; prizes from Women's Institute, $1.25; on account of the building of cattle sheds this year, money had to be borrowed to the amount of $1,150.

The expenditure of the above was as follows: Prizes, horses, $129.75; cattle, $169; sheep, $40.50; swine, $32.50; poultry, $102.75; grain, $27.-05; roots and vegetables, $38.50; fruit and flowers, $21.80; dairy and domestic products, $154.30; ladies' work, $95.25; fine arts, $10.30; boys' and girls' exhibits, $37; other educational agricultural exhibits, $15; field crop competition, $150; attractions, races, &c., $315.60; lighting and fixing up of buildings and grounds, $52.35; purchasing of church sheds and rebuilding same, $1,076.24; interest on loans, $100.50; salaries, $100; postage and stationery, $10.50; printing and advertising, $151.51; other small items, $9, leaving a balance to begin 1926 of nearly $50.

The land and buildings are valued $8,800, with liabilities of $27.50, which, it is expected, will be largely reduced during 1926. The society resolved to affiliate with the Ontario Fairs' Association and Clayton Tucker was selected as delegate to the convention which meets in the King Edward Hotel, Toronto, on February 3 and 4, 1926.

The annual meeting of the Central Fairs' Association is to be held in Belleville on Wednesday, January 24 at 1 p.m. Messrs. C. Tucker and C. B. McGuire were appointed as delegates to this convention. Election of officers followed. The retiring president asked Mr. Thos. Montgomery to preside. Mr. Tucker was re-elected as president and resumed his position as chairman of the meeting, and the election proceeded, with the following result:

First vice-president, J. Clinton McGee; 2nd vice-president, J. E. O'Donnell. Directors—A. B. Fargey, Wilson Harlow, C. M. Sine, W. H. Heath, W. Garrison, W. Fitchett, Thos. Montgomery (sr.), Chas. Auditors, John S. Morton and Thos. Solmes.

It was decided to enter the field crop competition with oats and ensilage corn as the crops.

Department judges are to be employed as in past years.

A cinder floor is to be put in the new cattle shed. The standing committees of 1925 were re-appointed for 1926.

The business of the annual meeting completed, a directors' meeting was convened. The secretary's salary was fixed at $75, on motion of Martin and Montgomery.

Messrs. C. U. Heath and J. D. Mills moved that M. W. Sine, V.S., be secretary-treasurer for 1926. The meeting then adjourned.

I.O.O.F. Visit Picton.

On Wednesday afternoon nineteen patriarchs of Encampment No. 80, I. O. O. F., led by Degree Master Past D. D. G. P. W. T. Sine, entrained at 2 o'clock, bound for Picton Encampment No. 72. Mr. Frank Smith's motor-bus met the travellers at Belleville station, and without any mishaps, arrived in Picton at 4:35 p.m. After the inner man had been satisfied by a good supper, the Encampment room was invaded, D. D. G. P. Baker, of this Encampment district, being present for the purpose of installing the officers of No. 72. This was done, then the degree team of Stirling Encampment exemplified the Golden Rule degree to two candidates. Afterwards, a sumptuous repast was served by the Picton brethren.

Several short speeches were given and the journey home started at 12:30 p.m., ending at 6 a.m., a delay being necessary on account of no train service between Belleville and Stirling during these hours.

The interest still continues at the new skating rink by those who enjoy this invigorating pastime.

The officers of Laurel Rebecca Lodge were installed by D. D. G. P. Mrs. (Dr.) Alexander of Oakdale Lodge, Madoc, on Tuesday evening last.

Agricultural Course.

The classes in agriculture, &c., which are being held, have a large attendance and much interest is shown by the students. A social afternoon was held in the opera house.

The St. Andrew's W. M. S. meeting was held on Tuesday with 20 members present. Mrs. Thos. McGee and Mrs. Henry Reid had charge of the topic and dealt with their subjects in a very efficient manner.

The Ladies' Aid of St. Andrew's held their annual meeting on Thursday. The reports of the work of this society for the past six months showed that excellent work had been accomplished by the ladies. The treasurer's report, given by Mrs. Rollins, revealed the fact that $609 had been raised since June 10 last. The officers for the ensuing year follow: Mrs. Thos. Spry, president; Mrs. C. Bailey, 1st vice-president; Mrs. Jas. Montgomery, 2nd vice-president; Mrs. Bissonnette, secretary; Mrs. Harper Rollins, treasurer.

Mr. Thos. Cranston has sold his residence at the corner of Front and James streets and will remove to rooms over his restaurant. Mr. Lyman Weaver was the purchaser.

The Y. P. A. of St. John's Anglican Church had a very pleasant evening at the rectory last Monday. Games and contests comprised the program. Lunch was served.

Mr. A. G. McKenzie, of Toronto, has assumed full control as manager of the local branch of the Royal Bank.

Mr. W. S. Martin, who has been manager of the banks in turn, as they did business on this corner, viz: United Empire, Union and Royal banks, is retiring after many years of efficient service on their behalf.

Mrs. McKenzie, wife of the new Royal Bank manager, and son, arrived in town this week.

Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Linn left for Kingston last week, where Mr. Linn is instructor in the dairy school for the next three months.

Miss Alice Hume had the misfortune to fall last Friday night when returning from making a local call, and struck her head upon the sidewalk with such force as to confine her to bed since.

Mr. and Mrs. B. Hoard visited his brother in Madoc recently.

Mrs. S. Hatton was called to Toronto, owing to the serious illness of her son, Clifford.

DECISION SOON

Albert Government May Take Over Stock or Foreclose.

EDMONTON, Jan. 18.—(Canadian Press).—Final decision as to whether it will acquire control of the Northern Railway by taking over the common stock now held by the Royal Bank of whether it will commence foreclosure proceedings will be made by the Alberta Government shortly, says Premier Brownlee, just back from Ottawa and Montreal.

A Severe Illness Caused Constipation

BOUT FOR "CARP."

May Be Matched With McTigue.

NEW YORK, Jan. 16.— (Canadian Press.)—A light hevayweight elimination match between Georges Carpentier and Mike McTigue, both former champions of the division, for the honor of meeting Paul Berlenbach in a title contest, was proposed by Matchmaker James McMahon, of Madison Square Garden, Friday, and approved by the state athletic commission.

McTigue already has accepted the proposal, McMahon said, and negotiations will be opened with the French flatic idol immediately. McMahon intimated that Berlenbach has agreed to meet the winner.

OMEMEE CARNIVAL AND SPEED EVENTS

Mrs. A. Clemett Won Prize For Fancy Costume.

OMEMEE, Jan. 18.—The first carnival of the season was held on Tuesday evening on the local rink and considerable interest was manifested by the many fancy costumes which were in evidence, and also by the numerous spectators who were on hand. No one was allowed to skate unless in costume and while there is a list of prizewinners, yet many there were in various garb who did not qualify for any particular prize.

Among the fancy and gay attires were: Mr. A. Clemett, who wore an Indian outfit; Mr. Cuthbert Mackey posed as a French count, while Mr. Rowan, dressed as a clown, acted his part, much to the delight of the junior skaters and onlookers. Other clowns had make-ups of various sorts glided over the smooth surface and helped to make the event a success.

Mrs. C. L. Morcombe, Mrs. E. H. Shell and Miss G. M. Meredith, and Messrs. F. Clemett, L. A. Southworth and E. H. Mitchell acted as judges and Mr. Thos. Rice called the races.

The following is a list of the prizewinners: Fancy dressed couple, Miss Mabel Rowan, Mr. S. Clemett. Fancy dressed lady, Mrs. A. Clemett. Fancy dressed gent, Mr. S. Tripp. Best representation of Canada, Mr. Edward Marsh. Best representation of England, Miss Lila Fee. Best representation of Ireland, Miss Helen Mackey Best representation of Scotland, Mr. John Crafton. Best representation of United States, Miss Mabel Rowan. Best representation of France, Milton Brandon. Best representation of China, Jamie Mackey.

Races—Gentlemen's one mile race, Mr. S. Clemett. Half mile, boys under 12 years, William McQuade. Ladies' race, Mabel Rowan. Keg race, Mr. S. Clemett. Ladies' and gentlemen's race, Mabel Rowan and S. Clemett.

Farm Stock Sold.

A very successful sale of farm stock and implements was held at the home of Mr. Harold Laidley on Wednesday afternoon. Mr. J. Wilson was the capable auctioneer and very satisfactory prices were realized. There was an exceptionally large crowd, from far and near, in attendance, the weatherman having been favorable with a mild day.

Mr. E. Butler, of Toronto, transacted business in town this week.

Miss Lila Parsons is spending the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. R. Crerar of Bethany.

Mrs. Cain spent the week-end with her brother, Mr. Robert Hayes of Mount Pleasant.

PEACE RIVER REGION ELORADO OF WHEAT

Authority States Agrarians Blundered in Discarding Ranches for Dry Farming.

TORONTO, Otn., Jan. 18 (Canadian Press)—The Peace River region in Alberta promises to become the outstanding grain growing area of the world at no very distant date, Dr. D. J. Goggin declared in addressing the York Pioneer Society here. Dr. Goggin was for several years superintendent of schools in Alberta and Saskatchewan, and he had much to do with laying the foundation for the public school system of the west. He stated that there was not to be found anywhere in the world a more suitable climate for the growing of wheat in large quantities, or a district with more magnificent opportunities, than the Peace River country.

In a comprehensive review of the growth of the Prairie Provinces, Dr. Goggin expressed the belief that the farmers of the west made a blunder when they discarded ranching for dry farming that destroyed moisture which should be going back into the ground for ranching purposes, a more profitable industry in many ways to the progressive rancher.

Shriners Get Some Criticism, But Mostly Praise For Ultimatum To "Hippers"

ST. THOMAS, Jan. 18.—The front page warning published in The Times-Journal, Tuesday evening, at the request of the Hi-Ro Shriners Club of Elgin County, that persons who have shown a propensity for carrying flasks of liquor to social functions, will be quickly escorted to the door if caught with such things Wednesday evening, has created no little surprise and some indignation in the city, according to reports. J. M Ryan, general chairman of the committees in charge of the annual ball, said Tuesday evening that he understood certain parties were waxing wrathful over the ultimatum, but he gave assurance that the officers of the club intend to carry out their warning and will eject the first person seen with a flask, irrespective of sex or social prominence.

"We intend keeping intoxicants out of this affair," declared Mr. Ryan. "If people think they can't have any fun without a 'hipper' they had betetr stay away."

The better thinking class of citizens approve the action of the Shriners, admiring their courage. One prominent citizen said he hoped that the Shriners were setting an example that other organizations staging dances in the future will follow. Reports about disgraceful conduct on the part of a certain few at past functions in the city have been heard from time to time and have evoked much criticism from dance attendants who do not care for such forms of entertainment.

TOMATO GROWERS CONTRACT FAILED

Claim Against B. C. Canners Dismissed.

VANCOUVER, B.C., Jan. 18 (Canadian Press). — Failure of the British Columbia Tomato Growers' Association to control, as required by a contract entered into on April 25, 1923, eighty per cent. of last year's tomato crop of British Columbia has resulted in Mr. Justice W. A. McDonald dismissing its action against the Kamloops Canneries Limited, of Kamloops, for specific performance and an injunction to restrain a breach of the contract.

The defendant company after pleading that the contract was not biding because the plaintiff did not, as required, control the price of the tomato crop and did not supply sufficient tomatoes, took the point that the agreements between the parties violated the Combines Investigation Act of 1923 and Section 498 of the Criminal Code.

The constitutionality of these enactments was put in issue by plaintiff association.

His Lordship said he thought there was a lot to be said in support of defendant's contention that the contract was in restraint of trade and contrary to public policy. However, it was necessary to decide that issue.

The question, therefore, of whether the contract contravened the Combines Investigation Act and Section 498 of the Criminal Code, and whether these enactments were ultra vires of the Dominion Parliament were not argued, and J. C. McCruer, prospector in the Government's alleged fruit combine case which opens Monday, was not, on behalf of the Minister of Justice, required to uphold their validity.

Royal Bank Completes Most Successful Year

Sir Herbert Holt, President, in Address to Shareholders, Deals With More Important Problems of the Country.

C. E. Neill, General Manager, Reviewing Statement, States Bank Has Never Before Been in Such a Strong Position

The annual meeting of shareholders of The Royal Bank of Canada held at the head office of the bank was marked by most interesting addresses by Sir Herbert Holt, the President, and C. E. Neill, the General Manager.

The bank had had one of the most successful years in its history and as a result total assets had reached the record figure of $788,478,778, an increase of $204,689,269, the greatest in any one year.

Sir Herbert Holt in his address dealt more particularly with the urgent problems which Canada still has to work out. He was convinced that the consolidation of Canada's two great railway systems on a basis that would not penalize the past efficiency and economy on the part of the privately owned railway was the only practical means of quickly eliminating the present enormous loss.

Mr. Neill reviewed the growth and expansion of the bank, more particularly since the absorption of the Union Bank of Canada and the Bank of Central and South America.

President's Address

Sir Herbert Holt, President, in his address said, in part:

"Turning to conditions in Canada, we can see in different quarters encouraging indications of improvement. The usual statistics which reflect the volume of business, indicate a tendency to expansion. The cumulative totals of Bank Debits and car loadings are slightly above the corresponding figures of last year. Foreign trade continues to increase and for the first eleven months ended November, 1925, reached a value of $1,920,048,928, being an increase of $227,701,280 over the corresponding period of last year. Considering that the general level of commodity prices has been comparatively stable, the higher value of foreign trade is particularly significant of improved conditions.

"Commercial failures, both in number and extent of liabilities, are lower than for some years. Building operations have been more active. The total value of contracts awarded in the first eleven months was $285,297,700, as compared with $247,393,300 last year.

"Mineral production records are extremely gratifying. Gold, lead, zinc, nickel, copper and many other minerals show increases in production. The value of the output of minerals in Canada for the year 1925 reached a total of $228,440,000 in comparison with 209,583,406 for last year and the previous record of $227,859,665 attained in 1920.

"News print production was about 11.4% higher than in 1924, and the combined output of the Canadian mills for the eleven months of last year was 1,382,121 tons, which was only 7,684 tons less than the total production of the United States mills in the same period. If our forests are properly conserved, this industry will become a steadily increasing asset to Canada.

"I cannot pass over the development of our national power industry without comment. In November, the central stations of Canada produced 25,526,000 kilowatt hours; this is equivalent to nearly twice the per capita power production in the United States. Inaccessibility of coal and other factors are making Canada one of the great electrical power using countries of the world.

"The full realization of what home utilization of this power means in the development of home manufacturing is producing a consensus of opinion conclusively opposed to power export.

"A distinct change for the better has come over the basic industry of agriculture and this is the most important element in the general situation. A splendid crop has been harvested in practically all parts of the country. The final estimates of the wheat crop are better than the preliminary figures and place the total yield at 422,327,000 bus., an increase of 160,230,000 bus. over last year, which represent the second largest crop in our history. With prices at the present level it is estimated that the total value of Canadian field crops this year was about $500,000 more than in 1924.

"Not that trade and industrial prospects are uniformly good or the national outlook clear of anxiety. Canada has many serious problems to face. The present industrial situation is not satisfactory. Several of our most important industries are in a state of depression; immigration figures make unsatisfactory reading; our railway problem is still unsolved; the burden of taxation is unrelieved and our national finances are not moving in the right direction.

Too Much Government

"The country is overburdened with Government and there is urgent need of administrative surgery to remove some of our present disabilities. Not only should the cost of Government be reduced, but there must be a suspension of those unproductive capital expenditures, often of a political nature, which have in the past few years added so largely to our national debt. The burden of taxation can be lightened only if the necessity for rigid public economy on a scale commensurate with the needs of the situation is resolutely faced.

"I pass now to what is in my mind our most serious domestic problem, that of the National Railways, the operation of which is annually placing an enormous additional burden on an already overtaxed people. The practical difficulty in solving this problem is so great that we have as yet hardly approached a solution.

"Under present conditions there is not sufficient traffic to enable two great continental railway systems to operate competitively with financial success. Canada has advanced to the Canadian National Railways in the last six years an amount averaging over $100,000,000 annually, amounting in the aggregate, according to Government and railway reports, to the sum of $710,943,247, which is greater than the entire capitalization and bonded indebtedness of the Canadian Pacific Railway. The country simply cannot afford the present rate of expenditures.

"Some means must be found to overcome this annual railway drain on the Federal Treasury, which already absorbs more than the entire revenue from the Income Tax, and to avoid further capital expenditures which, under present conditions, are not likely to be productive of additional net earnings sufficient to pay interest on their cost. I am convinced that the consolidation of our two great railway systems for the purposes of administration and operation on a basis that would not penalize the past efficiency and economy on the part of the privately owned railway is the only practical means of quickly eliminating the present enormous loss.

"I approach the question of tariff policy with reluctance. There is not lacking evidence that recent fiscal policy has had a disturbing effect on established industries and the consequent industrial unemployment has been the chief factor in the southward exodus. A great manufacturing industry has been built up in Canada over a long period of years. Large sections of our population are supported by industrial wages or indirectly dependent on industrial activity. There is need of a scientific study by a properly constituted board, to evolve and keep revised an adequate and stable tariff for protection of those industries which it is in the national interest to foster and develop. As I said last year, increased protection is in many cases unnecessary.

"Stability is the thing to be desired. There is also the ever present necessity of revenue which, if not collected in the form of customs duties, must be raised by burdensome methods of direct taxation.

General Manager's Address.

C. E. Neill, General Manager, in his address to shareholders, said in part:

"Before considering our balance sheet, I should like to refer to the purchases of the Union Bank of Canada and the Bank of Central and South America, which have already been mentioned by the President.

"Through the former, we have secured an invaluable connection in the Western Provinces and a substantial addition to our already large chain of branches in Ontario. We were fortunate in completing the purchase just before a harvest of record value, and this has resulted in a substantial increase in deposit in the West and helped in the liquidation of loans.

"The purchase of the Bank of Central & South America has proved to be a very satisfactory transaction. In addition to making a substantial cash profit, we have considerably augmented our business at certain points where we are already established and we have acquired branches in the Republics of Colombia and Peru, where we were not formerly represented. All these branches with their relative business have been acquired without the usual cost of establishment, and we have already demonstrated that the new connection is not only profitable but susceptible to considerable expansion on sound lines.

"The bank has never before been in such a strong position, our holdings of cash, including bank balances, being $198,314,647.03, or equal to 28.04 per cent. of liabilities to the public. Call loans are $72,505,870.44 and Government and other securities which are readily realizable total $127,283,417.80. Our liquid assets are thus 56.30 per cent. of our liabilities to the public.

Canadian Banks In Better Position To Serve Public

—C. E. Neill, General Manager, Royal Bank.

One of the most complete and authoritative statements ever submitted regarding the Canadian banking system and the present banking situation was made by C. E. Neill, General Manager of The Royal Bank of Canada, at the annual meeting.

Addressing the shareholders, Mr. Neill said:

"Through amalgamation, the number of banks in Canada has been slowly reduced until the present situation is analogous to the condition existing in Great Britain, where the great bulk of the banking assets of the country is in the hands of five large banks. Fears have been expressed that the concentration of banking power in the hands of a comparatively few institutions may lead to bad results, such as slackening of competition or neglect of local interests. The feeling in regard to competition seems to have had its inception in the fear of what may happen in the future, rather than as a result of developments to date, for no one can say that the competition between banks is less severe than it has been in the past. We believe that the contrary is the case, and that a large proportion of the savings affected through amalgamations have been passed on to the public in the form of increased service and relatively lower charges.

"The merits of branch banking as compared with a system of unit banks are a subject of debate in the United States to-day, and opponents of branch banking have stressed the advantage to local interests of having their banking business in the hands of local institutions, which are claimed to be more intimately in touch with conditions at the points concerned. For Canada, however, the arguments in favor of branch banking are, in my opinion, immeasurably stronger than anything which can be said on the other side. In the development of new districts in this country the necessary funds have been supplied from older districts, and at much lower average rates than those current in the United States at the same relative stage of development. The banking history of the United States, moreover, contains a long list of banks which have failed, either through lack of proper perspective during boom periods, or because in districts where everything depends on the success of one crop or one industry, the local banks had all their eggs in one basket. I have no hesitation in saying that had Western Canada been served by unit banks the situation in 1921-22 would have been nothing short of calamitous.

"The ideal system is one which can combine a close understanding of local conditions with expert general supervision. For the proper conduct of a banking business something more than local knowledge is required, and in using the words 'expert general supervision,' I have in mind the guidance which can be supplied only by executive officers of wide business experience, whose position enables them to keep their finger on the pulse of the world's business. We are endeavoring to meet the situation by the appointment of outstanding business men in different sections of Canada as directors, and by a large measure of decentralization and local autonomy to the executive officers in control of each district.

"A great financial institution such as The Royal Bank of Canada, covering the whole country, must have intimate persistent and active interest in every part of Canada. We have responsibilities not only to our shareholders, but, to a degree which I hope we fully realize, to the public of Canada; in fact, there is no conflict of interest, because it is only to the extent that we contribute to the sound economic development of the country that we shall deserve or receive the confidence of the public. Self-interest will prompt us to secure a diversity of risk through the encouragement of the industries indigenous to the various parts of our country, and to keep always before us the fact that we can achieve the greatest measure of success only if our actions and policies promote and foster the best interests of every part of Canada."

ADMITS IDENTITY.

Above is a photograph, transmitted from San Francisco over the telegraph wire of the San Quentin prisoner serving a term under the name of John Redding, who has admitted that he is Robert Scott, convicted of the murder of Joseph Maurer in a Chicago drug store but later certified insane. Russell Scott blamed Robert for the killing. Redding has expressed his willingness to be returned to Chicago, where, to quote his own words, he will do some talking.

In Peterborough Churches

GOSPEL HALL.

A large and interested congregation listened with wrapt attention to Evangelist Hugh Kane in the Gospel Hall last evening, speaking on the text, "Look unto me, and be ye saved all ye ends of the earth"—(Isaiah 45:22).

The speaker made an apt and timely reference to the "safety first" card in the Peterborough street cars: "Stop, Look, Live." He said: "There is enough in these words to save every soul in Peterborough, if spiritually applied. Men are lost because they do not stop in time and look at the danger they are in; if they did they would live. One look at the cross of Calvary would give them everlasting life."

Neighborhood prayer meetings will be held in the several homes here mentioned, to which everybody is invited:

Monday—At the home of Mrs. A. Hartshorn, 10 Victoria avenue.

Tuesday—Mrs. Miller, 367 Bethune street.

Wednesday—Mrs. E. Simmons, 224 Dublin street.

ST. PETER'S CATHEDRAL.

"Hate that which is evil and cleave to that which is good," was the text, taken from the 9th verse of the 12th Chapter of the Epistle to the Romans, chosen as his subject by Rev. J. Finn at the morning Masses at St. Peter's Cathedral yesterday.

"Love of God is the basis of all Christian virtues," said the reverend speaker. "It was a true and sincere love of God that animated the action of St. Paul, who went through so many hardships and trials that the kingdom of God might be propagated on earth. Suffering persecution for God, St. Paul instructed his converts, whenever he wrote to them, in the love of Christ."

Everything that we have comes from the hand of God, who, as the sacred writer said of Him, came to earth to blot out the handwriting of the decree that was against us, that we could never enter heaven.

Christ became poor and humble and died the death of a criminal upon the Cross, all for love of us and for the salvation of our souls, and He left behind Him a Divine institution, to continue the work that He commenced upon earth. He said to His followers: "Come unto Me, all ye that labour and are burdened, and I will refresh you." And, "My peace I leave unto you, My peace I give unto you." He desires us to enjoy as much happiness as is possible here upon earth, and He wishes to come to us in Holy Communion.

"The test of love for God does not consist merely in telling Him that we love Him. It is when we do violence to ourselves and the circumstances that tend toward sin in our daily lives that we show our real affection for Christ. We have at all times before us the wonderful example of the saints, resisting sin at all times for the love of God. We are not asked, as they were, to give up our lives for our faith, but we are asked to live in a Christian manner, observing His commandments from day to day, and hoping for the reward that will be ours in eternity."

ST PAUL'S PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

(Contributed.)

The Jew as the nerve centre of the world, was the main theme of a sermon delivered last evening by Rev. Wm. Allan, of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, to a congregation that pretty well taxed the seating accommodation of the church. From start to finish it was evident that the congregation was thrilled by the manner in which the subject was handled. At the close, one of Peterboro's best known citizens, who has been attending church services in Peterboro' for upwards of fifty years, declared it to have been one of the greatest addresses ever delivered in the city. It was the first of a series of five evening addresses on the Jews as a people and their special relationship to God and to the other nations of the world. The second sermon in the series will be delivered a week from next Sunday night when it seems likely that the seating accommodation of the church will be taxed to the limit.

The peculiar character of the Jews, and the remarkable manner in which they have been preserved through all the centuries, in spite of unparalled persecutions has been due Rev. Mr. Allan said, to the fact that God has an unfulfilled purpose for them. They are still His chosen people without a king, except their Divine King whom they do not recognize, and under banishment from their home land. In accordance with God's covenant with Abraham, the nations which have been good to the Jews have been blessed, while those which have persecuted them have suffered in consequence. The offer made some time ago by prominent Jews to buy back the Holy Land and the resolutions of appreciation passed by Jewish societies in all parts of the world to Lord Balfour, because of his action, as the representative of the British nation, in opening the way for them to return to the promised land, showed how little the Jews as a people even yet recognize God's purposes for them or what is to happen to them when they do return. However, not until they are once more back in that land, which prophecy has foretold will become the commercial centre of the world, will the nations of the world find the peace that they are all seeking after.

Lesson Reading

The lesson reading last evening was taken from Numbers, where King Balak called on the prophet Balaam to prophecy evil against the children of Israel but instead of doing so, the prophet predicted good and explained that he could speak only what God put in his mouth concerning them. Rev. Mr. Allan showed that the speaker was a Gentile prophet who was addressing a Gentile king concerning a people, the like of which has never been known in the world's history. This race has perplexed the philosphers of the world. Critics of the Scriptures who have succeeded in explaining away much of the Bible to their own satisfaction have not been able to explain the Jew. In every walk of life in which he engages he excels. At the present time Jews are in control of the finances of the world to an extent that it would be possible for them to bring on a world financial crisis should they so desire.

During the world war in all countries the Jews played a memorable part. At the opening of the war, Britain was represented in Germany by an Ambassador who was a Jew. In 1915, in spite of the small number of Jews in Great Britain, there were five Jews in the British cabinet, five were in the House of Lords, six were Privy councillors, 16 were baronets, 14 were knights and 18 were in the House of Commons. The Governor of the Bank of England was a Jew. When Britain, France and Russia sought an enormous loan from the United States during the war a Jew was sent over to conduct the negotiations. During the early part of the war the interests of eleven nations in Turkey were represented by the United States Ambassador, who was a Jew. It is utterly impossible to explain the Jew on natural lines. It is only as we study God's purpose for him as revealed in the Scriptures that the enigma of the Jew becomes clear.

Jewish Prophecies

Rev. Mr. Allan read brief extracts from some of the great prophecies concerning the Jews, including one from Deuteronomy, predicting that the Jews would become an astonishment to all nations whither the Lord God should lead them, and a second prophecy from one of the shorter prophets, showing that he would be without a national home and without a king for many years before being re-gathered to the promised land. It is this period of the prophecy that is being fulfilled today.

The remarkable feature about the Jewish race is the manner in which their identity is maintained, though they have been scattered over the face of the globe. Time and again Jews have sought to conceal their identity by adopting such names as Brown, Smith and Jones but never with success, because God has so stamped the peculiarity of the race upon their features and in their characteristics that their identity is soon revealed. The United States has been described as the greatest melting pot in the world. Yet it has failed utterly to assimilate the Jews. People of other nationalities soon lose their identity after entering the United States, but this has not been the case with this peculiar people who, more than all others, would like to lose that identity.

The world owes a great debt to Jews through the fact that they were the people God chose through which to make His divine revelations to mankind. They were the authors of the sixty six Books of the Bible, through them came the Redeemer, Christ, and the first members of the Christian Church were all Jews. If, as claimed by Roman Catholics, the first Pope was Peter, then the first Pope was a Jew. It is a significent fact, that, during the past nineteen centuries there has never been a Jew come forward and lay claim to the throne of David. Christ is their rejected King, whose right to the throne could not be disputed and not until He has been accepted as their King will the Jewish people know peace, or the world at large. The subject of Rev. Mr. Allan's next sermon relating to the Jew will be, "The Jew, and the most daring thing in history."

Interesting Topics

If the attendance at the weekly prayer meeting of a congregation is an indication, as claimed by some, of the spiritual condition of the congregation, then St. Paul's congregation would pass a high test in this regard. Last Wednesday evening the Guild Room was crowded to capacity and in spite of the fact that additional chairs were brought in, a number of people had to sit in the hallway. The subject was "Is it possible for a person to be saved in this life and to know it, or is it necessary to wait until after death in order to be sure." Rev. Mr. Allan showed from the Scriptures that it is the privilege of Christians to know here and now that they are saved through the work of Christ and that they shall not enter into judgment, as far as the receipt of eternal life is concerned. Next Wednesday evening Rev. Mr. Allan will speak on an allied subject, "Is it possible, after being saved, to fall away and be lost."

One of the most eloquent public speakers in Canada, Mr. A. W. Roebuck, barrister, of Toronto, will address the men's banquet in St. Paul's Church this evening at 6.30 on the subject, "The Democracy of Moses." An open invitation was extended last evening to any persons interested to hear this address. The speaking will start about 7.45 p.m.

ST JAMES' UNITED CHURCH

On Sunday evening, in St. James' Church, the pastor, Rev. J. D. Richardson, took for his subject, "The Perfect Ideal of Religion," as set forth by the Prophet Micah (6:8) in the words "What doth the Lord thy God require of thee, but to do justly and to love mercy and to walk humbly with thy God." He pointed out that this conception of religion had been put forth nearly 800 years before Christ, and yet it could hardly be improved on today, as representing or expressing the perfect ideal of religion. So that if we were to ask the question, "What is religion?" we would get the answer in the words of the text, which is, perhaps the greatest saying of the Old Testament. It is to do justly, to love mercy, and to walk humbly with thy God. Or put in other words it means righteous conduct and good-will towards men, reverent humility and obedience towards God. Justice, love reverence; these three great words define very clearly the very essence and meaning of religion.

It means justice and righteous conduct towards men, or obedience to the moral sense within us. To do what is right in the sight of God. To obey the dictates of conscience. It is not an opinion about righteousness but the practice of it. A religious man, according to this perfect ideal of religion, counts righteousness above expediency. It may not always be the easiest road to success, but it is the only road to God, and the only way consistent with a truly religious life.

But we must also "love mercy." Our "doing justly" must spring from the corresponding inward motive of love. And when Jesus wanted to illustrate the loving life on the practical side He told the story of "The Good Samaritan" and said that all the Old Testament law was summed up in the words, "Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart and mind and strength, and thy neighbor as thyself."

The complete expression of this perfect ideal of religion is found in reverent humility and obedience towards God. This implies a personal faith in a personal God of infinite greatness, in the presence of Whom humility must be shown. It is to reverence God in His revealed word and in nature, which is an expression of His creative activity.

At the morning service Rev. Mr. Richardson continued his series of sermons on "Messages of the Prophets to men of today." He pointed out that the prophets were absolutely fearless in their denunciation and condemnation of the evils of their day. But though they felt these evils so keenly, and saw their obstructive tendency so clearly, yet in spite of it all they were incurably optimistic. They looked forward to a day of greater glory for Israel, and said that the time would come when Jerusalem would become the spiritual metropolis of the whole earth. To this end they focused the hopes of the people upon the coming of a Redeemer.

One wonders sometimes whether the conditions of ancient Israel deplored by Micah were any worse than conditions in our own country today, and whether the corrective power of Christianity is sufficient to over-come these evils and redeem our civilization. But the Christian religion is essentially optimistic and humanity's hopes still centre about the coming of a Redeemer-Saviour, whose Kingdom will come and Whose will be done on earth.

Excellent music was rendered by the choir under the inspiring leadership of Mr. J. W. Chenhall. The choir sang "Watchman, what of the Night" with tenor solo by Mr. A. Williams. There was also a quartet number by Miss Cotton and Mrs. McLaren, and Messrs. Pratt and Williams. A beautiful solo was sung by Mrs. Kitney.

Wheat Moved Downward On World Crop Reports

CHICAGO, Jan. 18.—(Canadian Press.)— Wheat showed an early trend downward to-day, influenced by an estimate from the United States Department of Agriculture that the world crop of wheat from 1925-26 season will total four billion bushels against 3,091,000,000 bushels last year. The announcement of large world shipments of wheat last week, together with an increase of amount of wheat and flour afloat for Europe, tended also to weaken values. On declines, however, fair buying developed. Opening prices, 1-4 to 3-4c. lower, May 172 3-4 to 173 and July 150 1-8 to 150 1-4, were followed by a slight rally and then by setback lower than before.

Predictions of cold weather likely to increase feeding helped to steady the corn market. After opening unchanged to 5-8c. off, May 83 1-4 to 83 1-2, corn scored a little advance all round.

Oats took their cue from wheat rather than from corn. Starting 1-8c. to 1-4c. lower, May 44 3-4 to 44 7-8, oats underwent a material sag, but then recovered somewhat.

Higher quotations on hogs gave a lift to the provision market.

Toronto Market Was Firm And Very Active To-day

TORONTO, January 18. Canadian Press. — The market was firm and a great deal more active on the Toronto exchange this morning, though no gains of any magnitude were recorded. Brazilian, Smelters and industrial alcohol were the stocks most heavily dealt in, and of these Smelters was the strongest. It reached a high mark during the session at 189 1-8, closing morning at 188 3-4, an advance of a point and 3-4, Brazilian was 3-4 high at 82 1-2, and alcohol a ½ higher at 17. Davies and Mackay preferred were slightly higher, while Canadian Canners common, after a strong opening, closed the session at 13, a ¼ point lower. Canners preferred eased a ½ at 62. A number of issues after opening st htly higher, eased back to Saturday's price. Hollinger advanced 10 at 19.00 and Dome 3½ at 16.35.

Selling Pressure Lifted And Prices Went Higher

NEW YORK, Jan. 18. Canadian Pressure was lifted from to-day's stock market and prices bounded upward on what appeared to be extensive short covering.

Buying embraced a wide variety of issues but the largest gains were again recorded by industrial specialties, due to the resumption of aggressive pool operations. California packing extended with an early gain to 7½ points by touching a record high at 138½. Speculative interest in the rail group centred largely in southern carriers, Atlantic Coast Line and Chesapeak and Ohio each moving up about 3 points, while Norfoll. and Western approached to within small fraction of its record high on recurrent reports of its lease to Pennsylvania.

Trading Heavy In Mines With Mixed Trend To-day

TORONTO, January 18. Canadian Press. — With trading fairly heavy the trend was mixed on the Standard mining exchange this morning, though recessions were in the majority.

Crown Reserve, Tech Hughes and Lorrain, which were prominent, suffered declines, Crown Reserve losing a point and a half at 18½, Lorrain 1 1-2 at 9 and Teck Hughes 9 at 349. Castle Trethewey lost one at 155 and Hunton and Keora a fraction, Goldale dropped 1½ at 40, Atlas and Consolidated West Dome were active and steady, while Canadian Lorrain improved ½ a point at 79½.

WOMAN IS PIVOT OF IMMIGRATION

If She Is Happy Men Will Struggle on Western Land.

LADY BYNG'S VIEW.

OTTAWA, Jan. 17 (Canadian Press).—"Woman is the pivotal point of land settlement schemes, success depends upon their happiness," declared Her Excellency, Lady Byng of Vimy, in addressing a luncheon meeting of the Women's Canadian Club on Saturday.

Lady Byng's address on Western impressions was greatly applauded by her audience of 360 members, the luncheon being one of the largest in the history of the club.

As Lady Byng, together with His Excellency, the Governor General of Canada, had covered almost 90,000 miles in Canada by rail, boat and motor, she said she had received many interesting impressions.

It was not fair to speak of Canada only from a knowledge of the East, she said, pleading the cause of the West and asking a greater and more sympathetic appreciation of Westerners and Western problems.

The question of obtaining the right kind of settlers was generally recognized as being one of the Dominion's major problems, said her Excellency. During her Western trips, she said, she had made careful investigation of the progress made by the various types of settlers and found that English couples and English wives of Canadians, while often homesick, expressed no desire to give up their life in the West and return to the Old Country.

Aids to Contentment.

If the women are happy in these isolated settlements scattered throughout Western Canada, success is ensured, as the men will stay and fight gamely if their help-mates are contented, she said.

The telephone, the motor car and the radio were doing much to make life possible for these, she said, speaking particularly of the rural phone lines as mediums of keeping neighbors linked together and happy.

"There is no good in trying to get older couples," she said. "Young blood is needed. Young couples with initiative from the Old Country who are willing to work hard and become good Canadians.

Truth to Settlers.

Her Excellency spoke particularly of the success of the Soldier Settlement Scheme and congratulated the farmers of the Government following the close of the war in instituting various settlement schemes which today were bearing such splendid fruit. The picture was painted fairly today to prospective settlers, she said. In the past, rose colored descriptions were given and no idea given of the rigors of the Canadian winter."

Lady Byng compared conditions in the West during the past and today, making special reference to the improvement of the nurse and doctor question in decreasing infant mortality.

ADVICE TO GIRLS

By Annie Laurie

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I am coming to you for advice. I am going with a fellow that I am pretty sure is in love with another girl; he never told me he was, but I can tell by his actions.

This other girl is always in his mind. I can tell by the far-away look in his eyes, sometimes that he is thinking of her. I do not know her or what happened between them, he never said.

But I am worried for I know I'm not sure of him; he treats me real nice and never mentions this girl's name to me or any other girl except to tell me sometimes what a swell kid she was.

I don't know her only to see her; she is a cute-looking girl. Whenever they meet she always smiles at him and that does him for the rest of the evening; he acts so different. I do think so much of him and I know there will be a crash some day; she is not trying to steal him away or draw his attention in any way, but I heard she thinks a lot of him.

So what would you do Dear Annie Laurie? Would you have a frank talk with him and tell him you know he likes this other girl better or would you leave things as they are; really, I'm not happy. I know he considers her first; you can tell by the look he gives her when they meet. But I guess she thinks she has no show now, but I know if she tried she could win him back. What would you do? Please advise me.

Accept my kindest thanks,

RODDIE'S TROUBLE.

RODDIE'S TROUBLE: You had better give him up. It is not at all likely that you will do so, but if he is really in love with the other girl, the three of you will be better off if you take my advice. Unless, perhaps, you are one of those fortunate individuals who are quite content with a half loaf of affection. There are some women who really wouldn't care much if the man they loved happened to like someone else better than them. They would be happy to get him, at any cost. You, perhaps, are not that type, when this situation worries you.

If a smile from the other girl can change his attitude for an entire evening, you have no place in the picture at all, my dear. There is such a thing as bowing gracefully to the inevitable. Did you ever try it? After all, aren't you worth just a little bit more to yourself and your own future existence than a second place in a man's heart, if you truly love him? Give him up and let the other lady have him. If he loves her and she loves him, you are only a third spoke in the wheel—rather an uncomfortable position, don't you think so? Have a frank talk with him and tell him exactly how you feel about the matter. You may not be happy afterwards, but you will be more at peace with yourself and the world. And, remember, there are always compensations for those who do a hard thing, because they think it is right. The day may come, if you persist in forgetting him, when you will not think so much of him as you do now. Time heals most wounds.

BORN GAMBLERS - - - - By Juanita Hamel

Cupid the gambler! And the little scamp isn't satisfied unless he has a partner to whom he can deal the cards of Love and force the hand to be played to a finish. Then only does he chortle with glee to have his partner lose to him—and Love. You can't renege in Love's game and you have to watch every card that is played, oh, so carefully! For Cupid is a trickster and he'll stack the cards on you every time he has the chance. Not for mere selfish gain; the gain which he seeks is the heart and happiness of his partner. Once you play into his scheming hands you're done for. For when Love takes you under his guidance you follow blindly where he leads, and the prize which he offers is Happiness and Joy forever.

A Fashion Model's Diary

By Grace Thorncliffe

SHE DESCRIBES A STUNNING FROCK.

Last night I went to one of the liveliest musical comedies I have seen in some time.

It is a favorite in town this Winter, and though it has been on several months, last night was my first appearance. Invitations to it seemed scarce in my vicinity, I suppose because the tickets are rather high.

However, I went in a party of four, and as we were going somewhere to dance later, we wore evening clothes.

"That's one thing I like about these shows that are so good," the other girl in the party whispered to me when we were seated, "the audiences always seem to wear evening clothes."

Sure enough, as I looked about me, I realized that there were numbers of people in the audience dressed for the evening.

"See this lovely gown just going in," my friend whispered.

I saw a girl in one of the rows ahead taking off her evening wrap, and as she was near the aisle I could get a good view of the details. It really was lovely.

The color was flesh, and the material charmeuse. There were bands of crystal beads looped over the entire body of the frock, and at the back a most attractive pointed cape that gave the effect of angel wings.

The neck was cut in a deep V in the back, and outlined with the same crystal beading.

"If I were getting a new evening frock, I couldn't imagine a more attractive design," I said enthusiastically to the girl, who had pointed the dress out to me.

Before the curtain went up, we had planned a similar gown in sea-green georgette, with silver bands, for my friend, who I know will look lovely in it for she is very dark and has a gorgeous complexion.

C Q—You are disposed to go your own way without reference to the wishes of others. You are thoughtless and unsympathetic and your aims in life are all for C.Q. You have considerable mechanical skill, but not to an executive degree. Unless you mend your ways you would do well to travel life alone, for you will only bring heartburnings to anyone compelled to live with you. You were born on a Sunday. Your color is green.

I C D—You are very affectionate, but inclined to wear your heart on your sleeve. Your affections may not be very deeply rooted, and you can change to another object at will. You look on the bright side of things, and do not prepare enough for the future. You should by this time have seen the folly of hanging around waiting for something to turn up. Your colors are red and dark brown. You were born on a Tuesday.

A C.—You have great analogical powers and are very observative. You are wasting your time at your present routine business, and should study to qualify for a managerial position. You are inclined to be sporty, and at 21 should settle down to plan for ease in the future rather than pleasure now. Your colors are yellow and green. You were born on a Thursday.

B. H.—Life has dealt you four cards straight—all that is missing to make a perfect hand is the stick-to-itiveness in which you are so sadly lacking. You start easily, work smoothly, reason well, and observe keenly, but lose interest quickly. Don't trade horses on the run. Stick with one job till you have it completed, then look for the next. And while priding yourself on being jack of all trades, don't forget to specialize in one. Your color is gold. You were born on a Monday.

R. A. J.—You are not logical in your thinking and therefore inclined to give expression to false viewpoints quickly conceived. Learn to think well before expressing an opinion, and do not jump hastily to conclusions. This year will be an eventful one for you, and you should endeavour to make its outcome auspicious. This may be done by intensive study to keep a step ahead of your job. Push yourself forward this year, which is your big opportunity. Live right, exercise well, cultivate a high moral tone. You were born on a Wednesday. Your color is purple. The day of which you enquire would be a good one for mild speculation, but not for changing your social affiliations.

J. M. G.—Look a little higher than your present position. Let your ambition develop into more than wishing. Like hard work. You must go through it to get anywhere, and you might as well enjoy it. You have good mentality, but not well developed. You would excel in small business for yourself. You were born on a Friday. Your colors are grey and brown.

1926 TOUR TO ALASKA

Arrangements for an all-expense, personally conducted tour to Alaska have now been completed, starting from Toronto, via the Canadian National Railways, early in July, visiting en route important Western Canadian cities, Wainwright Buffalo Park, Jasper National Park, and Pacific Coast points. This will be one of the finest trips anyone can possibly take from a scenic and educational point of view. A folder, descriptive of the tour, giving complete information is now in hand and will be available shortly on application to Mr. Martin Kerr (principal of Earl Kitchener School), 4 Beulah Avenue, Hamilton, and Mr. A. E. Bryson (Principal of Silverthorn School), 44 Silverthorn Ave., Toronto.

In view of the very heavy traffic to Alaska during the short season available, it would be well to make early reservation as demands for accommodations are sure to be heavy.

DANCE AT MARMORA.

Under Auspices of St. Paul's Church Ladies.

MARMORA, Jan. 18.—A very successful dance was held in the Town Hall on Friday evening under the auspices of the Ladies' Guild of St. Paul's Church. Baxter's 5-piece orchestra from Point Anne furnished music for both round and square dancing.

The customary refreshments were served at midnight.

Euchre Party.

The ladies of the Sacred Heart Church held a Euchre Party in the Separate School on Friday evening. Prizes for best play were awarded and an excellent lunch served.

Eggs are being retailed locally at 50c a dozen and butter at 45c a lb.

Mrs. Arthur Eggleton is on a visit to her sister, Mrs. Roy Snell, of Hamilton.

Mr. W. F. Bowen is making a business trip across the border.

Mrs. C. J. Leonard and son, Horace, visited Mr. Nathan Reid at Holloway, on Friday.

Golden Star, No. 748 R.B.P., held its installation of officers on Friday evening.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

ABOUT DANCES

Dear Mr. Editor,—My attention has been drawn to your editorials in regard to dances which have been held recently in the city, and while I think the stories in circulation have been somwhat exaggerated yet no doubt there is some foundation for such rumours.

However, I would just like to say that I had the pleasure of attending the dance given last Friday evening by the members of the Belmont Club and let me state that as long as I have been attending the different dances in Peterboro I have never been at a dance where there existed such a wholesome atmosphere of real social pleasure.

It certainly is a great credit to the committee, and the members in general, for the way in which they conducted their dance.

If the other clubs and organizations would conduct their dances in a similar manner there would be no need for a vigilant committee in this city.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, for your valuable space, I remain,

Yours sincerely,

W. J. R.

YOUR HEALTH

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M.D.,
Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

An interesting letter came to me a few days ago. A reader complains of the dental bills he has to pay. He believes the members of his family have bad teeth because of the lack of lime in their food. It is not the expense that worries him, but the unwillingness of the family to adopt a more sensible dietary in order that they may have better health.

There is no doubt the quality of food has much to do with the strength and vigor of the body. There is a serious fault in the modern dishes. Too many of them are denatured. The minerals and vitamins are removed and the body is robbed of elements of vital importance.

I read a funny editorial the other day. It joked me about one of my articles and joked Judge Gary, whom I had quoted. We had talked about the "juices" in which vegetables are cooked. Our critic said we should use terms the public understands. What we meant, he said, was "pot likker."

Yes, that is what we meant—pot likker. It is a crime against the body to throw it away. The fluid in which the meat and vegetables are cooked contains all the soluble salts, the valuable minerals of the food. It should never be thrown away. At the end of the cooking, the vegetables should be uncovered so the steam can escape, leaving the precious minerals in the food. Likewise, the meat gravy should be served so as to save the minerals.

Housewives should take pains to serve cereals with the outer coverings on, or should add bran to the cereal in order that the mineral elements of the grain will be included in the dish.

Unpolished rice is a valuable food, while highly polished rice is little more than a confection. Served with top milk or cream, the unpolished rice is a very important food. When raisins are added it becomes one of the best possible dishes.

Milk is one of the richest of foods as regards lime and other minerals. I am glad it is being added to bread in the modern bakery. One way and another milk should be consumed in quantities by every household.

When there are young and growing children, it is important to give every possible food which is mineral carrying. For such families the whole wheat or other coarse breads are essential. The envelope of the wheat contains the minerals, which should be included in the bread.

If children are properly fed from the time of their birth and if their mothers were given the right diet before the children were born, there is every likelihood that bones and teeth, cell and fibre, will be as nature intended.

GOOD NIGHT STORIES

— By Blanche Silver —

DOTTY MEETS A LITTLE QUEEN.

"Oh! oh! oh!" cried Dotty as the golden bug sailed by her nose. "Oh, I wish Happy Giggles were here, he—"

"Here I am," laughed a soft, tinkling voice, and sure enough, right on a blossom, nearest Dotty's nose, sat the very little elfin she was wishing for. "I always come when I hear good little girls wish for me."

"You darling!" cried Dotty, shaking the elfin's hand. "I was just wondering what that was that flashed by my nose, like a piece of gold. There it is now, on that blossom," and Dotty, holding Happy Giggles' hand, pulled him over to that beautiful bug sitting on a lovely pink rose.

"Well, well, well," laughed Happy Giggles, taking the little bug's feelers, "if it isn't my old friend, Mrs. Rose Beetle! Meet Dotty, another friend of mine. She thought you were a disk of gold flying in front of her just now."

"I'm mighty glad to know, you, Mrs. Rose Beetle," said Dotty. "My you are beautiful sailing through the sunlight. But you are just as lovely sitting still. I adore your little golden green gown; it's so rich looking, with the silver spots scattered over it. Where are your wings? You surely have wings to fly with?"

Mrs. Rose Beetle laughed softly and tipped the golden green cases and out from under them came the loveliest gauzy wings Dotty had ever seen.

"Mrs. Rose Beetle, Meet Dotty."

"My, how beautiful!" exclaimed Dotty. "I suppose you can afford to dress beautifully; you haven't anything else to do but look lovely."

"Is that so?" laughed Mrs. Rose Beetle. "That just shows you don't know much about my family. If you did, you'd know I have to get my gown soiled when I lay my eggs."

"My goodness," laughed Dotty. "I wouldn't think anyone so pretty as you would want to bother with youngsters."

"Indeed, I have just finished laying my eggs," chuckled Mrs. Rose Beetle. "Last time I put my eggs down in an ant hill to hatch; but this time, I dug down under the roots of that old apple tree and laid my eggs down there."

"Much better for the youngsters," agreed Happy Giggles. "Of course, they get along nicely with the ant family, but just the same, if they have to depend upon themselves for a while, they grow much quicker."

"I'd love to see your babies," said Dotty.

"You'd never think they belonged to me," said Mrs. Rose Beetle. "They are round, fat, white and thick, like a worm. They also have hair on their skins. They are very lazy and do nothing but eat. They devour every leaf and all the soft wood that they can find. After a while they make a ball of earth, bits of dead grass and some leaves, crawl inside it and stay there mill they turn into a real Rose Beetle. Now, I must be on my way." So lifting the corners of her golden green wings, she sailed away.

Dotty and Happy Giggles watched her until, like a flash of gold, she disappeared among the flowers. Then they ran down the path to the woods, in search of new adventure.

Tomorrow's HOROSCOPE

By Genevieve Kemble.

TUESDAY, JANUARY 19.

Although the stellar activities promise a lively enough day it may not be one of gratification, since several hostile forces are in operation. There is a menace of treachery, fraud or betrayal at the hands of an erstwhile friend. Particular attention should be given to signing all manner of papers, letters or publications, since business as well as personal correspondence are under adverse sway. The tendency to worry should be suppressed.

Those whose birthday it is are under the presage of an anxious year, although it may be one of activity, with a tendency to enterprise and aggressive steps. All writings should be signed with more than ordinary precautions since there is danger of self-undoing and treachery through carelessness or gullibility. Old-time friends may prove false. A child born on this day may be resourceful and enterprising but may require the most rigorous training in the matter of reliability and veracity. Early cultivation by precept and example may subdue an undesirable tendency to prevaricate and handle others' possessions carelessly.

A design by a young high school girl, Miss Margaret Overbeck, has been adopted for the official flag of the city of Denver.

President Herbert C. Cox Reviews Progress

The Annual Meeting of the Canada Life was held at Home Office, and the following address delivered by the President, Mr. Herbert C. Cox, contains much valuable information for policyholders and the public generally:

We are becoming so accustomed to the uncommon that there is danger of our failing to attach full significance to what is happening at our doors. Upon the completion therefore of the first quarter of the new century it may be useful to recall very briefly some of the developments which have marked it, and which are so profoundly impressive in their bearing and effect.

In its infancy at the beginning of the century, Wireless Telegraphy, given to the world by Marconi, has expanded beyond the dreams of its inventor, has covered him with glory, and in addition to becoming a great factor in the commercial world has materially lessened the danger of travel by sea. The Wireless Telephone, with its latent possibilities; the wireless transmission of photographs, enabling simultaneous publication on two continents; the radio, making available to millions the latest news of world events, and the elevating influence of the great masters of music, and very recently the beginning at least of the transmission of motion pictures through the air, are all developments of the original conception.

Germany gave us the X-ray, which has revolutionized modern surgery by bringing to its aid scientific photography, thus adding greatly to the possibility of prolonging human life.

The element of contact so essential to the growth of a community or nation has been immeasurably increased by the arresting expansion of the motor car, which in so short a time has become so indispensable in all our activities that some twenty-one millions of them are constantly in service on this continent alone, while they are daily growing in number in Europe, and making their way to the furthermost corners of the globe. The first double-decked motor bus was licensed by the London Police Department in 1904. During five years it displaced 25,000 horses and 2,200 horse omnibuses. Could Daimler, the inventor of the first internal combustion engine, have foreseen even in small measure how the product of his brain was to alter a world's living conditions and affect its transportation problems? In its train has come a system of highways enabling an intercommunication before undreamed of, and entailing the outlay of countless millions of dollars to the advantage of other industries.

Concurrently there has been the development of the undersea ship and the aeroplane. While the former has demonstrated its utility only in war, the latter is adapting itself to peace, and has already almost annihilated time and distance for a limited amount of travel and mail transport. The more recent discovery that these can be controlled and guided from land will extend their field as offensive weapons. The colossal steamship in which one can now cross the ocean in luxury and physical comfort is distinctly of this period, as is also the transcontinental train de luxe with all its appointments, which appeal to the fastidious traveller.

Motion pictures have brought amusement and instruction to millions beyond the reach of the old-fashioned drama, have created an industry with an investment of perhaps two billions of dollars, and receipts for admissions approaching one billion dollars annually.

In the field of manufacturing there has been a constant improvement in machinery and process, and the great tyre industry is a development of this century created and fostered by the motor car. The insignificant but industrious silkworm, unable to cope with the demand for his product, has had to submit to human competition, and we have today an almost unlimited supply of artificial silk available for garments of all kinds. Sugar beets are menacing cane in the making of sugar; cement is crowding stone from our buildings; steel is replacing timber in heavy construction; while electricity is driving coal as a fuel from our factories and gas and oil from our homes for domestic purposes. The development of water powers the world over, and more particularly in Canada and the United States, has provided us with millions of horsepower of electrical energy to the great advantage of our manufactories and the betterment of working conditions for the multitudes employed in them.

In merchandising the mail order houses have extended their service until the farmer, however isolated, has a range of choice equal to his fellows in the city, while the chain store is making possible the cheaper distribution of many commodities through its ability to buy in large quantities. Co-operative societies are providing an effective channel through which the producer may reach his market more quickly, and with larger profit—the outstanding example of which is the wheat pool in Western Canada, which has for the past two or three years functioned so signally in favor of the producing farmer. The area devoted to wheat on this continent has increased sixfold, while the present most important output of cattle, sheep, hogs, butter and cheese in the Western Provinces has been almost wholly built up in the past five and twenty years. The industry of the farmer has been excellently aided by the railways and steamships, which have provided most modern and effective refrigeration in transit.

Government experimentation in Western Canada has just resulted in the new Garnet Wheat, which will reduce the growing period to one hundred days, or ten days less than that required by the famous Marquis variety, perfected by the same agency in 1903. In a land of the magnitude of Canada, where weather conditions are naturally variable and conflicting, the value and importance of this development cannot be overestimated; and Garnet Wheat, when available in sufficient quantity for seed, as it shortly will be, will make another advance, not only in the progress of Western Canada, but toward a more dependable supply of a world's demand for food.

While all this material growth has been proceeding great headway has been made in the lessening of preventable disease. Death from tuberculosis has been reduced fifty per cent., while the danger from diphtheria and fever of various forms has been minimized. The modern hospital adds much to the efficiency of the physician and surgeon in their application of a constantly enlarging knowledge, fed by the successful research effort of many able scientists. Our own country is proud to claim the most recent achievement of this kind in the discovery of Insulin, which has in three years noticeably reduced the mortality from diabetes.

With this almost extravagant advancement in industry, in agriculture and in science, the now vast undertaking of life assurance has kept pace. Since 1900 the assurances in force in Canada and the United States have multiplied by ten to eighty billions of dollars. The Assets have increased sevenfold to thirteen billions, while the total income is eight times greater at four billions.

Though the people of this continent spend lavishly for motor cars and luxuries of all kinds, they do not neglect the more important matters, as the above figures indicate that they have bought more life assurance than all the rest of the world. Nevertheless they have not nearly fulfilled their obligation or their destiny in this regard since they are as yet insured for only one-sixteenth of their capitalized earning capacity. That we have progressed so far is due to the constantly broadening service offered by the companies and the better informed effort of their representatives, which together have, since 1900, more than doubled the average amount of insurance held by the nearly sixty millions of people insured in Canada and the United States. This increase reflects, too, in some measure the appreciation by our people of more and greater comforts in living, and of the necessity of making sure, as far as may be, that those amenities shall be maintained in the family. That the companies and their members are functioning well in this regard is indicated by the fact that there has been paid to beneficiaries on this continent in the past year ten times as much as in 1900, or one and one-half billions of dollars. Life assurance is perhaps the greatest example of co-operative effort the world has ever seen.

1925 has yielded new records for our own Company, and registers improvement in every feature denoting progress. New assurances issued and taken up reached the important total of $128,500,000. This is an increase of 32% over the previous year, and again indicates a well distributed, well equipped and thoroughly active organization, taking advantage of its specific opportunities and of the general growth in sentiment favoring life assurance. We have continued to add to our forces without enlarging our field, feeling that for the present at all events there is desirable and feasible a more intensive cultivation of that already occupied. An important portion of the increase for the year has occurred in Canada, while the branch in Great Britain, benefiting by a persistent campaign for agency organization and for direct approach to the possible insurer has assisted us to the extent of $11,339,000 in ordinary assurances and $1,271,000 in annuity considerations. We are steadily consolidating our position there, and have now some sixty millions of dollars of business in force. Our branches in the United States, fifteen of them, are all making progress compatible with their respective ages and circumstances, and we are happy in the type and ability of the men whom we have been able to associate with us. Competition is keen, but clean, and the name "Canada" is no longer a detriment in the prosecution of our effort there. We in the Home Office are still convinced of the value of the personal equation, and continue to adhere, despite the growth in our personnel, both inside and outside, to the practice of frequent individual contact, which, I am satisfied, has enabled us to secure and maintain the very excellent body of men who comprise our official and business family.

The large influx of new business with its accompaniment of healthy young lives operates to the advantage of the Company's death rate, and we have again had a very excellent experience in this regard. Four years ago, in conjunction with several Canadian companies, we ventured upon the practice of granting assurance for a limited amount upon apparently first-class lives without the usual medical examination. The experiment has proven entirely justified by its results, and we have just somewhat enlarged the amount of coverage available in this way. We may the more safely persevere in this direction because of the marked improvement in recent years in general public health and in means of disease prevention, the development of which has been greatly assisted by some of the life assurance companies as well as by the Dominion and Provincial Governments and the municipal authorities. The saving effected by our unusually favorable mortality added to the earnings from the other sources which combine to constitute the barometer by which is measured the success of the year's operation has given us the very important and gratifying surplus earnings of $4,576,000 for the twelve months.

Your investments continue to have the supervision of a thoroughly experienced committee of the Board, and it is still their practice to approve only such offerings as come well within the specifications laid down as proper and desirable for life assurance companies, having in mind the permanency of their undertaking and the essential atmosphere of trust attaching to it. Real estate mortgages, on which a satisfactory rate of interest is obtainable, are still available in volume, and during the past two years we have taken on a large number in the more important towns and cities of Middle and Eastern Canada, as well as in Detroit, where we have a large amount of insurance in force. The very ready supply of money has, however, tended to reduce somewhat the yield of first-class bonds, and some difficulty is being found in fully employing our funds at the remunerative rates procurable in recent years. It has, nevertheless, been possible to maintain the high standard of our investments without sacrificing income, and we venture to hope that we shall continue to be able to do so.

In the past few weeks much has been said regarding the wheat crop in the Western Provinces—a matter so far-reaching in its effects that no apology need be made for referring to it here. The life assurance companies, who have done so much to enable the progress of the individual wheat grower, have a vital stake in his success, and it is gratifying that in the aggregate 1925 has been an unusually good year for him. While untoward weather conditions conspired to lower the grade of wheat produced the quantity has been so great and the price, owing to shortages in other wheat-growing countries, has been so favorable that the farmer finds himself able to meet his current liabilities, and to pay off in many instances the temporary accommodation obtained from his banker. This is reassuring to both the lender and the borrower, and serves to indicate to intending settlers that intelligent work and perseverance will still have their reward.

We are encouraged by the specific attempt of the Governments and transportation companies to stimulate immigration in the year upon which we have just entered, and hope it may prove the beginning of a steady and sustained movement of efficient people to this country who will be in time not only a support to Canada and its institutions, but a greater strength to the Empire at large.

Last year you were advised of a number of additions to and promotions among those in the Home Office. The continued success which is attending the Company's operations has made desirable further adjustment in the official circle, resulting in the appointment of an Assistant General Manager and a General Superintendent, in the persons of Mr. A. N. Mitchell and Mr. A. Gordon Ramsay, respectively. They have been for some years co-operating most effectively, more particularly in the process of agency building, and the present advancement, while placing a greater burden of responsibility upon each, will enable them to give even more important and valuable service to the Company.

During the year the Medical Department suffered severely through the untimely and most regrettable death of our highly esteemed fellow officer, Dr. George S. Strathy, whose devotion to his profession had made him invaluable to this Company. Partial reorganization of the Department became necessary, and this has been accomplished by the association with Dr. Scadding, the chief medical director, as assistant medical directors, of Dr. S. J. Streight and Dr. J. A. Roberts. They are both highly equipped and energetic young men, whose whole time will be engaged by the Company, and we shall be further aided by the continuation of Dr. H. S. Hutchison to give us a portion of his time in a consultative capacity.

Your Directors have to record another deplorable loss in the death of their friend and colleague, Sir James Lougheed. Sir James has been for many years an unusually active and helpful member of your Board, and his great personal charm and marked ability had endeared him to all in the Company whose good fortune it was to feel his contact. The two vacancies upon the directorate have been filled by the addition of Mr. C. A. Bogert, Vice-President and General Manager of the Dominion Bank, and Mr. A. E. Ames of A. E. Ames & Company, Limited, Investment Bankers, respectively representing the shareholders and the policyholders. Both have had wide experience, and their knowledge and judgment, which they have been good enough to place at our disposal, will aid substantially in the conduct of your business.

Since 1900, and indeed since its very inception, this Company has had ever before it the ambition to be useful to the country which shelters it, and to the people who entrust it with their savings. Those charged with its management have always exercised a lively optimism and imagination in the prosecution of their undertaking, but he would have been courageous indeed who in 1900 had ventured to prophesy anything approaching what has been accomplished by it in the subsequent quarter century. Our assurances in force have multiplied seven times, from $81,000,000 to over $578,000,000; our annual issue has multiplied twenty times, from $6,390,000 to over $128,000,000; our assets five times, from $22,000,000 to over $114,000,000, and our income seven times, from $4,227,000 to over $30,000,000, while payments to policyholders or their representatives are six times greater, being $13,083,000, as compared with $2,250,000.

At the same time the insurer has progressed very markedly in what he demands of the insuring company by way of broader coverage and personal attention to the needs of his individual case. We believe our representatives have met this challenge with alacrity and with ability, and that they will continue to interpret the aims of the company and the desire of the assured to the advantage and profit of all concerned.

During 1925—

The Canada Life Assurance Company

(Established in 1847)

Made the following substantial progress:

		Increase.
Total Insurance in Force increased to	$578,660,000	$92,981,000
Total Assets increased to	114,461,000	11,253,000
Reserves for Protection of Policyholders	100,296,000	11,174,000
New Assurances paid for in 1925	128,563,000	23,034,000
Surplus earned in 1925	4,576,000	1,035,000
Total Income for 1925	30,127,000	5,399,000
Dividends to Policyholders in 1925	4,585,000	1,688,000
Total Payments to Policyholders in 1925	13,083,000	2,678,000

Above, in brief, are the results for 1925, as shown by the Financial Statement.

1. Dividends on many classes of policies have been increased.
2. Made the largest surplus earnings in the history of the Company, extending over seventy-nine years.
3. Continued to improve service to public by special educational training of field force.
4. Placed more insurance with present Policyholders than in any other year, and increased public interest in Monthly Income, Business Insurance, Salary Budget and Group Insurance.

SHOWER OF BOTTLES AND RIOTING TERMINATED MONTREAL MAROONS' 1-0 SHUT-OUT AGAINST CANADIENS

Noble Knocked Out Morenz With Body Check and Crowd Seethed.

FIVE ARRESTED

MONTREAL, Que, Jan. 18.—(Canadian Press)—Montreal Maroons shut out the Canadiens 1-0 before a crowd of over 12,000 spectators Saturday night, capturing an exciting and nerve-wracking battle.

Nelson Stewart, Maroon centre, scored the winning oal nine minutes after the start of the final period. The tally sent the crowd of Montreal into the wildest scenes of joy. But this uproar was as nothing to the outburst which occurred two minutes before ned of the contest when bottles coins, watches and other missles were thrown to the ice by a crowd of rooters. Attempts by the ushers and plainclothesmen to eject the offenders led to a series of fights as sympathisers interfered on behalf of the culprits—and the entire rooters' section became a seething riot. It took five minutes to quell the disturbance and clear the ice of the debris. Five alleged offenders were arrested by the police. The bottle-throwing started when Morenz was carried off the ice, completely knocked out by a heavy bodycheck from Reg. Noble at the Montreal defence.

A Defensive Game

Stewart's goal broke a scoreless deadlock which had existed up to the halfway mark in the final session and one which threatened to continue to the utmost limit of play. Both teams had been showing a terrific defensive hockey style. Every type of attack was used by both teams in their attempts to tally. Finally Siebert launched one of his meteoric flashes. At the defence he drove the puck toward the Canadien goal. Stewart rushed for the rebound. Rheaume cleared the puck behind the Canadien net and like a flash Stewart swooped down on it. Slowly and with uncanny stickhandling, he wormed his way around the back of the Canadien net. He tricked his way out in front at the opposite side and, while the Canadien players who came swarming around, were held as in a daze, the Maroon centre twisted his wrist and the puck sped into the corner of the net.

Penalties were frequent in the game. Nineteen in all were awarded, ten to Canadiens and nine to Montreal. Eight of them came in the second session. This spoiled the hockey in the middle period. Montreal at one time were playing 4 to 6 men and later Canadiens were handicapped in a similar fashion. Seldom were both teams at full strength in the entire second period.

"Such a Sweet Child," Says Suzanne of Helen Wills

CANNES, France, January 18—Canadian Press.—Helen Wills, queen of United States tennis, and Suzanne Lenglen, world's champion, met on Sunday under the sunny skies of the Riviera, as two girls interested in the game. They had a most friendly chat as they watched the players at Frank Could's club.

Mlle. Suzanne has returned to her home in Nice, with nothing but praise for the girl who is considered her most formidable rival for world laurels.

"I admire Helen in every way, she is such a sweet child," said Suzanne intensely. "I simply love her."

WON JUDGE'S DECISION.

NEW YORK, January 18. — Canadian Press. — Billy White, Jersey City lightweight, won a judge's decision over Ted Marchand of England, in a 10 round headliner here on Saturday night. White floored the Englishman in the fifth round, but the bell rang before any count could be called.

CONDITIONS LAID DOWN FOR ENTRY OF POPOLARI

Mussolini Gives Terms on Which They May Re-enter Chamber.

MUST SIGN IT.

Many Clauses in Documents —Must Denounce Former Leader.

ROME, Jan. 18 (Canadian Press)—During a Sunday session he had called for that purpose, Premier Mussolini, amid tremendous enthusiasm, yesterday laid down conditions whereby the boycotting Deputies of the Aventine Opposition would be allowed to en-enter the Chamber and participate in Parliamentary labors.

Conditions applied particularly to the Catholic or Popolari party deputies, who re-entered the Chamber on Saturday on the occasion of the commemoration of the Queen Mother's death, but were expelled at the close of the memorial session by the Fascists.

The conditions are those Secretary Farinacci of the Fascist party laid down a few days ago, excepting the stipulation "That Mussolini is a seer."

Mussolini said he had no intention of posing as a seer, but was firmly determined to insist that the boycotters sign a declaration of agreement to the other conditions, namely;

No moral quesion against the Fascisti ever existed; the Popolari have unjustly defamed men of the Fascist regime; Don Luigi Sturzi (retired ex-leader of the Popolari) is "The biggest criminal in the world"; the Popolari since June, 1924, have been playing a farcical part which has harmed Italy's interests; that Fascism has the nation's unanimus consent; and that the Poplari no longer represent anything whatever in the country.

HOCKEY LEAGUE FORMED IN TOWN

Campbellford To Have Six Teams in League Just Organized.

CAMPBELLFORD, Jan. 18—Campbellford will have a town hockey league, organization having been effected at a well attended meeting held Saturday vening in the assembly room of the Public Library. Among the well known hockey players present were Rev. C. D. Daniel, Rev. G. C. Clarke, Walter Blakely, J. H. Bell, Hylton Beatty, Charles Montgomery, Jack Cowell and Colonel Watt. The league will comprise the following clubs: Woollen Mills, Hydro, Clerks, High School, Burnbrae and Outlaws, and if it is possible to get ready in time the first game will be played Thursday night.

J. H. Bell was elected president and C. D. Daniel secretary-treasurer. These are the gentlemen who held the same offices in the Soft Ball League last summer and who did so much to make that organization the success which it proved to be.

The executive will consist of the president and secretary and a representative from each club.

Arrangements have been made with Walter Covert for the use of the skating rink. Each team will practise one night a week, the charge to be 15 cents for each man on the ice. At the league games nine players on each team will be admitted free and Mr. Covert will get 40 per cent of the total gate receipts.

Games will be played under O.H.A. rules except that each team will be permitted to have on hand at each contest as many substitutes as it chooses, the idea of this regulation being to give as many as possible a chance to paly and by so doing to develope the game in Campbellford. The residence rule was fixed at seven days. There will be two games played on each schedule evening, the first starting at 7.30. The admission fee was set at 25 and 15 cents.

At the end of the schedule the clubs finishing second and third will play a sudden death game to decide which shall enter a home and home contest with the league winners. This arrangement will depend upon the condition of the ice when the regular schedule is completed.

Ten minutes overtime will be allowed each way or until a goal is scored and if the contest is not decided within that limit it will be regarded as a draw to be played off at some future occasion.

The meeting adjourned subject to the call of the chair.

LINESMEN AT ENGLISH FOOTBALL GAME PELTED WITH SNOWBALLS

Snow Covered Most of the Grounds Saturday—One Game Abandoned.

COMIC FEATURES

LONDON, Jan. 18 (Canadian Press Cable).—Good football in the First Division of the English League was entirely out of the question on Saturday. In most cases the ground was treacherous due to the frost and snow, and mis-knicks were frequent. At Stamford Bridge, the ground was furrowed with ruts where carts that had been employed to clear away the snow prior to the Chelsea-Port Vale game had sunk into the turf. There were many comic interludes at this encounter, and these included snowballing the linesmen.

One First Division game was abandoned, that between Aston Villa and Leeds United, at Villa Park. Scoring was quite heavy, as witness the tilt at Blackburn, where the Rovers and their Birmingham opponents netted four times each. Five goal were registered at Highbury, Huddersfield, Bolton and Leicester, in every case the home team emerging victorious.

Newcastle United and Liverpool were the only clubs to acquire full points away from home, the former Notts County and the latter obtaining the odd goal in three over West Ham. There were three drawn games, that between the Spurs and Manchester City being scoreless, Cardiff City held Everton to a one-all count while, as intimated, there was a regular goal-getting bee at Blackburn.

As a mark of respect to the memory of the late John Lewis, vice-president of the Football Association, who founded the Rovers in 1874, the spectators at Blackburn stood silent for two minutes before the game.

Rutherford Returns

Young Jock Rutherford made his re-apparance with Arsenal against Manchester United on Saturday, having been restored to good standing following a temporary suspension. It had been elicited by the Association that Rutherford's name had been fraudulently employed by a hand-book maker and he was cleared of all suspicion. He was enthusiastically welcomed when Arsenal lined up against Manchester United, and he celebrated his re-appearance by showing himself to be the best forward on the field. He and Buchannan gave a beautiful exhibition of wing-play. The United put up a good fight and revealed themselves as a tough nut for Tottenham Hotspurs to crack in the fourth round of the Cup competition.

At Upton Park West Ham gave a poor exhibition. They lacked finish and showed plainly that they are sadly in need of a forward who can get goals. They had sufficient of team play against Liverpool to have got half a dozen, but in front of the nets their forward line was helpless.

The Scoring Stars.

There were many individual feats of netting several goals, particularly in the Junior strings. Johnson of Stoke got four out of his team's five counters against Fulham; Coke of Plymouth obtained the same number out of six goals scored to three recorded by Norwich City; Cockson of Chesterfield scored four times against Accrington Stanley. The score here was seven to two in favor of Chesterfield. Bradford of Birmingham, Fowler of Swansea Town and Brown of Gillingham each got three.

'SYNDICATE HOCKEY' OPPOSED BY DUGGAN WARNING AGAINST PLAN

Two Teams in N.H.L. Should Not Be Owned by One Club.

LEAGUE SOUND

NEW YORK, Jan. 18. Canadian Press. The reported plans of Tex Rickard, honorary president, and Col. J. S. Hammond, president of the New York Professional Hockey Club to control another team in the National Hockey League, and house it in Madison Square Garden under the banner of "Brooklyn," has caused the cry of "syndicate hockey" to be raised, according to the Sunday newspapers here, and it is suggested in some circles that a sharp line should be drawn between the management of the two teams.

The application for the eighth franchise in the N.H.L. was tabled at the last meeting of the league. "In other words the point was made that no two teams in competition against each other and against other teams in a league, should be owned and controlled by one person or one group of men," says the American. "This seems to be a reasonable argument in any professional sport. Baseball has always sought to keep its skirts clear of 'syndicate baseball' and hockey should be benefitted by a similar policy."

Duggan Opposed.

The newspaper continues that it is generally reported that Tom Duggan the Montreal sports promoter, who brought pro. hockey to this city, is not in favor of bringing another team to this city.

"Duggan has had more experience in the hockey game than Colonel Hammond and Tex Rickard, and they might do worse than heed his words of warning on 'syndicate hockey,' the American says. "The pro. game is doing well now and killing the goose that laid the golden egg was never a profitable pastime."

Team for Brooklyn.

The World says Rickard is said to be willing to turn the "Brooklyn" team over to Brooklyn men if any come forward with interest in the game, with the possibility that the games will be marked with the same intense rivalry that exists between the New York and Brooklyn teams in the National Baseball League. "Such rivalry would not hurt the gate receipts," the newspaper says.

Advices from Boston express great fear on the part of ice enthusiasts there that New York will form a second professional hockey team here next season by raiding the Boston Bruins, as baseball clubs have bought off the Braves and Red Sox in former years.

"Boston suggests, rather naively," says the Post, "that Rickard and his associates go west to the Western League, where there are plenty of good hockey men."

TODD LOSES DECISION.

N——

BOSTON, Mass., January 18. Canadian Press. — Jimmy Slattery of Buffalo, N.Y., won a judge's decision over Roland Todd of England, in their ten round bout here on Saturdaynight. Slattery weighed in at 164 and Todd at 162.

PRINCETON 4; YALE 2.

NEW YORK, Jan. 18. — Canadian Press. — Princeton defeated Yale in an Intercollegiate hockey game at Madison Square Garden Saturday night by 4 to 2. This is the second of the big three series, Princeton having previously lost to Harvard.

HEAVY SCORING IN SCOTS' GAMES

Partick Thistle's Victory of 3-1 Over Airdrie a Surprise.

NESS SCORED TWO

GLASGOW, Jan. 18.—(Canadian Press Cable).—The big surprise of Saturday's football games in the Scottish League was the defeat of the Airdrieonians at the hands of Patrick Thistle. On their own ground, Airdrie had to accept a three to one beating. The sterling play of Ness, who obtained a couple of Patrick's counters, was a strong factor in the defeat of the home team. Kinloch made it three, while Anderson replied with a tally for Airdrie.

Heavy scoring featured all games on Saturday. Eight goals were counted at Easter Road where Hibernians drew with Celtic, and the same number found the nets at Hampden Park where Hamilton Academicals were trounced by the home team, Queen's Park, to the tune of six to two. The game at Kilmarnock saw seven goals scored, five of them going to the home club, with the remaining two to Dundee.

Queen's Park had a bad start against the Academicals but they recovered themselves in the second half when all their goals were registered. McDonald obtained four while Nicholson split that number; Williamson and Kelly came back with one each for Hamilton.

Celtic had a hard fight against Hibernians, but managed to draw. McInnaly counted twice, with MacFarlane and McLean one each, while Hibs response brought two from Mulligan and one each from Walker and McColl.

Rangers Unlucky.

Heart of Midlothian forced Rangers to divide the points at Ibrox Park, but Rangers were unlucky not to win. At one time the Hearts were leading by their two goals, obtained by Slavin and Smith Norton and Craig saved the day for the home-club, however. At that both of the Edinburgh team's goals should have been averted.

Motherwell put a strong fight against St. Johnstone and sent the Perth Club down by four to one. Tennett (two) and Stevenson and Murphy starred for Motherwell, while Kirkwood reduced the lead for the Saints.

Cowdenbeath were at the top of their form when they subdued Dundee United by the odd counter in three at Tannadice Park, Devlin, their slashing centre forward, was in great game and secured both of Cowdenbeath's tallies.

Greenock Weak.

Greenock Morton were weak against Raith Rovers and went down by three to nothing as Kirkcaldy. Allison scored a couple for Raith with Brown completing the count; Morton failed to respond.

McCrindle performed the hat-trick against Clydebank, who were whitewashed by St. Mirren at Paisley. The visitors had no comeback.

Smith (two), Weir, Cunningham and Lindsay were the performers aginst Dundee at Kilmarnock, while Ross got both of Dundee's goals.

CALGARY TIGERS BEAT VANCOUVER

Goaler Saved Patrick's Team From Rout.

CALGARY, Jan. 18 (Canadian Press). — Calgary Tigers, flashing one of the most elusive and colorful forward passing games and a defence that out-manoeuvred the opposition at every turn, decisively outclassed the Vancouver Maroons here Saturday night to take the long end of a 3 to 0 score. The coast sextet could show but very little against the "re-organized" Bengal tribe, and but for the marvellous performance of "Eagle Eye" Lenman in goal, the count would have been overwhelming.

In vanquishing Frank Patrick's aggregation, the Tigers turned in their greatest display of hockey this winter, in which Cully Wilson, spectacular forward, played the role of hero, as all three goals were from his stick.

Line-Up

Calgary — Winkler, goal; Button and Gardiner, defence; Wilson, Oliver and Duncan, forwards; Headley and MacFarlane, subs.

Vancouver—Lehman, goal; Mackey and Moran, defence; Boucher, MacKay, and Arbour, forwards Bostrum, Connolly and Wait, subs. Referee—Carl Battell.

Summary

First Period:—
1. Calgary—Wilson 3.17

Second Period:—
2. Calgary, Wilson from Dutton 14.15

Third Period:—
3. Calgary, Wilson from Gardiner 6.45

Penalties:—
First Period—None.
Second Period—Dutton, Bostrum, 2 minutes.
Third Period—Duncan, 2 minutes.

SEYMOUR HOLSTEIN BREEDERS SAY WESTERN MEN FAVORED

Majority of Directors Come From West of Toronto.

PRIZES TO WEST.

Money From Whole Province Given For Western Fairs, They Charge.

CAMPBELLFORD, Jan. 18. — Richard Honey, president, and P. B. Nelson, vice-president of the Seymour Holstein Breeders' Club, will represent that organization at the annual meeting of the Dominion Association which will be held in Toronto in February, having been selected at the annual meeting of the club held here Saturday afternoon.

The Dominion Association has always insisted on regarding Yonge Street in Toronto as the dividing line of Ontario ad has selected five directors on the west and three on the east side of that line. F. R. Mallory of Frankford will, at the meeting of the Association, present a resolution providing that four directors be chosen for Western and the same number for Eastern Ontario, and the Seymour delegates were instructed to support this measure. They will also support Mr. Mallory in his attempt to have the registration fee for pure bred female Holsteins reduced from $2 to $1. Another move talked of is to have one annual meeting of the Association at least held in Belleville or some other point in Eastern Ontario, as the opinion of the breeders is that in the past the Western men have been getting all the best of it. With a majority on the board of directors, they have always been in a position to swing everything their own way.

President Honey, at the meeting here Saturday, stated that the Association gave large grants to the big fairs in Western Ontario and that this money came back to the western breeders in the form of prizes. He thought the time was ripe for a change in the constitution so that the breeders east and west would be given a fair show. Another suggestion made by Mr. Honey was that in order to keep up the interest in the work the club should meet every month, at least during the winter, for the discussion of subjects of interest to the members.

On motion of George Van Volkenburg and E. L. Anderson, Messrs. Honey and Nelson were elected delegates to the Toronto meeting and were instructed to work in co-operation with Mr. Mallory to secure the desired revision of the constitution.

The fees for new members were reduced to $1 to join and 50 cents a year thereafter.

Another session of the club will be held on Saturday, February 13, at 2 p.m., when the report of the delegates to the Toronto meeting will be considered. E. L. Anderson will read a paper showing the advantage of a live club to the Holstein breeders of Seymour.

The following officers were elected for 1926:

President—Richard Honey.
Vice-President—P. B. Nelson.
Secretary-Treasurer—G. A. Kingston.

Directors—Sam Moir, E. L. Anderson, Ed. O'Connor and Arthur Ward.

NO GAME TO-NIGHT.

Soft Spell Over Week End Has Spoiled Ice

Owing to the unfavorable weather conditions it has been found necessary to postpone the Senior O.H.A. game scheduled for the Brock street rink tonight. The soft spell of the weekend has played havoc with the ice, which is not now fit for a hockey game.

BASKETBALL

By THE CAPTAIN

NO. 5—CATCHING THE BALL

Catching and passing the ball are topics only too often neglected by coaches and players alike. There is no more important phase of the game than the proper way to receive, and to overlook this is to forget one of the essentials.

When you play basket-ball you're using a sphere that is air-inflated and not one that is solid. It is made to rebound and is just as lively when striking the out-stretched hands of a player set to receive a pass as it is when it is dropped against the floor.

Therefore, you must "give" with the pass a trifle rather than play the part of an inflexible wooden Indian. Let your arms travel with the pass rather than act as a stone-wall and stop it dead the moment there is a contact.

Knowing the proper position of the hands will also save regrets at a later date. You wouldn't willingly stop a fist against your finger-tips. A passed ball at times comes with terrific force.

Use the palms of the hands in receiving. That way you avoid the possibility of broken fingers. You also assure yourself a better chance to catch the ball, since the palms will act with a cushion effect that will tend to make it stick. Also you are certain of a better grip.

Point the hands outward instead of reaching them forward like two parallel rods. A mark even with your hips or stomach will be the gasser's mark. His aim won't always be good, but by practicing receiving as I have described you stand a better chance of stopping misdirected as well as accurately aimed passes.

Opening Games in All Series Scheduled For This Week.

MANY ENTRIES.

The Boys' Work Board working to promote Taylor Statten's C.S.E.T. program in this city has secured al arge number of entries for the Church League from the different Sunday Schools.

The schedule has been drawn up and the first game was to take place at the P.C.I. rink this evening between George Street and St. John's but the weather will not permit the game.

George Street has the largest number of teams with one in each of the Junior and Juvenile series and two in the Midget series.

There is a movement on foot to form a Senior group also. The Baraca Class of Murray Street has a team ready to enter into this league if it can be formed. It is hoped that George Street, Park Street and St. Andrew's could also secure teams for this division.

The schedules for the respective leagues are:

Junior

WEST INDIES CRICKET

Rain Interfered With M.C.C. Match.

BRIDGETOWN, Barbadoes, West Indies, Jan. 18 (Canadian Press Cable, via Reuters).—The return test cricket match between the touring M.C.C. team and the team representing the West Indies was drawn Saturday.

Barbadoes went to bat first, and after piling up 401 runs for the loss of five wickets, declared. Tarilton made 178 runs.

M.C.C., who had a difficult wicket, scored 110 in the first innings and followed on with 184 for eight wickets (Jamieson 45).

The first test match, January 12, also was drawn, when rain made play impossible. The West Indies team had scored 221 runs for six wickets when stumps were drawn. In the initial innings of the match M.C.C. amassed 597 for eight wickets, declared.

BIG SISTERHOOD DOES GOOD WORK

Further Donations For Relief of Needy Are Asked.

The Big Sisterhood, who wish to acknowledge with thanks generous donations already made to their cause are asking for further supplies in the way of children's clothing, from babies' wear to that of children up to 14 years of age, in outer and underwear, boots, stockings, etc. Women's clothing also would be very acceptable and the society would much appreciate any cash donations which would enable them to provide milk and other necessaries for several sick people. Donations may be left at the police station or will be called for, if 1017M is telephoned to.

The Big Sisters do a great deal of charitable work in a quiet, effective way. During this season of the year calls are more frequent, and they have many ways of expending money and supplies provided.

WILLIE TO VISIT WILHELM SOON

Ex-Crown Prince Will Attend Father's Birthday Celebration.

A RECONCILIATION.

DOORN, Holland, Jan. 18 (United Press) — The former German Crown Prince plans to visit his father, Ex-Kaiser Wilhelm, here on the occasion of Wilhelm's 67th birthday, January 26, it was learned today. This meeting will partake of the nature of a reconciliation between father and son, it is believed, for relations between them have been reported strained ever since the Prince made his spectacular trip from his Holland exile to his estates in Oels, Germany. Since that time there has been no visit between them.

KING MAY HAVE NO OPPOSITION

May Be Progressive Candidate, However—Up To Local Conventions.

OTTAWA, Jan. 18.— (Canadian Press.)—The question of a contest in Prince Albert, where Premier King will seek a seat in the Commons at a by-election on Feb. 15th, has not been decided. It is thought the Conservatives may not contest the seat, and the Prime Minister may have only a Progressive opponent, or he may have none at all and win by acclamation. It is, however, a matter pretty much for the local party conventions to decide, and Ottawa awaits the decision of the Prince Albert organizations. This morning Hon. Vincent Massey, Minister without portfolio in the Mackenzie King government, was in conference with Robert Forke, the Progressive leader, and it is thought that the Prince Albert by-election was discussed.

BIG FRUIT TRIAL OPENING TO-DAY

367 JURY MEN.

VANCOUVER, Jan. 18 (Canadian Press).—Eleven accused persons and counsel representing 42 fruit brokerage houses in Western Canada, together with 36 jurymen, will appear in the Supreme Court here before Mr. Justice D. A. McDonald today, when the trial of charges against the brokers of conspiracy to defraud the fruit growers and fruit consumers of the Dominion, opens.

Four carloads of exhibits containing business records extending through the last five years covering the greatest part of the fruit marketing industry in the West during that period, and representing, it is stated, in actual cash a turnover about a quarter million dollars, will be the setting for the first scene.

WAGE AWARD IS COMPROMISE

Leaves Matter Much the Same as Before Inquiry.

MEN CONSIDERING.

LONDON, Jan. 18.— (Canadian Press.)—A vital meeting of members of the National Union of Railwaymen will be held at the end of this week to consider the recent award of the National Wage Board on the wage question that has been under investigation for some time, and which has threatened to develop into a serious dispute between the railway workers and the railway companies. The award is said to be a compromise that has left matters in much the same state as they were before the inquiry was held.

MUCH FINE WORK BY S.A. OFFICERS

Commandant and Mrs. Smith Are Leaving Strong Corps Behind.

TEMPLE REBUILT.

The Salvation Army Temple was crowded to capacity yesterday for the farewell services conducted by Commandant and Mrs. A. J. Smith, who are leaving the city shortly on account of having been transferred to Toronto.

Commandant and Mrs. Smith came to Peterborough in August, 1922, from Ottawa, and have accomplish d much good work since their arrival here. The local corps had just purchased the property and was building the Young People's Temple and repairing the old Temple when the Commandant and his wife arrived. They immediately seized hold of the work and took charge of every phase of the Army's labor in the city in a manner that demonstrated their fitness for the task that was ahead of them. The work was not very long completed when the disastrous fire of January 17, 1923, which left nothing but the bare walls of the Temple standing, occurred. Commandant Smith got the business men of the city together to discuss the question of raising funds to build a new Temple, and before long the funds were at hand for the purpose, the members of the local corps subscribing $5,300, the balance being subscribed by the citizens of Peterborough. Today, the only mortgage against the property is one amounting to $1,500, and another on the band instruments amounting to $195. The band los its instruments in the fire, and for six months the only music they had was what they supplied with their own voices.

The Peterborough Corps today has the finest Temple in the country, fully equipped in every respect, and also has a band that has made a name for itself wherever it has performd and Commandant Smith is responsible for most of it, for, due to his untiring efforts for the cause, couple with the unfailing loyalty of his soldiers, anything that has been undertaken has been a signal success.

The band which was badly depleted by a number of the members leaving the city was built up with young fellows from the Sunday School, and today the band is back to full strength. Commandant Smith also organized a Boys' Band, starting with 16 members—today it has 35 members, not to mention the transfers which have taken place to the Senior Band.

Other activities in the Corps include a troop of Life Saving Girl Guards with a strength of 42 members, and a Band of Love which includes all the little tots. So thorough has been the work of Commandant Smith, that even this winter's coal is in the cellar, and is all paid for.

ASKS COLLECTION OF TAX ARREARS

T. F. Hall, K.C., Demands That Council Try to Collect Langslow Taxes.

COBOURG, Jan. 18. — The town of Cobourg is threatened with a legal action unless the town collects the 1923 and 1924 Lengslov Ltd. taxes at once. J. F. Hall, K.C., in a letter to the Council, demands on behalf of the ratepayers and taxpayers of the town that the corporation "take such proceedings as may be necessary to collect from the bank or such other party or parties liable to pay the same, the taxes levied against the Lengslov Limited for the years 1923 and 1924, and also accrued interest."

BROKER ARRESTED ON THEFT CHARGE

Prince Edward Island Man Says He Failed To Pay For Potatoes.

TORONTO, Jan. 18. Canadian Press.— John Moffatt, a commission broker, was taken into custody yesterday on a charge of theft, preferred against him by Michael J. McIver, of Kinkorn, P.E.I.

The charge involves the sum of $3000. McIver says that he sent several carloads of potatoes from P.E.I. some weeks ago to Moffatt, and that he has not been paid for them. Moffatt walked into headquarters yesterday and gave himself up.

Heavy Snow Along Coast Mild Weather in London

LONDON, Jan. 18.—(United Press.) — While the southern coast of England was lashed by one of the fiercest blizzards in years, with a downfall of two feet or more of snow, a thaw set in around London to-day, causing fears for a renewal of the recent floods.

The Thames' Conservancy Board warned lock keepers and others to take the utmost precautions. At many places roads are blocked with a heavy overnight snow. Brighton reported the fall there had been the heaviest in 30 years.

CAN'T AVERT ELECTION

Believes Ottawa Correspondent of Globe—Unless Progressives Choose Sides.

TORONTO, January 18. — Canadian Press. — The Globe publishes the following despatch from its Ottawa correspondent:

"Canada's Parliament is sitting on a volcano which at any time may erupt and blow it to the people. Even though the 19 Progressives who voted with the Liberals on Friday morning have sought an understanding with the government, it means only a postponement of the inevitable. While practically every member of every group in the House is opposed to another general election this year, no one believes it can be averted any longer than June, unless there is a definite parliamentary alignment of the Progressives with the Liberals or with the Conservatives."

EX-SERVICE MEN FORGET PAIN AT CHRISTMAS FEST

Princess Mary Arrived While the Veterans Were Singing Merrilly.

FOUR LARGE CAKES.

LONDON, England, Jan. 15 (By Canadian Press).—Princess Mary, Viscountess Lascelles, was an interested visitor at a Christmas party given to nearly 700 ex-service men whose war wounds still keep them in hospitals. The party was held in the Royal Riding School at Buckingham Palace. It was arranged by Miss Marta Cunningham, the founder and organizing secretary of the "Not Forgotten" Association.

The party began with a substantial tea, after which there was a distribution of crackers. In a few minutes every man was wearing a paper cap, and either blowing a striped cardboard trumpet or swinging a rattle. The Riding School had been decorated with flags, balloons, holly, mistletoe, and the green leaves of rhododendrons and other shrubs. A huge Christmas tree lit up with coloured electric lamps stood on a raised platform and a band played popular melodies. In such a setting soldiers who still know pain and suffering seven years after the end of the war forgot their afflictions and sent the choruses of "It ain't gonna rain no mo'," "Show me the way to go home," and other songs echoing to the roof.

Princess Mary arrived while the men were singing. She was received by members of the committee and was taken first to a basket bed on wheels where A. Gallifant, a patient from the Princess Alice at Slough, asked her to accept a bouquet of roses, violets, and lilies-of-the-valley. Rousing cheers followed the presentation, and these were repeated as her Royal Highness passed down the lines of tables to the centre of the building. Four large Christmas cakes, each with the inscription, "The Season's Greetings From Princess Mary," traced in pink or white sugar icing, stood on a table, and these she cut for distribution among the guests. More than 20 "senior" men, who have been longest in the hospitals, represented at the party, were then called up to receive from the Princess a special gift, and afterwards her Royal Highness presented to the association an enormous green and red cracker. This when pulled produced a rather feeble "crack," but within its covering were presents for 180 "cot" patients at the hospitals who were not well enough to attend.

Mr. Philips, the treasurer of the "Not Forgotten" Association, announced the receipt of a cheque for £1,000 for the funds from Ceylon. This is the fourth donation for this amount from the same source. He also said that a handsome gift had been received from a donor who wished to be anonymous and who gave it in memory of a son lost on the Somme. Mr. Philips added that he was charged by Princess Mary to give the men a message by greeting, to say she hoped that they had enjoyed their evening, that they would have a good Christmas, and that the New Year would give them renewed health and recovery from their ailments. The guests gave three enthusiastic cheers, and then in their exuberance added a fourth, for Princess Mary. Her Royal Highness then made a tour of the tables and talked with many of the men. She also had presented to her the artists who during the year had helped with the association's regular entertainments in the ex-service hospitals.

OFFICERS INSTALLED.

Court Chemong 530 Has Interesting Ceremony and Good Entertainment.

The officers of Court Chemong, 530, were installed on Thursday evening by Bro. Jos. McCulloch, High Chief Ranger, of Eastern Ontario, assisted by Bro. L. G. Morgan, High Secretary, Ottawa and Comp. Jones of Court Prince of Wales, Havelock.

After the installation of officers about one hundred sat down to the prettily decorated banquet tables arranged by the ladies of the Court.

The toast to the King was proposed by Bro. A. Rutter, V.C.R., and was responded to by Bro. J. W. Buyers, who gave an address on the British Empire.

Bro. A. Bradshaw, F.S., proposed the toast to the Supreme Court, with Bro. L. G. Morgan, High Sec'y, responding in his usual address, outlining the work of the Supreme Court at their last session. The toast of the High Court was proposed by Bro. H. E. Connelly and responded to by Bro. Jos. McCulloch, High Chief Ranger, who gave a very able address on the work of the High Court and its coming future. Bro. Geo. Spring was requested to come forward and Bro. J. McCulloch, H.C.R., pinned the Order's Veterans' Jewel on him on behalf of the Supreme Executive.

Bro. Spring replied in a few kind words, saying he had been a member of the Foresters for nearly forty years and thanked the H.C.R. and members.

Bro. F. Clark, P.C.R., tendered a hearty vote of thanks to the High Chief Ranger, High Secretary and the Comp. from Havelock.

Bro. Styles acted as toastmaster.

Bro. S. Harris then took charge of the evening and put on one of the best entertainments assisted by Comp. Bradshaw and Mrs. Bugg at the piano. Those taking part in the programme were Mr. E. Bradshaw, Mr. P. Cullen, giving numbers as singers and in sleight of hand work. Dancing and cards were also indulged in.

The first team sent to the Olympic Games from the United States, in 1896, arrived at Athens the night before the games opened, after a journey of over 5,000 miles.

NO MORE PILES

Thousands Bless Dr. Leonhardt, the Physician Who Discovered This Common Sense Remedy

If you think that the surgeon's knife is the only method of escape from the misery of piles, it's because you haven't heard of the new treatment known as Dr Leonhardt's HEM-ROID.

The Doctor's treatment is internal. By experimenting for years he discovered the exact cause of piles and then went further and compounded a remedy that would remove the cause.

Dr. Leonhardt wants every sufferer to benefit by his discovery and so that there will be no doubting or delay. McDermid and Jury and all druggists are authorized to sell HEM-ROID with guarantee that it will do as stated or money back.

On that honorable basis every sufferer should secure a package of Dr. Leonhardt's HEM-ROID today.

DOLLAR LIMIT GAME

Alleged Against Windsor Poolroom.

WINDSOR, Ont., Jan. 18 (Canadian Press)—Raiding the basement of a poolroom at 367 1-2 Ouelette Avenue early Sunday morning, the city police arrested Charles Brent, wealthy poolroom operator, on a charge of running a poker game, Brent and eight men were found, the police said, playing poker with a dollar limit. They were taken to headquarters and released on bail of $100 to appear in police court today.

TORONTO PASTOR

Allen, a number of his supporters, including half a dozen ladies, remained in the church. They believed it expedient to remain for a time at any rate, but they found themselves locked in; even the fire escape was locked. The windows were boarded up, and the fire in the furnace allowed to go out.

Teacher Poked

Later in the afternoon when the time came for Sunday School the children gathered, but could not get in. Several disputes arose. One Sunday School teacher, Norman Pipe, endeavored to gain entry by the fire escape door, but claims that an official of the church struck him in the face and refused to let him enter. A prayer meeting was being conducted inside, it was reported.

By this time, the news had spread so that about 400 people gathered for the evening service. The police had been notified by Mr. Allen, and Inspector Miller, Sergt. McMenomee, Plainclothesmen Gilpin and Addie and Constables Smith and Humphries were also among those present. Finding the church still locked and barred, Mr. Allen conducted service in the church grounds subject to frequent interruptions.

The trustees who had voted for Mr. Allen's dismissal, consider he had been effectively dismissed and arranged for H. S. Stewart, a member of the congregation, to conduct the usual service.

At 10.55, Mr. Allen took his usual place in the pulpit and calmly started the Sunday morning service while the trustees were in the vestry planning their own service.

FILM OF MOTHER LOVE AND LOVES PROMISES MUCH.

A woman's most despised enemy re-enters her life, after thirty years, as her daughter's suitor. Can you imagine the dramatic intensity of such a situation as that? That's but one of a number of highly gripping episodes in "Time the Comedian," Robert X. Leonard's production for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, which is coming to the Regent Theatre to-day.

"Time, the Comedian," is possibly one of the most powerful society dramas ever depicted on the silver sheet. Moreover in its development is shown the evolution of women's and men's clothes as well as the transition between modern and and early twentieth century conditions.

Time has but seemingly little effect on the beauty of the woman for 30 years later she is as attractive as ever and equally as charming in the eyes of the stronger sex. Her daughter now grown up into young womanhood, has been receiving with favor the attentions of a young painter, when the blighter of her mother's home comes into her life. She falls desperately in love with him.

Alarmed, the mother sums up courage to expose the leech of happiness, telling the girl that it is through his charity that they are able to enjoy the luxuries that surround them.

How the mother gives up the allowance, the daughter the man, and the mother realizes that she is after all, old, brings the story to a dramatic close.

Watches and Ford Cars

People do all sort of stunts with Ford cars, but even the most careless give it a bit of oil once in a while.

With watches it is different. People seem to expect a watch to do things that even a Ford car won't do. A watch should receive attention and be looked after, cleaned and oiled just as any fine piece of mechanism. Drop in and let us look at your watch. We will give an honest opinion whether it needs attention or not and you won't be under any obligation either.

SYRIANS PREFER RULE OF ARABS TO GOVERNMENT OF THE FRENCH

Would Rather Have Country Arab Province Than French Colony.

MANY DIFFERENCES.

Races and Sects of Orient Hard For Western Nation To Reconcile.

By JOHN O'BRIEN
(United Press Staff Correspondent).

BEIRUT, Syria, Jan. 18 (United Press).—"We would rather be an Arab province than a French colony," said one of the leaders of the nationalist party of Lebanon to the United Press correspondent who asked him to explain the startling change in the attitude of the inhabitants of the Lebanon district toward France, which was regarded for centuries as their natural protector.

Such an event as the bombardment of Damascus, although that did much to alienate from France what sympathies remained to her, would not of itself be sufficient to cause such a widespread feeling of dissatisfaction as is evident throughout Syria. It is the result of a long series of events for which the French administration is not entirely to blame but which have been exploited by opponents of French influence as proof that France has exceeded the terms of the mandate given by the League of Nations and is aiming at permanent control of the country.

Comparisons are being made between the British administration of neighboring states and the French administration of Syria. Syria, three and a half years after the granting of the mandate, is still awaiting the formulation of a constitution. The monarch she chose has been banished. The country has been divided into four loosely bound states, each with its own representative assembly. Four successive Commissioners have failed to bring about the era of peace and prosperity which the proclamations of the allied powers in the day of victory led the people to expect.

Racial and religious differences, acting on the exuberant Oriental temperament, centuries of daily contact with the Turks count in a large measure in the sum total of the determining causes of Syrian unrest. When it is considered that in a country of a little more than two million people there are two sections of Moslems—Sunnites and Chiites—numbering about half the population, three sects of Catholics—Maronites, Orthodox Greeks and Greeks affiliated with Rome, by the side of a strong minority of pagan Druses, with an admixture of adherents of the reformed church, Armenians and Jews, it is not surprising that a Western nation has experienced extreme difficulty in attempting to reconcile their conflicting tendencies.

Nationalist leaders here point out that before the war which has been hailed as a war of liberation of subject peoples, Syria had over sixty deputies in the Turkish parliament at Constantinople. They affirm that Turkish rule was not tyrannous although it was opposed to progress.

Under the mandate system as applied by France, the initiative in legislation is in the hands of the High Commissioner. The four Representative Councils have a right only to discuss local politics. The regime of capitulations, or special courts for foreigners, persists. The decline of the French franc, on which the fiscal system of Syria is based, has had an effect on business similar to that in France itself. Syrian merchants look with envious eyes on their next-door neighbor, Palestine, where the exchange is at par. Just after the war thousands of Syrians who had made small fortunes in the United States returned to their homeland, confident that the promises of the allies would be kept. With the advent of the new regime emigration started again and is growing. In 1923 about 15,000 Syrians left for the United States.

ADVERTISE IN THE EXAMINER

CANADA'S NEED IS NATIONAL SPIRIT

Nothing Holding Her Down Except Canadians Themselves.

TORONTO, January 18. Canadian Press. — Canada's great need to-day a stronger national sentiment, a stronger Canadianism, said Travers Sweetman, K. C., of Winnipeg, Man., addressing the Canadian Club this afternoon on the question "Is Confederation a real success?"

"There is nobody holding Canada down except ourselves," declared Mr. Sweetman.

Mr. Sweetman said that possibly the greatest single handicap to the prosperity of Canada was its close proximity to the United States.

If Canada was to hold her people and compete with the United States, taxation must be reduced, he said.

WEDDING BELLS

REID—LAWLESS.

A quiet wedding was solemnized at 2.00 p.m. to-day in All Saints' church by the Rev. J. D. Paterson, of Blanche Helen Lawless, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lawless, of this city, to Russell James Reid, son of Mr. Alex Reid, and the late Mrs. Reid, of this city. They were attended by Mr. and Mrs. V. E. Waterman.

MATHER—MACFARLANE.

A very quiet wedding took place at one o'clock on Thursday last, at the residence of the bride's mother, 543 Water street, when Amy L., daughter of Mrs. E. MacFarlane and the late J. MacFarlane, became the bride of Harry P. Mather, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Mather, of Keene. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. E. Todd, pastor of George street church.

The bride, who was given away by Mr. W. H. Cunningham, Weller street, wore brown brocaded satin and carried ophelia roses. Attendants were Mr. and Mrs. A. Stiles, of this city, The wedding march was played by the bride's sister, Miss Laura MacFarlane.

Mr. and Mrs. Mather left later for Toronto, where they will reside.

The bride, who had a large circle of friends in the city, was the recipient of a number of beautiful and expensive gifts.

OBITUARY.

MRS. J. W. MANLEY.

Mrs. J. W. Manley, 25 Lisburn St., died to-day at 1.30. She is survived by her husband and one small daughter.

The funeral announcement will be made later.

MARY ANN PAYNE.

The death occurred in Lakefield on Sunday evening of Mary Ann Payne, wife of Levi Payne, in her 80th year. The deceased was born in Smith Township and had resided in the community all her life, and was a highly respected and dearly beloved resident of Lakefield for the past 23 years. She was a member of the United Church. She leaves to mourn her loss her sorrowing husband, one daughter, Jory, at home, one sister, Mrs. William Norrish, of Smith township, two brothers, George, of Lakefield, and Harry, of Smith township.

The funeral will take place on Wednesday afternoon, from the family residence to the Lakefield cemetery, at 2 o'clock. The service will be conducted by the Rev. Mr. Kemp.

MISS E. M. PERRY.

The many friends and former pupils of Miss E. M. Perry, who was a member of the teaching staff of the Central school for a number of years, prior to her departure for the West about six years ago, will regret to learn of her death, which occurred at Duncan's, British Columbia, on Thursday, Jan. 14th.

Miss Perry was the eldest daughter of the late Charles Perry, ex-M.P., and Mayor of Peterboro, and was a granddaughter of the late Hon. E. Perry, of Cobourg. Survivors are three sisters and four brothers: Mrs. W. G. Sabine and Miss Maud Perry, both of Youngstown, Ohio; Mrs. A. C. Bliss of Miami, Florida: J. G. Perry, of Montreal; G. A. Perry, of New York City; Charles Perry, of Sudbury, and R. F. Perry, of Peterboro.

The funeral will be held from St. John's Church, of which Miss Perry was a member, the date and time to be announced later.

The deceased had been residing with Mrs. A. W. Complin, who will be remembered locally as Miss Ruby Burnham, at Duncan's, B.C., for the past six years.

MRS. ROBERT BALLANTYNE

The death occurred in Nicholls' Hospital at 5 o'clock Sunday evening, of Elizabeth Peters, aged 71, beloved wife of Robert Ballantyne. The deceased came from Dundee, Scotland, with her husband, about fifty years ago, and has resided in Cavan almost ever since, where she has been well-known and highly respected. She leaves to mourn her loss, her sorrowing husband and six sons: Charles of Branftord, William, Norman, and Robert of Toronto, James of this city, and Frank of Cavan. Also two daughters, Mrs. N. Bradley of this city, and Mrs. J. Morrison of Cavan. The funeral will take place from the family residence, Concession 11, Cavan, at 1.30 p.m. on Wednesday, to Gardener's Cemetery. The Rev. Mr. McConnachie will officiate.

412 COFFINS LEAVE CHICAGO BEARING CHINESE TO ORIENT WHERE SOULS WILL HAVE RICE

Bodies Exhumed Because No Relatives Left to Bring Food.

FREIGHT LOAD.

Jars of Rice Accompany Caskets Till Bodies Reach China.

CHICAGO, Ills., Jan 19 (United News). — A strange cargo of 412 coffins, each containing the body of a Chinese, pulled out of the Chicago freight yard Monday, piled high with bowls of rich food.

The bodies were exhumed from Rosehill Cemetery by the Chinese Welfare Society, and started back to the Orient, where they would be certain to have "sufficient food for their souls."

The soul of the Chinese according to their belief, although moving about in the air, remains close to the grave.

Louis Hing, who had charge of exhuming the bodies, explained that it is a Chinese custom to place food on the grave or near the body as a tribute of the soul. There were no relatives left in America to keep the graves of these 412 Chinese decorated with delicacies.

The donations of food were laid on the coffins at the Cemetery, where there was a brief Chinese service. The edibles will be expected to remain in place until the bodies reach their native soil.

CONFERENCE ON ANGLO-ITALIAN DEBT DEFERRED

Terms Proposed by Count Volpi Not Satisfactory to Churchill.

BREACH RUMORED

No Announcement Until Wording of Communique Agreed Upon.

LONDON, Jan. 19.—A two hours' conversation last night between Winston Churchill chancellor of the exchequer, and Count Volpi, the Italian finance minister, failed to bring an agreement in the Anglo-Italian debt negotiations, and there will be another conference today.

It will certainly be the end of the week before a settlement is reached, for Mr. Churchill has engagements which will take him out of London over Wednesday and Thursday.

It is understood that the terms which Count Volpi proposed, and which Mr. Churchill regarded as quite inadequate, will be considered by a cabinet council today before the next conversations between the British chancellor and the finance minister. All kinds of reports are current as to the nature of the difficulties, and one rumor had it that negotiations had broken down. It is known, however, that both sides agreed not to divulge the details of the negotiations until they were able to agree upon the wording of an official communique.

On Wednesday Count Volpi, with Countess Volpi and their daughter and the members of the Italian mission will visit Portsmouth as the guests of he Admiralty. They will inspect the Victory and the Repulse

C.N.R. EARNINGS

MONTREAL, Jan. 18 (Canadian Press).—The gross earnings of the Canadian National Railways for the week ending January 15, 1926, were $4,120,399 as compared with $3,735,713 for the same period of 1925, an increase of $384,686 or ten per cent.

Another way in which this winter has it over last winter is we don't have to pronounce Tutankhamen this winter.

NOW, HONESTLY.

Come on, now—if you are a clerk in any store in town, lend a friendly ear.

What sort of a clerk are you? Your value to the store depends on that.

People irritate you, of course. Lots of folk are inconsiderate. And that's wrong.

But, do two wrongs make a right? Not on your life.

It's the clerk who lets irritation roll off his mind like food off a baby's bib, who amounts to something.

A pleased customer comes back.

But the clerk who runs customers out of the store, and runs himself out of a job has a hard time coming back.

BOBBED HAIR BANDIT BUSY IN HOLD-UP OF TAXI DRIVERS

Flapper is Dupe For Gang of Highwaymen Robbing Cars.

CHIDES VICTIMS.

"It's a Bum Night and You Guys Oughta Have a Lotta Dough."

NEW YORK, Jan. 19 (United Press).—The bobbed haired "flapper" bandit has come back to worry detectives and taxi-drivers, with the girl as a dupe. A trio of bandits last night held up two taxi cab drivers in Long Island City and robbed them of $31.

In each case the girl went about her work ransacking the pockets of the victims, at the same time chiding them for the "small change" they were carrying.

"It's a bum night, and you guys oughta have a lotta dough," she told David W. Matt, the first victim, as she lifted $16 in bills from his pockets. "The rain oughta bring you a lotta business."

The Queensborough Bridge, in each case, was picked as the scene of the hold-up.

GRAIN SURPLUS PROBLEM OF U.S.

Federal Relief Legislation in Abeyance Until Des Moines Meeting.

FARMERS AROUSED

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—(Canadian Press)—Members of Congress from the corn belt states are holding back their efforts to shape legislation on the question of agricultural surpluses until they have heard the result of a big meeting of governors and leaders of farm organizations to be held at Des Moines, January 28. Reports here are that eleven governors of leading agricultural states will be present and that the meeting will demand quick and vigorous agricultural relief legislation.

The meeting is expected to be of great political weight as well as importance in an agricultural way It will apparently go on record for a strong export bill.

Friends of the Coolidge administration are apprehensive lest the meeting hit at the administration for its opposition to export legislation. On the other hand, there is talk that the friends of Former Governor Frank O. Lowden will take the opportunity to boost him for the 1928 presidential nomination.

Lightning Influenza Is New Ailment In England; Has Same Symptoms As Flu But Recovery Easier

LONDON, Jan. 19 (United Press)—"Lightning Influenza" is the new ailment puzzling English doctors this winter.

It gains its name from the fact that it strikes quickly—practically without warning—and is over in twenty-four hours.

The ailment is marked by the usual "flu" symptoms, but the aftermath is milder and there is no concomitant languor such as marks recuperation from normal flu.

VOTE ON WORLD COURT MEASURE AGAIN DELAYED

United States Senate Defers Decision Before Expectant Gallery.

LAUNCH FILIBUSTER

Dilatory Tactics by Irreconcilables—Blease Reads Old Speech.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—(Canadian Press)—For just about a split second Monday it appeared that the Senate would vote on the world court. Friends of the court intervened, however, long enough to allow the opposition to catch its breath and throw Senator Blease, Democrat, South Carolina, into the breach for a third time within a week.

After debate had proceeded for nearly three hours, and with none of the opponents apparently prepared to continue it, there were cries of "Vote! Vote" and "put the question" coming from both sides of the chamber. The spectators who crowded the galleries leaned forward in the expectation of action.

Vice-President Dawes in the act of ordering a roll call when Senator Lenroot, Republican, Wisconsin, demanded the reading of the court statute, which technically is not before the Senate. Meanwhile, Senator Blease had entered the chamber and launched into what he himself denominated as a filibuster.

Read Old Speech.

Reading a speech he had made in South Carolina some years ago and then addressing himself to the court question the fiery South Carolinan held the floor until court proponents asked him to suspend so there might be an executive session before a recess was taken until Tuesday.

With respect to the reading of the statute, proponents of the court explained that they preferred to have the twenty pages read rather than that the Senate get into a lengthy discussion as to the necessity for such reading.

Before Senator Blease started to speak there had been no small amount of private discussion among Senators about invoking cloture and thus limiting each senator to one hour in debate should a filibuster rear its head.

After the South Carolinan got well under way, leaders of both parties said that, should it transpire that this constituted the beginning of a real and prolonged filibuster, a move for cloture would be made and that the necessary two-thirds majority to invoke it could be obtained.

MERCIER'S DAYS FAST DECLINING DOCTORS REPORT

Only Few Weeks Remain for Belgian Cardinal as as Strength Ebbs.

BECOMES FEEBLER

Unable to See Visitors Monday—Spirits Continue Bright.

BRUSSELS, Jan. 19 (Canadian Press) — Cardinal Mercier's strong natural constitution is gradually succumbing to the gastric attacks which almost daily followed the operation he underwent December 29 for a lesion of a stomach. He is becoming feebler; he suffers distressing weakness, but because of his wonderful organism, his resistance has been remarkable.

Last night the attending physicians, after a consultation, announced that artificial feeding had been resorted to but the patient's failure to assimilate nourishment rendered his condition serious. No formal bulletin was issued.

The physicians hold out the hope that the Cardinal may live several weeks yet owing to his power of resistance, but, one of them added: "Science is unable to perform miracles. However, everything that science can do has been don and is still being done."

No Visitors Received

All visitors were barred from the sick room Monday, not even the Cardinal's secretary being permitted to converse with him. But mass was said in the chamber by his nephew, Abbe Joseph Mercier and special masses will be celebrated in the parishes throughout Belgium today.

For years Cardinal Mercier has been accustomed to severe dieting and fasting, and as the physicians explain it, he has not been affected so severly by the digestive disturbances as others many years his junior might have been. Meanwhile, the indomitable prelate's spirits continue bright. On the occasion of a recent visit, Governor Beco, of Brabant Province, told him, in reply to the Cardinal's question that the Basilica of the Sacred Heart being erected on the heights of Kockelberg Plateau would have the crypt finished in 1928, and added: "Your eminence will surely be there to dedicate it."

Cardinal Mercier smiled, and grasped the Governor's hand silently.

Hydro Electric Commission like juggler with accounts affecting city, says R. L. Hall

The discreditable manipulation of the accounts of the Hydro-Electric Power Commission, as appears by its 14th Annual Report for the year ending the 31st October, 1921, insofar as the same affects this city, would do credit to an East Indian juggler.

The light and power users of Peterborough, from 1913 to 1921, were led to believe that the Hydro Commission was the only source from which cheap power could be obtained.

Private ownership had heretofore furnished power even to consumers as low as $17.50 per h.p. The Hydro Commission boasted it could do better by furnishing power "at cost" and it did agree to furnish the Local Commission for the years 1916 to 1920 with power at $17.50 per h.p. wholesale, to which must be added the heavy cost of distribution by the Local Commission.

CITY'S SURPLUS "EASY MONEY"

In 1921 the Hydro Commission apparently awoke to the fact that through its own wasteful or short-sighted policy it had lost money by selling power to villages and hamlets and building pole lines on side lines without deriving any profit, and hence the Hydro Commission sized up—our Local Commission as being gullible enough to stand for its "bogus" claim of $41,581.52 to help make good its losses made outside of Peterborough.

The Hydro Commission saw its chance to get "easy money" by dipping into the surplus funds belonging to this City, without the knowledge of the City Council and while the members of the Local Commission were intoxicated with the "bunkum" of the Hydro-spirit.

"BOGUS" CLAIM CONCEALED

This "bogus" claim of $41,531.52 was wilfully not disclosed by the mission in such a secret, underhanded way that it would escape detection by the public—(See Hydro Commission Report, 1921, at pages 174 and 175).

This "bogus" claim of $41,581.52 was concealed and not disclosed in the Local Commission's report for the years 1919 and 1920—(See Hydro Commission Report, 1920, Vol. 2, pages 174, 175 and 244).

BOGUS CLAIM SECRETLY RECOGNIZED IN 1922

This "bogue" claim of $41,581.52 was wilfully not disclosed by the Hydro Commission in 1924, 1922 and 1923, because it published the Local Commission's report without disclosing this large liability and as far back as 1922, the members of our own Local Commission are called on to explain their connection with this discreditable transaction, by permitting an overpayment of $9,345.30 to the Hydro Commission on account of the purchase of power in 1922, to be applied on account of the payment of this "bogus" claim—(See Hydro Commission Report, 1922, at page 279), and still another overpayment of $6,153.78 was applied on account of this "bogus" claim in 1924 by the Local Commission—(See Hydro Report, 1924, at page 231), thereby leaving an alleged balance of $35,385.04 still claimed to be due by the Hydro Commission on the 31st of October, 1924.

REAL TRUTH REVEALED

Now the real truth is at last disclosed when further concealment was impossible and after the indignant power and light users of Peterborough had roundly condemned the "hole and corner" methods of the Local Commission.

Chairman Mason, with the approval of his fellow Commissioner, Mr. W. H. Bradburn, M.P.P., says:

"The Ontario Hydro-Electric Commission during the year rendered "for the first time the accumulated bill for the last six years being "the adjustment of the cost of power between the Hydro and the "City amounting in all to $35,385. The Local Commission were able "to pay this out of the surplus reserve."—(See Examiner, Jan. 8, 1926.

Says Hypnotic Suggestion Offset Effect Of Poisons

STOCKHOLM, Jan. 19 (Canadian Press) — By means of hypnotic suggestion which made subjects believe that poisons administered to them were nothing but water, Dr. Henry Marcus and Dr. Ernest Sahlgren, Stockholm, scientists claim they have been able to offset to a marked degree the effect of the poisons on the human system.

The scientists put three subjects into hypnotic sleep and then administered drugs, recording the effects on blood pressure and pulse, both with and without "suggestion." When a drug which acts to increase blood pressure was administered without "suggestion" the blood pressure readings ranged between 109 and 130 and pulse readings from 54 to 100. With "suggestion" the blood pressures were from 107 to 116 and pulse readings all less than 67.

When at full strength, the Paris police force numbers 9,059 men.

ABANDON SNOW BLOCKED ROADS AND BLAZE TRAILS ON PLAINS TO REACH BELEAGURED HAMLET

Three Trucks of Provisions Break Through to Harrisburg To-day.

CUT OFF FOR MONTH.

Local Store Rationed Provisions When Supplies Ran Low Yesterday.

SCOTTS BLUFF, Neb., Jan. 19 (United News).— Abandoning the snowblocked highways and blazing new trails across the plains of Nebraska, three trucks loaded with provisions have reached the snowbound village of Harrisburgh, 25 miles south of here.

The 150 inhabitants of the village had been cut off from the outside world for a month. Food supplies became so low over the week-end that the general merchandise store began rationing provisions among the inhabitants.

Seeking Real Entertainment Ferguson Visits Parliament

OTTAWA, Jan. 19.—(Canadian Press.)— An interested listener in the official gallery of the House last night was Premier G. Howard Ferguson of Ontario.

"Are you here in the capacity of any other than an innocent spectator?" he was asked.

"Yes, I sought a place for real enjoyment to-night and concluded this was the best place to come," was Premier Ferguson's reply.

TRAFFIC CEASES ON CHINESE LINE

TROOPS ON GUARD.

PEKING, Jan. 19.— (Canadian Press.)—Traffic has ceased on the Chinese eastern railway in consequence of the struggle between Chinese and Soviet authorities for de facto control of the line. Negotiations at Harbin regarding the transportation of Chinese troops over the road have definitely collapsed.

These Chinese are adopting the policy of armed intervention and the Russians have declared their intention of sending troops to guard the line.

SIX HUNDRED BOYS FOR WEST ONTARIO

To Be Brought From the Old Country.

WOODSTOCK, Ont., Jan. 19. — (Canadian Press.) — At least six hundred boys will pass through Burnside Lodge, the Western Ontario distribution centre in this city, to become farm workers under the Salvation Army juvenile farm labo immigration system during 1926.

The announcement of much importance to farmers all over Western Ontario was made yesterday by Adjutant Lee, chief of the lodge, following his return from Toronto, where plans for the Western Ontario programme for the year have been completed.

The Salvationist officer has urged that boys be sent out from the old country early in the year and the first party, numbering fifty have all been spoken for, although they are still on their way from England. Farmers in Oxford and the surrounding districts have spoken highly in favor of the boys brought to Canada by the Salvation Army and the assurance given by army officers that at least 200 of this year's quota will be available by early spring has caused many expressions of satisfaction from the Oxford district.

INDECENCY CHARGE DISMISSED AGAINST TORONTO PERFORMER WHO DANCES IN SCANT DRESS

"Voluntary Idleness" Will Be Penalized By Mussolini

TURIN, Italy, Jan. 19 (Canadian Press)—The Fascist Government intends to penalize "voluntary idleness" Sig. Rossoni, head of the Fascist Labor union organization, told the Turinese Congress of the Fascist Intellectual Laborers' Federation. A law to this effect is to be presented to parliament, he said.

The Fascist programme, he added, would destroy the conception of a proletariat, replacing it by the watchword "cooperation."

"Greater Italy," he continued, "Will be made not by strikers but by a people which works, which has sufficient bread and whose sons can go to school."

Magistrate Margaret Patterson Decides Performance Was Within the Law.

OTHERS HELD.

Manager of Cafe and Secretary of Association Arranged Affair.

TORONTO, Jan. 19 (Canadian Press). — The charge against Mrs. Madeline Kenny, of performing an indecent act in a public place, following her appearance as a dancer in a local cafe in December, was dismissed by Magistrate Margaret Patterson this morning.

Mrs. Kenny's dance was a feature of the entertainment provided by a local baseball association. When she appeared in court on January 15, evidence was given by several men who attended the entertainment, concerning the amount of clothing worn by Mrs. Kenny during the dance.

The magistrate ruled that the dance was within the law "in view of the present legal definition of a public place and an indecent act."

Charges of arranging the affair standing against the manager of the cafe and the secretary of the baseball association concerned are still to be disposed of.

BAVARIANS DELAY LUTHER'S CABINET

BERLIN, Jan. 19 (Canadian Press)—Chancellor Luther failed to complete his cabinet yesterday owing to the intransient nature of the Bavarian Peoples Party, which opposes the selection of Dr Erich Koch as Minister of the Interior. The Bavarian reactionaries are suspicious of Dr. Koch because of his attitude on the question of federalism versus state rights; he is the sturdy champion of strong federal authorities vested in the central government.

After conferences lasting all day Chancellor Luther decided to postpone his final conference with the party leaders until Tuesday as he is now confronted with the task of placating the democrats, who are visibly chagrined over the ultimatum delivered by the Bavarian Volkspartei. The Bavarians demand that a non-partisan official be selected for the ministry of the interior.

One of the significant developments of the week-end was the acceptance by Dr. Otto Gessler of the post of Minister of Defence, after he had several times declined to continue in that office.

TARIFF DEBATED BY U. S. SENATORS

Burdens Greater Than Benefits, Said Democrat.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19 (Canadian Press)—The Fordney-McCumber Tariff Act was assailed in the Senate Monday by Senator Harrison, Democrat, Mississippi, and defended in the house by Representative Tincher, Republican, Kansas.

The former contended that the act does not help the farmers but places a heavy burden upon him, while the latter held that it had benefitted him more than any piece of legislation in the history of the country.

"It can never be logically contended," said Senator Harrison, "that protective tariff rates, and certainly not those carried in the present law, benefit the farmer either directly or indirectly more than they handicap him."

NINE DEATHS DUE TO BENZINE BLAST

Thirty Others Injured by Explosion in Berlin.

BERLIN, Jan. 19.—An explosion early yesterday of a benzine tank in a corner store of a four-storey tenement building in the Moabit suburb hurled tenants from their beds with the force of an earthquake.

Up to noon nine reported dead and 33 injured. Of the latter 13 were in a grave condition. Besides these casualties, a number were reported missing.

The explosion sent scores of the 200 sleepers, in nightgowns, to the street. It wrought some strange freaks. The chauffeur of a passenger automobile was hurled 60 feet, but not injured. His car, however, was split in two.

The windows of an adjacent cigar store were shattered and the street was littered with cigars and cigarets.

A passerby was killed by a flying brick.

The building itself located in one of the biggest workers' section of greater Berlin, was badly shaken and cracked and there was danger that the entire structure would collapse.

Investigation indicated that the explosion had been caused by the owner entering the tank room with a lighted cigar.

HYDRO ELECTRIC COMMISSION

It was nothing short of a gross breach of duty on the part of the Local Commission, Chairman Mason and Mr. W. H. Bradburn, M.P.P., to recognize this "bogus" claim of $41,581.52 and interest in the first place, and to apply the surplus funds belonging to this City to pay it, without the consent of the City Council and taxpayers of Peterborough. ....

The worst feature is that this large sum has been actually paid out to the Hydro Commission and its recovery is extremely doubtful.

$74,000 LOST IN SIX YEARS

A Commission of three, managing an enterprise involving an investment of $1,500,000 of the taxpayers' money, that will pay away over $45,000 including interest in a "bogus" claim and refuse to collect an honest claim of $20,000 against the Campbell Milling Company, is sadly in need of reform.

A Commission that will expend over $18,000 in an office building and a garage without inviting tenders and involving a loss to this city of $9,000 is too expensive a luxury, for even this City to tolerate.

These three items alone aggregate a loss to this City of $74,000 during this last six years, and there is no doubt whatever that a careful investigation of the entire management of this Commission during this last six years will disclose such wase, extravagance and incompetence as will enable the power and light and water users of Peterborough to readily account for the rapid increase in the cost of these utilities.

In the next article, a remedy will be suggested for the favorable consideration of the City Council.

Peterborough, Jan. 19, 1926. R., R. HALL.

The resolution from the City Council was read, in which all public institutions coming under control of civic financing were asked to decrease their expenditures as much as possible during the coming year, in line with the Council's desire to keep down the tax rate.

A letter was received from the Canadian Tuberculosis Association, recording the sending to Peterboro' of some 5,000 educational folders with regard to the work of the society. Mr. Armstrong was delegated to confer with school authorities with regard to the distribution of these pamphlets.

Two applications for sanitary conveniences to be installed according to the municipal plan of five installments, were granted.

Ex-Mayor J. J. Turner brought up for consideration of the Board the question of collection of night soil and recommended that it be left in the hands of one man, in the interests of a better system of collection and of a cleaner city. The present system allows of several scavengers doing the work, with remuneration to them which does not give them a full-time job and makes for an unsatisfactory condition of affairs. The number of outside privies in the city is decreasing annually, there being at the present time only about eight hundred in its limits. The city by-law governing this work provides that it shall not be carried out until a certificate shall have been received from City Sanitary Inspector Stapleton as to the possession of proper appliances, but such recourse to the Inspector is not always made.

On motion of ex-mayor Turner, seconded by Dr. T. W. H. Young, M.O.H., it was decided to request the City Council to issue a license to only one man for this work, the licensee to be paid on certificate of Mr. Stapleton, through the City Treasurer, and the amount to be collected from the people through taxation, in the same way as the garbage collection is paid for.

Increases, according to schedule, were granted two nurses at the Isolation Hospital.

Dr. Young spoke of the mixed nature of the diseases at present represented in the Isolation Hospital, with one patient each suffering from scarlet fever, mumps, diptheria and chicken pox and of the consequent extra strain on the staff.

The Board adjourned to meet again this afternoon at two o'clock, to inspect as a body the Isolation Hospital with regard to some interior painting work and outside repairs required on the building.

Expenditures for the year 1925, at the Queen Mary Hospital were as follows: For drugs and medicine, $141.90; furniture and furnishings, $38.69; fuel, $1432.03; groceries and provisions, $1604.67; repairs to building, $575.63; light, $126.76; telephone, $84.97; water, $90.00; salaries, $3308.24; incidentals, $949.97.

Salaries for December, A. M. Price, matron, $100; O. Hartshorn, $20; M. Osborne, $15; D. Wood, $18; Mrs. J. Spencer, laundress, $40; G. Johnston, caretaker, $60. Total, $250.15.

Many persons are reported to have perished. Heavy damage was inflicted in this, the second big bombardment, of the ancient city in recent months.

MURDER VERDICT IN JOHNSON CASE

Coroner's Jury Says Evidence of Widow Not Convincing.

SHE FACES CHARGE.

SASKATOON, January 19.—Canadian Press. — "That the said James Eli Johnson, was murdered at his residence with some instrument in the hands of some person or persons unknown, but we are of the opinion that Mrs. Johnston's evidence is not convincing."

This was the verdict returned by the Coroner's jury investigating into the death of James E. Johnson.

Johnson, a railway mail clerk, was found badly wounded about the head in bed, Christmas night. He died in the city hospital nine days later without having gained consciousness.

His widow is held on a charge of murder.

A number of people are ill with colds in the locality.

NORHAM NEWS

NORHAM, Jan. 19.—The Bethany Ladies' Aid held their regular meeting on Thursday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Ames. There was a good attendance of ladies as well as several of the men. Plans were made to hold a social evening in the Orange hall at Orland on the evening of the last Friday in February.

The service in the Morganstan United church was withdrawn on Sunday afternoon on account of the funeral of the late Mrs. Sayles Clark.

There is excellent sleighing now and almost everyone is busy hauling wood.

Mr. Albert Massey, of Morganston, attended the winter school at Cobourg last week.

A number of young people from here attended the rink in Warkworth on Friday evening.

The stork called at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Amos Smith and left a new baby a few days ago.

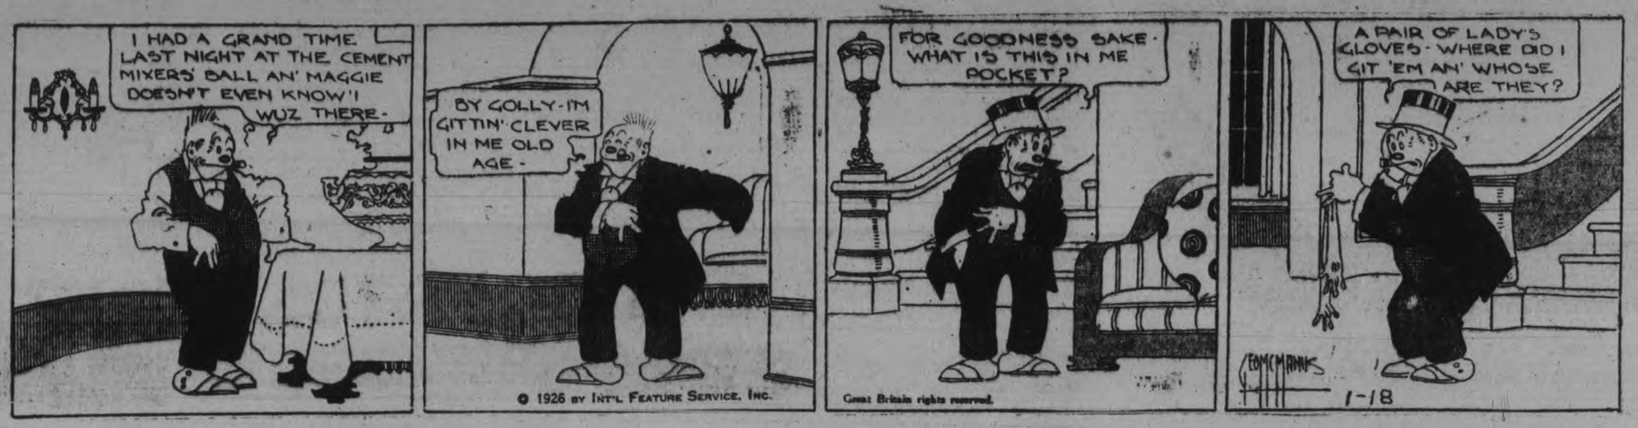
"BRINGING UP FATHER" — Geo. McManus



MR. MEIGHEN AND MR. LAPOINTE OPEN DEBATE ON THRONE SPEECH FOR THEIR RESPECTIVE PARTIES

Conservative Leader Says Party Stands Behind His Tariff Resolution.

CHARGES MADE.

Mr. Lapointe Says Policy in Speech Will Be Carried Out.

OTTAWA, Jan. 19 (Canadian Press).—The debate on the address opened yesterday in the House. The Conservatives brought down their expected amendment, but the day lacked the setting of last week. The galleries were well patronized, but the dense crowds and waiting queues of a few days ago were missing. Following the speeches of the mover and seconder, the Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen opened for the Conservatives. He dealt with the speech from the Throne in detail. He read to the House the correspondence he had with Robert Forke, the Progressive leader, on the fourteen points of the Progressives. Mr. Meighen declared that no grosser libel had ever been uttered against the Conservatives than they had competed with the Liberals for Progressive votes. He spoke of the "unsavory conduct" of the Liberals in regard to Thursday's vote. The Conservatives would welcome Progressive votes, but never have we suggested that the principles of our party were subject to valuation to secure their allegiance or the allegiance of any one else. "The Conservative party in elections stood behind the tariff revision resolution he submitted to the House on June 21 last. "That resolution," Mr. Meighen added, "We stand behind today."

He closed with a reference to the Australian Treaty. He declared that through the extra Australian competition the Canadian farmer was being asked to pay, that the paper manufacturers could enjoy an advantage in the Australian market. He moved an amendment regarding that the speech from the Throne gave no indication of a policy designed to enlarge the volume of employment in Canada "and particularly to give to the producers of farm products, coal and primary products, the advantage they are under present world conditions entitled to enjoy in the markets of this country."

Amend Election Act?

The Government, stated Mr. Meighen, further intimated in the speech that a bill amending the Dominion Elections Act would be introduced this session. "What is the nature of this proposed amendment?" queried the Conservative leader. "Is it the alternative vote, our old friend?" Mr. Meighen did not think that this information was forthcoming from the Government benches, "because they don't know themselves." He ventured the opinion that the debate on the Speech would close without the House being enlightened on this point. Two years ago the Government had stated that the Election Act would be amended so as to provide for the alternative vote. Such legislation had, however, never been introduced. "This Government never had the slightest intention of passing the alternative vote," as it knew the great majority in the House were opposed to it.

The completion forthwith of the Hudson Bay Railway was also indicated as part of the Government's policy. Having in mind the resignation of the member for Prince Albert, Saskatchewan, to provide a constituency for Premier King, it looked as if the Prime Minister had also made up his mind to "get the first ride," on this railway. Mr. Meighen then referred to the attitude he had taken on the question of the completion of the Hudson Bay Railway during the recent Federal campaign, which expressed attitude he still adhered to.

If it was true that the road could be completed to a point where its feasibility could be demonstrated at the expenditure of about three millions—"I would not stop at a million," Mr. Meighen said in parenthesis—then there was no reason for any delay at all.

Dangled as a Bribe.

The Government's attitude to the building of the road had been not what it would find out whether the cost was within a reasonable limit, but simply that if the West sent enough Liberals to Parliament, he would build it. "This road was dangled as a bribe all through Western Canada," Mr. Meighen said. The Government had not made an honest proclamation of policy and promised to do something if its policy was approved by the electorate. It had simply said to the West: Elect me to power and you will get the road, but if you don't, you will not get it. It had invited Progressives in Western Canada to elect Liberals and in doing so to defeat Progressive members who had championed the Hudson Bay road for four years in Parliament.

That was the unique record of the Government in relation to the Hudson Bay Railway. Could anybody undertake to say what its performance would be in the future? Had its conduct been the conduct, Mr. Meighen asked the Progressives, of a Government in whom you are proud to have expressed confidence? It is true that you were sold you were not expressing confidence when you voted the other day, but the first Government speaker of this debate had said that the House had given the Government a vote of confidence, and that is true."

Country Humiliated

Mr. Meighen reviewed the promised legislation in the last three speeches from the Throne. In 1923 the Government had promised a crusade against a shipping combine which it was claimed was enhancing freight rates and discriminating against Canadian ports. The legislation dealing with shipping when it eventually came down, had been, said Mr. Meighen "The cause of nothing but dismay and humiliation to this country."

As for lake freights, the Government had not a white more control of shipping today on the Great Lakes, than it had religious control of the people of India. Its method of dealing with ocean freights, as revealed in the Petersen contract, Mr. Meighen described as "the most contemptible, indescribable attempt at contracting that any government ever mode in the Old World or the New." The contract had been laughed out of the House of Commons. It had finally been buried at an expense of about $100,000 by a committee appointed by the Government.

Of the Government's crusade against the shipping combine, Mr. Meighen said "Nothing is heard but the dismal dirge of a company lamenting the profits they have lost and nothing is seen except the ego of the play looking down from his favorite place in the gallery in despair at the Government."

Mr. Meighen wanted to know what had become of all the other great achievements the Government had promised. Its coal policy, so much emphasized in the past, now was not even mentioned. The St. Lawrence Waterways scheme had no place in the present speech from the throne. There also was no mention of the cost of living, although this a year ago had been "harrowing their souls," and the Department of Labor's own chart showed that the cost of living was about five per cent. higher today than it was at that time. Would the Hudson Bay Railway promise go the same way?

Senate Reform Forgotten.

Of all the departed familiars, Mr. Meighen was most struck by the absence of any further promises about Senate reform. There had been so much of it in the election campaign, and as a matter of fact for a session or so before that. "Is Senate reform forgotten? Or it it abandoned? Or was it from the beginning nothing more than a hoax to secure votes?"

The reduction in the number of ministers of the Cabinet promised in this speech from the throne, Mr. Meighen though was making a virtue of necessity. The Government lacked members from four of the Provinces of Canada, and one of these the most populous of the provinces, and it did not know where to secure its Cabinet ministers.

The Government's achievements and promised achievements in the matter of lower tariffs, Mr. Meighen described as "a watering of the strong drink" brewed at the Liberal Convention of 1919." There had been some changes in the tariff, all of them injurious, but the promises of 1919 certainly had not been lived up to.

A tariff advisory board was promised forthwith. This promised was made two years ago in the speech from the Throne, under the name of taxation board, and the Government secured a vote of $30,000 to be used for that purpose. Now, true to form, it was being announced as a new policy.

True, there had been a steadying of conditions in the country, though unemployment was increasing slightly. The steadying was due to confidence that the Government would not dare to affect tariff changes, though it wouldn't want the desire, it would want the courage.

How many members of the Government from Quebec were elected on the Conservative tariff policy? How many could say they were elected to support the Government's tariff policy? Mr. Meighen asked.

"Everyone was elected on a low tariff platform," declared the Minister of Justice, adding "The Hon. Gentleman was not there."

"I was there. I have been there three times for every time the Hon. Member's leader has been in the Province. I know that my leadership was not universally acknowledged, but I would tell my Hon. Friend that policies are greater than leaders. Leaders may change, but not policies," Mr. Meighen said.

Mr. Meighen pointed out the "unity of principle upon which the entire Conservative party fought throughout the country during the late campaign." On the Liberal side, there had been a "diversity of views."

Everyone was aware of the campaign conducted by the Liberals. "That character of a campaign can be overdone," he asserted. The Liberal member for Joliette, Mr. Denis, had declared in the House that he had conducted his election on the policy of moderate Protection. Was moderate Protection now the policy of the Liberal party? Did the Minister of Agriculture conduct his campaign in Saskatchewan on moderate Protection? In that province, five papers had stated from the beginning of the campaign that they would have nothing to do with Protection—low, moderate, or any other kind. Mr. Meighen said he would like to have the view of the Prime Minister, "the outside leader of the outside party."

"Would it not be better," asked Mr. Meighen, turning towards the Progressive group, "to come into a party which is proclaiming this principle which Hon. Gentlemen opposite now give their adhesion?"

Mr. Meighen declared that no greater libel had ever been uttered than the suggestion that Conservatives "had competed in bids" with the Liberals for the support of the Progressive group on the recent Conservative amendment, and not on the merits of the amendment itself. The attitude of the Conservative party had been characterized by a rigid adherence to its policies and principles.

Mr. Meifhen then read a questionnaire presented by the Progressives through their leader, Robert Forke, asking for his attitude on fourteen political questions, and his reply to Mr. Forke. This correspondence, which Mr. Meighen declared was read with the consent of Mr. Forke, would fully corroborate his statements that the Conservative had adhered to their professed policies.

Principles Unchanged.

Conservative principles have not changed, said Mr. Meighen at the close of his recital of the "fourteen points correspondence." There were those in the House whose principles had changed, he added, who were moving by slow degrees, so long as they continued to get nominal support in parliament, away from those principles on the strength on which they were originally elected to power.

There was one direction in which the Government dared not go and that was the one Mr. Meighen would now challenge them to consider. The Government should take cognizance of the disability under which agriculture in Canada was suffering in respect to the tariff. It was all very well for Canada to maintain a low tariff on the products of the farm and the market garden, while the United States did the same. But since 1921, the United States farmer had enjoyed a monopoly of his own market, created by a high tariff wall, while he could compete in Canada at an unfair advantage. Farm products, notably fruit and vegetables, could be produced in a foreign market where the climate gave producers an earlier crop and could be dumped in Canada to satiate the palace of the Canadian public before the Canadian product was ripe for the market.

And now the Canadian farmer was asked to help pay for the cost of marketing paper in Australia. In order that paper manufacturers could enjoy advantage in the Antipodean market, Canadian farmers had been saddled, through the Australian trade treaty, with an extra competition from a country which enjoyed summer while Canada was in the throes of winter. While dairy products from New Zealand and Australia came into Canada at a low tariff, Canadian butter and cheese must climb over a high tariff to get into those countries. And if the Government tried to represent that there was no serious competition in dairy produce from Australasia, Mr. Meighen would draw attention to the trade figures which showed, he said, that imports of butter from that continent, since the treaty went into effect, had already depressed the price of Canadian butter this winter, "a season when it costs money to produce butter in Canada."

Lapointe Replies.

Hon. Ernest Lapointe, Government House leader, followed. He joined in the expressions of felicitation to the mover and the seconder of the address in reply. He also accorded with the leader of the Opposition in the congratulations extended to Mr. Speaker Lemieux and to Senator Dandurand. He also welcomed the new members of the House and was greeted with laughter when he looked over to the crowded benches to the left of the Speaker and said that if any new member was not comfortably accommodated on that side, he would be welcome to cross the floor.

Mr. Meighen was congratulated on the "somewhat improved tone of his address today." There had been no lack of vigor, but there was an absence of bitterness, yet Mr. Meighen was more industrious in spreading alarm than in useful work. He was becoming, however, a good loser, and he would need that spirit for some years to come. "If he will forget that Tories are born by Divine right to rule, he will be most helpful to us in this Parliament," said Mr. Lapointe.

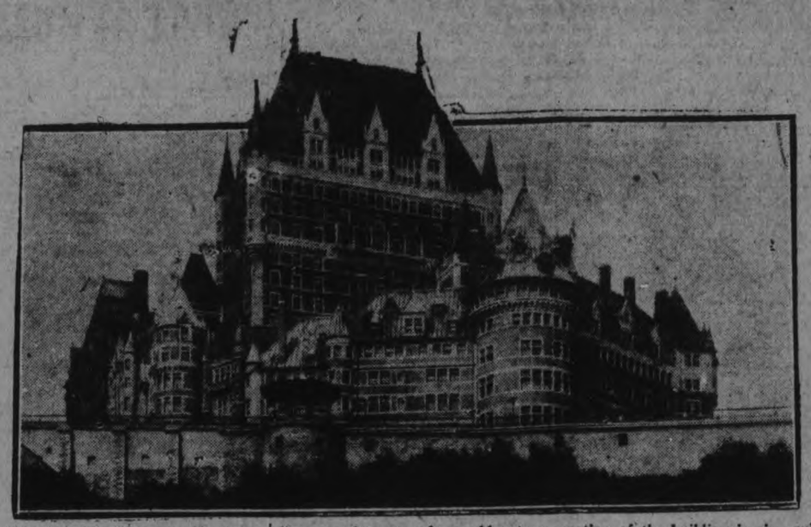
Mr. Lapointe charged that the Liberals in the last election had been the victims of "whispered propaganda and of lavish expenditore of money as unscrupulous as it was unprecedented," but Quebec had emerged from the election greater and prouder than ever she was before. She had refused to bend the knee to Baal or to the golden calf. Mr. Lapointe declared that the programme outlined in the speech from the Throne would be carried out. He referred to "new policy" of Mr. Meighen as defined in the Hamilton speech as coming just before the Bagot by-election. Mr. Meighen had chosen his time and place and, added Mr. Lapointe, to Liberal laughter, "he is an adept in political birth control." Mr. Lapointe hoped that Canada would never again be divided for political purposes into "loyal" and "disloyal"; into "traitors" and "patriots"; into "heroes" and "cowards."

Canadian problems, Canadian questions, he added, "must be settled by the Canadian Parliament and by members of Parliament actuated with a real Canadian spirit and elected by a Canadian people actuated by Canadian motives. "That is the only effective safeguard."

Mr. Lapointe urged in conclusion that all those who agreed on fundamentals should co-operate. Liberals of the right and Liberals of the left, all lovers of progress to whatever group they belonged "should form a large group to govern this house and legislate in the interests of the country along the lines of reform."

The debate on the address continues to-day.

SCENE OF BAD FIRE



The palatial Chauteau Frontenac Hotel at Quebec, was partly destroyed in a fire Thursday night. Four firemen were injured fighting the flames and guests who could not secure other accommodation were compelled to take refuge in sleeping cars provided for the purpose. The old section of the building is in ruins. The Royal suite, the Colonial suite, and Canadian suite, were all completey destroyed, and these alone represent an enormous loss.

HAVE DONE GOOD WORK.

The departure from the city of Commandant and Mrs. Smith, who have been at the head of the local Salvation Army since 1922, will be regretted, not only by members of that organization, but by citizens generally.

Commandant Smith and his helpmate have done much for the Salvation Army—and a great deal for Peterboro since coming here.

The loss by fire of the fine new Temple within a half year of their arrival to take care of the local corps was a blow that would have discouraged less valiant workers, but Commandant Smith was able to carry through the heavy task of replacing the destroyed building and equipment, and he leaves Peterboro happy in the knowledge that the Salvationists here have one of the finest and best equipped plants in the Dominion.

That is a result upon which he and Mrs. Smith are to be congratulated, not only by the members of the corps, but by the community, inasmuch as the social service activities of the Salvation Army are of the greatest assistance to Peterboro as a whole and naturally can be carried on with much more efficiency because of the splendid quarters now available.

The local Salvation Army has been well served by its various commanding officers, of which none have a better record than that set up by Commandant Smith.

WHERE IS THE LEAK?

What the Examiner has said about liquor at dances has opened up a new phase that should be causing earnest thought on the part of all citizens, and especially on the part of those who regard the Ontario Temperance Act as a panancea for all the evils of intemperance.

Where does all this liquor come from?

How is it that young people, minors some of them, seem to have no difficulty in securing a plentiful supply?

Is it true that temptation to drink has been brought before thousands of young people since the adoption of the Ontario Temperance Act in this Province in a manner that was never heard of before the advent of that legislation?

Where is the leak, and what is being done to check it?

The Examiner feels that the answer to this last question is that the temperance forces have made the mistake of thinking that an act of the Legislature could be made to take the place of moral suasion, that the arm of the law can substitute for the teaching of temperance principles.

The temperance forces, in short, have simply been sitting on their oars obsessed with the delusion that Ontario is a dry Province because there is a law to that effect on the statute books, and that so long as that law remains there is no need of anything further.

And while they bury their heads ostrich-like in the sand conditions are being created in this Province that are causing a reaction in public opinion that may sweep the Ontario Temperance Act out of existence.

A LITERARY MEMBER.

The newspapers, generously as they have given of their space to stories of the proceedings at Ottawa, could not possibly publish all the details of what has been described as the political auction sale.

One member, for example, pleading for Progressive support for his cause, after declaring that "the Progressives now have the greatest opportunity which was ever offered to any party in this Dominion," followed up this opening by some literary gems in favour of the necessity of grasping opportunity when it presented itself.

He quoted first Johnson's statement: "To improve the golden moment of opportunity and catch the good that is within our reach is the greatest art of life."

Then came Shakespere's: "Take all the swift advantage of the hour."

Next Goethe's: "Yet he who grasps the moment's gift, he is the proper man."

Finally, the Earl of Beaconsfield's: "Opportunity is more powerful even than conquerors and prophets."

But he overlooked a quotation also from Shakespere that might have been used:

"O opportunity, thy guilt is great.
'Tis thou that executes the traitor's treason;
Thou set'st the wolf where he the lamb may get;
Whoever plots the sin, thou point'st the season;
'Tis thou that spurn'st at right, at law, at reason."

SUPPOSE.

Suppose that neither of the old parties had entered into bargaining for Progressive support.

Suppose that the Government in introducing its Speech from the Throne had taken the attitude that to commit the country to the expenditure involved in the completion of the Hudson Bay Railway and to a doubtful scheme of rural credits and to tariff reductions would be too great a price to pay for the assistance of the Progressive group.

Suppose it had said to the Progressives: "We do not consider we are justified to promise that this railway project will be completed, that we will plunge into a system of rural credits the need of which seems largely to have disappeared.

Suppose the Conservative party, instead of putting Mr. Guthrie up to make his shameless offer of a compromise on the tariff question, which was the real meaning of what he said the other day, had said: "We were elected on a certain tariff policy to which we propose to adhere. We can make no bid for support that means a departure from that policy."

Suppose, in short, the two old parties had acted as statesmen, rather than politicians greedy for office.

What would have been the result?

So far as the position of the parties in Parliament is concerned it is impossible to say, but there is no doubt of the result before the court of public opinion.

Both parties could have faced the electorate with clean hands, with no blemish upon the party banners.

It will be impossible for either to do so after what took place at Ottawa last week.

AT THE TOP OF EUROPE.

He stands not only at the top of Great Britain, but at the top of Europe as well. His achievement is being described as the principal event of 1925.

Beyond all doubt, Austen Chamberlain will be the next Prime Minister of Great Britain, very likely during the coming year.

At present he is Foreign Secretary and Leader of the House of Commons. He is 62 years old and has been in Parliament for 33 years.

He is the most impressive figure in the present Cabinet—a polished speaker and accustomed to public life from his boyhood.

In fact, he is a statesman born and bred as he is the son of the famous Joseph Chamberlain, who dominated English politics for over 20 years.

His father was the founder of the new British policy of tariff reform. He was the McKinley of Great Britain. This is a fact of much importance to the United States, as Austen Chamberlain accepted his father's policies.

When Joseph Chamberlain's son is the Prime Minister of Great Britain, free trade will receive its death blow.

The one patient purpose of Austen Chamberlain's life, so most people believe, is to carry into effect the protectionist policy that was originated by his father.

Consequently, those American firms that wish to continue selling goods to the British people will either have to build factories in Britain or to face a barrier of probably 33 per cent.

Only two other members of the British Cabinet have been conspicuously successful in the year that has passed—Mr. Amery and Sir W. Joynson Hicks.

Mr. Amery, too, is a strong protectionist, and in favor of building up trade within the Empire.

He was an editor of the Times for 10 years. In 1911 he went into politics. He is Napoleonic—a man who will go far.

His main achievement in 1925 was the bringing of Mesopotamia into the British Empire. This was no small matter, as Mesopotamia is as large as Montana and has a population of 2,000,000.

As for Sir William Joynson Hicks, he is now leading the fight against Communism in Britain. Already he has put 12 Communists in jail and broken up their organization.

Mr. Baldwin—the present Prime Minister, made the fatal mistake of surrendering to the threats of the coal miners. That act has made him impossible as a Conservative leader, and it is generally believed that, before long, he will be shelved in the House of Lords.

In his latest speech, he concluded by saying that, "when the party wants to change its leader, I will step down, but not till then."

Many people think that Mr. Baldwin will be obliged to resign, in order to look after his own business affairs. He is the holder of 200,000 shares in Baldwins, Ltd., a steel firm that has not paid a profit for the past four years.

Mr. Baldwin might have been the dictator of Great Britain, had he desired to be. He has 414 Conservatives in a Parliament of 615. He has a weak opposition.

Yet he has been content to be the leader of a figurehead government. He has allowed his policy to be thrust upon him by agitators and by the permanent secretaries of the civil service. He has floated along with the bureaucratic tide.

He has evaded problems by appointing committees to consider them. There are 43 such committees now in session, and they will probably bring in their reports in 1926.

The most conspicuous failure of the present Government has been Winston Churchill, as Chancellor of the Exchequer. He has failed to reduce expenditure and he is now facing a heavy deficit.

His place may be taken by Sir Robert Horne, who left politics and went into commercial life. Both Sir Robert Horne and Mr. Reginald McKenna are now in private life, but it is generally believed that both men will eventually return to the Cabinet.

As for Mr. Lloyd George, he is a spent force, but he will never retire from public life. This amazing man, who was uncrowned Czar of Britain for four years, has now about 10 followers in Parliament.

He has become a free lance—a sort of political Robin Hood. He has now a headquarters of hisown. Also, he has about $5,000,000 of the Coalitionist funds; and he is plainly setting out to create a new party of his own—the National Liberal party.

He will add greatly to the excitement of politics in 1926, but he will remain a lonely figure. He has now been disclaimed by three-fourths of the Liberals, as well as by all the Conservatives.—Herbert N. Casson in Wall St. Journal.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

Ottawa appears to be in for another hectic week, and altogether it is a safe wager that the session will see more altercation than legislation.

Members of Parliament are not in favour of another election, says a despatch. They wouldn't be.

Friday's vote may have temporarily cleared the political air, but one does not need to be a weather prophet to see the storm clouds again gathering on the horizon.

Old-timers, recalling when Mr. Guthrie was spoken of as a promising young politician, have lived to see the description verified.

Hockey players and fans are among those who agree that the Canadian winters are changing.

Just as a contribution to the general merriment, "Have you bought your 1926 license plates since?"

By running in Prince Albert Mr. King will be able to study the Hudson Bay Railway question at first hand.

As an exchange puts it, the trouble with a drunken motorist is that he is not only full, but is running over.

So Marilynn and Jack are talking of divorce. Screen love seems to be of a most filmy texture.—Chicago Post.

LONDON LIFE HAS SET NEW RECORD

Wrote Great Amount of New Insurance During 1925.

For some years The London Life has been developing at a rate which has meant a doubling of its size every four years. In 1924 it celebrated its Jubilee by writing more than "a million dollars of new insurance" a week. Its 1925 record has established the high water mark of $64,052,000. The amount of insurance in force has reached the grand total of $211,000,000, represented by four hundred thousand policies.

The progress in all other departments of the business is equally as splendid. On invested assets, which are all of an unspeculative nature, being chiefly Real Estate First Mortgages and Government and Municipal Bonds, and interest yield of 6.91% was obtained. This enables the Company to maintain its remarkably high dividend scale to policyholders, which over the past decade has not been excelled.

The Surplus earnings, due to careful administration, sound investments, and a favorable mortality experience are the largest in the history of the Company. The Company's Free Surplus on December 31, 1925 was $3,660,000 in excess of the requirement of the Dominion Insurance Act, after making full provision for profits to policyholders.

One of the features of the year was the introduction of a new series of policies in its Industrial Department, which contain the advantages of 'ordinary' insurance on a weekly premium basis. At the Annual Meeting an announcement was made of the introduction of another new series of policies called The Duplex which will blend the advantages of both great systems of life insurance, —participating and non-participating. This announcement is in line with The London Life's program of offering "guaranteed low cost" insurance and this in no small sense is responsible for its outstandingly splendid records.

A THOUGHT.

THEN SOME.

You get what you give and then some. To illustrate the "then some." The basis of friendship is friendship—the beginning of cooperation is cooperation.

A discourteous, unfriendly act on your part invites trouble. A crabbed, grouchy word from you will start resentment from someone else

Therefore, the way to start friendship or cooperation is to start it yourself.

Strange that a sane man will expect more from his neighbor than he is willing to give To illustrate agin: If a man is impolite or rude to you—if a person is disrespectful or discourteous to you, do you feel friendly? Are you always anxious to cooperate with a crank?

Friendship and cooperation must necessarily start with you. It's your move first.

In other words, and in perfectly plain words: Ohers meet you on you own ground.

CATTLE, GRAIN AND PRODUCE

Peterboro—Toronto—Montreal Winnipeg

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

TORONTO, Jan. 18.—This week will see the beginning of the H. P. Kennedy direct shipments by controled ocean vessels, and about 950 head will comprise the first output. This morning's export stuff was of a fairy good quality. Rogers and Maybee paid $8.35 a cwt. for one choice load, but other loads were taken at $7.50 to $8 a cwt., and the buyers figured the market easier on quality.

Export heifers were definitely steady from $7 to $7.50 a cwt. Choice fat cows were bought for export at $6 to $7 a cwt. The butchers' cows were steady, and moved more freely than the other butchers' cattle. Handyweight steers and heifers were about as firm as on last Wednesday, and some really good mixed butchers sold at $7.50 a cwt., and fair quality ones at $7 a cwt. Only three loads of stockers came in from the West, and two of these, averaging less than 700 pounds each, sold at $4.50 and $5 a cwt. The market was fairly active on the whole, and prices were as firm as last week end, except in export steers.

Buffalo buyers were picking up calves today, but prices were only just steady Top calves were 12¾ and 13 cents a pound, and good calves 12 cents. Medium calves sold from 8½ to 10 cents a pound.

Only a few lambs brought 14½ cents a pound today, and the buyers were wanting milk lots 50 cents a cwt. lower at 11 cents. Choice sheep were firm at 7½ to 8 cents a pound.

The initial shipment of hogs for the week was not large, and there was a confident feeling among the commission salesmen that last week's price of $13 a cwt. f.o.b. would be paid.

MONTREAL GRAIN AND PRODUCE.

MONTREAL, Que., Jan. 18.—(Canadian Press).—There was no improvement in the demand from the United Kingdom for grain here today, but there was some business worked in wheat and oats with the continent for prompt and nearby shipment.

The demand from local, country and foreign buyers for spring wheat flour continues to be very disappointing according to most millers and the volume of new business in consequence was small. There was no change in the market for rolled oats for which the demand was steady and sales of standard grades were made at $3.40 to $3.50 per bag of 90 lbs., delivered to the trade.

There were no further developments in the local fresh egg situation but the general feeling continues easy owing to the favorable weather prevailing for the production and the liberal supplies coming forward for the season of the year. There was a fair demand from grocers and othr dealers to meet immediate wants and a moderate amount of business was done.

On the other hand the market for storage eggs was weaker and prices scored a further decline of 2c per dozen which was due to the more liberal offerings and the fact that holders were anxious to liquidate, but even at the reduction buyers did show a disposition to operate freely and trade was slow with extras selling in a wholesale jobbing way at 38c, firsts at 33c, and second at 28c per dozen. The receipts were 807 cases, as compared with 852 for the same day last week, and 269 for the corresponding day a year ago.

There was no improvement in the demand for potatoes and this coupled with the unfavorable weather prevailing created an easy feeling in the market, but there was no actual change in prices announced owing to the absence of any important transactions and car lots of New Brunswick Green Mountains were quoted at $3.50 a bag, and Quebec varieties at $3 to $3.25 per bag of 90 lbs., ex-track.

The receipts of butter in Montreal were 143 packages, as compared with 90 for the same day last week, and 59 for the corresponding day a year ago. The condition of the market was unchanged owing to the fact that buyers did not seem disposed to operate only in a hand-to-mouth way for the time being, therefore the volume of business was small, but the undertone was steady and prices showed no change.

The receipts of cheese were 32 boxes, as against 270 for the same day last week and 15 for the corresponding day a year ago. Business was reported very quiet in all directions and the market was without any new feature to note, prices on spot being nominally unchanged at 20c to 21c per lb. for early makes, and at 17c to 17½ per lb. for current receipts.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Jan. 18 (Canadian Press). — Persistent buying that swallowed up all surplus speculative offerings gave a lift to wheat values at the last today, despite earlier declines. A substantial decrease of the United States visible supply of wheat was a stimulating factor, and so, too, was prospective cold weather likely to catch part of the winter wheat crop without protection. Closing prices on wheat were firm, 1 to 1 1-2c net higher, May $1.75 3-4 to $1.74 7-8, and July $1.51 5-8 to $1.51 3-4. Corn finished at 3-8 to 7-8c advance, oats 1-8 off to 1-4c up, and provisions showing 22 to 30 cents gain.

At first the chief influence in the wheat market was an estimate from the United States Department of Agriculture that the world crop of wheat for the 1925-26 season will total four billion bushels as compared with 3,091,000,000 bushels last year. Price downturns, which resulted from this estimate, were given further impetus by larger world shipments last week and by an increase of wheat and flour afloat for Europe. Then came predictions that a sharp drop in temperature would take place tonight, and it was pointed out that considerable winter wheat territory is bare of snow covering.

W.M. MEETINGS

Morish and Welcome Branches Met During Past Week.

WELCOME, Jan. 19.—The Woman's Missionary Auxiliary meeting of the Morish appointment was held at the home of Mrs. Morish Osborne on Wednesday afternoon. There was a splendid attendance. The president, Mrs. Walker presided. An interesting program was presentd, including a duet by Mesdames Lewis and Hawthorne, a reading by Mrs. Davidson, a piano solo by Mrs. Hawthorne and a devotional leaflet by Mrs. Dickinson. A chapter of the study book, "Building With India", was reviewed by three ladies. Miss Knapp was appointed "Literature secretary" for the appointment. The object is to try to place some of the church publications in every home. A dainty lunch was served by the hostess

The W.M.S. of Welcome met on Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Little. An interesting program was given. Greetings were sent to Miss Luella Rorke in Japan to reach her on her birthday.

Plans were made for a W.M.S. Sunday and Thankoffering on March 7 and a committee appointed to secure a speaker. Group "B" had charge of the programe and were hostesses.

At the Young Peoples' League on Thursday night, the meeting was under the Missionary Department leader, Mr. Roy McCann.

Rev. D. R. Clare gave a devotional talk.

The missionary topic was India.

Mr. Roy McCann gave a talk on the historical and geographical features of India.

Miss Ida Clare gave a paper on "The Women of India" and Miss Beatrice Chestnut told the story of the missionary in India. William Carey, Misses F. Clare and B. Chestnut sang a duet

Although it was a stormy night the attendance was larger than usual. Much interest is being taken in the contest in the league.

QUEBEC, Que., Jan. 19.—(Canadian Press.)—Six former employees of the Canadian National Railways were given long service medals by J. E. Morrazin, general superintendent of the Company, Monday. The recipients are: M. L. Letarte, who joined in 1877; Victor Canuel, with the company since 1880; Ferdinand Hemers, an employee since 1881; John Rioux, who joined in 1885; Rene Coulombe, with the company since 1896, and Georges Morin who entered the service in 1897.

WHAT difference does it make? Light is the least expensive of all modern comforts. It costs less now than it did before the war.

A 75 watt Edison Mazda Lamp averages less than half a cent an hour for current. If you read your daily newspaper from end to end under the proper light, the paper will have cost you more than the light you read it by.

The price of a cigar given to a guest will more than cover the cost of illuminating your house all evening. In comparison with any other service to the same end, light is an infinitesimal item in the cost of comfort and convenience.

Near you is an Edison Mazda Lamp Agent. There you can obtain real information about good lighting.

PERFECT HUSBANDS WERE THREE BANK ROBBERS CAPTURED AFTER GUN BATTLE WITH HADLEY POSSE

Young Wives Avow They Were Unaware of Purpose of Trip.

HONEYMOON'S END

Men Worked in Motor Factory—Limousine and Smart Clothes.

LAPEER, Mich., Jan. 19.—When Owen Earhart, expert marksman and Deputy Sheriff, winged three of the four bandits who had robbed the Citizens' Bank at Hadley, Wednesday, the bullets from his rifle punctured the happiness of three young wives and brought crashing down about their ears the dream castles in which they have lived for a year.

The young wives are Mrs. Agnes Ford, Mrs. Lauretta Berry and Mrs. Ruth Todd. Each is 20 years old and each was married a year ago. Since that time each has lived with her husband in an apartment in Toledo. They had plenty of pretty clothes, a good automobile in which to ride and their husbands had good jobs. Each was happy in the belief that her honeymoon would last until the end of life.

They reached the end of the honeymoon trail in Pontiac last Wednesday day when, while seated in a restaurant, they saw on the first page of a Detroit newspaper a story relating that their husbands were lying in jail at Lapeer, wounded and facing charges of robbery, armed.

The husbands are Franklin Todd, Benjamin Ford and Andrew Berry. With William Willard, driver of the bandit car and who escaped after the Hadley robbery, only to be captured by the State Police, they are to be arraigned soon in justice court for trial later in Circuit Court on a charge that may send them to prison for life.

The four men, with their wives, drove from Toledo to Pontiac early last week. In Pontiac the men left the women in a hotel, telling them they were going on a hunting trip. Not until they read in a newspaper the accounts of the robbery and capture did the wives know the real object of the trip to Michigan.

The young wives, in their pretty clothes and in a shining new sedan, drove from Pontiac to see their husbands and bring them fresh linen. They begged permission to see their husbands.

Their World Crashes.

Saturday their world had crashed about them. They waited in a little hotel room in this city, shivering and crying.

In the midst of all these tears and this terror is Mrs. Mary Willard, wife of the man the wounded bandits say planned the "job" at Hadley. She does not cry and she talks little. She has few illusions left about life. She is 40 years old.

"All she does is to scold us for crying," Mrs. Ford sobbed as she shook back her blond, bobbed hair from her forehead.

"We three girls had the best husbands in the world," she continued. "I don't believe this, even yet. I can't understand. All three of the boys had good jobs. My husband worked at the Overland factory in Toledo. Ruth's husband worked at the Chevrolet, and Mr. Berry for the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad. I've never been away from Benny for a day since we were married, until this happened!"

There was more weeping while Mrs. Willard looked on in disdain. Mrs. Berry then spoke of her husband, the most seriously wounded of the three boys.

"The doctor says he'll be crippled if he lives. Our baby is just two months old. I left him with mother

CRASH ON BRIDGE

Fifty Others Hurt—1,600 Persons in Trains From Brooklyn.

NEW YORK, Jan. 19.—(Canadian Press).—High up above the icy water of the East River, hidden from view by a mantle of fog two Brooklyn-Manhattan trains collided on the Williamsburg Bridge Monday, causing the death of one passenger, a five-year-old girl, and injuries to more than fifty others.

About 1,600 passengers were in the trains and took part in a wild scramble for safety, with men, women and children screaming as they groped their ways from the darkened cars.

Creeping onto the bridge from Brooklyn one of the trains consisting of eight steel cars, had moved to the middle of the bridge when it stalled. Meanwhile another train, consisting of wooden cars, moved from the Brooklyn end of the bridge.

Fifty Injured.

Passengers in both trains suddenly were thrown into a panic by a deafening crash. The moving train had plowed into the end of the stalled train. Windows were shattered and lights in both trains went out Doors were wrenched open and men, women and children were trampled in the rush. The first car of the wooden train, its trucks torn away, sagged to the tracks.

When firemen and ambulances reached the scene, at least fifty passengers were found to have been injured. One little girl, Ruth Soifer, of Brooklyn, was found unconscious from a fractured skull and died a few hours later.

As word of the collision spread hundreds of anxious relatives stormed and broke through the mounted polic at the bridgeheads. Reinforcements barred all traffic from the bridge until the wreckage was removed.

NO CELLS IN CAMPBELLFORD FOR 4 DRUNKS ON SATURDAY NIGHT

Were Taken to Warkworth and Locked Up Until Monday.

MOVED TO COBOURG

CAMPBELLFORD, January 19.—In his address to the town council at the inaugural meeting, Mayor Kingston stated that police cells would have to be provided as the town had no place in which to detain prisoners awaiting trial.

This was demonstrated on Saturday night when four young men were taken in custody on a charge of intoxication. Two of the prisoners came here recently to work in the Campbellford Cloth Company's Mill. As there was no place in which the prisoners could be kept until Monday morning it was necessary to take them to Warkworth and put them in the lock up there.

At the time of their arrest the young men had two bottles of liquor in their possession. When they faced Magistrate Payne they were each fined $75 and costs, the alternative being one month in jail. They were unable to pay their fines and all four were taken to Cobourg by Chief Brown.

U. S. HOUSE APPROVES $5,000 FOR DELEGATES TO ARMS CONFERENCE

Resolution Forwarded to Senate by Vote of 359 to 1.

LEAGUE MEETING

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—(Canadian Press.)—By a vote of 359 to 1, the House yesterday approved a resolution to authorize the appropriation of $50,000 to defray expenses of the United States delegates to the preliminary disarmament conference arranged by the League of Nations.

Rep. Connerw, Demerat, Massachusetts, cast the single vote against the resolution which now goes to the Senate for final action.

The resolution complied with a request made by President Coolidge, who, in a special message explained that the appropriation would permit acceptance of an invitation of the council of the league of nations to attend the conference which is to be held at Geneva.

Two amendments to the resolutions were rejected by the House on points of order. One by Rep. Fish, Republican, New York, sought to have placed on the agenda of the conference a resolution to consider means of outlawing a nation waging war of aggression, while the other by Rep. Berger, Socialist, Wisconsin, proposed that the President suggest to the conference the necessity of revising the Versailles Treaty."

CONTROL OF MINES.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—(Canadian Press.)—A resolution introduced in the house Monday by Representative Berger, Socialist, Wisconsin, would direct the President to take control of the anthracite mines. Continued ownership "by a small group of individual owners," he said, "is bound to result in recurring strikes."

He would have the miners return to their employment at wages that were in effect at the time of the suspension pending preparation of a permanent scale.

DOUMER INSISTS ON PASSAGE OF FINANCE BILLS

Radicals Oppose Stamp Tax With Destructive Amendments.

IS CHIEF FEATURE

PARIS Jan. 19—(Canadian Press)—The conflict between the government and certain groups of the government majority in the chamber over M. Doumer's financial restoration bills goes on with continually shifting fortunes of battle. The leaders of the recalcitrant elements of the Left have regained some of their aggressiveness since another truce was declared Saturday. Yesterday they countered on M. Doumer with the menace of such amendments to the stamp tax on business transactions as would make the passage of this principal feature of his program improbable.

The finance minister insists that the prompt adoption of his bill is the only means of producing immediate relief which the treasury needs. He declares that the bills prepared by the radical socialist members of the finance committee would furnish no ready money, and that, if additional revenue was not forthcoming without delay, parliament would be obliged to ask the Bank of France to set the printing presses running again to turn out a few billion francs more paper.

Seek Compromise.

The leaders of the Moderate groups Monday were endeavoring to bring about a compromise that would make it possible for the chamber to act before the end of the week. The debate is likely to come Thursday of Friday, and the government is determined to force the issue in case the finance committee is not able to come to an agreement with M. Doumer.

Th Radicals and Socialists on the finance committee completed their counter measures yesterday, after which the President of the committee waited on Premier Briand and declared that those measures would balance the budget, provided an agreement could be reached with M. Doumer on modification of the stamp tax.

GRAIN EXPORTS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19 (Canadian Press) — Canadian grains exported through United tSates ports amounted during last week to 3,567,000 against 5,907,000 the previous week, commerce department figures show. North American exports of wheat fflour were 134,000 barrels, against 251,000.

Had 43 Boils And Carbuncles At One Time

Mr. Claud Melanson, Castleford, Ont., writes:—"In regard to your remedies I have to say that B.B.B. was the only medicine I could get to relieve me of my boils and carbuncles.

I had forty-three at one time, and my doctor told me to take

Burdock Blood Bitters

The first bottle I took gave me such great results that I took three more, and after I had used them I was completely relieved of my boils and carbuncles."

WIDOW OF PASTOR WOMAN BLUEBEARD

Prosecutor Says Rev. W. Christy Was Seventh Husband.

EAST LIVERPOOL, Ohio, Jan. 19.—Rev. William Christy, an attache of the Christian Missionary alliance, who died suddenly Wednesday from arsenic poisoning, was the seventh husband of his widow, Mrs. Laura E. Christy, who is held in the county jail at Lisbon, Country Prosecutor Brooks charged yesterday.

Characterizing Mrs. Christy "a modern woman Bluebeard," Brooks said he found the woman's brother, Charles Whippler, and that the latter had enumerated seven matrimonial ventures of his sister, and asserted six of her husbands died suddenly and under mysterious circumstances.

When Mrs. Christy was taken into custody officers quoted her as telling them she gave her husband poison at his request because he suffered indigestion.

Reiterates Innocence.

Mrs. Christy, who has been charged with murdering her preacher husband, appeared on the verge of collapse Sunday, but seemed refreshed yesterday. She greeted interviewers defiantly, reiterating that she is innocent.

"I did not poison William deliberately," she said, her eyes flashing. "He asked for arsenic to relieve his indigestion, and I gave it to him."

Accompanied by Whippler, Brooks will go to Lisbon this afternoon and attempt to force a confession from the woman.

DEBATE STAGED AT HIGH SCHOOL

Affirmative Won by Narrow Margin at Campbellford.

GOOD PROGRAMME

CAMPBELLFORD, Jan. 19.—The regular meeting of the Campbellford High School Literary Society was held on Friday afternoon with the president, D. McComb, in the chair. The programme was provided by the students of the second form. An interesting debate was held the subject being, "Resolved that the sinking of the Lusitania was a greater loss to the world than the sinking of the Titanic."

The judges were M Inkster, N. Forde and Cherrie Turner. The decision, given by Cherrie Turner, was that the affirmative had won by eight points to seven. The speakers on the affirmative side were Kathryn Irwin and James Bush and on the negative Georgina Clarke and Sam Peake The remainder of the programme was as follows:

Piano solo—Marguerite Keating.
Recitation—Kathleen Crossen.
Instrumental duet—Thelma Hall and Marion Haig.
Piano solo—Dorothy Longmuir.
Current events—Jack Bygott.
Vocal duet—Irene Dunk and Isobel Bygott.
Dance—Mary Clarke.

The critic's report was given by Helen McDonald after which the meeting closed with the singing of the National Anthem.

BURNBRAE W.M.S. REGULAR MEETING

Large Attendance at United Church Gathering—Roads Still Good.

BURNBRAE, Jan. 19.—The regular monthly meeting of the Burnbrae Unionist W.M.S. was held at the home of Mrs. Chas. Hutcheon on Friday evening with about forty in attendance. The devotional exercises were taken by Mr. Chas. Hutcheon and Rev. C. Daniel. A lengthy business meeting was conducted by the president, Mrs. John Rannie. It was decided to hold the next meeting in Hoards Church on or about Feb. 26 when a special programme will be presented. After the business meeting an interesting programme was presented Readings were given by Mrs. Alan Hutcheon, Mrs. Wetherill and Mrs. F. M. Little also an instrumental selection by Miss Fern Weatherill. The hostess served dainty refreshments at the close of the programme.

The wintry weather of the past week has almost blocked the side lines but several hardy motorists are still going through, while the main roads are in good condition for motor traffic. The heavy purchase of 1926 markers shows confidence in the continued use of the cars this winter.

The task of flooding Hoard's open air rink goes on under difficulties. At the beginnig the lack of snow was a hindrance, much water being wasted, while during the past week, the continued snowfall and absence of hard frosts has somewhat retarded the work. Itis hoped that the rink will be opened by January 20.

THREE HURT ON ICY SIDEWALKS

Charles Nadoo, Campbellford Business Man, One of Victims.

CAMPBELLFORD, Jan. 19. — The streets and sidewalks in town are so slippery that walking is a matter of considerable risk and several serious accidents have been reported. Charles Nadoo while walking down to his place of business on Monday morning, fell on Tice street, and badly injured one of his legs. The doctor tells him that he will be laid up for at least three weeks.

Charles Holmes, the well known lacrosse player, who clerks for Mr. Nadoo, fell on the sidewalk Saturday night, but managed to get down to business Monday afternoon, although he had not recovered from his injuries.

Andrew Peeling, who resides at the home of a relative, Mrs. Annie Chase, Inkerman street, fell on the back steps on Sunday afternoon and sustained serious injuries. As he is 78 years old the shock to his system is likely to prove dangerous.

Mrs. Charles Milne of Seymour, and Mr. Thomas Chaplin of Hastings, visited their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Meiklejohn for the past week-end.

Mr. Albert Dunk, who was injured severely at Niagara Falls, and has been at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Dunk, for the past six months, left on Saturday for Toronto to resume his work as electrician.

Miss Mae Sloggett of St. Catherines is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Sloggett.

Mrs. Charles Davidson of Trent River, spent a few days of the past week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Upton.

Mr. Bert Gillespie has moved into J. A. Frederick's house on Sebastopol street.

Miss Thomas of the Helena Costumes Company, London, will be at the Shannon millinery parlors, Front street, Campbellford, on Wednesday, January 20th, with a wide range of the season's newest dresses. All orders will receive prompt and courteous attention. 1d16-22

Join in your children's fun!

DON'T let ill health rob you of your children's or your own pleasure. Many mothers say that they are too tired to join in their children's games, and it is usually because they have allowed themselves to become nervous and run down.

Medical research has definitely proved that one of the causes of a run down condition of the body is a shortage of certain mineral elements, including iron, potassium, calcium, sodium and phosphorus, and until a sufficient supply of these minerals is restored to the body, good health is impossible. Wincarnis contains every one of these elements in addition to other health giving ingredients and in a form in which they are most rapidly absorbed into the blood and carried to every part of the body to be converted into vital force.

Wincarnis has been recommended by over ten thousand physicians in cases of nervousness, anaemia, sleeplessness, and the general debility that accompanies a run down body. For fifty years this strength giver and nerve restorative has brought new life and happiness to weakened men and women.

CARS COLLIDED NEAR HASTINGS

One Backed Down Slippery Road, Crashing Into the Other.

NOBODY INJURED

HASTINGS, Jan. 19.—A serious accident was prevented on Friday afternoon when two autos collided. Rev. M. L. Hinton, while on his way to Westwood, was going up English's Hill on the Peterboro Road and the hill being icy the car slipped. The driver finding that the car could not be managed by the use of the brakes, let the car go and jumped out.

Unfortunately he did not see another car behind him. The two occupants of the latter car, Cecil and Everett Hess, seeing that the car ahead was rapidly backing down also jumped from their car. The first car crashed into the coupe damaging it considerably but the occupants escaped with no serious injuries.

The mission circle of the United church met on Friday evening at the Parsonage. Vocal solos were rendered by Misss Jessie Wilcox and Mae Huycke and readings were given by Misses Hazel MacDonald and Helen Smith. Business was discussed and materials prepared and distributed amongst the members for the bazaar.

YOUTHS THREW RED PEPPER ON STOVE

Little Joke Cost Them Dollar Each.

QUEBEC, Que., Jan. 19.— Two young men of St. Gregoire, appeared before Judge Choquette Monday for causing a disturbance in a public hall when they threw red pepper on a hot stove, causing the people in the hall to sneeze and cough violently. Proceedings were disrupted for a time. The Judge said he preferred to believe that no malice had been meant. The joke, however, cost the two young men a fine of one dollar each and the costs of the court.

WEDDING BELLS.

SCOTT—NEEDLER.

MILLBROOK, Jan. 19—A wedding of considerable interest locally took place at St John's church, Toronto, on Thursday, January 14, at 4.30 p.m., when Margaret Walker, youngest daughter of the late Charles Needler, and Mrs. Needler, formerly of Millbrook, became the bride of Everett Stuart Scott, of Englehart, Northern Ontario. The ceremony was performed by the rector, Rev. J. Macnamara, only the immediate friends of the bride being present.

The bride, who was unattended, wore a dress of becoming shade of brown, with trimming of a lighter hue, her coat being fur-trimmed and with hat to match. Mr. and Mrs. Scott left immediately on their wedding-trip to Detroit, and will also visit his relatives at St. Thomas and other points on their return journey to Toronto. They will live at Englehart

and restore "off-color" teeth to clearness

Accept full 10-day tube of this new way, widely urged by dental authorities. Note the change in the color of your teeth and gum firmness as dingy film goes.

• • •

There is now a way to quickly lighten and polish cloudy teeth; a way world's dental authorities advise. Your teeth are not naturally off color... simply clouded by a film coat. Run your tongue across your teeth and you'll feel it... a slippery sort of coating.

It absorbs discolorations from food, smoking, etc. Germs breed in it and invite tooth decay, pyorrhea and gum troubles. It is known that ordinary dentifrices don't fight film successfully.

Remove it and you'll be amazed at the whiteness of your teeth. Your smile will be charming, your teeth like polished ivory, your gums firmed to coral color.

PERFECT HUSBANDS

while the eight of us came up here to Michigan. I thought the men were going hunting. It never occurred to me to think anything about it. We four women were left in Pontiac. It was there we heard about it all!"

Agnes Ford again took up the narrative.

The Blow Falls.

"I'll never forget how we walked in to the restaurant that night — it was terrible. The newsboys were crying out something, but we didn't pay much attention. Ruth bought a paper. But we didn't read it until after we had ordered our food. Then when we did! We just paid our checks and walked out without stopping for anything. I couldn't think or see. It just seemed impossible."

Mrs. Ford said that Mr. Berry is a distant cousin and that she and Mrs. Todd have been friends for a long time.

"We all were married about the same time and we've had such fun together. Then a couple of months ago we met the Willards. That is the trouble. The boys always have worked steadily. They made good money. We saved a little and kept our bills paid up. The first time Willard came to our house I wouldn't open the door. I thought he was just somebody begging, or something, but then Benny and the boys said he was all right and I believed it."

A Night of Terror.

After the news of the hold-up and shooting, the girls spent a terrified night waiting and wondering what to do. In dispair they jumped into the Todd sedan and drive through high snow drifts over the Lake road to Lapeer.

"I couldn't believe it until I saw Benny there in jail," Mrs. Ford said. "When they raised him up from his bed so he could see me I thought my heart would break. You see we had no word of how badly they were hurt or anything. Benny wanted to keep it from me. He seemed to think he could. He didn't realize how we would find out there in Pontiac, waiting. When I left him I saw he was crying a little too."

"We don't sleep at night. We talk and cry, and cry and talk and then we try and figure out what we shou bring the boys from Pontiac and what clean linen they'll need and an thing to take up our minds. If we go into a restaurant we can't eat when we get food. If we take a walk here in the village everybody looks at us.

Defends Husband.

"Friday I walked past a photographer's shop. They had Benny's picture in the window taken in the jail. Benny is a handsome chap. A man standing there remarked how 'hard-boiled' he looked. I just couldn't help it. I said to him, 'What do you know about my Benny?' and then I cried, of course, and had to go right back to the hotel room here because everybody was there.

When the wives venture out upon Main street the whole town seems to look. The women ea[illegible] at their smart pumps and their silk hose, their fur trimmed coats and bright little hats worn with such an air.

The Fords and the Todds lived at 640 Norwood street and the Berrys lived at 259 Trent street, Toledo. Mrs. Willard said she "lived on Maumee avenue," in giving her Toledo address.

WESTWOOD NEWS.

WESTWOOD, Jan. 19.—The congregation of the Presbyterian Church held its annual business meeting on Tuesday afternoon.

The W.M.S. of the Presbyterian church was held on Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. G. A. Renwick.

KIWANIS HAS HAD VERY RAPID GROWTH

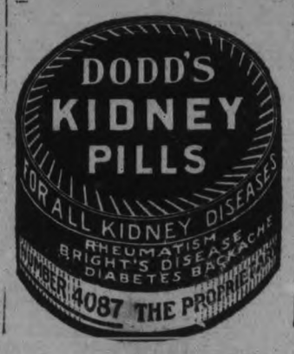
Has Developed From Single Club Formed Eleven Years Ago.

In an age when associations of all kinds are a feature of the times, organized effort must be outstanding in order to attract attention. Among the organizations which are making an indelible impression upon the lives and characters of our people are the great service clubs, foremost among which is Kiwanis International Although prominently before the public at all times it is attracting signal attention during the current week by reason of its observance of the eleventh anniversary of its birth.

Organized as a single club in the city of Detroit on January 21, 1915 with no thought of extension efforts, it has developed into an organization of more than 1450 clubs, with a membership of more than 95,000. Confined by policy to the two great nations of the North American continent, these clubs are scattered through all the states of the union and the provinces of Canada. This remarkable growth within the brief period of eleven years finds its explanation in the fact that the organization is founded on fairness to all and based on principles most practical.

Just as its rapid development has been due to the appeal its purposes make to public opinion, so its stability is due to the unselfish type of its activities. Its strength is found in the principles it advocates and the objectives it fosters. Altruistic and ethical in character, its undertakings appeal to the highest type of civic and social thought.

Among its outstanding activities may be mentioned its work in behalf of under-privileged children including the mentally, morally, financially, and physically under-privileged; its fostering of education toward a better understanding of citizenship duties and the more universal use of the franchise; its guidance and placement of those engaged in vocational training; its development of a cooperative attitude between those residing in urban and rural districts; its appeal for honesty in business and professional life and fidelity to duty in public office; its cooperation with the efforts toward preventing and protecting the lives and property against fire losses.



Service clubs have found a definite field of activity and are filling a real want in the life of the nation. The politically chosen agencies of government are restricted by legislation to well defined lines of administration. The complexities of modern business and social life created requirements of activity not covered by these agencies and new commercial associations sprung into being. Their scope of effort is necessarily confined to the commercial and industrial promotion of communities. Then came the service clubs which aroused civic consciousness and promoted ethical standards.

This, then, is the field being cultivated by Kiwanis, the field of unselfish service in the realm of our mental and moral development, and already is being garnered a rich harvest of right thinking, right living and right doing men and women. The correction of the evils of the age require men and women of vision and courage, those who know what is right and knowing this have the courage of their convictions.

That such an organization has steadily gathered strength through eleven years of well directed effort indicates a wholesomeness and responsiveness to the better and nobler things of life. Such an influence constantly gaining momentum gives assurance of a well worth future. The celebration of the eleventh anniversary of such an organization is significant in the annals of current events.

APPROVAL OF KING IN PRINCE ALBERT

Liberals Express Appreciation of Honor in Selection.

PRINCE ALBERT, Sask., Jan. 19.—(Canadian Press.)— The Liberal executive of the Prince Albert federal constituency met Monday and unanimously endorsed the action of the sitting member, Charles MacDonald in resigning his seat to make way for Premier King. Resolutions expressing appreciation of the honor paid the riding by its selection as a seat for the Prime Minister were passed. The meeting assured the Premier of its undivided support.

Whether a Conservative candidate will be placed in the field now rests with the leader at Ottawa, it is understood. The president of the Prince Albert Conservative Association stated that a wire had been sent to Ottawa and a reply is being awaited. A direct denial was given to the rumor which had been in circulation here that Hon. E. Patenaude had been invited to contest the seat in the Conservative interest.

Vapors Check a Cold Overnight

There are many ways to treat a cold but only one DIRECT way—with vapors that can be inhaled.

Vapors penetrate immediately into every corner of the air passages and lungs, soothing and healing with every breath.

Vicks is so remarkably successful in treating cold troubles because it acts like a "vapor lamp in salve form."

When rubbed over throat and chest the body heat releases vapors of Menthol, Camphor, Eucalyptus, Thyme and Turpentine. At the same time Vicks is absorbed through and stimulates the skin like a poultice or plaster.

This double, direct action often checks the worst cold overnight.

MONTREAL HARBOR EXTENSION PLANS

Programme Calls For More Than $10,000,000 Outlay.

MONTREAL, Que., Jan. 19.—(Canadian Press.) — Considerable extension of the local harbor in the eastern section of the city is the biggest point in the three year construction programme which, it is understood in well informed harbor circles, the Harbor Commissioners will shortly submit to Ottawa. It is reported the programme has been approved by the commissioners but that the future work depends entirely on the money voted by Parliament. Estimates of the expenditure the programme involves vary, ranging from $10,000,000 to $20,000,000.

An increase in the grain storage facilities is also stated to be in the programme and various estimates of the lengths to which this will be carried have been made, ranging from two to eight million bushels. The present storage capacity of the four elevators is slightly in excess of 12,000,000 bushels, but whether this will be augmented to 20,000,000 bushels is said to be undecided.

NEGOTIATING TO BUY SENATORS

SYMPHONY IN JAZZ WAS DROWNED OUT

German Audience Whistled on Their Hollow Keys.

BERLIN, Jan. 19 (Canadian Press) — Invasion of the dignified Prussian state opera house in Berlin of an age old custom of German theatre-goers has stirred up many deatribes against this habit. The average German carries many large keys, hollow at one end, which he can use as whistles when what is offered on the stage displeases. For a hundred years or more this has been the established way of showing disapproval in the theatre. The effect of a hundred key-flutes in action is more pronounced than hissing or booing.

This was all right in ordinary theatres, but when the opera was invaded many persons concerned about the national manners began writing to the papers. Presentation of a jazz-classical symphony by the English composer, Lord Berner, recently were practically drowned out by the key flutes in the audience.

OBITUARY.

MRS. PIERIE LOWES.

EAST EMILY, Jan. 19.—The death occurred on Tuesday night of the late Mrs. Pierie Lowes in her thirty-second year, after a very brief illness.

The late Mrs Lowes had been at Bobcaygon visiting her grandmother last week and came home last Saturday and took seriusly ill on Sunday. Death came on Tuesday night and was a great shock to her many friends and neighbors in the surrounding country.

The funeral took place on Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the family residence on the seventh line of Emily

Rev. Mr. Rowland of Omemee officiating and Rev. Mr. Carew, an uncle of the deceased also spoke. The funeral proceeded to Emily cemetery for interment.

The many and beautiful floral tributes show the high esteem in which the late Mrs. Lowes held by her many friends. The entire sympathy of the community goes out to the bereaved husband and relatives in their trouble.

The bearers were as follows: Messrs. Harry Lowes, George Lowes, Lockhart Wright, George Bannan, Calvert and John Carew.

MARY ANN PAYNE

Mary Ann Bickell, wife of Levi Payne, passed away at her home in Douro on Sunday, after an illness of several months' duration.

The deceased was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Bickell of Smith township, and had spent most of her life in this vicinity, where she was well known and held in high regard. She was in her 81st year, and was a member of the Regent street church, in which, up to the time when her health became frail, she took an active interest.

Survivors are her husband, one daughter, Mrs. Arthur Jory of Ottawa, two brothers, George Bickell of Lakefield and Harry Bickell of Smith township, and one sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Norish of Smith. A second daughter, Mrs. John Botterill, died about a year ago. The late James Bickell of Smith was a brother.

The funeral was held at two o'clock this afternoon from the family residence to the Lakefield Cemetery, Rev. S. A. Kemp officiating.

MRS W. S. GRILLS

CAMPBELLFORD, Jan. 19—The funeral of the late Mrs. W. S. Grills, who died on Friday evening last, was held Monday afternoon and in spite of the inclement weather there was a large attendance of friends and neighbors. Rev. C. D. Daniel, pastor of the Seymour Circuit, conducted religious service at the family residence. The remains were laid at rest in the cemetery of the Tabernacle church on the English line.

The pallbearers, all relatives of the deceased, were Wesley Stephens, L. Stephens, George Grills, Manley Grills, Garnet Grills and Norman Stephens.

PROSPECTS RIPE TO SOLVE CANCER

British Scientist Who Isolated Germ, is Very Hopeful.

LEEDS, Eng., Jan. 19.—(Canadian Press.)—Dr. William E. Gye, one of the scientists responsible for the isolation of the cancer germ, speaking at a meeting here last night to promote cancer research, said:

"We know what we have to solve and in my opinion the most important part of the work is already solved. Prospects for the final solution of the cause, and probably the prevention of cancer, are ripe."

NO PROGRESSIVE TO OPPOSE KING

Prince Albert Riding Executive Decides Not To Contest Election.

PROGRAMME IN LINE.

PRINCE ALBERT, Sask., Jan. 19. —Canadian Press. — There will be no Progressive opposition to Premier Mackenzie King's return for the Prince Albert seat.

This was decided upon by the Progressive executive in caucus yesterday at which Andrew Knox, ex-M.P., for the constituency, was present.

The meeting set forth the reasons for its decisions as follows:

That the programme of legislation, as promised in the Speech from the Throne, includes measures directly in line with the principles of the Progressive party; that the best interests of the Progressives already in the House will be served by hastening the return of the leader of the Government, thus expediting House business, and that the executive deems it inadvisable that the constituency should be subjected to expense and disturbance at this time.

MURRAY STREET CHOIR BANQUET

Enjoyable Social Evening Was Spent By the Choristers.

MUCH AMUSEMENT.

On Thursday evening last, at 6.30, over fifty members and friends of the Murray street Baptist church choir, spent a social evening in the form of a banquet in the ladies' parlor of the church.

The convenor of the Social Committee, Mrs. E. Gage, with her helpers, had the tables prettily decorated and loaded with appetite ticklers, to which all did ample justice. During the dinner Mr. Francis Sutton at the piano and Mr. Joseph Wearing leading the community singing, introduced some original and novel variations, which were thoroughly enjoyed.

The next part of the programme was impromptu impersonations and stunts, into which all entered heartily and some real hidden talent in comedy acting was revealed. Among the best were Mrs. Dr. Morgan, putting on her first goloshes, by herself; Mrs. H. H. Graham showing Walter Fitzgerald having his first shave; Jim Ellis depicting a patient of Dr. Graham's having a tooth pulled; Chas. Westbrooke illustrating Walter Kidd selling a bottle of "Gallagher's" to Jim Ellis, who did not want it; Dr. Graham showing Mr. Robert's eating his wife's (nee Florence Scott) first pie! Cecil Lapp as Paderewski playing "Home Sweet Home," while Mr. A. G. Zavitz surprised all by the dexterity and despatch with which he performed his difficult but pleasant stunt.

There were many others worthy of mention which made this part of the entertainment most amusing and enjoyable. The programme ended in some old time house games.

During the evening Mr. A. J. Raddon, church clerk, passed on a vote of thanks from the church members at their annual meeting, to the choir, and Mr. Sutton, the choir leader, for their excellent work.

Dr. Morgan, the chairman of the choir committee, and Mrs. Dr. Rose were present, while the president of the choir, Mr. Walter Kidd, occupied the chair.

FUND FOR AERONAUTICS.

Daniel Guggenheim Gives Large Sum For Civil Aviation.

NEW YORK, January 19. — Canadian Press. — The establishment of a Daniel Guggenheim fund for the promotion of aeronautics, with $2,500,000 at its disposal, was announced in a letter to Secretary of Commerce Herbert Hoover, from Mr. Guggenheim. The money is to go for civil aviation exclusively, under the supervision of trustees, who shall be "men of eminence and competence."

IRAK RATIFIES BRITISH TREATY

Parliament Agrees To Extension of Mandate To 25 Years.

BAGDAD, Irak. — Canadian Press —The House of Representatives yesterday ratifies the treaty between Great Britain and the Kingdom of Irak, by which the British mandate is extended to a maximum of 25 years. Fifty eight votes were recorded in favor of the ratification.

The Nationalists, protesting that the treaty had been rushed through Parliament without discussion, refused to vote.

The treaty is virtually an extension of the former treaty but provides for periodic revision because of the possibility of Irak entering the League of Nations.

1926 CANADIAN TEACHERS FEDERATION CONVENTION.

The above convention will be held in Charlottetown, P.E.I., August 2nd to August 6th, and arrangements are now being completed for an all-expense, personally conducted tour via the Canadian National Railways, from Toronto to Charlottetown in connection therewith. This tour will include a trip down the St. Lawrence Rapids, the Saguenay River, through the beautiful Bras d'or Lakes, and the Land of Evangeline country, with stopover at Quebec City and trip to St. Anne de Beaupre, returning by way of Boston, the White Mountains of New Hampshire, and Montreal. A leaflet will shortly be isued giving complete information regarding the tour.

For particulars address Mr. Martin Kerr, (Principal of Earl Kitchener School), 4 Beulah Ave., Hamilton, and Mr. E. A. Byrson, (Principal of the Silverthorn School), 44 Silverthorn Ave, Toronto.

FAMOUS FORTUNES

By Barbara Bayne

THE "LUCKY SEVEN" GUGGENHEIM BROTHERS.

Luck, no doubt, has been a big element in the phenomenal success of the Guggenheims. But in the last analysis, the letter "p" is prefixed; and added to "pluck" are tenacity, tact and good judgment.

Grandfather Simon Guggenheim showed excellent judgment at least, when he came to America in 1847. His son, Meyer, then a lad, was the father of the "lucky seven." Guggenheim here showed more good judgment when he advanced the money to help a friend develop a tiny smelter in Colorado.

From that small beginning forty years ago, the Guggenheims have built up the greatest mining and metallurgical enterprise in the world, with vast ramifications. Touching hands with the Morgan, Ryan, and Standard Oil combinations, it represents one of the most colossal money powers the world has ever known.

He Helped Develop a Smelter.

Their Chili Copper Company in South America has the largest developed body of copper ore in the world. The Yukon Gold Company and the Kennecott Copper Company in Alaska, and their interests in Africa, the Orient and elsewhere, have helped to swell the Guggenheim treasury.

Two of the Guggenheim companies alone, the American Smelting and Refining Company—the outgrowth of the Guggenheim Exploration Company—and the American Smelters Securities Company do a business in the neighborhood of $325,000,000 a year. This does not include their mining activities.

They control about half the copper production of the world, in which their Chili Copper, Utah Copper and Kennecott Copper properties are large factors.

In 1905 when they embarked in the Utah Copper Company, though there seemed to be nothing to justify such daring expenditure, they built a $6,000,000 smelter and a $2,000,000 copper refining plant. That mine is now ranked as the second largest in the world.

Maybe that was luck, but Daniel Guggenheim says succinctly: "Roasted pigeons don't fly into one's mouth."

The Guggenheims, not relying on "luck," engaged the best mining brains procurable. John Hays Hammond, recognized as the world's greatest mining engineer, was engaged in 1903 at reputedly the highest remuneration then paid any employee in the world.

"In union there is strength," has been abundantly demonstrated by the record of this family.

YOUR HEALTH

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M.D., Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

On the same day I read two article relating to school children. One was headed: "250,000 New York City Children Have Impaired Eyesight." The other read, "Majority of Chicago's Pupils Have Bad Teeth."

In the schools of New York City are a million pupils. It seems a dreadful thing to think that one quarter of them have defective sight.

Yet that is what the Director of Educational Hygiene says. He reports that "approximately twenty-five per cent suffer not only health but in scholastic work from poor vision."

I was pained to observe his further statement that a large percentage of the children were found to be wearing glasses unsuited to their needs. Of course this indicates that a great many parents have taken their children to incompetent persons for examination and prescription of glasses.

This is unnecessary, because every community, certainly a great city, has plenty of experts in eye examination and glass fitting. It is not easy to determine exactly what lenses a young child should have. On this account, only one skilled in the science should be permitted to prescribe.

I never could understand why old people should go into a store and try on a lot of glasses out of a box until something is found which "will do." It is far better to have a real examination by one who knows all about eyes and glasses. To have correct glasses means comfort, protection of the delicate eye tissues and preservation of the sight.

But for growing children, no chances should be taken. As the New York director said, any other course will cause the children to suffer, not only in health, but in scholastic work.

The Chicago Supervisor of Oral Hygiene, in his report, said, "The percentage of pupils with dental ills runs as high as 90 per cent in some schools and not less than 70 in any." The doctor thinks the increasing number of class failures is due to this cause.

In most instances it is necessary merely to call attention of the parents to the eye and mouth defects. I wish, though, I could help to impress on parents how essential it is to the welfare of children to have good eyes and good teeth. At least once a year the child should be inspected by somebody competent to recognize defects. Then when they are found they should be corrected at once.

Tomorrow's HOROSCOPE

By Genevieve Kemble

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 20.

A fairly active day is forecast from the prevailing lunar transits, with the prospect of new projects and the probable change of environment or business interests. Those in the employment of others are under adverse planetary ruling and should use every effort to safeguard their positions. Change of every nature should be made on full deliberation. The personal affairs, social, domestic and romantic, are under favorable sway.

Those whose birthday it is may expect a year of change and new affiliations in business, with good prospects for those working on their own account. Those in the employment of others are warned to be careful. Personal affairs should flourish and bring happiness. A child born on this day may be artistic and accomplished as well as popular and respected. It should succeed better on its own account rather than in the employment of others.

SYMPATHY.

There was sumthin' the matter with Willie today. I could tell by the way he woud act. He hung 'round the house, and he gave up his play, and he seemed kinda blue, for a fact.

It isn' like kids, who are seven years old, to be stayin' indoors after school. You know they are ailin', without bein' told, er they've done sumthin' wrong as a rule.

I questioned the youngster, and after a bit, he told me what made 'im feel blue. "I'm stayin' indoors 'cause my dad had a fit. I fergot what he told me ta do."

I guess we've all ived through that sort of a day and can understand wll, Willie's plight. All kids have a habit, when lost in their play, of forgetting to do things up right.

The end of the story is always the same and there never will be any other. Though mother has told on the child—just the same, real syampthy comes from his mother.

GOOD NIGHT STORIES

By Blanche Silver

BETTY SEES CENTRAL AFRICA.

"Oh, dear!" Betty exclaimed, when her mama called her in to wash the windows for her, "I just wish we lived where——"

"Just-a-second, just-a-second," laughed a merry voice and a dear little elfin hopped down on the grass beside Betty. "My, goodness! You almost did it that time. You're standing right on a wishing pebble this very second. Another minute and you might have been some place else."

"Where's the wishing pebble?" Betty asked, looking among the grasses at her feet. "Sure enough! Here it is! I was standing right on it. Goodness! I'm glad you were near me Gocomeback."

"That's one reason little girls should be careful of their wishes," laughed the elfin. "Of course, if you really would like to live in a country where they have no windows, I'll take you to one."

"And will you bring me home, if I don't like it?" asked Betty. "I hate to wash windows but— My sakes! where are we now?"

While she was speaking, Gocomeback, the wee travel elfin, had whisked her away to a strange land; it was so very warm Betty had to pull off her hat and coat.

"In Central Africa," replied Gocomeback. "I just wanted you to see how a little black friend of mine lives. She doesn't know what a window is. Here she comes now."

A little dark-skinned girl, her jet

"This Is Betty, from Boston."

black hair in the tightest of cork-screw curls, came running toward them. As she shook Gocomeback's hand Betty had a good chance to see what she was wearing. Nothing but a piece of bark cloth, tied around under her arms and falling to her knees, with strings of beads around her wrists and ankles.

"Well, well, Uno, this is little Betty Turner, from Boston," said the elfin. It was funny to see these two children greet each other. "Betty came to see your house."

Uno smiled and led Betty and Gocomeback to the queerest of queer houses.

It was a round hut plastered on the outside with mud. The roof was of grass and leaves and it was shaped like a tall pointed hat.

When Betty went through the one opening, she had to blink several times before she could see because the light was so dim.

"No windows?" Betty asked, looking around the queer place. The walls were hung with pots and kettles, knives and bows. "No wonder there's no light in here!"

"Sure, plenty of light through the holes up under the roof," said Uno, pointing to the holes up under the grass roof, that let in a few rays of sunlight. "I like this light."

"Not for me!" exclaimed Betty, and like a flash of lightning, the whole scene vanished and Betty found herself out in her own back yard under the trees. "No sir-ee. I hate to wash windows; but I'd rather do that than do without any windows." Then humming to herself, Betty hurried into the house to wash the windows for her mama.

ALL SAINTS' GUILD.

Annual Meeting For Election of Officers Held Recently.

All Saints' ectory was the scene of a jolly par last night when about thirty embers of the A.Y.P.A. gathered there and spent the evening in games and music. Plans had been mad for a skating and tobogganing party but the inclement weather made this impossible so the refreshments prepared were taken to the rectory and enjoyed there. During the evening piano numbrs by Misses Johnston and Wilson, and vocal solos by Miss Edith Tucker were enjoyed.

At a short business meeting committees were formed to look after a pancake social to be held Feb. 15.

VANCOUVER, B.C., Jan. 19.—(Canadian Press.)—Failure to obtain more than four jurors from a list of 376 names, of whom more than 200 did not respond, resulted in Mr. Justice D. A. MacDonald in assize court yesterday afternoon adjourning until January 28 the trial of eleven individuals and 42 western Canada fruit and vegetable firms on charges of conspiracy.

BACKACHE IS NOW A THING OF THE PAST

Ontario Lady Suffered with Headache for Two Years, but was Promptly Relieved by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

FRANKFORD, Ont., Jan. 18—(Special).—"I cannot praise your Dodd's Kidney Pills enough for what they have done for me," states Mrs. Albert Lawes, a well-known and highly respected resident of this place. "About two ago I had a bad pain in my back and could hardly do my housework. I thought it was my kidneys and tried many things for it without any success. I saw Dodd's Kidney Pills advertised in the papers and decided to give them a trial. Two boxes relieve me and I have had no more backaches."

It is statements like these that have made Dodd's Kidney Pills a household remedy throughout Canada.

Dodd's Kidney Pills can be obtained from druggists everywhere or The Dodds Medicine Co., Ltd. Toronto 2, upon receipt of price, 50 cents per box.

ECLIPSE FASHIONS

Exclusive Patterns by Hazel Bayne

Morning Frocks Adhere to Straight Lines

A frock for which you will find innumerable uses, one that is practical and yet will fill the need for almost any occasion, is here pictured. It may be adapted to any material, worn at any time, and is delightfully easy to make. It has short kimono-sleeves with seams on the shoulders, and may be fashioned of plain gingham, or linen for a house dress, or of tub silk for sport wear. The diagram pictures the simple design of pattern No. 1091 which is in sizes 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44 and 46 inches bust. Size 38 will require 3¾ yards 36 or 40 inch material. Price 20 cents.

The secret of distinctive dress lies in good taste rather than in lavish expenditure of money. Every woman should want to make her own clothes, and the home dressmaker will find the designs illustrated in our new Fashion Book to be practical and simple, yet maintaining the spirit of the mode of the moment. Price of the book 10 cents the copy.

This Dainty Kimono Is of Flesh Wool Crepe, With Flesh Taffeta Ruffled.

The woman who is clever with her needle often prefers to make her kimonos at home, as this not only saves money, but it gives her a chance to try her hand at designing.

A kimono should be of the shade which is most becoming in the artificial light of evening, and for the one above the brunette wearer has chosen a delicate flesh tint.

The material for the kimono is flesh wool crepe, which imparts warmth without weight, and the narrow ruffles are of matching taffeta.

T. H.—You have splendid perception of analogies and the power to express your thoughts well in words, but you are lacking in initiative and compelling force. You will be unsuccessful in forcing your views on others, and should not attempt to influence others. You will succeed under an executive in business or science. Your color is red. You were born on a Wednesday.

A. L.—You have had a difficult struggle in life, but your good cheer has carried you through. You have a very charming manner and a sympathetic outlook, helping others lavishly. You have a highly developed intuition, that enables you to form correct opinions of others instantly, and without thought. You should, however, cultivate a logical thinking power. You are handy in forming dainty things, and have a creative talent well developed. You were born on a Friday. Your colors are grey and brown.

D. D. R.—You lack constancy and are fickle in love as you are indolent in work. You have no ambition, though you may often wish for things that are out of your reach, and envy others the fruits of their labors. You must realize that ambition is the difference between wishing and getting, and that nothing will come to you unless you are ready to receive it. You are getting on in life now and there is not much time left if you are to make the success of life to which your mentality entitles you. Your colors are green and blue. You were born on a Thursday.

A. J. J.—You have great musical talent, and will be appreciated for your ability in that regard rather than for personal charm. You are able to play on sight, and can pick up airs easily by ear. You are not given to reasoning out facts for yourself, and will enjoy only stories that make everything obvious. You cannot readily pick up incongruities in speech or writing. You should read better books and study to make yourself more agreeable to others. You were born on a Monday. Your color is gold.

C. O'C.—You have a great depth of sympathy of the practical kind that delights in doing good turns whenever the opportunity occurs, and you are even eager in making the opportunity. Life brings us in contact with all too few of your characteristics. You are joyful and light hearted, in spite of many troubles of your own, and you bring cheer wherever you go. You should think of yourself more, and in the waning years of your life endeavour to secure what repose and personal comfort you can. You were born on a Sunday. Your color is white.

T. H. T.—You are aggressive and pushing, and would make a good salesman. You have a high mentality, but not as well developed along thinking lines as might be. Your aptitude for music should not lead you astray, as you have not the soul to take to it permanently or with profit. Use it as a diversion. You are a logical thinker, but not deep. You were born on a Tuesday. Your colors are purple and wine.

A. C. G.—You are fond of your ease, and will not disturb yourself very much for either yourself or your friends. You are considered selfish whereas you are really only careless, and could, if you would, remedy a bad reputation with a little effort. You are adapted to a high clerical position, although you would also be successful as a small trader for yourself. Do not enter any big enterprises on your own without careful consideration and competent advice. You were born on a Saturday. Your color is brick.

C. C. S.—Your dominant characteristic is joy, and your mission in life is to bring joy to others. You are not outstanding as a thinker or as a worker, but have immense charm and sympathy. You are a better listener than you are talker, and should assert yourself more. You have the ability to shine as a social light, and should make the most of yourself. Meet interesting people and bring out the best you have in you in their company. You were born on a Monday. Your characteristics vibrate to no color, hence your keynote is black, the absence of color.

J. M. B.—You have outstanding ability in planning and in creative work, and should seek to push into a better position. For a man of your stamp to be holding down a small job is like seeing a six-horse team pulling a baby-carriage. Pep up your ambition and cultivate initiative. Keep a step ahead of the job you are on, no matter how high you go—that is the secret of keeping out of the rut. Develop your musical ability as a hobby. Your colors are red and brick. You were born on a Thursday.

ADVICE TO GIRLS

By Annie Laurie

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

(1) Is it proper for a girl to go out at night with a young man whom she has known for a long time, without a chaperon? (2) If a young man puts his arm on the back of the seat, would it be proper to ask him to remove it? (3) When a young man calls on you at night and he says "I must go," what should the girl say?

CAT EYES.

CAT EYES: (1) If your parents know this young man, and permit you to go out with him unchaperoned, it is proper for you to do this. (2) In some tactful way tell the young man that it is more comfortable for you not to have his arm on the back of the seat. (3) The girl merely arises from her chair and accompanies the young man to the door, where she bids him "good-night."

Girls Who Would Wed Junior Italian Army Officers Must Have Dowries To Save Them From Poverty

ROME, January 19 (Canadian Press)—Girls who aspire to become the wives of Italian army officers of the rank of major or lower, must be provided with dowries, to insure their future husbands against poverty. If an officer of these ranks marries a girl without a dowry he will be dismissed from the army under an order issued by Premier Mussolini in his capacity as Minister of War.

MARMORA UNITED CHURCH SERVICE

Rev. Melbourne Johnson Officiated on Sunday.

MARMORA, Jan. 19.—In the absence of the pastor, Rev. F. J. Horwood, at the Cobourg Winter School, the Rev. Melbourne Johnson took the services in the Marmora charge of the United Church on Sunday. At the evening service at the Marmora United Church, with Mrs. F. R. Wells at the organ, the choir rendered as an anthem, "Pray for the peace of Jerusalem." Rev. Johnson delivered a very impressive sermon from Col. 3:3, "Ye are dead and your life is hid with Christ in God." "Every individual" he reminded his hearers "has two lives, the outward and the inward. Though different in composition, they are intimately connected together. In the inward or hidden life are our thoughts. Thoughts are as thick as stars. A great number of them are inexpressible. When a great mind reaches out to a great mind the inward thought cannot as it approaches greatness obtain fullest expression. A true father could never write down perfectly his love for his children. The inward life is in its best, the life of fellowship. Our Saviour was an intense lover and needs to be universally loved."

The sermon in the main contrasted the inward life of the high-toned moralist with the hidden life of the struggling Christian, who lives dangerously for Christ.

Mr. George Kerr made a business trip to Toronto on Thursday, and also attended a banquet given by the Willys-Overland to their agents.

Mr. George Aunger spent the week-end in Smith's Falls at his sister's home.

Mrs. Curtis, of Seaforth, is visiting her son, Dr. Curtis.

Miss Loreen Connor, having recovered from her recent illness, returned to school duties in the Belleville district on Saturday.

Mrs. J. A. Wood and daughter, Monica, returned on Saturday from a two week's visit to Flinton.

RIDERS DAMAGE TREES IN PARK

Considerable Harm is Done By Toboggans on Armour's Hill.

CARE ASKED FOR.

Considerable damage has been caused to the small trees on the west slope of Armour's Hill by people snowshoeing and tobogganing. The Women's Patriotic League of Ashburnham while not wishing to interfere with the pleasures that are derived from these sports desires that the public refrain from using the west slope in order that the trees may have a chance to grow. A great deal of money has been spent by the League in planting these trees and those destroyed cannot be replaced without considerable difficulty.

U.F.A. PRESIDENT INVITES OTHERS TO CO-OPERATE

To Join in Eliminating Conflict and Promoting Government Economy.

DRAFT PROGRAMME.

Speaker Says Pools Are Beginning of Intelligent Dealing With Problems.

CALGARY, Jan. 19.—(Canadian Press.)—An invitation to any legitimate interests, distinct from agriculture, to join with the United Farmers of Alberta in eliminating existing individual conflict and in the political field from the inauguration of economy and efficiency in government, was extended by H. W. Woods, in his presidential address before the annual "Farmers' Parliament" here to-day. "We are making this appeal for co-operation, especially in Provincial affairs, not because of greater necessity in this field but because the problems involved in bringing order out of confusion are much simpler in the Provincial than the Federal arena," he said. He expressed the hope that the "more responsible elements" of the population would give the appeal serious and friendly consideration.

According to Mr. Wood, the idea had long prevailed that there was a short cut to industrial and social adjustments. This belief, he maintained, was gradually giving way to a more practical, constructive one. All industrial interests, special and general, must be brought together, harmonized and built systematically into a complete, practical and smooth running whole. This, the speaker said, involved the drafting of a constructive programme which the farmers could not hope to carry alone.

Reviewing the co-operative field, Mr. Wood asserted that in his opinion the organization of wheat, livestock, dairy and poultry pools was the beginning of intelligent dealing with the most vital problems in industrialism at the present time.

DEPARTMENTAL CHANGES

Three or Four Branches Will Be Affected By Consolidations.

OTTAWA, Jan. 19 (Canadian Press).—The Government departments which will probably disappear in the re-organization forecast in the speech from the throne are soldiers' Civic Re-establishment, health and the Department of the Secretary of State. This is the view expressed in Government circles here.

The Department of Soldiers' Civil Re-establishment will probably be merged with the Department of National Defence; the Department of Health will become a branch of the Labor Department or Department of Agriculture, and the Department of the Secretary of State may be taken into the Interior or Justice Department. In addition to these changes, there is a possibility that the Department of Trade and Commerce will be merged with the Department of Finance.

HAMILTON ROWING CLUB WERE DISAPPOINTED BY WEATHER

Oarsmen Expected To Give Petes Stiff Battle on Local Ice.

IN BEST SHAPE.

HAMILTON, January 19. — After having made all arrangements for their invasion of Peterboro last night the Rowing Club seniors were forced to call off their plan and cancel reservations when Peterboro sent word that no ice would be available for the game and that the contest would have to be postponed until a future date to be agreed upon.

The Petes suggested that the game be played next Monday or Tuesday, but it is hardly likely that either of these nights will be satisfactory to the Scullers in view of the game scheduled with the Toronto Canoe Club at Toronto a week from Wednesday. The Oarsmen have no inclination to play two games in two days, or even three, so the game postponed from last night may be held over until the close of the regular schedule.

The Oarsmen, both players and officials, were quite disappointed when word reached them Sunday night of the disappointment. The local team at the present time is in better shape than at any previous time this season, and there was a general confidence in the Scullers' camp that the team would give the Petes a real battle on their own ice. Had the postponement been for any other reason the officials here would have been loath to call the game off, but as it is there is nothing else to do.

OSHAWA TRANSFER TO BE CONSIDERED

Motor Town Seeks to Gain Admission to T.A.B.A.

OSHAWA, Jan. 19.—With Oshawa seeking admission to the Toronto Amateur Baseball Association's playing territory for the season 1926, President H. E. Bradley of the Oshawa Amateur Athletic Association, who was delegated by the Motor City baseball moguls to carry on negotiations, has begun to think that the "buck" is being passed. In December an officer of the T.A.B.A. suggested that the matter would have to be referred to the Ontario body as per clause (H) of bylaw No. 11, page 27, of the Ontario Baseball Amateur Association states:

"The status of all leagues and associations affiliated with the O. B. A. A. is defined as to territorial rights, and before any new affiliations or changes in existing ones can be accepted they must first be approved by the Sub-committee of the O.B.A.A. or their Commissioners."

President Bradley has been in touch with Secretary Joe Walsh of the Ontario body, who has expressed himself and President William Snyder of Hamilton as favorable to the admission of the Motor City to a Toronto district league, providing the Central Ontario Amateur Baseball League waive their rights as to Oshawa's withdrawal.

This is the first intimation as to where Oshawa's senior club stands since the semi-annual meeting of the Central Ontario Amateur Baseball League held in Cobourg in December, when it was hinted that Oshawa would withdraw their present affiliation.

The Sub-committee of the Ontario Baseball Association has been called to meet in Toronto on Friday evening of next week when the Oshawa transfer will be discussed by the full committee and the once over given to the baseball "movies" all over Ontario.

Baseball players in Eastern Ontario who have changed their place of residence since the first of August last year have until February 15th to send in such change, as the last sentence of clause (D) of bylaw 11, of the Ontario Baseball Amateur Association reads:

"If any player previously playing under the O.B.A.A. should change his place of residence after August 1 of the playing year, he must notify the Secretary of the association (which means the Secretary of the O.B.A.A.) before February 15 of the following year and state his reason for doing so."

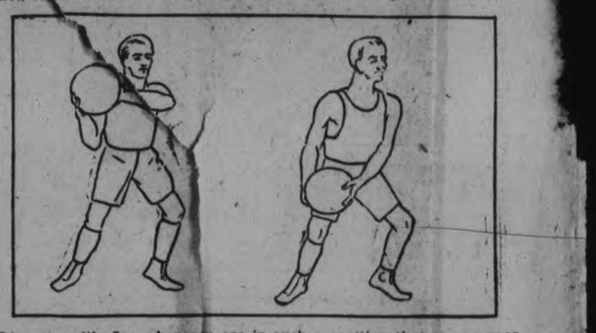
NO. 6—PASSING THE BALL

Knowing the proper way to receive a pass will do you no good if you aren't equally correct in your passing. A player is cad upon to send the ball to his teammate as often as his teammate pses to him, and your value to the team is measured by your ability to pass equally as well as you receive.

Too many players use a straight overhand pass to tremes; in fact, it is oftimes the only way some of them can get riof the ball.



Of course, it's fine when you are in such a position that you can pass straight out from the body when you fit into the teamwork of your five. This very rarely happens.

You should use the overhand style when possible, but actice passing from the left and right sides as well as from dead center. You won't always receive the ball on a line with the hips and to hold the sphere after receiving it is oftimes costly in the way of puts lost.

There are other times when passes to you will be low. That is when you must induct into use the underhand pass, so that if need be you can get the ball to a teammate without delay.

Always remember that when you're playing your passing and receiving of passes is not usually done when you are standing fit. Practice to both pass and receive the ball without standing in one spot.

BASEBALL GOSSIP

By Billy Evans

On the surface it may appear as if Manager John McGraw of the Giants got the worst of his recent trade with the Phillies, still I am willing to string along with his judgment.

In sending Jack Bentley and Wayland Dean to Philadelphia for Jimmy Ring, McGraw parted with two players who cost him in the neighborhood of $125,000.

Without going into details it would seem that McGraw paid a pretty penny for the veteran Ring who has already seen service with four major league clubs.

McGraw doesn't jump at conclusions. You can wager he carefully considered the proposition from every angle before he went through with it.

I venture to say that McGraw would be frank enough to admit that Dean and Bentley will be far more valuable to the Phillies than Ring. On the other hand, he figures Ring will be a greater asset to him than the two players with whom he parted.

* * *

McGraw has it doped that his pitching must be greatly improved if he is to be in the running this season. He prefers a certainty rather than a gamble.

* * *

While Jimmy Ring has never had what could be called a big year in the majors, I have always regarded him as a corking fine pitcher.

It is a rather interesting fact that only twice during his career has he finished better than the .500 mark. In 1920 with Cincinnati he won one more game than he lost, while three years later with the Phillies, his wins topped his losses by two games.

Jack Bentley, on the other hand, during his three years in the majors has always been well above the .500 mark. In his first year he won 13 and lost 8, in his second he captured 16 victories against five defeats, while last season his mark was 11 games won and only 4 lost.

However, Bentley is the type of pitcher who is most effective against clubs with a certain batting style. Jack wasn't dropped in at random, rather the spots were picked for him.

* * *

To illustrate the breaks it is possible for a pitcher to get: Bentley who allowed better than five earned runs per game last year won 11 and lost 4, while Luque, who ranked first in effectiveness, could win but 16 while he dropped 18.

* * *

No doubt Dean has been a bitter disappointment to McGraw. He starred with Louisville, the same year Earl Combs, now of the Yankees, was the big noise in the outfield.

It is said the Yankees and the Giants were the chief bidders for the two stars. Their spirited efforts to land the players caused the prices to soar.

I have it that the two clubs at a conference threshed out the matter, the Yanks needing outfielders worse than pitchers dropped out of the bidding for Dean, while the Giants did the same on Combs.

At the time, I talked with a number of players from the American Association and they all thought the Giants got the best bet in the league. It now looks as if the Yankees got the prize.

Perhaps the earned run column explains why McGraw parted with Bentley and Dean, the op-

RUGBY SPEECH BY HON. CHAS. MURPHY

First Low Tackle Introduced in Canada By Irishman.

Hon. Charles Murphy, postmaster-general, is a keen follower of sport, and was among the speakers at the big banquet tendered the Ottawa Football Club at the Capital last Thursday night. He recalled the early days of football in Canada and compared the style of play of years ago with the present-day game.

'It was one of these students, Farragh Brogan by name, from the county of Mayo, Ireland, who was the first to introduce the low tackle into the Canadian game," said Mr. Murphy, "and it was in the game between Ottawa College and Harvard University, which was played on the Rideau Hall grounds on November 8, 1884, that the long pass, as perfected by the American College teams, was first seem on a Canadian football field.

"I mention these incidents because it will, I think, be of interest to the present and to the future champions who are seated at these tables to know where the low tackle and the long pass came from.

"I have alluded to the championship games in which the Ottawas took part in 1883 and 1885, and I have mentioned the names of some, if not all, of the surviving players. In somewhat the same connection let me tell you of one week's doing on the part of the Ottawa College team in 1886.

"On October 30 of that year they played the University of Toronto team on the varsity campus in Toronto. That was the longest football game on record. After one and one-half hours of actual play the score saood 0—0. The time was extended for 30 minutes. At the end of that time the score was 1—1. Again the time was extended for 20 minutes. At the end of that time darkness had set in and after two hours and 20 minutes of actual play the score was still a tie, 2—2.

"The tie was played off in Toronto on the Rosedale grounds on the following Thursday, November 4, the Ottawa College winning by a score of 12 to 1.

"Two days later, namely, on November 6, 1886, the college team defeated the Toronto Football club on the Metropolitan grounds here in Ottawa and again won the Ontario championship by the score of 10 to 0.

"Just think of three such games in one week, and two of them played in 'Toronto the Good'

"And it is also well to bear in mind that in those days no substitutes were allowed and that the players didn't wear any padding or headgear."

OUT TO TUMBLE CITY LEADERS

Raybestos and Brintons Hope To Stop St. Andrew's and De Laval.

As this week's City League bill brings together Raybestos and St. Andrew's Juniors and Brinton's and DeLaval Seniors, the fans may look forward to an interesting bill on Wednesday night when another batch of four games will be played. St. Andrews and DeLaval are out in front, neither team having lost a decision. Raybestos juniors are going better every game, and promise a hard battle for the Saints. Brintons are thoroughly convinced of their ability to stop the Separator kings and will use their strongest lineup for this important game.

St. Peter's after a lapse last Wednesday, will be back again with all their regulars against St. James. Raybestos and Crescents promise a

MANY CHALLENGES FOR FIGHT CROWNS

Elimination Tournament Planned in Two Divisions.

NEW YORK, Jan. 19 (Canadian Press).—Rocky Kansas, lightweight champion, and Charlie (Phil) Rosenberg, bantamweight king, are the most challenged titleholders in fistiana.

Five of the leading contenders in each division are clamoring for a title clash with the champions, but so far their challenges have failed to penetrate the kingly silence.

This unusual situation has prompted Jess McMahon, matchmaker at Madison Square Garden, to consider the possibilities of an elimination tournament to determine the most logical challenger and then force the champions into the ring with the survivor by pressure of public opinion. Dogging the footsteps of Kansas are Sid Terris, of New York; Sammy Mandell, of Rock Island, Ill.; Solly Seaman, of New York; Stanislaus Loayza, of Chile, and Jack Bernstein, of Yonkers, N.Y.; while in the bantam division, Bushey Graham, of Utica, N.Y.; Chick Suggs, of New England; Bud Taylor, of Terre Haute, Ind.; California Joe Lynch, and Carl Tremaine of Cleveland, are ambitious for a shot at Rosenberg's crown.

YANKS RELEASE TWO

NEW YORK, Jan. 19 (Canadian Press).—The New York American League Baseball Club Monday announced the release of two young players to the Atlanta Club of the Southern Association on option. They are Catcher Roy Luebbe, purchased from the Omaha Club of the Western League, and Shortstop Edward Durocher, obtained early this winter from the Hartford club of the Eastern league.

THE RING

Press). — Louis (Kid) Kaplan, world's featherweight champion, signed Monday for a 10-round match with Billy Murphy, of Lowell, Mass., at Boston, Jan. 25. Kaplan's title will not be involved under articles of agreement which call for the boxers to make 135 pounds, nine pounds over the feather limit.

Ty Cobb, Detroit manager, pitched one inning last season, that being in the final game of the campaign against St. Louis.

Would Sit Up Most of Night

In bed nerves would twitch and jerk so he could not sleep

This letter gives you some idea of how distressing nervous ailments become. It also points to the best method of restoring exhausted nerves. Mr. E. P. Schoolcraft, Clarenceville, Que. writes:—"I suffered for three years with my nerves. I tried most everything, but without relief. I could not sleep at night, my nerves were so unstrung. I would twitch first one leg and then the other. Some nights I would sit up most of the night, unable to sleep. I became so bad that I could not sit still. I bought a box of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and felt slightly better by the time I had taken it. When I had used a full treatment I was an entirely different man—I felt better, slept better and worked better."

L.O.B.A. AT HOME VERY SUCCESSFUL

Large Crowd Present at Entertainment—Mission Band Officers.

HAVELOCK, Jan. 19. — The members of the McGill Loyal Orange Benevolent Association held another of their delightful "at homes" in the Orange Hall on Friday evening. The lodge room, which was prettily decorated with orange and red streamers, was filled to capacity with those belonging to the Order and invited guests. In the fore part of the evening a very interesting porgramme was rendered. Mrs. S. McGill, Worthy Mistress, to whom the credit for the arrangement of the entertainment is due, occupied the chair and after a few well chosen remarks, announced the different numbers as follows:

God Save the King.
Instrumental solo—Miss C. McColl.
Address—Rev. John Lennox.
Recitation—Master M. Wrightly.
Vocal solo—Miss Velma Davidson.
Selection—Victoria orchestra.
Recitation—Mr. Jos. Faulkner.
Instrumental duet—Misses Josephine McMaster and Beatrice Wiams.
Vocal solo—Mrs. S. McGill.
Instrumental duet—Misses Elma and Marguerite Martin.
Reading—Mrs. Jean Moore.
Recitation—Mr. Jos. Faulkner.
Chorus—Victoria young people.
Recitation—Master M. Wrightly.
Address—S. S. Joyce.
God Save the King.

The reading composed and rendered by Mrs. Jean Moore was greeted with very hearty applause. It pictured an imaginary visit of William of Orange to the Havelock L. O.B.A. and how he addressed each officer.

At the conclusion of the programme a very enjoyable time was spent in playing cards and dancing.

Refreshments were served by the ladies about midnight.

Mission Band Meeting.

The Mission Band of Knox church held its regular meeting in the basement of the church on Saturday afternoon, when the following officers were elected for 1926:

Leader—Mrs. Stephen McQuigge.
President—Miss Alice Johnston.
Vice-President—Miss Clara Emery.
Treasurer—Mrs. C. Dewey.
Secretary— Miss Gwen Rutherford.

O. E. S. Officers.

Thursday night of last week was the occasion of the installation of the officers of Prosperity Chapter, No. 63, Order of the Eastern Star, when the following officers were installed by Past Worthy Matron Sister, Mildred Puffer, assisted by District Deputy Elida Rigby, also Past Worthy Matron Margaret Anderson and D. D. Grand Marshall Emma Holcombe. The following were the officers:

Worthy Matron, Beavie Hoffman; Worthy Patron, Francis Butters; Associate Matron, Emma Holcombe; Secretary, Mildred Puffer; Treasurer, Stella Johnston; Conductress, Mabel McBurney; Associate Conductress, Helen Mathison; Chaplain, Beth Mathison; Marshall, Annie Stapley; Organist, Minnie Williams; Adah, Helen Smith; Ruth, Jennie Johnston; Esther, Laura Brinkman; Martha, Elva Pollock; Electra, Mildred Youmans; Warder, Nancy Brown; Sentinel, Henry Pacey.

At the close of the installation ceremony a splendid supper was served and an enjoyable evening spent.

Mrs. F. Butters and Mrs. J. Hoffman attended the installation of the officers of Ideal Chapter at Smith Falls on Tuesday evening.

NO SUNDAY SKATING COGNAWAGA RINK

People in Charge Deny That Rink Used on Sunday.

Dear Sir:

In an item appearing in Saturday's Examiner it was stated that Chief Newhall said there was skating on Sunday on the municipal rinks and "the one controlled by St. James' Church."

We wish to state that, as far as St. James' rink is concerned, skating on Sundays is strictly forbidden, and so far as we are aware, during the four years that this rink has been operated by the Cognawaga Athletic Club of St. James' Church, this rule has been strictly adhered to. There has been absolutely no Sunday skating permitted.

On the municipal rink in King Edward Park close to St. James' Sunday school hall there has been considerable Sunday skating and hockey playing, which has been very annoying. We are pleased to note that this is to be forbidden.

Wm. McLaren, Superintendent of the Young Mens' Club; Alvin Davis, President.

BYE FOR MISS WILLS

CANNES, France, Jan. 19 (Canadian Press)—Miss Helen Wills drew a bye Monday in the singles of the Metropolitan Lawn Tennis Tournament in which she is entered, but got in a few hours of hard practice with Major J. F. Rendell, an English player.

GREAT BASE-STEALER.

One of the best base-stealers the big leagues have produced is Max Carey, veteran outfilder of the Pirates. Max, despite his many years of service—he joined the Pittsburgh in 1911—is still the leader among present-day pilferers.

Carey has topped the National wheel for the past four years. He's averaged close to 50 swipes a season ata time when the pilfering art was woefully neglected. In 1924 the entire Brooklyn club stole but 34 bases. The same campaign Max piled up 49 all by himself.

Carey hung up a most unusual record for sack-swiping in 1922. That year he "went down" 53 times and reached his destination safely on 51 occasions. That's pretty close to perfection.

LOWER ASSISTS.

The team to make the lowest number of assists in a nine-inning American League game in 1925 was Washington, which twice registered but three. In one of these games there was a lot of knocking the ball about, too, for the score was 10 to 9. That game was played May 27. Washington's other low assist game was on August 14.

The Cleveland Indians had 23 assists in a 15-inning game on April 20, and went the other extreme by making but four assists in a game on August 18.

Detroit, in two consecutive games, made 40 assists—games of April 22 and 23. In two successive games—May 12 and 13—the Tigrs made 39 assists.

DEFEATED ONLY ONCE.

Dehart Hubbard, former Michigan star athlete was defeated just once in his running broad jump during during his three years of collegiate competition.

HOCKEY REVIVES IN MARMORA DISTRICT

Juniors Defeated Deloro Seven to Nothing on Saturday.

MARMORA, Jan. 19. — Hockey appears to have thoroughly revived in this district. In addition to Marmora placing a strong team in the Hasti County League, Deloro has a Plant League running. Four teams are competing in a single schedule occasioning 12 games in all. On Friday evening the Oxide Plant defeated the eMtals Dept. by the score of 3 to 2. The Silver Plant and the Engineers furnish the other two teams.

On Saturday afternoon a Junior team from Marmora visited Deloro to play Deloro Juniors, and won an interesting game by 7 to 0. Mr. Forrest Craig of the Deloro Public School refereed the game.

REMOVE TONSILS

Ball Players Take Health Precautions.

NEW YORK, Jan. 19 (Canadian Press) — The theory that healthy tonsils, or their removal, is essential to successful ball playing seems to be gaining ground.

Last year Connie Mack had several of the stars of his athletics undergo operations for removal of their tonsils and credited it with being responsible for their improvement. Now the Boston Braves and Red Sox have gone even further and issued instructions to their athletes to have their tonsils, as well as their teeth, examined before reporting for spring training.

The first 440 yards ever run by a human being under 4 seconds was run by Wendell Baker of Harvard, who covered the distance in 47 4-5

LONDON, Jan. 19. Canadian Press. —Gerald Lowrey, the young London hockey player, played his last amateur game against Niagara Falls champions last night. Lowery admitted to-day that he has signed a contract to play for Toronto in the pro. league.

CARSONS MAKE JUMP.

STRATFORD, January 19. Canadian Press. — Dr. Bill and Frank Carson will don the familiar red and white uniforms of the Stratford team for the last time at Windsor to-night.

Immediately after the game the pair will bid adieu to their teammates and the amateur ranks, and board a train for Toronto where they will sign three year contracts with the pro. team of that city.

Denial from St. Pats.

TORONTO, Jan. 19 (Canadian Press).— Charles Querrie, manager of Toronto St. Patricks of the National Hockey League, said today there was no truth in the report from Stratford yesterday that Frank and Bill Carson would sign up with St. Patricks, in a few days.

Mr. Querrie said, "We did sign up young Lowrey of London and he will be with us in our next game."

Mr. Querrie said the St. Patricks did not want Frank Carson and it did not seem as if there was any chance of getting Bill without Frank.

MOVIGRAPHS

BY JACK JUNGMEYER

NEW YORK, Jan. 19—Under the silken hat of Raymond Griffith seethes and functions one of the most modern, astute and daring minds of motion picturedom.

The scope and trend of his ludicrous and mildly satirical iconoliasm has been notably sharpened in his last two pictures, "A Regular Fellow" and "Hands Up." It is this: Griffith dares to present in comic aspect or for comic emphasis the heroic and exalted figures of the day or of history.

In "The Regular Fellow" Griffith violated the serious hero-coddling precedent of the screen by burlesquing, under thin disguise the Prince of Wales. In his latest, "Hands Up", a Civil War comedy, he employs even the figures of Lincoln and General Lee to augument his fun. And I have no doubt that Washington, Roosevelt and other national and world celebrities will in due time be thus utilized.

Mind you, there is in all this no offense. Underneath the comic surface, Griffith expresses the serious belief that laughter can cement the strongest bonds among humans of any class or station.

Griffith maintains that if a cat can look at a queen, surely a man may laugh at a king with good grace and propriety.

IN SECOND DAY.

No Vote on Speech From the Throne Expected Until End of Week.

OTTAWA, Jan. 19 (Canadian Press). —With little prospect of a vote until the end of next week at the earliest, the debate on the address in reply to the speech from the throne swung into its second day in the House of Commons to-day. It is expected that Robert Forke, the Progressive leader, will make his speech to-day.

SKI AND SNOWSHOE CLUB NOTES

At a meeting of the Peterboro Ski and Snowshoe Club held last evening in the Y.W.C.A. it was decided that the regular weekly hike be held on Wednesday evening, providing the weather is favorable. If the field committee do not think it is advisable to have the ski-run, an announcement to that effect will appear in this column on Wednesday night. Watch this column tomorrow night for if the hike is postponed a theatre party, followed by a dance and refreshments at the club house will likely take its place.

Many new members have already handed in their application cards, but there is still room for a few more. Application cards may be had at White's Cycle and Sports store, Charlotte Street or from any member of the club.

It has been the intention of the club for some time to build a jump, but as yet no suitable hill has been located. The field committee were last night appointed to inspect and test several hills in the city, including Green Hill, west of the highway on Sherbrooke Street, Armour Hill in East City, and Prophet's, west of Jackson Park.

The highest jump to be erected will likely be about six feet while small ones will also be put up for the beginners. With a good fast take-off some of the more expert daredevils of the local club will likely be able to make a jump of from forty to fifty feet. At present the club cannot afford to erect a tower but it is hoped that one will be built in the near future.

PROFITS ON BEER WERE NEVER TAXED

U. S. Internal Revenue Department is After Income Tax.

CHICAGO, Jan. 19 (Canadian Press). —Profits of beer making, running into millions of dollars, is the subject of a controversy between the Internal Revenue Bureau and Terry Druggan and Frankie Lake, beer barons.

The government says they failed to pay income tax on from $3,000,000 to $15,000,000 income accruing from out-of-town beer shipments. It is reported that the tax collectors are prepared to prove definitely that they made $3,000,000, though they think they made much more than that.

HOTEL KEEPERS ASK GOVERNMENT HELP

Want Co-operation in Providing Service For Tourists.

TORONTO, Jan. 19 (Canadian Press) —Serious consideration was promised by Premier G. H. Ferguson of requests placed before him to-day by a deputation representative of Ontario Hotel Owners' Association. They asked the co-operation of the Government in the establishment of "comfort stations" on provincial highways, from Toronto; for the establishment of information bureaus at border points and for legislation which would allow hotels to dispose by auction of clothing or other effects left at hotels after a certain period.

APPEAL FAILS.

Crow's Nest Pass Rates Apply to Grain and Flour.

OTTAWA, Jan. 19 (Canadian Press). —The Board of Railway Commissioners divided evenly on an appeal against the application of the Crow's Nest rates to grain and flour moving westward to the Pacific Coast. A result is that the appeal fails and the previous order of Commissioner Oliver granting such rates will stand.

TORIES UNDECIDED.

No Announcement Yet as to Opposition to King.

OTTAWA, Jan. 19 (Canadian Press) —Whether or not the Conservatives will oppose Premier King in the by-election in Prince Albert on February 15 has not been decided. The Conservative leader, Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, stated to-day that he had not had an opportunity of considering the matter and it is understood that the Conservative chieftains in Ottawa have not heard definitely from Prince Albert Conservatives as to their attitude.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

SUBURBAN AREA COMMISSION

To the Editor—The following may be of interest to the ratepayers with regard to expenditures by the Suburban Area Commission for the S-Area roads outside of the city of Peterborough, in the county of Peterborough:

Expended, 1920	$20162	60
" 1921	24670	59
" 1922	30091	68
" 1923	26303	83
" 1924	28156	31
Total, five years	$129385	01
Paid by Highway Dept	$47616	65
" County	43713	00
" City	38000	00
Local Receipts	55	36
As covered in five years	$129385	01
Expended in 1925	$26933	50
Tractor-grader, with cover, not yet paid for	2100	00
Pd. in January, 1926, Liabilities of 1925	440	00
Estimated Liabilities not yet presented	350	00
	$29823	50
Deduct money due Commission re deals	375	00
Net expenditures for 1925	$29448	50

To be met—county 25 per cent; city 25 per cent; Highway Department, 50 per cent of amount expended.

Amount expended, $29,448.50—50 per cent equals $14,724.25, but there are certain expenditures not subsidized by Highway Department.

Of the general column some $3,000.00 not subsidized, or $1,500.00 to deduct from highway subsidy. Also $128.00 from roads Nos. 2 and 3, now deleted since meeting with advisory board, August 19, 1925.

Total from County, or 25%	$ 8000	00
from City, or 25%	8000	00
" Highway Brot. over	13096	25
Receipts for 1925	$29096	25
Total Expenditures, 1925	$29448	50
Fifty per cent of $29,448.50	$14724	25
Less non-subsidized	1628	00
Being Estimated Subsidy	$13096	25

During the first five years, from the above, you will observe that the S-Area Commission expended $5,713.00 more county money than city money. They also had the use of all plank, cement mixers and large graders belonging to county roads free. Also, all wheelbarrows, tools, &c., necessary in the conduct of culvert or road making.

Somebody, or parties, asserted that the county roads were using the S-Area machinery, &c; also that they had over-expended and should be called off. You can plainly see who stood the extra expenditure and supplied extra lumber and machinery and endorsed the same.

The S-Area can expend more of county money than the amount paid by city but cannot expend city money beyond appropriation or not beyond one half mill on the dollar in any year.

The general impression is, that those unfounded criticisms emanate from a source of disappointment at not securing appointment to participate in such expenditures. It remends one of the young lady that forbid the bans of "John MacPherson" and "Agnes McGregor," who had been called at church twice, and beihg called the third time. As the parson announced that there was a promise of marriage between the parties and anybody having any reason why such should not materialize—"Speak now or forever hold your peace"—when a young lady ross in the congregation and stated: "I forbid t e bans." The reverend gent'eman requested her reason and received the answer: "I want him myself."

Respectfully yours,

ED. M. ELLIOTT,
Treasurer, C. P.

CONSERVATIVE CAUCUS.

Discussed Course of Party and Conduct of Debate Just Opening.

OTTAWA, Jan. 19 (Canadian Press). —The Conservative members of Parliament were in caucus today. At the close, Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen stated that the gathering had discussed the course of the Conservative party to date and the conduct of the debate on the address, which is just beginning.

Firmness At Liverpool Helped Chicago Prices

CHICAGO, Jan. 19 (Canadian Press). —Helped by the firmness of Liverpool quotations, wheat market here tended upward today during early dealings. In this connection some significance was attached to the reports that higher prices were being asked abroad for Argentine offerings although of poorer quality than usual. Notice was also taken of comment that the combined visible supply of Canada and the United States at present is only 115,000,000 bushels against 122,000,000 bushels a year ago, with the commencement of a new harvest in this country approximately four and a half months away.

Chicago opening prices, 1-8 to 5-8 c higher, May 1.75 to 1.75 3-8 and July 1.52 to 1.52 1-4 were followed by a slight dip and then by a rise higher than before.

Improved weather conditions made the corn market easy. After opening at 1-8c off to 1-8c up, May 84 1-2 to 84 3-4c, corn underwent a moderate general sag.

Oats were responsive to wheat strength. Starting unchanged to 1-4c higher, May 43 to 45 1-8, oats held near to initial figures.

Foreign buying gave strength to provisions, despite lower quotations on hogs.

Silver Stocks Strong In Heavy Trade Session

TORONTO, Jan. 19. — (Canadian Press.) — Silvers were the strongest part of the list during this morning's session of the Standard Mining Exchange. Trading was very heavy, but while active the golds were mostly weak, the active silver stocks were nearly all strong. Chaput, Hughes and Vipond were strong the features of the golds, Chaput advancing 3 3-4 at 13 1-2 and Vipond 5 at 184. Kirkland Lake sold down 2 at 91, Argonaut a half at 19 1-2 and Atlas 1-8 at 2. Goldale strengthened a half point at 41. Canadian Lorrain sold up a point and a quarter, Crown Reserve two, Keeley nine at 175, Lorrain one at ten, Nofanda 30 at 14.80 and Laval one at 38.

Upward Price Movement Was Somewhat Interrupted

NEW YORK, Jan. 19.—(Canadian Press.)— Resumption of upward movement of prices in to-day's stock market was interrupted, at intervals, by bear selling and profit taking. Pool operations were stimulated by the reduction in official call money rates to 4 per cent, loans in the "outside market" being quoted as low as 3 1-2. Short-selling was aggressively conducted in baking issues on the announcement that an official inquiry into recent mergers would begin here next month. Renewed weakness of U. S. Alcohol was associated with unconfirmed rumors of lower prices and loss of contracts. Public utilities were heavily bought in anticipation of important merger and dividend developments.

Price Upturn General Shredded Wheat Feature

TORONTO, Ont., Jan. 19 (Canadian Press)—A decided upturn in prices was shown on the Toronto Stock Exchange this morning and the advance was general. Outstanding was Shredded Wheat, which jumped seven points at 192 after gaining nine yesterday. The two leaders, Brazilian and Smelters, were both strong. Brazilian sold up to 83 3-8, a point and an eighth higher and Smelters at 188 1-4 was a point and a quarter higher. Winnipeg Railway advanced one at 48 and Canadian Canners preferred sold up 3-4 at 62 3-4. Duluth superior strengthened an eighth at 29 1-8 but Brantford preferred was fractionally easier.

Heavy dealings in Crown Reserve featured the minnes and the stock was sold up 1 1-2 at 20 1-2.

NORMA TALMADGE IN "GRAUSTARK."

The popular Norma Talmadge and the good looking Eugene O'Brien are co-stars in "Graustark," the screen production of the story of the same name, and an interesting, romantic drama of the same type as the books made famous by their author, George Barr McCutcheon.

Norma Talmadge, whose charm for her audiences never apparently grows less, is Yetive of Graustark, and Eugene O'Brien is Grenfell Lory, her American lover. The interesting Marc McDermott, without would be lacking in finish, i. Prince would be acking in finish. is Prince Gabriel, of Axphain, a country adjoining Graustark.

A case of love at first sight, on a train, develops between Yetive and Lory. Stranded at a small roadside station when they miss the train after a walk, they become acquainted and fall in love with each other. Gabriel of Axphain follows Yetive to America, and she returns home with him, followed by Lory, who thinks of her as Miss Guggenslocker, the outrageous name with which the has christened herself in her American travels. At a ball at the Palace he discovers her to be the Princess Yetive, and commanded by her father, the King of Graustark, to marry the Prince Gabriel.

The story, one of those artificial, romantic productions, with a good deal of sugar icing flavor to its situations, but as interesting as are the stories of the same type rounds itself out with a series of romantic episodes, in which the two men struggle for the lady's favor. After sundry exciting developments, Lory captures his princess, and all is well. The main interest of the story of course, centres about the two good-looking stars and their thrilling romance.

There is a good comedy with this feature, a hilarious affair dubbed "Bachelors' Babies."

MANCHESTER MAY FOUND SETTLEMENT

Meeting Held To Consider Lancashire Colony in Some Dominion.

MANCHESTER, Jan. 19 (Canadian Press).—"I want to see Manchester heading the biggest migration movement since the Israelites left Egypt," declared W. A. Herring at a meeting of citizens called to consider the question of founding a settlement in one of the British Dominions, the proposed settlement to be comprised of emigrants from the Eastern section of Lancashire. The Lord Mayor of Manchester presided at the meeting.

QUEEN ALEXANDRA HOME AND SCHOOL

Excellent Entertainment Given at Recent Meeting Which Was Well Attended.

Under the auspices of the Queen Alexandra Home and School Association, a very excellent entertainment was held in the kindergarten room, on Friday night Jan. 15th, a large representation of parents and teachers being present.

J. J. Turner made an excellent chairman for the occasion and in a few well-chosen words, referred to the good work done by the Home and School associations by their co-operation with the teachers.

Rev. J. D. Paterson gave a very practical and interesting address on "Our Gift to The New Day," in which he gave some splendid advice to parents. A few points emphasized were as follows:—

"Parents should plan the future of their children and not leave it to chance. Changing conditions make this difficult. Parents must take the responsibility of their children.

"Success does not necessarily mean a white-collared job. The person who can say, 'it is great to be alive,' has made a success. Two things are necessary for success—(1) 'plan your work and (2) work out your plan.'

"Nothing worth while ever comes to anyone without hard work. Find your work and then work and work hard. Study your children. Take time to be with them. Watch the reports to learn their inclinations. Watch the boy's contact with other boys."

Mr. Paterson urged more time given to cultural subjects, and a wider knowledge of the literature of our country. Do all with the purpose that our children may be a noble monument to our memory."

The programme, also included readings by Mrs. F. G. McNeely, who gave "The Last Shot," and "By Special Desire."

Musical numbers, including violin selections by Dr. Park, who delighted the audience with "Mazurka De Concert" by "Ovide Musin," and "Beethoven's Minuet; Mrs. V. E. Walker, who gave "Garden of My Heart," by Ernest Ball" and "When You Come Home," by Squire; Mr. M. H. Park, who sang "The Bloom is on The Rye," by Bishop and "Imp of Dreams" by Haesche.

Orchestra selections were rendered by the Big Four (boys of Queen Alexandra) who always delight the audience.

The accompanists for the evening were the Misses Agnes Logan, Alma Blanchard and Gwen Donley.

Mr. F. H. Dearborn, on behalf of the Home and School Association, moved a hearty vote of thanks, to all those who so generously contributed of their talent, in making the entertainment such a splendid success.

The candy table was decorated in gold and black (the school colours) and was very attractive with dainty baskets of home-made candy.

PLAY ENJOYED

Omemee Young People Gave Good Performance at Bethany.

BETHANY, Jan. 19.—The play "Deacon Dubbs," which was staged in the Town Hall here Friday evening by the Y.P.L. of the United Church, Omemee, under the auspices of the Women's Institute, was greatly enjoyed by all who were fortunate enough to attend. Rev. E. Rowland's monologue, "That Old Sweetheart of Mine," with a background of music played by Mrs. Rowland, was also greatly appreciated. Several vocal solos and ukulele duets were likewise encored. At the conclusion of the play lunch was given to the visitors by the ladies of the W.I., and Mr. Rowland, on behalf of the Y.P.L. Dramatic Society extended a vote of thanks to the ladies for their hospitality, which was seconded by Miss Lila Parsons and all showed approval by a hearty cla pof hands. In the absence of Mrs. Jemison, Mrs. Will McCartney acknowledged the motion on behalf of the W.I.

One hundred and seven adults and children were present at the Sabbath School of the United Church on Sunday afternoon. Week by week the attendance is steadily growing. The teachers were all present with their classes, making a good example for their pupils. The special music was a solo by Miss Lila Parsons of Omemee, and was enjoyed by all. The orchestra was also in attendance. The adult portion of the school is increasing in attendance.

The young people of the United Church are presenting their play, "The Heiress Hunter" in Pontypool Hall, under the auspices of the Pontypool Y.P.L. on Thursday evening next.

A very well-attended ice carnival was held on the local ring here Saturday evening. As the evening was mild, a good many took the opportunity to skate.

The judges were Mr. Waram, Mr. Will Hanna and Mr. Sid Armstrong. Prizes were awarded as follows:

Best dressed lady—Mrs. Walter Rowan.

Best dressed gent.—Mr. Walter Rowan.

Mile race—Wellington Fallis.

Boys' race—Lawrence Steer.

Girls' race—Helen McKinnon.

Couple race — Helen McKinnon and Roy Feren.

Potato race—Kenneth Thorndyke.

After the judging, skating was enjoyed by all until quite late.

Miss Verna Belle Lee was hostess at a tea given to her young friends in honor of her guest, Miss Gladys Spiers.

Miss Olive Nelson and Mrs. W. H. Rowan were visitors to Peterboro on Saturday.

The Junior Hockey team, the "Wilcats" under the management of Mr. P. C. Brown journeyed to Millbrook on Saturday afternoon to meet the Junior team down there, and were beaten, 9 to 1. They are expecting a return game next Saturday, when they expect to do better as the first game was good practice for them.

Mr. W. A. Brown was a visitor to Peterboro on Saturday.

Mrs. George Twigg of Peterboro was in the village on Friday visiting her sister, Mrs. John Sisson.

Mr. Sam Lee, who was in Detroit visiting friends, returned Friday and is the guest of his sister, Mrs. S. Jemison.

Mr. Harold Rehill of Peterboro was the guest of his sister, Mrs. R. L. Crerar over the week-end.

Miss Lila Parsons of Omemee was the guest of her cousin, Mrs. Crerar over the week-end.

Mrs. Nurse of Fowler's Corners was the guest of Mrs. Arnott and other friends over the week-end.

Mrs. Wickett, who was the guest of Rev. A. and Mrs. Poulter at the Parsonage for the past week, returned to her home in Belleville on Friday.

Mr. Will Hunter was a week-end visitor with friends in Peterboro.

Mr. Nicholl of Port Hope was renewing old acquaintances in the village one day last week.

Mrs. Milton Fallis of the Fallis Line spent Thursday in the village visiting friends.

WOMEN'S INSTITUTE OF CAVAN MEETING

Home of Mrs. R. Matchett on Thursday.

CAVAN, Jan. 19.—The January Meeting of Cavan Women's Institute will be held at the home of Mrs. R. Matchett on Thursday afternoon, January 21. Miss Francis Hunter and Mrs. R. Howden will be responsible for the programme.

There was a fairly good crowd at the Masquerade dance in Cavan Community Hall on Thursday evening.

The Fisher-Moncrief orchestra supplied the music.

There were only a few in costume.

"Jiggs and Maggie" were present and added to the entertainment of the evening. Maggie brought her rolling-pin, and several times found occasion to use it, as Jiggs too often found a partner, other than herself.

A Negress and a vagabond tramp were two other good costumes.

A number from Cavan attended the meeting in Millbrook on Tuesday evening, when two representatives of the Klu Klux Klan spoke. There are a few members in Millbrook and a few more were added that evening.

Mr. Richard Matchett has taken the contract of putting in the supply of wood for S.S. No. 7.

The "Hearts of Oak," Tuxis Square, Cavan, hold their weekly meeting in the basement of the church on Tuesday evenings. When the ice is in fit condition they enjoy a skate after the meeting.

On Friday evening Ralph Staples took a load of the Cavan Centre Young people, to Millbrook, to attend the Carnival.

There were 15 young people in the oad and all enjoyed the evening.

GOSPEL HALL.

Attendance at Special Meeting Reduced By Bad Weather.

The inclemency of the weather and the almost impassable condition of the streets in many places, reduced the attendance at Gospel hall. The weather conditions however did not affect the ardor or enthusiasm of Evangelist Hugh Kane, who delivered a very earnest address on Chapter 8 of St. Mark's Gospel, verses 22 to 26. "The healing of the blind man at Bethsaida." Everybody felt repaid for coming. Meeting each evening at 8 p.m. A cordial welcome is extended to all.

EXPLOSION WRECKS TORONTO FACTORY

Several People Had Narrow Escapes From Death.

TORONTO, Jan. 19 (Canadian Press).—Several persons had a narrow escape from death or serious injury today when an explosion wrecked the top floor of the factory of the Toronto Feather and Down Company here. The upper brick walls collapsed. A garage adjoining was partly demolished by falling bricks. Three persons were injured including two firemen, who suffered injury by burns. Thomas Dike sustained head injuries.
The explosion is thought to have been caused by spontaneous combustion.

I.O.D.E. MUSICALE

A very interesting programme was given last evening at the musicale held under the auspices of the Otonabee Chapter I.O.D.E. at the home of Mrs. F. A. Hodgson, Rubidge street, when an excellent entertainment, supervised by Mrs. Hodgson and Mrs. R. W. Davidson, was provided by local artists.
The programme opened with two violin numbers by Mrs. J. A. Foster, who played with splendid technical ability and expressive feeling which brought out all the charm of her music. Mrs. Foster played the "Brindisi" waltz, and, as an encore, Haakman's "Souvenir." Her second group, played later in the evening, included the pretty "Canary" number and an Austrian hymn (unaccompanied).
Numbers on the programme that were very much enjoyed were the selections by a string trio in charge of Mrs. Hodgson. Members of this snappy group are Messrs. F. Clarke and P. Loescher, playing the banjo and Mrs. Hodgson, the guitar. Assisted on their first appearance by Mrs. Foster, playing the violin, with Mrs. A. Fenwick at the piano, they played some sparkling music, including "Ocean Dreams" and a characteristic march. "Yankee Dandy." With Mrs. Hodgson at the piano, Messrs. Clarke and Loescher later gave a rendition of "Comical Coons."
The vocal solos were particularly pleasing. The ladies taking part in the programme were in excellent voice and were enthusiastically encored in every instance. Mrs. A. A. Perrin sang "If my songs were winged," "Annie Laurie," and "Le Capanera" ("The Wren"); Miss Mathilde Masson sang "Ouvre tes yeux bleus," "The Night Wind," and "The Little Damozel"; Miss Geraldine Collins sang "I Arise from Dreams of Thee," and "Si vers avaient des ailes," in English, and Miss Daisy Davidson sang "A Little Prayer for Me," and "The Angel Cake."
Mr. Douglas Carlisle's resonant baritone tones were heard to splendid advantage in "The Lute Player," "The Spirit Flower," and an "Ave Maria," in English.
A vocal quartette that was exceptionally good, the restrained quality and smooth, soft timbre of their fine voices being very pleasing, was composed of H. Snelgrove, first tenor; Ronald Fleming, second tenor; Charles Sedgewick, first bass, and Fred Chenhall, second bass. Fred Chenhall also playing accompaniments for the group. They sang "I'd like to go down South" and "Po Lil Lamb."
Mrs. Gerald McClelland gave two readings in her own charming style, the little boy's story of the bear and a funny little encore that brought her much applause.
A very interesting portion of the instrumental programme was the pianoforte playing of Miss Louise Letellier, who has a brilliant, clear touch, a vivacious tone and fine technical ability. Miss Letellier played "La Bourre" (The Wind Storm) and "Le Papillon" (Butterfly).
Accompanists for the soloists of the evening were Mrs. A Fenwick, Miss Lillian Hurley, Miss Margaret Widdess, Miss Louise Letellier and Mr. Fred Chenhall.
Those present last evening were: Mesdames R. W. Davidson, R. R. Hall, M. N. Clark, H. E. Stenson, H. Donnelly, D. Fleming, G. McClelland, A. A. Perrin, J. A. Foster, A. Fenwick, J. A. Robinson, R. Gliddon, C. A. White, W. R. Widdess, F. C. Neal, J. A. Morgan; Madame Masson, the Misses L. Hamilton, S. A. Tomkins, R. Stratton, M. Masson, L. Hurley, L. Simons, N. Simons, D. Davidson, E. Murphy, G. Collins, M. Widdess, L. Letellier; Messrs. R. G. Kingan, F. Sedgewick, F. Chenhall, D. Carlisle, R. Fleming, H. Snelgrove, F. Clark, P. Loescher.

Your First Glasses
It requires more argument as a rule to cause a person to get his first glasses than to give his eyes the necessary attention afterwards. When a person learns for a positive certainty that his eyes would be helped by glasses, he is generally eager to submit to an examination. It is the person who doesn't know who is hard to convince. TORONTO CANOEIST IN NEW YORK AFTER WINNING $10,000 WAGER BY PADDLING FROM SYDNEY TO ROME

G. H. C. Smythe Nearly Drowned in English Channel, Swamped By Waves.

TORONTO AIR MAN.

Nervy Performance in New York Harbor Won Attention.

NEW YORK, Jan. 20 (Canadian Press)—G. H. C. Smythe, the former Royal Canadian Air Force officer of Toronto, who won fame through his feat of paddling from Sydney, N.S., to Rome in a ten foot canoe, has returned to his native North American continent, it became known yesterday. The canoeing globe trotter arrived in Brooklyn last Saturday on a tramp steamer from Malaga, Spain, but he had succeeded in keeping his identity hidden.

Tuesday, however, when he started from a line dock on the Brooklyn shore and paddled in a seeming flimsy canoe against a driving headwind and a heavy running tide to the Manhattn Battery, he caused such a stir of excitement by his nervy performance that the Canadian's name was soon flashing about the lower regions of the island.

At the Battery he was aided from his small boat by a waiting delegation headed by Commodore F. G. Ericson, of the Toronto Motorboat Club, and hurried away to the city hall for a call on Mayor "Jimmy" Walker.

Met Celebrities

Smythe said that during his recent canoe expedition, which netted him a $10,000 wager, he had met Benito Mussolini, Blasco Ibanez and Maxim Gorki. He wished "to add another celebrity to his list," but the plan to meet Mayor Walker had to be abandoned when it was found that Gotham's chief executive was not in his office.

Smythe last saw New York in October, 1924, when he arrived here from Sydney after having paddled 1,350 miles. The arrangement under which his wager was made allowed him to start with only one dollar and while he was allowed to cross the Atlantic Ocean on a liner, he was forced to earn his way across. His return voyage on the tramp steamer was made under similar conditions.

Swamped in Channel

The paddler from Toronto said after his call at the City Hall that his trip had been uneventful until he crossed the English Channel. Then his canoe had been swamped and he was buffeted about by the waves for seventeen hours before being saved. On his second attempt he completed the hazardous trip across the choppy channel in six and one half hours.

In Paris, in order to re-coup his a bridge forty-five feet in the swirl-fortunes, Mr. Smythe jumped from ing waters of the Seine River with his canoe strapped to his back. He sold the picture rights of the "stunt" to a movie company, he said, and then continued his journoey through the inland waterways of France to the Mediterranean. From there he completed his journey by sea and up the Tibur River to the Italian capital.

NOW, HONESTLY.

Sure it's a cinch for you to go spinning along and demand the right of way, regardless.

You can almost always trust that the helpless pedestrian is going to duck.

But, now and then an elderly lady, or a little youngster, or a mother, with a baby in her arms starts to cross the street.

And you come sailing along—

Scares the life nearly out of you, doesn't it?

You're so used to keeping on going that you have to stop and think twice before you can make a safe stop.

After this, think once—but think right in the first place—play safe with ALL pedestrians.

BLIZZARD RAGES IN JUGO-SLAVIA

Train Was Snow Bound For 96 Hours—News Coming Slowly.

TORNADO SUNDAY.

VIENNA, Jan. 20 (Canadian Press—News from the regeion in Jugo Slavia which was struck by a tornado on Sunday indicates that a blizzard of unprecedented violence is still raging in that district and information is still coming only slowly and meagerly. One despatch reports that a tram crowded with passengers was snowbound for 96 hours on the Sarajevo line before it was finally dug out.

FINE ADDED TO AMUSEMENT TAX

Provincial Treasurer Collects at Lindsay With Police Assistance.

TWO IN COURT.

LINDSAY, January 20. — The Amusement Tax Branch of the Provincial Treasurer's Department, Toronto, is hot foot after the organizations in this part of the country that fail to come across with the amusement tax, with the result that several fraternal and social organizations which have been holding functions in their quarters, at which a fee is charged or a levy made on the members, have been required to pay tribute to the Provincial Treasury.

A representative of the Amusement Tax Branch recently became acquainted with the fact that a musical organization headed by one Joseph Morel and a negro named Black, had been giving entertainments in the north country, and had failed to forward the amusement tax to the authorities at Queen's Park. The case was handed over to Chief of Police Umphrey, and the two men were summoned before Police Magistrate Bradford. They were obliged to pay the costs of the court and also remit the unpaid tax to the government. It amounted to $40.00 in all.

Members of Opposition Say Loan To Fascisti Might Aid War.

MUSSOLINI SPEECH.

LONDON, Jan. 20 (Canadian Press)—A group of members of the opposition parties in the Italian parliament whose names are not divulged through fear for their safety has written to Philip Snowden, former Chancellor of the Exchequer, a joint letter which says:

"A terrible situation is developing in Italy which can lead only to war or revolution. Premier Mussolini has declared to the Fascist congress that Italy is imperialistic and needs a new war in order to take her position in the world. Any loan given to Fascist Italy at the present

DECORATION FOR WEMBLEY SUCCESS

Knighthoods and Lesser Honors For 35 Promoters.

LONDON, Jan. 20 (Canadian Press Cable) — Representations which have been so persistent ever since the British Empire Exhibition at Wembley closed for recognition of those whose work made it a success, have prevailed earlier than the authorities originally intended. An honors list was issued last night which contains thirty-five decorations for those participating in the exhibition.

General Sir Travers Clarke, deputy chairman and chief administrative officer of the exhibition, is created a knight of the Grand Cross, the highest honor awarded. Four were made knights and twelve commanders of the British Empire. Eight were created officers of the Order of the British Empire and ten members of the Order, of which ten Australia and New Zealand took the lion's share with six. The only woman recipient was Lady Salway, chairman of the women's section. Newfoundland was represented in the list by Major L. C. Outerbridge of St. John's who was made a commander of the Order of the British Empire.

POISONED TWO WOMAN ADMITS

Seventh and Eighth Husband Were Cruel To Her.

TO TEST SANITY.

EAST LIVERPOOL, Ohio, Jan. 20.—Believing that the woman may have an insatiable mania for killing, authorities yesterday impanelled a sanity commission to examine Mrs. Laura E. Christy, 48, who has confessed, according to police, that she murdered two of her eight former husbands.

Stubborn and defiant, Mrs. Christy, who admitted she gave poison capsules to her seventh husband and arsenic to her eighth—Rev. William Christy, attached to the Christian Missionary Alliance, who died suddenly Wednesday — faced another barrage of questioners yesterday.

County Prosecutor Robert E. Brookes obtained the alleged confession and brought out that of the women's eight husbands, six died suddenly and under mysterious circumstances.

Mean to Her.

"I poisoned two of my husbands, but the others died naturally," Mrs. Christy asserted belligerently when questioned further on Tuesday. "They were mean to me," she snapped. "They had it coming to them."

Mrs. Christy's seventh husband was John Ebert, a Newell, W. Va., pottery worker.

"I gave him an arsenic capsule," Mrs. Christy confessed, according to Brookes. "John treated me brutally. He was ill at the time and I fed him arsenic instead of the medicine prescribed by his physician."

A calm settled over Mrs. Christy as she explained Rev. Mr. Christy's death, Brooks said.

BUY BRITISH MADE GOODS

Canadians Have Most Money Since War.

LONDON, Jan. 20.—(Canadian Press Cable.)—"Canada this year will be able to buy more British goods than in any year since the war," stated C. W. Johnston, Canadian National Railways manager at Montreal, who arrived here on Tuesday. Speaking of Canada's prosperity, Mr. Johnston said that perhaps the best proof of Canada's economic revival is found in the changed attitude to immigration. "The 'three pounds to Canada' scheme came at the psychological moment as all classes are beginning to realize the necessity of new settlers," Mr. Johnston stated.

COUNSEL HINTS WITNESS KNEW ABOUT MURDER

Husband Chraged With Slaying Wife's Alleged Admirer.

WOMAN SAW IT.

Defence Charges That She Must Have Known What Would Happen.

CALGARY, Alta., Jan. 20. — Canadian Press. — The suggestion that the witness "knew what was going to happen," brought a new angle into the trial of L. W. Chidgey, who is charged with the murder of R. E. S. Taylor, the alleged admirer of Mrs. Chidgey.

Taylor was shot and killed on Christmas eve, as he alighted from a taxi, near Mr. and Mrs. Chidgey.

The suggestion was made by J. McKinley Cameron, K.C., counsel for Chidgey, when he was examining Mrs. G. A. Hutchinson at whose home Mrs. Chidgey had been staying.

He charged that Mrs. Hutchinson "went up to her bedroom window to watch it."

Mrs. Hutchinson vigorously denied that anything of the sort had happened. It was just curiosity that made her watch Mr. and Mrs. Chidgey as they walked down the street.

COMMITTEES TO BE STRUCK SOON TO HASTEN WORK

Procedure Usually Follows Debate on Throne Speech Reply.

RECESS PROBABLE.

Business Requiring Early Consideration Will Be Dispatched.

OTTAWA, January 20. Canadian Press. — The Committee of the Press.—The Committees of the House of Commons, usually appointed only after the debate on the address in reply to the Speech from the Throne, has been disposed of, may be struc kearly this year, and the committee work of the House may be struck early this year, and is finished. The probability of a long adjournment immediately after the division on the address, makes this desirable in order that any business requiring early commitee consideration may be disposed of.

An English woman has the honor of being the first of her sex to pass the Civil Service examination which permits her to hold the higher posts, such as Under-Secretary, at a salary of $15,000 a year.

Skirts Will Not Be Much Shorter This Spring Say Fashion Designers at New York Style Show

NEW YORK, Jan. 20 (United Press).—Twenty-five hundred men and women, partly from New York and the remainder modistes, buyers, and store managers from all parts of the country, attended the Spring Fashion Show at the Hotel Astor last night.

They learned that:

Skirts will remain short, but will not be shortened much more.

That dresses are to be designed with a view to their practical use as well as to attractiveness.

That Black and White, and the soft colors will be more popular than the flaming reds and more brilliant hues.

Pastel shades were most popular for evening gowns.

The model wedding dress was of white Empress satin, trimmed with Princess applique lace, embroidered in pearls.

AMNESIA VICTIM RETURNED HOME

Lost Memory Two Years Ago in Railway Wreck.

FOUND IN MONTREAL.

MONTREAL, Jan. 20.—Lost since August, 1923, with the sole clue furnished in March, 1924, when his abandoned motor car was fished from the Lachine Canal, Leslie Grant has been found, a victim of amnesia, but taking what was his favorite walk along Sherbrooke street to Montreal West.

The circumstances of the finding were dramatic. On Wednesday night Grant was seen by a friend of the family taking a stroll along that thoroughfare, and the latter immediately informed Alec Grant, a brother.

In Railway Wreck.

On visiting Leslie's hotel, Alec Grant found among the other man's personal belongings some things which he recognized as being similar to those he had known to belong to his missing brother. He also identified some hand-writing and eventually got this examined and identified by an expert. Other investigations included examination of scars, and altogether the result of the inquiries satisfied him that the man was Leslie Grant.

"He is entirely without memory as to happenings prior to the time he went to Ontario, where he was in a railroad accident. He does not know us and only knows that he is at home because we have told him. He is leaving almost at once to return to the Ontario town where he has been working since his disappearance," said Alec Grant.

GUARD YOUR EYES.

Time, that wonderful leveler of human standards, makes it imperative for everyone to wear glasses for vision at a certain stage in their lifetime. If your eyes now need the aid of glasses, do not delay until strain and misuse have impaired your chances for improvement. See W. H. Lacey, Optometrist, 410 George Street. 'Phone 1160.

"Silence rooms" are provided in practically every American ear hospital. For this purpose the rooms are built with a space between their double walls, cork and peat moss being used in the actual construction.

LUTHER FORMS A NEW CABINET

Parties Prefer Government By Cabinet To Dictatorship.

STRESEMANN BACK.

BERLIN, Jan. 20 (Canadian Press).—As between a dictatorship and parliamentary government, the leaders of the parties in the Reichstag have chosen the latter and a new cabinet has been formed to take the place of that of Chancellor Luther which resigned more than six weeks ago after the signing of the Locarno pacts.

Dr. Hans Luther again will head the new government with Gustav Stresemann holding his old portfolio of foreign minister.

TURKS DECK GIBBETS.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Jan. 20 (Canadian Press). — Seven Turks were hanged in the public square of Angora yesterday for having participated in a recent reactionary movement. Twenty-one Turks have been executed during the past fornight.

More Than 90 P.C. Voted Under New Australian Law

MELBOURNE, Australia, Jan. 20. — (Canadian Press Cable via Reuter's.)—Final returns of the voting in the recent general elections show that approximately ninety-two per cent. of the males on the register and ninety-one per cent. of the females voted. Compulsory voting was introduced in Australia at the recent election.

OIL RESERVOIRS MENACED BY FIRE

Tank Containing 20,000 Gallons Exploded Yesterday.

EVERETT, Mass., Jan. 20—Fire which threatened to destroy numerous oil reservoirs of the Beacon Oil company burned almost uncontrolled in the face of a heavy wind here yesterday.

Shortly after the first started, tank No. 1, containing 20,000 agllons of crude gasoline, exploded with a roar that could be heard for many miles.

Firemen from Boston, Malden, Melrose, Chelsea and Somerville were summoned when local fire-fighting forces were unable to check the flames.

The fire is thought to have started from a short circuit under tank No. 1. After the first explosion, firemen believed they had the fire under control and several companies returned to station houses.

They were recalled, however, when a few minutes later the flames broke out with renewed ferocity. Tanks two, three and four were quickly enveloped and firemen were forced to retreat because of the danger of explosions. Dense masses of black smoke made fire fighting doubly difficult.

Damage had been largely confined to two units of the plant.

RUNAWAY WIFE IS SHOP LIFTER

Mrs. Maggie Reynlods, 32, Wife of Ottawa S. A. Man, Arrested.

CAUGHT IN DETROIT.

DETROIT, Jan. 20 (Canadian Press). —Mrs. Maggie Reynolds, 32 years old, runaway wife of a Salvation Army bandmaster at Ottawa, was fined $55, with the alternative of sixty days in the Detroit House of Correction, when she pleaded guilty of shoplifting before Judge John A. Boyne in the Recorder's court here.

"I couldn't stand my husband's preaching," she said, "so I came to Detroit two weeks ago."

MINERS FEEL PINCH BUT WON'T GIVE UP

Vote Unanimously Not To Accept Arbitration of New Contract.

SCRANTON, Pa., Jan. 20. Canadian Press. — The twin spectres of privation and bankruptcy, are stalking through the hard coal fields, as the miners tighten their belts and the merchants re-inventory their wares for an indefinite prolongation of the anthracite strike.

Although keenly feeling the pinch of need he miners at three mass meetings in the last three days voted unanimously to continue the strike, now in its fifth month, rather than accept arbitration of what shall go into a new wage contract.

"FLEXIBLE" GLASS.

Austrian Scientists Have Discovered Substance Something Like Glass.

LONDON, Jan. 20. — Canadian Press. — The invention of "flexible glass" by two Austrian scientists, whose names are not given, is announced here by a weekly automobile magazine.

The new substance is said to resemble glass in its appearance and properties, but is flexible, unsplinterable and non inflammable. It is unaffected by temperature or light and is 50 per cent lighter than ordinary glass.

VANDALISM AT FIRE

WINNIPEG, Man., Jan. 20—Vandals working under cover of the dense smoke during the fire which gutted the Stobart block here, rifled several of the abandoned suites and escaped with loot valued at hundreds of dollars.

EMPHATIC DENIAL BY MR. FORKE THAT ANY BRIBES OR BIDS MADE FOR SUPPORT OF PROGRESSIVES

Leader Says Interviews With Both Parties Were Honorable.

MR. MOTHERWELL.

Minister of Agriculture Attacks Hamilton Speech—"Great Recanter."

OTTAWA, Jan. 20 (Canadian Press).—Emphatically and positively, Robert Forke, Progressive leader, denied last night that the Progressive party had received any bribes or bids in the negotiations which preceded the critical vote of last week. Mr. Forke was speaking in the continued debate on the address. "I never got any bid" he declared, "I never received any bribe."

Mr. Forke told how, with some other members of the Progressive group, he had been delegated to interview Premier King and the leader of the Opposition. Mr. Forke had rather doubted the wisdom of the mission, as a piece of political tactics, but he was bound to say that he saw nothing dishonorable in it, either to Premier King or Mr. Meighen or to the Progressives. Everything was open and above board. There were neither bids nor bribes.

"I cannot presume to speak for the members of this group as individuals," went on Mr. Forke, "but I certainly can declare on behalf of the party as an organization that there was absolutely no suggestion of any bid or bribe under any circumstances. Nor, indeed, do I ever for a moment think that any individual member of the Government or the Opposition ever spoke to the members of our group with anything of the kind in view; certainly, at least, no one representing either of these two parties ever came to my room with any bribe.

The Progressives, Mr. Forke said, found themselves in a rather trying position, as power had been put into their hands which was none of their seeking. But they were honestly endeavoring to use that power to the good of the country. He thought that if a few really sensible Conservatives and Liberals got together with the Progressives, some solution might be found for the present difficulties.

Hon. Dr. Manion interposed as to the correctness of reports that Mr. Forke might enter a coalition government with the Liberals. "I would favor any coalition to get us out of our troubles," replied Mr. Forke. Were the Conservatives in power and willing to form a coalition "to forward the principles for which I said," he would be quite willing to join with them. But, he advised Dr. Manion not to believe all he saw in the newspapers.

Hon. W. R. Motherwell.

Hon. W. R. Motherwell, Minister of Agriculture, created laughter when he compared the attitude of the Conservatives last week with that of this week. "A week ago," said Mr. Motherwell, "the Conservatives reminded him of Sir Richard Cartwright's saying, that a Tory out of office was like a she-bear robbed of her cubs. "But," Mr. Motherwell went on "was ever an amendment presented so near to agreement with the Speech from the Throne as the amendment presented by Mr. Meighen?" He declared that Mr. Meighen's "ready, aye, ready" war policy of Toronto, had become the Political Freedom Wanted By Women of Great Britain

LONDON, Jan. 20 (Canadian Press Cable)—"The women of Canada and Australia have been given the vote on equal terms with men; what's the matter with the women of Great Britain that they are denied the same political freedom?" asked Mrs. Pethick Lawrence, wife of the Conservative member of the House of Commons for West Leicester speaking at a meeting of the Women's Freedom League yesterday. A resolution urging the government to pass legislation immediately granting women the parliamentary vote at the same age and under the same terms as men was passed unanimously.

INDIAN HOUSE OPENED TO-DAY

Viceroy Announced King's Approval of Agricultural Inquiry in Address.

READING RETIRING.

DELHI, India, Jan. 20. Canadian Press. — The Legislative Assembly was opened in state to-day for the last time by the Earl of Reading, the retiring Vice-Roy, and Governor-General of India.

In the speech from the throne, which was read by the Vice-Roy, it was announced that the King had approved the appointment of a Royal Commission to inquire into Agriculture in India.

Sympathy was expressed with the feeling in India regarding the anti-Indian legislation proposed by the South African government.

It was still hoped that the South African government would be persuaded that there was the strongest possible ground for holding the desired conference to discuss the whole question of Indian rights in South Africa.

BRAKEMAN KILLED.

Fell From C. P. R. Train Which Was Taking Switch.

PARRY SOUND, Jan. 20. Canadian Press. — M. Ketching, a brakeman in the employ of the Canadian Pacific Railway, was instantly killed late on Monday when he slipped and fell as the train was taking a switch. The remains have been brought to Parry Sound and an inquest will be held. Ketching was 30 years of age, and a native of Uffington, near Bracebridge.

THE WEATHER.

Freak weather conditions have prevailed for some days, and still continue. Rain has fallen to considerably over an inch (1.14), and has put both sidewalks and roads in a treacherous condition. Unsettled weather with rain or wet snow prevails over most of the country, and while much colder weather should naturally follow, it seems slow in coming. Highest yesterday 36 deg.; lowest 17 deg.—W. ANNUAL MEETING OF LITTLE LAKE CEMETERY CO.

Had Small Balance on Operating Account For 9125.

MADE IMPROVEMENTS.

Great Deal of Roadway Was Made Permanent During Year.

The 75th annual meeting of the lot owners in the Little Lake Cemetery Company was held on Tuesday, January 19th, when the stat ements for the year 1925 were presented. The financial statement showed Receipts from Operating Accounts of $13,034.05, and Payments of $12,938.14, leaving a balance of $95.91.

During the year lot owners paid to the Company for the perpetual care of their lots for all future time the sum of $3,110, while the sum of $4,845 was paid for the purchase of lots. Some of the larger payments made on Special Accounts were $3,667, for building permanent macadam roadways; $1,406 for new grounds, and $1,880 invested in City of Peterboro' Debentures. The Company has a total of $55,777 invested in debentures from which it receives an annual income of $3,018. The total Assets of the Company are $232,218.50.

The Directors report and also the Superintendent's are attached:

The Officers elected for the present year are—President, W. G. Morrow; vice-President, E. A. Peck; Directors, B. Shortly, E. H. D. Hall, A. Stevenson, T. H. G. Denne, H. Rush, B. F. Ackerman and T. E. Bradburn.

Mr. Shortly has been a director continuously since 1890.

Mr. Felix Brownscombe is Secretary-Treasurer of the Company and Mr. William James is the Superintendent.

Directors' Report

The Directors have pleasure in submitting to the Shareholders their Seventy-fifth Annual Report for the year ending December 31st, 1925, as follows:

Your Directors have given careful consideration to the matters brought before them in connection with the Cemetery during the past year. They have been very regular in attendance at the meetings of the Board.

You will notice from our Financial Statement that we have not as yet been able to make our operating receipts meet our operating expenses and even with the interest from our surplus account, you will notice that we have a Net Deficit of $20.93. This is the smallest Net Deficit yet experienced by the Company on any one year's operations and we hope from this time forward that we will show a balance on the right side of the Ledger.

The number of agreements entered into with Lot Owners for the perpetual care of their lots for all future time was fifteen, and the sum of money received for this purpose was $3,110. This is the largest amount received in any one year and shows that the Lot Owners are making arrangements during their life time for the perpetual care of their lots. This is as it should be and we hope that a larger number of the lot holders will give this matter their serious consideration and either during their life time or in their wills, set aside a sufficient sum for the perpetual care of their last resting places.

The total amount of Trust Funds now held by the Directors is $17,501.21.

Our receipts from the sale of lots were $4,845, being $555.50 more than in the preceding year. Green house sales amounted to $3 003.15, as against $2,729.72 for the preceding year.

We invested the sum of $2,000 in the City of Peterborough Debentures and have a further sum of $3 000 which we expect to have invested before the end of this month. The total amount of bonds and debentures now held by the Cemetery Company is $55,777.01, and the interest received in 1925 from our investments was $2,901.67.

During the year we spent on permanent roads $3,667.64, and I am glad to say that, with the exception of the main entrance, all the main roads in the Cemetery have now been made permanent. This is the largest expenditure that will have to be made for some time to come as those remaining will be done in short sections from time to time.

In connection with the permanent road building, we used the filling taken therefrom for opening a new road and filling-in in front of the vault section, which has greatly improved this part of the Cemetery.

In my report last year I referred to a proposal that we had from the Canada Mausoleum Company, Ltd., of Toronto, for erecting a Mausoleum in the Cemetery and at that time I asked any citizens wishing to purchase compartments in a building of this nature to notify the Secretary to this effect. There have been no requests whatever for this accommodation, and I take it that it would not be advisable for the Directors to undertake anything of this nature at the present time.

The Officers of the Company have performed their duties during the year in a very satisfactory manner and you will now have the pleasure of listening to the Secretary's and Superintendent's Reports on the work of the year.

All of which is respectfully submitted,
(Signed) W. G. MORROW,
President.

To the Chairman and Directors, Little Lake Cemetery Company.

Gentlemen:—

I beg to submit my annual report for work done in the Cemetery, outside the ordinary cemetery work, and improvements made during the year ending December 31st, 1925.

ROADS—There has been built 954 yards, averaging 16 feet wide at a cost of $2.66 per running yard or .50 per square yard. Total cost $2,534.77.

All the roads in the cemetery were given a coating of oil and Trap Rock. All roads now have a good surface.

CONCRETE ROAD—The Ware Street entrance has been laid in concrete with Curbs and Tile drains being 502 square yards, at a cost of approximately $1.30 per square yard. Total cost $663.79.

PAINTING—The fence running from the front gate to the Railway Track has been painted. The stable, driving sheds and fence also have been repaired and painted. The house in cemetery grounds has been painted, papered and decorated, and a new floor laid in the kitchen.

GRADING—Section "M." This section is being filled and graded as fast as we can get filling. Some three thousand yards have been filled during the year; graded and seeded.

Section "L." This section which is for vaults has been graded and the banks have been double terraced, sodded and seeded.

GREENHOUSE—The greenhouses are all in good repair. A new chimney of brick and concrete has been built during the past year.

There has been during the year—
268 Interments,
28 Foundations for Monuments,
16 Lots put under Perpetual Care,
57 Lots have been sold during the year 1925.

All of which is respectfully submitted,
WILLIAM JAMES,
Superintendent.

HOSPITAL BOARD ANNUAL MEETING

Conclusion of Forty Years' Service of Nicholls Hospital.

IN GOOD POSITION.

The annual meeting of the Trustees of the Nicholls Hospital was held in the Dominion Bank Chambers on Monday the 18th instant.

There were present, W. H. Hill, Esq., in the chair, and Messrs. Thos. Brown, B. F. Ackerman, Robt. Fair, O. S. Matchett, E. B. Fowler, William Langford, L. G. Dobbin, and His Worship Mayor Holloway.

The minutes of last annual meeting were read and confirmed.

The Chairman made a few remarks as follows—

The present occasion terminates the 40th year of activity of the Nicholls Hospital, Peterboro'. Since the institution of the Hospital in 1885, great strides have been made in hospital technique, and the general public has come to see the wisdom of using the privileges and equipment of the modern hospital as a much more effective agent for the care and cure of the sick, than the home. Nicholls Hospital has kept pace with modern requirements and is credited today a "Standard Hospital" with an efficient staff of experienced medical men, superintendent, supervisors and nurses.

During the past year, the largest in our history, some 1657 patients were admitted, being 250 over the preceding year. The work has been very intensive and has required more than ordinary application and diligence on the part of the staff. The work has been carried on with a uniform degree of satisfaction expressed by the public, and the hospital service has been generally commended.

A class of eleven nurses in training graduated in 1925, and received the medal and diploma of the Hospital Training School.

To provide for the manifest need of a maternity wing, as well as further accommodation for the housing of our nurses, is a matter requiring the urgent thought and action of thi board.

"BRINGING UP FATHER" — Geo. McManus

FLAVOR OF COMMUNISM IN MOTION DISTASTEFUL TO FARMERS' BODY

Resolution Rejected By Convention of United Farmers of Alberta—Resources Exploited By Few.

FARMERS ADVISED TO "STAND ON OWN FEET."

CALGARY, Jan. 20 (Canadian Press)—Accusations that a proposed constitutional amendment, "might do for Russia," provoked a heated verbal battle on the floor of the convention of the United Farmers of Alberta, which opened here Tuesday.

Objections was taken by delegates to the language of the proposed resolution, which stated that "a few exploiters own and control the natural resources . . . and other things essential to the producers' welfare," and that by united action "we can make common effort toward securing industrial and political supremacy."

Organization of "industrial group units in all activities," to secure possession of "the natural resources, the instruments of production, distribution and exchange," was another aim set forth in the proposed preamble which drew criticism from many parts of the convention floor.

Debated for Hour.

After an hour's debate, the convention voted to return the resolution to the Medicine Hat federal constituency organization, which had drawn it up.

Carl A. Axelson, Bingville, moved the adoption of the amendment and declared that it set forth aims and ideals which should be followed if the U.F.A. was to be completely successful.

Lieutenant-Colonel W. C. Robinson, Munson, said that the proposed preamble might be alright in Russia, that it was "Communistic" and that it was not wanted in Canada.

C. Reed, Asker, thought that the wording was argumentative and brought in too many new elements into the statement of the purpose for which the U.F.A. was organized. He moved that it be returned to the local.

Majority Against.

The proposed preamble, he said, contained too many "niggers in the wood pile." The charges that the proposals were "Communistic" brought Mr. Axelson and others to their feet with prompt denials. The vote to send the amendment back to the local revealed an overwhelming majority of the convention against its adoption.

Much of the routine work of the convention was disposed of yesterday. Satisfactory reports on all lines of activity were presented to both the main convention and the convention of the United Farm Women, the affiliated organization.

The central board reported satisfaction with activities in the Federal and Provincial political fields. The co-operative marketing ventures were all reported in flourishing condition though a loss in membership was noted in the U.F.A.

Stand On Own Feet.

His Honor Lieut.-Governor Egbert, in an address before the convention, declared that the farmers should stand on their own feet. It was a mistake to run to the Government for everything before trying to solve the problems otherwise.

He complimented the farmers on their success in solving their own problems.

Hon. R. G. Reid, provincial treasurer, brought the good wishes of the Provincial Government for the success of the convention. He attributed most of the prosperity of the Province to the efforts of the organized farmers.

ALCOHOL PLANT LINDSAY'S HOPE

Vacant Flour Mill Considered as Factory For New Industry.

TAXES UNPAID.

LINDSAY, January 20. The citizens of this town have visions of another industry, which it is hoped will not evaporate like the Rose Excelsior plant of Pickering, which passed up Lindsay for Oshawa.

This time it is an alcoholic plant—not a distillery, but a plant for the manufacture of pure alcohol. Those behind the proposed industry are believed to be parties interested in the local chemical plant, which has been successfully operated for some years. They are anxious to secure the old cereal mill, which has been standing idle ever since the Canadian Cereal and Flour Mills, Ltd., went into liquidation.

There are taxes outstanding on the property amounting to several thousand dollars, and those behind the new concern are anxious that the town reduce the amount outstanding one half. The council it is understood, has a personal guarantee from the owner of the old cereal property relative to the outstanding taxes, and the feeling of the council is that the municipality could not legally comply with the request submitted.

OBITUARY.

WILLIAM HENRY VICKERS.

The death occurred very suddenly on Tuesday morning, January 19, in Peterborough, of William Henry Vickers, in his fifty-sixth year.

The deceased leaves to mourn his loss his sorrowing wife, two daughters, Florence E. and Marlie M., and one son, William Hedley, of the city.

Mr. Vickers was born in Reading, England, and has resided in Peterborough for over thirty years; he was a member of Peterborough Lodge, I.O.O.F. No. 111.

The funeral will take place from his late residence, 738 George street, to Little Lake cemetery, on Thursday at two p.m., under the auspices of the I.O.O.F. The Rev. Wm. Allan, of St. Paul's Presbyterian church, will conduct the service.

MRS. ROBERT GRAHAM.

LAKEFIELD, Jan. 20. — Ellen Maria Sage, wife of Robert Graham, died yesterday aged 58, after an illness of some months.

She was born in Smith township, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Sage, and had lived all her life in or near Lakefield.

She is survived by one daughter, Mrs. David Millar, of Lakefield, three sons, Albert of Lakefield and Fred and James of Peterborough, two brothers, James Sage of Lakefield and William, of Saskatchewan, and one sister, Mrs. Graham, of Windsor.

The funeral will take place from the family residence on Regent street on Thursday afternoon at 2.00 o'clock, interment being made in Lakefield cemetery.

U. S. AUTOMOBILE INDUSTRY WAS DEVELOPED WITHOUT TARIFFS

Democrat Whip Contends Other Industries Could Do Likewise.

FARM GRIEVANCE.

WASHINGTON, Jan 20 (Canadian Press)—The house yesterday engaged in another debate on tariff, with Democrats attacking and Republican defending the Fordney-McCumber Tariff Law. . a

Rep. Oldfield of Arkansas, the Democratic whip, asserted the law imposed a duty on barbed wire for farm use.

Rep. Strong, Republican, Kansas, said it didn't. Mr. Oldfield, who is chairman of the Democratic Congressional Campaign Committee insisted that the law affected the wire by taxing the raw materials from which it was manufactured.

Mr. Strong demanded that the Arkansas member insert the tariff rates on such raw products in the record, and he promised to do so.

Mr. Oldfield then argued that the automobile industry had developed without benefit of tariff protection and that other industries could do likewise, if operated on an economical basis. He attributed a number of the grievances of farmers to the protective tariff.

NORWOOD COUNCIL

NORWOOD, Jan. 20.—The inaugural meeting of Norwood Village Council was held on Monday evening, Jan. 11th, when the newly-elected members signed their declaration of office, namely: Reeve W. H. Montgomery, Councillors Walter Bitten, Chas. J. Blake, Richard A. Dean and W. Samuel Wildman.

On motion the meeting was adjourned until Wednesday, Jan. 13th, when all the members were present.

Mr. A. G. McDermott, manager of the local branch of the Stirling Bank addressed the council soliciting a share of the municipal banking business.

Mr. D. B. Cutcliffe manager of the Royal Bank also addressed the meeting and pointed out why the account should be left in the Royal Bank.

A letter was read from Dr. N. F. Sutton, Medical Health Officer, recommending some financial aid to Mr. Alex Innes on account of extra expenses during the time his family was in quarantine.

Moved by Councillor Bitten, seconded by Councillor Wildman, that the board bill of Mr. A. Darling re Alex Innes, for four weeks at $7.50 a week be paid. Carried.

The following accounts were passed:

W. D. Lennox, salary and work, $23; J. F. Elliott, gravel $1.50; E. J. Lang, returning officer expenses election, 2 polls $26; Provincial Treasurer, marriage licenses, $20; Municipal World, $2.90; Isaac Puffer salary, $14; Provincial Treasurer, amusement tax $1.35.

On motion five copies of the Municipal World were ordered for the council.

anitay Inspector W. D. Lennox, salary $5.

By-law No. 518 re the borrowing of money from the Royal Bank for village and school purposes received its several readings and was passed.

A bill of $23.81 from the J. B. Pearce estate of business tax paid in error was considered, viz.: Dr. J. Wade, $4.91; F. A. Webb, $18.91.

On motion of Councillor Wildman and Councillor Blake the Reeve and Councillors Bitten and Dean were appointed a committee to interview Mr. J. F. Pearce.

Council adjourned.

WATER AND LIGHT CHAIRMAN CHOSEN

W. J. Abernethy Was Re-elected at First Regular Meeting.

CAMPBELLFORD, Jan. 20—The Water and Light Commission has been organized for the year with the re-election of Commissioner W. J. Abernethy as chairman. The other members, both of whom are new in their positions, are Mayor Kingston and A. L. Riendeau.

T. J. Horkins has sent to the Commission a letter complaining of the water rate charges in some of the houses which he owns and which are occupied by tenants and this communication has been referred to Town Solicitor Lynch for an opinion.

Several important matters that are before the Board will be dealt with at the next regular or at a special meeting.

At the Monday night meeting of the C. E. Society of St. Andrew's Presbyterian church, the pastor, Rev. James Grier, read an interesting paper on "St. Augustine's Confessions." The attendance was small owing to the inclement weather.

SHOT UP DANCE

Uninvited Guests Opened Fire in Church Basement.

BROOKLYN, Jan. 20.—Six uninvited guests who sought to even matters with an enemy, opened fire at a dance in the basement of the St. George Lithuanian Catholic Church Sunday night, wounding two men and beating another.

Detective Robert Kelly, one of a squad of police sent to quell the riot, escaped serious wounds when his pistol holster deflected a bullet from the gun of one of the intruders.

Fifty couples fled hurriedly from the church dance hall during the melee, and the place was cleared when another squad of police arrived.

GOOD-NIGHT, GUV'NOR

The death of Easthope Martin a few days ago at the pathetically early age of forty-three, not only temporarily dims the gaiety of the world generally, but especially that those music-lovers who appreciate melody. He was a charming and witty companion, and a very tuneful musician as everyody who has heard is "Songs of the Fair," must realize Only a fortnight before his death he broadcasted an hour of his compositions, to the intense enjoyment of many hearers. At the end of the performance, when the announcer was speaking the customary words of thanks Martin, who was an impatient, and at the same time shy little soul suddenly exclaimed, "Well, good-night, guv'nor," and vanished through the door. The ejaculation was, of course, heard by thousands of listeners-in, and it would hav been almost prophetic, as well as being characteristic of "Pat," as he was familiarly known to his troop of friends.

There are certain creatures which never feel the pangs of thirst, for they are so constituted that drink is unnecessary to them, and they never swallow a drop of water in their lives. Among these animals are certain gazelles of the Far East and llamas of Patagonia.

Gets quick, positive relief from painful swelling

HAS UNFAILING FIRST AID FOR ALL ACHES

Muscle-lameness, sprains, bruises promptly yield

Ask the men whose work exposes them to muscle-strain and small accidents what they do for sprains, strains and bruises, and one out of three will give you the same answer.

"My left leg was swollen—and worried me when walking," writes a garage worker, from Shreveport, La. "I applied Sloan's Liniment and the next day the pain and swelling were gone. For aches and pains I find nothing to beat Sloan's." (Name and address given on request.)

Thousands of letters like this testify to the relief that Sloan's gives to every kind of muscular pain.

HASTINGS COUNCIL

HASTINGS, Jan. 20.—The first business meeting of the Hastings 1926 Council was held in the Council chamber on Friday night, Jan. 15. The members present were: Reeve J. H. Hess, Councillors Fowlds, McDonald Lynch and Doxsee.

The Reeve addressed the Council for a short time in connection with the business of the village for 1926.

Councillor Fowlds addressed the Council on the same lines for furthering the best interest of the town. This was followed by a few short remarks from Mr. McDonald who stated all should work for the good of the town harmoniously together. Mr. Doxsee addressed the Council on the burden of reponsibility which rests on the Council and said all should work together willingly.

Councillor Lynch also addressed the Council in a few well chosen remarks on the benefits of the town.

A communication was received from the motor league asking about a proper shelter for motorist. This will be taken up and the Motor League will be notified concerning same.

Mr. Brake, confectioner asked the Council for a rebate of license and on the motion of Councillors Lynch and MacDonald the license was placed at $5 and the same regulations as the previous year.

A request of a grant from the Trent Valley Waterway was read and a grant of $30 was voted to it in the usual way.

Applications for auditors were received from Messrs. H. B. Wilson and E. M. Tate. These two gentlemen were appointd auditors on the motion of Councillors Fowlds and McDonald at the usual salary of $7.

The treasurer was appointed in the person of Mr. J. M. Baker at the salary of $60 and Mr. L. T. Huycke was appointed tax collector, the salary to be the same as last year, $65.

Moved by McDonald and seconded by Fowlds that Mr. A. H. Merrills be assessor, salary $50.

Mr. George Lynch was appointed engineer of the fire department at a salary of $7 per month and conditions were made that the engineer visit the fire engine not less than three times weekly.

Moved by McDonald, seconded by Fowlds that Wm. Scriver be fire chief for 1926 at a salary of $25 per year.

Mr. Wm. Boyle was appointed pound keeper and the place for the public pound is to be at or near the Town Hall.

POLICE SAY SUICIDE.

GRAFTON, Ill., Jan. 20.—(By N.E.A.)—The police investigating the death of Henry Rand in a local hotel have decided it was a case of suicide. The door of the hotel room was locked, they say, and the room as full of gas, from a jet turned on full.

James Rand, a son of the dead man, is prepared to fight the decision if the coroner sustains the police opinion. He declares that is father's life as an open book and ther was no vestige of a cause for suicide. Futrehr developmnts are expected.

THE PEOPLE who are afraid of the dentist are the people who do not consult him until they have toothache. Your dentist is more interested in protecting your teeth than he is in repairing them. Go to him regularly for examination and you will escape a lot of pain and trouble.

4 out of 5

is grim pyorrhea's count

DENTAL STATISTICS tell this grim story: four people out of every five are destined, through neglect, to contract pyorrhea after they pass the age of forty. Thousands younger also suffer.

Pyorrhea is the dread disease of the gums which is responsible often for loss of teeth, rheumatism, neuritis and other dangerous disorders.

It starts with tender bleeding gums. Pockets form below the teeth and poisons spread relentlessly through the body. If you have pyorrhea or any of its symptoms see your dentist at once and start brushing your teeth with Forhan's for the Gums.

To safeguard yourself against pyorrhea make Forhan's your regular dentifrice. It is the formula of R. J. Forhan, D. D. S., and contains his pyorrhea liquid which has been used by dentists the last 15 years in the treatment of pyorrhea. If used regularly and used in time it will prevent pyorrhea or check its course. Don't give this insidious disease a chance to start. Start using Forhan's this very day. All druggists, 35c and 60c in tubes.

COAL MONOPOLY IS MOST ODIOUS GOVERNOR SAYS

Must Be Destroyed By Concerted Action, Declares A. H. Moore.

SHOULD BE CHEAP.

Several Proposals Before the Legislature of Pennsylvania.

TRENTON, N.J., Jan. 20.—"The anthracite coal business is controlled by perhaps the most odious monopoly that ever arose among a free people,' A. Harry Moore told the crowds which gathered here Tuesday to see him inaugurated as governor of New Jersey.

In his inaugural address he denounced this alleged monopoly and urged formation of a commission composed of representatives of New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania to "destroy the anthracite monopoly and bring to our people and industries a never-failing supply of coal at a price estimated to be not in excess of $10 a ton.

A political jubilation such as this city has rarely seen attended the inauguration of Moore as governor.

Comes Up in Legislature.

HARRISBURGH, Pa., Jan. 20.—While the special session of the Pennsylvania Legislature wrestled with half a dozen scheme for ending the deadlock of anthracite miners and operators, the two parties in the anthracite strike remained in the background.

Neither side has shown a willingness to come forward either to express opposition or favor toward legislation proposed.

This legislation under consideration included:

1. The two Pinchot coal regulation bills placing control of the anthracite industry in the hands of the public service commission and the consuming states.

2. Two house resolutions, one requesting President Coolidge to name a commission of five, to meet within 15 days at Wilkes-Barre or Scranton, Pa., hear the case and make an award, and the other providing a commission of nine, six or them members of the Legislature appointed by Governor Pinchot, to invite miners and operators to reopen negotiations.

3. Three bills readjusting the miners' examining board, one of which would retain and another eliminate the two-year provision before a miner may obtain a certificate.

4. Anthracite coal tax repealer.

She Was Troubled With Chronic Constipation

Once your bowels become constipated you are in for a lot of trouble, as constipation is one of the most prolific sources of disease that the human race is addicted to, therefore a free motion of the bowels every day should be the aim of everyone who aspires to perfect health.

Mrs. O. W. Lawrence, Cloverdale East, N.B., writes:—"I was troubled with chronic constipation, and became so bad I was almost afraid to eat anything.

One day I saw your advertisement of

Milburn's LAXA-LIVER PILLS

so I got three vials, and after taking them I have never been troubled since with constipation."

RICH HARVEST FOR ENGLISH BARBERS

Women Spend $100,000,000 a Year on "Bobs."

LONDON, Jan. 20 — (Canadian Press)—Although England's unemployed total well over the million mark, no barbers or coiffeurs are included among those drawing the Government's dole for the jobless. This is revealed in statistics just published, showing that women of this country are spending approximately $100,000,000 a year more with hair dressers of various kinds than they did before bobbing and shingling became fashionable.

It is estimated that about 7,000,000 women and girls more than 16 years old, about half the female population of England and Wales are now wearing short hair. This has given employment to all native hairdressers and led to the importation of other "artists" from abroad.

MILKMAN WINS IN ROCKEFELLER SUIT

Had Argument Over Road Through His Estate.

TARREYTOWN, N. Y., Jan. 20.—John D. Rockefeller and John J. Foley, a milkman, had an argument.

Rockefeller lost.

There was too much traffic on the Longwood road that runs almost entirely through Rockefeller's estate at Pocantico Hills, so the oil magnate, through his attorney, asked the Board of Trustees of North Tarreytown to close it.

Foley opposed the action, because Rockefeller had requested the closing of the road that led past a hotel and livery stable owned by his father, Michael Foley, 30 years ago, causing a depreciation of $25,000 in the property.

"I have no grievance against Mr. Rockefeller," said Foley. "But the road must stay open."

The Board of Trustees voted three to two in favor of Foley.

SKATING CARNIVAL HELD AT MILLBROOK

Attendance Was Good and Costumes Were Excellent.

MILLBROOK, Jan. 20—The first carnival of the season was held at the Cosmos rink on Friday evening and proved a most successful and enjoyable event.

The attendance was large, though the number of skaters in costume was smaller than had been anticipated. The local band was in attendance and added much to the pleasure of the occasion both for the skaters and the onlookers.

About 9 p.m. the ice was cleared, except for those competing for the various prizes, and the judges, Councillor G. W. Sayles and J. A. Vance, President of the Curling club, began their somewhat difficult task. The winners were:

R. W. Hutchison is President of the Cosmos Club, and C. B. Sutton secretary.

Week of Prayer Ended

The services of the week of prayer at the United Church, which closed on Friday evening, have been well attended and of a most helpful character.

The pastor, Rev. F. H. Howard, adopted the unusual plan of asking five organizations of the church to show cause why each had a claim on the prayer life of the congregation, the suggested headings being: Ourselves; the Prayer Life; the Kingdom.

The Sunday School was responsible for Monday evening, W. Fred Fallis, Superintendent, taking the chair, and Rev. Jos. Wilks, Superintendent of the Home Department, giving the address. Tuesday evening the Young People's League was in charge, the second vice-president, Mrs. G. W. Sayles, presiding, and the president, Miss Estelle Hetherington, giving the talk. F. N. Alcorn contributed a solo which was much enjoyed.

Wednesday evening was given over to the Ladies' Aid Society, the president, Miss M. E. Needham, being in the chair. Inspiring papers on "Prayer" were given by Mrs. V. C. Lambert and Mrs. A. J. Brown. Mrs. C. C. Garside read the Scripture lesson, and Mrs. H. W. Johnston's solo was an appropriate conclusion to the theme of the evening.

The C.G.I.T. and C.S.E.T. groups had Thursday evening; Jean Burnham, president of the girls' organization, taking the chair. The Scripture lesson was in the form of a Bible exercise on "What God Says to His Soldiers," the verse being, "Whatsoever He saith unto you, do it." Ten of the boys and girls took part, each reading being a command beginning with "Reveille," and ending with "The Grand Review."

The girls recited their pledge in concert, and J. Larmer, mentor of the boys' group, gave a talk on the Tuxis' work; Miss Pearl Burnham, mentor of the girls' group, speaking on the programme for the Canadian Girls in training.

The Woman's Missionary Auxiliary took charge of the closing service on Friday evening, Mrs. (Dr.) Rea being in the chair. Mrs. C. W. Richards read the Scripture lesson, and Miss Nellie Hetherington gave a comprehensive outline of W.M.S. work throughout the world.

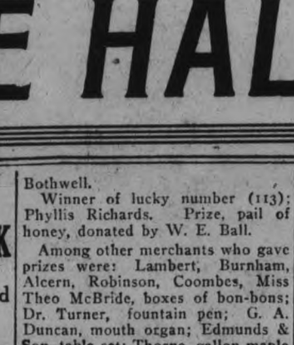
The president, Mrs. (Rev.) F. H. Howard was the speaker, emphasizing the value and importance of the women's missionary societies, and the need of increased workers and finances.

Rev. J. Wilks and the pastor led in the closing prayers. Special seasons of prayer each evening were times of spiritual blessing, and it the decision was arrived at to continued the meeting another week, interest and attendance would doubtless grow. The prayer life of the congregation and the efficiency of the organizations which presented their work and aims each night, has been stimulated by the meetings just closed, and results from many standpoints may be confidently looked for in the coming days.

A Children's Story Hour was inaugurated at the Public Library on Saturday morning, 43 young folk being in attendance. Miss Shirley Muir, principal of the Continuation School, was in charge for the opening talk, and will be assisted by Miss Muriel Smith, and others, as the experimental stage is passed and the innovation becomes a settled event.

Evidently the children appreciated the gathering to the full, and it is expected interest and attendance will grow.

Millbrook owes its well-patronized library, with its generous supply of books, papers, and magazines, to the initiative and persistent efforts of Mr. D. Hampton, who is also librarian, and the library board, with the librarian, is fully in favor of making the Children's Story Hour a fixed event each Saturday from 11 to 12 a.m. Boys and girls from 4 to 14 are cordially invited to attend.



BURNED TO DEATH

Body Found in Chair at Totel.

NEW YORK, Jan. 20—Robert Pritchard, well known in the motion picture industry, and of late engaged as eastern sales publicity director for First National Production Company, was found burned to death sitting in an easy chair in his hotel room here Monday.

The fire had been confined almost entirely to his room in the Hotel Richard.

Investigation indicated Pritchard probably had fallen asleep while smoking and his cigarette started the fire.

FINE PROGRAMMES AT WINTER SCHOOL

Annual Play and Impromptu Concert Were Much Enjoyed.

COBOURG, Jan. 20.—The evening gatherings of Bay of Quinte conference winter school add much to the popularity of this great convention. It is then that the social side is emphasized, the students have an opportunity to relax and enjoy a pleasant evening with their friends. It is also customary to have a play put on by some league of young people, and this year the Plainville Young People's League on the Camborne circuit was asked to carry this out, a service which they most excellently performed. The play was entitled, "Betty, the Girl of My Heart," and said Betty proved to be an adorable creature, while the other parts were taken with similar excellence. Briefly, the story of the play is, that Mr. Graves, who had married a sweet country girl, soon afterwards by a turn of the wheel of fortune, became wealthy. His wife did not come quite up to filling and enjoying their different position. Differences and estrangement followed and then a separation, Mrs. Graves dying later, and leaving a daughter of whose birth the father did not know. Mr. Graves married again, fashionable daughter. They lived extravagantly and soon Mr. Graves was in financial difficulty with ruin staring him unless he could raise a large sum of money to tide him over, in a very short time. In the meantime, Betty, the first wife's and his own daughter, had entered the employ of his wife as a parlor maid. When ruin threatened them, the second Mrs. Graves deserted her husband and with her daughter, went abroad with friends. It is then that Betty makes herself known to her father. A rich young man, who was her suitor, advances the money to re-establish the business, and the story ends happily for these three. The cast of characters was:

Mrs. Graves—Miss Ida McKinley.
Mr. Graves—George Watkins.
Elizabeth, Mrs. Graves' daughter—Miss Golda McKinley.
The Housekeeper, Mrs. Jenkins—Miss Stella West.
The Butler, Martin—Mr. Fred Bowman.
Marie, a Movie Actress—Miss Gertrude Benson.
Jerry Carmichal, the Rich Young Man—Mr. Glen Cole.
Betty—Miss Ada Lander.

These were all Plainville people. Other numbers on an excellent program, all furnished by Plainville, were quartettes rendered with much excellence by Messrs. C. H. Wilton, D. M. Westington, C. Manley and W. Cole; and violin solos by Mr. D. M. Westington.

Rev. A. Brown, D. D., pastor of the convention church, presided over the program.

Rev. F. J. Horwood, president of Bay of Quinte winter school, was the accompanist for the evening.

Delegates' Impromptu Concert.

There is another junction which is as eagerly looked forward to by the delegates as the annual play, and that is the impromptu concert put on by the ministers and delegates attending the school. This took place on Thursday night, with Rev. H. A. Bunt, Enterprise, former secretary of the school, in the chair.

Rev. Roy Rickard, Northport, physical director and song leader, was first called to the platform, to conduct a sing-song with different stunts, when everyone had opportunity to relax, throw away care, and get ready for the enjoyment of the evening. Then Rev. R. T. Richards, Peterborough, was called upon and his humorous stories convulsed the audience with merriment. Miss Isabelle Brown and Miss Lerraine Bell, sang solos that were much appreciated, Miss Abernethy, of Courtice, presiding at the piano. Miss Abernethy and Rev. F. J. Horwood played piano numbers that were very greatly appreciated. Miss Edna Swallow and Miss Stephens gave enjoyable readings and a fine exhibition of club swinging was given by Miss Henrietta Brown. Miss Denna Mills, of Nova Scotia, who conducted the C. G. I. T. group, was heard with much pleasure in campfire stories. Rev. Roy Richard, Northport, sang to the delight of all. But there were other numbers also, and these it is difficult to describe.

A quartette was called for and it proved to be a ministerial one, but by the time they all reached the platform, it resolved itself into a quintette and then into a sextette. Then there was the symphony ("Some Funny") orchestra, and the last term describes it beautifully. All sorts of musical instruments were commandeered, and the long line of ministers and delegates stretched clear across the platform. True, the man who played the cello, had never evidently tried to evoke sweet strains from such an instrument before, and the minister who handled the saxaphone did not get working at the right end of it. But be all these things as they may, the orchestra was recalled again and again, until every one was quite tired out. It was the delegates' night, a night to relax, a night for innocent jollity and for the time being dull care and worries were forced for all into the background. The evening closed about 10:30 with the National Anthem, and delegates and their friends sought their homes for a good rest before the morrow's sessions.

Lecture on Friday Night.

On Friday night there was an excellent lecture by Rev. Archer Wallace, M.A., Toronto, with splendid music by Division street Sunday school orchestra.

Stunts and Plays.

The last evening, Saturday, of the winter school week-day programs was given over to practical innustrations and stunts put on by the various groups, including Bible Study, C. G. I. T. and C. S. E. T and teacher training work. The secretary of the winter school, Rev. H. A. Bunt, presided over a most interesting program. The boys of the Canadian Standard Efficiency Test, the C. S. E. T. group, put on a court scene, with judge, court, prisoners, counsel and witness. It was well carried out.

The C. G. I. T. group put on an exhibition of their work, showing the aim and object. One of the Bible study groups put on a hospital scene, which though ludicrous, was well carried out. Another group gave a furniture play with good effect. Miss Abernethy, of Courtice, played piano numbers with much excellence.

That the earth is much older than the sun is the opinion of a well-known scientist.

CENTENARIAN PASSES

Less than three months before the date when he would have passed the century mark Adam Brown, veteran post-master of Hamilton, died at his home there early Saturday. Long beloved for his kindly spirit and his intellectual keenness, Mr. Brown had fittingly won the title of Canada's Grand Old Man." Despite the fact that on April 3 last he was 99 years of age, his last year contained two events of outstanding public importance. One was the visit which was paid by Earl Haig during the distinguished visitor's trip to Canada. Another was Mr. Brown's own appearance at the Canadian National Exhibition in Toronto last September, when he addressed a directors' luncheon.

Relation of the Liver and Kidneys

Such that each suffers when other deranged—Both regulated by Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

When the liver becomes sluggish or torpid in action, the kidneys have to help out with the work of filtration. When the liver fails the kidneys have all the work to do.

Hence the beginning of trouble is usually biliousness, indigestion and constipation, and after a time the kidneys begin to be affected and there comes backache, urinary derangements and kidney disease.

The remarkable success of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills is due to their unique combined action on the liver, kidneys and bowels. They get at the cause of trouble and remove it no matter how complicated it may be. Promptly and thoroughly they cleanse the bowels or intestines, arouse the liver action and thereby relieve the overworked kidneys.

TRENT RIVER NEWS.

TRENT RIVER, Jan. 20.—Last week was observed as a week of prayer at the United Church, with Rev. E. O. Seymour in charge.

The mid-week service will be withdrawn this week as Rev. Mr. Seymour will be absent.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Spencer have moved to Havelock to take up residence. Mr. Spencer has taken mail route No. 3, formerly carried by Mr. Freeman.

Mr. Stanley Carnrite is daily improving from his recent illness.

Mrs. Puffer and little daughter, Mildred, of Crowe's Landing, Stoney Lake are visiting at Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Scott's home.

Mrs. W. B. Johnston held a successful auction sale of household effects at her late residence Saturday afternoon. The place has been sold to Mr. John Scott. Mrs. Johnston returns to Western Canada next month to reside.

Indications of an early Spring have appeared as crows are heard down the river, also muskrats have been seen out.

FICTION MYSTERY

A famous English novelist says the public's favorite fiction is mystery stories. The reason, she says, is that they affect our most sensitive nerve—that of fear.

That sounds logical. We certainly respond to fear as to no other sensation. Think it over and see if you don't agree.

Self-Poisoning Takes Huge Toll

Many Fail in Life Through Sheer Neglect of Fundamental Rule of Health

Thousands of men and women are to-day victims of their own neglect. Grouchy, listless, quickly tiring, suffering from headaches and biliousness, they spend enormous sums in medicines without avail. They would give much to regain their old vitality.

Can it be done? Yes! How? Simply by recognizing the importance of one fundamental rule of health—the proper elimination of the bowel contents. Poisons that are allowed to remain in the system quickly lower the stamina, weaken the nerves and thus pave the way to ill-health. Stop this self-poisoning by taking Nujol—the scientific lubricant that completes the work of Nature's lubricant when, through modern living conditions, the natural supply fails.

Nujol can be taken indefinitely without injury to the system. Try Nujol to-day. Ask for it at your nearest drug store, but remember there is only one Nujol. Watch for the name "Nujol" in red on the label and package.

"I'm not sick but I'm not well"

Just "soggy"—is this how you feel? Virol is the answer. Its vitalizing, strengthening properties will bring back appetite, vim and energy. Try a teaspoonful after every meal.

GOOD NIGHT STORIES

DORIS MEETS SOME QUEER INHABITANTS OF THE INDIAN OCEAN

At first, when Doris spied the funny looking creatures standing up on the ledge of rocks above her head, she thought they must be seals. But when one of them came waddling over towards her, in a jerky way, she started to run. Then a tiny hand caught her apron and a merry laugh sounded in her ear.

"Wait-a-second, wait-a-second," a voice said, "and I'll go with you."

Oh Squeedee!" Doris exclaimed, when she saw who was running at her side, "what in the wide world are those funny looking creatures? I thought they were seals until that fellow started across the rocks at me."

"Goodness no. They are not seals," laughed the elfin from Joyland. "You're in Penguin City. Come along and meet some of the queerest birds you have ever seen." Taking Doris by the hand, he led her up the ledge of rock and there he introduced her to a queer lot of birds.

"I knew you were a stranger on Kerguelen Island," declared Mrs. Penguin, "or you would have known who we are. You have never seen a bird like me, have you?"

Doris shook her head.

"Then just have a good look," chuckled Mrs. Penguin. "This is our city. We marked off the streets and lanes with our bills. If you'll notice, the birds here are all divided off into different sections. All the young birds must stay in one place, the moulting birds in another, the sitting hens in a third place and the clean birds, in perfect feather, stay in a fourth section. You see the only time we come in on land is at laying season. We watch the eggs until they are hatched, then we watch the young, until they are old enough to take care of themselves."

"You're in Penguin City"

"And you spend most of your lives in the water?" asked Doris, "I notice your feet are webbed like a duck. Yes, and your heads look something like ducks' heads, too."

"A queer combination," laughed Mrs. Penguin. "We have limbs, if you can call them that, like seals, flippers. We live very much like the seal, too. Not much good on land, but we can swim down to the very bottom of the sea in search of crabs and other water animals. We fly about under the water, just like your robins and crows fly about in the skies. Our side flippers are no good for flying in the air."

"You certainly are a queer lot of birds," stated Doris. "and I hope Squeedee will bring me to see you again, before I return to America. I must go now." Then taking Squeedee's hand, Doris, with the elfin, ran down the beach to where Doris's aunt and uncle were waiting for her.

THURSDAY, JANUARY 21

A rather doubtful state of affairs is presaged from the sidereal operations of the dayd Important change may be ill-advise and any prodigal use of money mightlbe hazardo us. Under an unfriendly rule of Jupiter, money may be in jeopardy through speculation or other avenue of risk, including gambling and personal indulgence. Litigation is warned against as is any loss of self-control by means of rash deeds or hasty words.

Those whose birthday it is are urged to conduct their affairs with cool and well-planned manipulation. There is presage of danger through law, quarrels, impulsive acts or through the ill-considered use of money, either through speculative enterprises or in personal extravagance. A child born on this day is likely to be impetuous, aggressive and self-indulgent. It may be disposed to waste its substance, although it may also be generous, good hearted and free.

YOUR HEALTH

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M.D., Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

Winter has its attractions. The stimulating weather, the beauties of frost and snow, the comfort of the fireside—all these are Winter joys.

But Winter brings its troubles, too. The nipping air causes frostbite and chilblains. The heavy food produces indigestion. The skin suffers from various ailments peculiar to the season.

One of the most annoying disturbances of the cold weather is what is called "mid-Winter pruritis." The legs and sometimes the forearms itch and burn and smart. On removing the underwear, or after a warm bath, the irritation is so great that it is almost impossible to keep from tearing and digging the skin with the finger nails.

One reason why the skin itches is because it lacks oil. Sometimes the symptom can be relieved by rubbing the skin with oil.

There are other local applications which are very helpful. One of the most useful of these is hyposulphite of soda. Add three tablespoonfuls to a quart of water and mop it upon the itching parts. This will give wonderfu relief in most cases.

Ordinary baking soda may be used the same way. Also any protecting salve will aid. Vaseline, oxide of zinc ointment, and the various tar ointments are valuable.

For the itching and irritation of chilblains, I have prescribed for many, many years, a mixture made of iodine crystals, five grains; colodion, one ounce; ether, two drachms. This is painted on the chilblains every day.

Chilling of the skin, plus moisture—this is the way to get frostbites and chilblains. The feet and other parts of the body must be kept dry. Care must be taken to avoid wearing thick, woolen stockings and underwear except in really cold weather. The sweating they produce prepares the way for the trouble which frosty air will bring to moist surfaces.

The way we eat in Winter is another factor in disturbing the skin. Fat meat, thick gravies, hot bread, greasy soups—these are more commonly and abundantly served than in Summer. In consequence, the digestive and eliminative organs are overworked. The skin gives evidence of this.

You must take unusual care of yourself in Winter. You are tempted to stay indoors; avoiding the exercise which is essential to good health. The floors of your house may be cold and the passageways chilling. I know from experience that getting up on a cold morning and building a fire is no fun.

But the exercise of good sense in dressing and in the care of your person will help a lot.

WHERE A BEGGAR CHILD RULES THE KING

In the tiny kingdom of Muli, beyond the Likiang Snow Range of Yunnan Province, China, there is as strange a system of caste as can be found anywhere in the world. There is a king, a Prince lama, an hereditary ruling family, and yet these royal personages must bow down before the son of a Tibetan beggar.

For the real ruler is the Living Buddha of the Muli monastery. He is the head of the famous lamas of Muli. He it is who decrees the destinies of the realm and lives in pomp befitting the ruler of the land.

This Living Buddha is a youth of some eighteen years who has been reared from the day of his birth to take his exalted position in the realm. He was chosen for his place purely as a result of the happy chance of the day and hour of his birth.

The Living Buddha is supposed to live forever, and when his mortal body dies, his reincarnation must be found and substituted for him. So, when the Living Buddha dies, he instructs his followers where to seek his successor, and they find the boy who was born at just about the hour of his predecessor's death. To this child they present some of the dead lama's possessions. If he grasps at the rosary, he is forthwith chosen to the spiritual head of the land.

The child is then taken and reared most carefully to his duties and privileges. He lives in the lamasery where he is worshipped by all Muli, even the king.

Dressed in his golden hat and silken mantle, astride the king's charger, fully caparisoned, he is a most person-

He Rides the King's Charger

able lad and scarcely seems weighed down by the importance of his position. True, he wears the lama robes of red with gold brocade and a silken mantle embroidered with disks, and borders fall from his shoulders. But they do not offset the youthful bloom of his cheeks.

The lamas are decidedly the most important personages of their community. In most families two out of every five male members join the three hundred and forty houses tenanted by seven hundred monks. The villagers themselves are poverty stricken and live in wooden shanties cattered over the hillsides.

SOLUTION OF YESTERDAY'S CROSSWORD PUZZLE.

Easy Lessons in - AUCTION BRIDGE

New Series by WYNNE FERGUSON

Author of "Ferguson on Auction Bridge"

Copyright 1925 by Hoyle, Jr.

ARTICLE No. 28

The recent articles on proper leads have stirred up considerable interest and as a result many interesting hands have been submitted. Here is one illustrating the ideal trump lead:

	Y
A		B
	Z

Hearts — 5, 4		Hearts — A, 6, 4
Clubs — K, 9, 5		Clubs — A, 9, 3
Diamonds — A, J, 7		Diamonds — 9, 8, 2
Spades — K, J, 10, 6, 4		Spades — K, 10, 9, 3

No score, first game. Z dealt and bid three hearts, A three spades, Y four hearts and all passed. What is A's proper opening lead? Z's bid of three hearts and his partner's raise indicate without doubt that YZ have a set up heart suit. A's only hope is to take four tricks in the other three suits and his best chance to do so is to force the lead to him. For that reason this hand is a fine example of a trump lead. It cannot do any harm and may save a trick or so. Don't hesitate to lead trumps under such conditions: First, when sure that opponents have all the trumps; second, when partner has not indicated a suit; and third, when the leader has no suit to open except at a disadvantage. When these three conditions are present, lead the trump. It cannot lose and may gain a trick.

After the first lead the dummy hand is placed on the table and from then on the players have less guess work and more thinking to do. Very often a game can be saved by using a little judgment and common sense. The following hand held by Y is a good example:

Hearts — 10, 7
Clubs — K, Q, J, 10, 8, 4
Diamonds — 10, 4, 3
Spades — A, 3

No score, rubber game. Z dealt and bid one no-trump, A passed, Y bid two clubs, B passed and Z bid two no-trump. All passed and A opened the queen of hearts. B won the trick with the ace of hearts. What should he lead? The player holding B's hand led back the six of hearts which Z won with the king. Z then led clubs and established his clubs before he lost the ace of spades. As a result Z won game and rubber, losing only one club and three heart tricks. If B had stopped to consider at trick two, he would have realized that if he took the ace of spades out of Y's hand, the latter could never make the club suit. The question is, how can B force Y to play the ace of spades. He cannot be sure of doing so by leading a low spade for Z may have the queen. If he leads the king of spades, however, he is sure either of forcing Y to play the ace or give him the trick. If the latter, he should lead a low spade at trick three. Y must now play the ace and now cannot make the club suit. If B had led the king of spades at trick two, he would not only have saved game but also would have defeated the two no-trump bid by one trick. Think this hand over very carefully and be sure you understand the principle involved. It is one that comes up very frequently and, if thoroughly understood, will be of great practical value.

The following problem looks easy until you investigate it a little more closely. Then you will discover that AB have a good defense to practically all of YZ's attempts to win four of the seven tricks.

Problem No. 14

	Hearts — A, 7, 6 Clubs — 9, 4 Diamonds — none Spades — Q, 2
Hearts — K, 10, 8, 5 Clubs — J, 10 Diamonds — none Spades — J	Y A B Z	Hearts — J, 3 Clubs — A, 7, 5 Diamonds — none Spades — K, 3
	Hearts — Q, 9 Clubs — K, Q, 6 Diamonds — none Spades — 7, 5

Spades are trumps and Z is in the lead. How can YZ win four of the seven tricks against any defense? Solution in the next article.

SUGGESTIONS FOR SOLVING CROSS-WORD PUZZLES

Start out by filling in the words of which you feel reasonably sure. Those will give you a clue to other words crossing them, and they in turn to still others. A letter belongs in each white space, words starting at the numbered squares and running either horizontally or vertically or both.

OYSTER SUPPER AND CONCERT MARK CLOSE OF RECORD SEASON FOR NORHAM CHEESE FACTOR

Nearly Two Hundred Residents of District Are Entertained.

GOOD ADDRESSES.

District Grader and Instructor Speakers of Evening —Musical Numbers.

(By a staff reporter.)

NORHAM, Jan. 20.—To celebrate the close of what was probably the most successful year in their long history, the stockholders and patrons of the Norham Cheese Factory held an oyster supper in the church hall Tuesday night to which over 200 men and women and children sat down. This delectable banquet, which was provided free by the ladies of the district, was followed by a musical and literary programme, with addresses by men prominent in the industry. Among the invited guests were J. F. Irwin, of Campbellford, grader for Central Ontario, John A. Murray, dairy instructor for the district and Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Stone, of Campbellford. Mr. Stone, who formerly resided in the district and who still owns a farm here, was at one time salesman for the Norham factory and also served as president of the Eastern Ontario Dairymen's Association. The community gathering Tuesday night was the first entertainment of the kind that has been held here in ten years.

A Banner Season

Like nearly all factories in Ontario that at Norham scored its highest record in 1925. When the factory was built, about 15 years ago, the total outlay provided for by an issue of stock among the farmers was $2,800. Nearly all of the original stockholders have long since received back the amount of their investment in the shape of dividends.

This year the dividend amounted to 25 per cent., besides what the patrons, who also owned stock, were paid for their share of the cheese produced. In 1925 the total number of pounds of cheese produced was 166,000, and the amount divided among the 40 patrons was $38,000, an average of $950 for each milk producer. George McCubbin is president, and A. O. Cliff is secretary-treasurer of the company.

C. Palmateer who as maker, has kept up the reputation of the factory to so high a standard for the past three years, has been re-engaged for the season of 1926.

Feeding of Turnips

The experts who addressed the meeting, Messrs Irwin, the grader and Murray the instructor, emphasized the fact that the feeding of turnips to dairy cattle resulted in a lowering of the quality of the cheese. Mr. Irwin said that the cheese produced in Central Ontario in 1925 was worth six million dollars more than the output of the previous year. He asserted that dairying today is the outstanding industry of the country, as the value of the dairy products of the past year was three hundred million dollars as compared to the two hundred and six million dollars worth of minerals dug out of the earth. When the minerals are once secured that ends production in that line but at the end of a dairy season the farmer's land is more fertile than ever.

Where Northumberland Failed

Northumberland, Mr. Irwin declared, should have taken first place in 1925 among the counties of Ontario as a producer of high grade cheese. It started the season with that record and held it against all competition up to the middle of September when some of the farmers began feeding turnips to their cows. The grade of the cheese immediately fell off and Northumberland, instead of finishing first as it might easily have done, was rated twelfth among the counties of Ontario at the close of the year.

There are no more intelligent people on earth Mr. Irwin declared, than the farmers of Northumberland County. That is one reason why he cannot understand the reason for their sacrificing the reputation of their factory and of their county, as well as their own interests by feeding their cows something that lowers the demand and the price for their cheese. The people in England, who buy Canadian cheese do not want the kind that is flavored with turnips and have announced that they will not buy it.

Ontario's High Record

Mr. Murray said that Ontario had won four first places in the British cheese exhibition last year. This shows what good work will do. First grade cheese is what wins in the overseas markets.

The strong point in Mr. Murray's address was his insistence that the feeding of turnips, while it lowers the grade of the cheese, does not necessarily mean an increase in the flow of milk.

The dairymen of East Seymour do not feed turnips and the milk production in that part of the township is greater than it is on the other side of the river, where these roots are freely used.

28 Years Ago

J. Nelson Stone said that when he sold his first cheese from the Norham factory in 1898, the price received was 6½ cents a pound. If he were in the dairy business today he would keep on trying to improve his herd and the quality of the milk produced and with the latter end in view he would not feed turnips. Fred Huycke, Fred Laver and other speakers, agreed with Messrs. Irwin and Murray that by feeding turnips the dairymen stood in their own light.

In addition to the above short addresses were made by John Ingram, M. Gummer and other patrons of the factory. Mr. Murray said that the prospects for the dairyman in 1926 are bright and that production is likely to be greater than ever. He complimented the patrons of the Norham factory on the high grade of cheese produced and gave a large share of the credit for this condition to Mr. Palmateer, the maker, who, he was glad to hear, had been re-engaged for 1926.

PROPOSE PLEBISCITE.

German Democrats Want People to Settle Rulers' Claims.

BERLIN, Jan. 20 (Canadian Press).—The governing board of the Social Democrats has passed a resolution proposing that a plebiscite be held on the question whether the claims of William Hohenzollern and other former German rulers shall be settled by the Government.

These claims amount to many million marks.

The governing board decided that the attitude of the communists against settlement warranted an independent movement on the part of the Social Democrats.

SPIRIT OF THE BRITISH NAVY TOLD BY A FORMER CHAPLAIN

Dr. Sclater Gives Stirring Account of Battles Fought and Won.

HEROIC DEEDS.

Memories of War Dead Should Be Kept Green Forever.

A very powerful lecture was given by Dr. J. R. P. Sclater, last night in George Street United Church. Mrs. Dorothy Allan Park, accompanied by Charles Peaker at the piano sang "Land of Hope and Glory" in magnificent fashion. Dr. Sclater stated that it was a honor to be associated with people who were interested in horticulture. He told of some of his own experiences at gardening, how unsuccessful they were and how he had at last given up in disgust. He paid tribute to the people who were fond of flowers and said that they were performing a service to the world.

The British navy, he said, had its two main bases in Scotland, the Grand Fleet at Scapa Flow and the Battle Cruiser fleet at Rosyth on the Forth. He explained at some length the system of defences that was erected on the islands of the Forth. He was home recovering from service as a padre with the troops in France when he was sent to Scotland for service at the Naval base. He told of how one day just after dinner he went up to a rocky knoll and was sitting there contemplating the scene that lay before him. The naval commandant was with him so he asked him jokingly if it was not possible for him to arrange for the British fleet to go out so that he could view them. He said that the words were hardly out of his mouth when the telephone rang ordering the fleet out. In all, he said, 51 ships went out. That was the commencement of the battle of Jutland although at the time they did not know it.

He described the scene on the Sunday after the battle at the shore service of which he was in charge. Certain unexpected disasters happened to part of the fleet, he stated, due to some very slight fault in the construction of our battle cruisers, faults that could only be tested in actual warfare. The Queen Mary, Invincible and the Indefatigeable went sky high, he said, due to a shell hitting one of their gun turrets and causing a draught thereby exploding the magazine. The Lion, he said, was within a second of going the same way but for the heroism of one man, a Major in the Marines who happened to be in the gun turret when the shell exploded. This man had the presence of mind to yell "Flood the magazine" and immediately slammed the door of the turret. When the danger was over they discovered him lying dead across the doorway. He was awarded a posthumous V.C. for the deed.

The speaker also told the story of Jack Cornwall the other V.C. of the Jutland scrap and who also sacrificed his life in the battle. He explained how the British were at a disadvantage due to being on the sky line with inferior strength and the Germans' advantage in having a bank of fog behind them and also being equipped with automatic range finders. He painted a graphic picture of the action and told of how Admiral Hood with uncanny skill brought three ships into such a position that they were able to fire broadside into the ships of the enemy. He told of how next day he saw the Warspite (which the Germans maintained they had sunk) come limping up the river with a gaping hole in her side. The Warspite, he said, had been attacked by eight enemy ships and one shell had damaged her rudder so badly that it was jammed at an angle of 45 degrees. In the wake of the Warspite, he said, came a little bit of a torpedo boat destroyer with its wireless snapping out orders to the wide, wide world to have men, docks and machines ready for him as he simply had to get back into action as he was needed. As a matter of fact, said the speaker, it took six weeks to repair that boat, but it goes to show the spirit that imbued the men.

As the night fell, he said, the Germans, having fought a good tactical battle started for home—they would not face us—they had fought a squadron but they never faced a fleet and never again did they appear on the North Sea. It was the most complete victory for us for it bottled the German fleet up. He also told of how in October, 1918, the battle fleet made a last despairing effort to get the German fleet out but they would not come. The spirit that contributed to that was the spirit of the sea which ultimately results in an extraordinary belief in a spirit that is greater than all the seas. If we served the Lord Jesus Christ, he stated, the way in which those chaps served their country there would be something doing. War, he said, was born of hell and its father was the devil, but people should keep in their hearts an imperishable memory for those men who had died for their country. While we should pray for peace, he said, we should keep the memory of their heroism green for evermore.

U.F.O. CLUBS MEET.

"That a High Protective Tariff Develops Home Industry" Debated.

Last evening, a combined meeting of the Peterboro U.F.O. and the U.F.Y.P.-O. Club of Peterboro' District was held in the club rooms on Simcoe street, with an attendance of about one hundred people. The feature of the evening was an inter-county debate, one of the series for the silver cup, and the entertainment concluded with a dance to music provided by Nixon's orchestra.

The debate was waged on the resolution: "That a high protective tariff develops home industry." The negative side, which won the debate, was taken by Miss Hazel Ackison and Mr. Gordon Hancock, the affirmative by Messrs. Sloan and Forsythe of the Indian River Club. Judges were Mr. E. C. Hatch for the negative, Miss Mary Lynch of Indian River for the affirmative, and Mr. Joseph Wearing, neutral judge.

Mr. Wearing, in commenting on the debate at its conclusion, spoke in congratulatory terms of the excellent arguments advanced by the debaters on both sides, and the manner in which they handled the subject.

Tooth Pastes and Cosmetics Known From Earliest Days

MILAN, Jan. 20 (United Press). Toothpastes and cosmetics as well as rules for beauty culture prevailed in early civilization, according to Signor Cavallazzi, an architect who has succeeded in fathoming the secrets of Celtic, Pelasgic, and Etruscan inscriptions by a new method.

He has found on the backs of Etruscan metal mirrors a number of beauty receipts, including a formula for toothpaste and advice on how to apply cosmetics artistically.

One striking bit of counsel to women, is to look into a mirror only when clothed in their best gowns.

NOT ENOUGH MONEY SPENT ON FORESTS

C. A. Magrath Says People of Canada Need To Wake Up.

TORONTO, Jan. 20 (Canadian Press) —Canada is not spending enough in time, attention, or money on conservation of its forests, in the opinion of C. A. Magrath, chairman of the Hydro Electric Commission of Ontario, who addressed the Canadian Forestry Association last night, and expressed the opinion that the people of the Dominion "should be dynamited into the realization of the seriousness of the situation." As to financial outlay, Mr. McGrath pointed out that the annual expenditure on methods of conservation averaged $2,600,000, while the estimated value of the forest reserves was $1,168,000,000.

ART STUDY CLUB HOLDS MEETING

Jan Vermeer Discussed at Enthusiastic Gathering—Pleasing Programme.

Last night, the Art Study Club of the Women's Art Association held one of its most enthusiastic meetings of the season at the home of Mrs. W. R. Widdess, Stewart street. Jan Vermeer, perhaps the greatest of the Little Dutch Masters, was the artist studied. A general discussion on this artist's life and work took place last evening, contributor to the programme being Mrs. V. S. Foster, Mrs. B. L. Barns, Mrs. J. E. R. Munro, Mrs. H. Morphet, Mrs. R. J. Kidd and Mrs. J. Mackintosh. The response to the roll call was a quotation from the works of Henry Van Dyke

Jan Vermeer lived in the 17th century, when the Dutch Republic flourished, and when the influence, not only of art, but of literature, politics and commerce, in all of which it excelled, was reflected in the painting of the period.

Of Vermeer's life little is known, except that he lived from 1632 to 1675, that he had a family of eight children, some of whom doubtless formed models for his paintings, and that, in spite of his wife's fortune, he often found it difficult to pay his bread bill. It is not necessary, however, to know many details of his life to appreciate his pictures, new examples of which are constantly being discovered. At present only thirty-nine can be attributed to him. In fact, it is only within the last seventy-five years that much interest has been taken in his work. Formerly, his pictures had been considered as productions of contemporary Dutch artists: De Hoogh, Terbroch, Maes and even Rembrandt. In the collection, there is but one landscape, "View of Delft," one street scene of Delft, one allegorical picture, one religious subject and one mythological, also several portraits and several interiors, these last among the most charming examples of his art.

For particular study, a portrait know as "The Girls' Head" was taken, also the painter in his studio. This is the only known picture of the artists, and strangely enough, he sits with his back to the world.

Vermeer's interiors with figures for study were "The Kitchen Maid," "The Lacemaker," "The Woman Weighing Pearls," and "A Girl Reading a Letter." In these pictures careful study was given to the delightful coloring, in which lemon yellows and soft blues predominated, also to the draughtsmanship, in which Vermeer excelled. The gracefullness of his figures and the little details of interiors, always charmingly used, were also noted.

The next meeting of the Art Study Club will be held on Tuesday, February 2nd, at the home of Mrs. J. Mackintosh, Weller street, when a paper on Gainsborough will be given by Mrs. R. J. Kidd. The response to the roll call will be a quotation from an English poet.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

FOR INDEPENDENCE.

Editor, Examiner:—

Politicians and the press are very busy just now telling Canadian citizens what is needed to secure good government for Canada. Some of the advice is rather amusing and quite contradictory. Papers loudly proclaim that both of the old party leaders are mere opportunists, which is of course a very evident fact, as office not national weal is the issue, but the same papers say, if either one of these obviously degenerate parties had a good majority we would be all right.

The ordinary citizen would like to know how a mere numerical majority can put moral principle into a party or leader that has so utterly failed when the crucial test came.

Many papers say, only get rid of the farmers and we will be all right. What an absurd inference, —get rid of the only party that shows any independence of thought or act, the only party that does not line up to a man at the crack of the party whip, a party that represents the greatest productive wealth of the country, get rid of this party and give us manufacturers' association government under an old party name and all will be well.

Well may citizens ask if that will put honor, sterling principle and noble leadership into derelict institutions. No doubt Canada has men of sterling worth capable of national leadership but how can their services be secured, while the present party leaders retain their places?

Why blame the farmers for the mess when the fact is plain that if the followers of either of the old parties had voted as independent of party line-up as did the Progressives some group would have had a working majority today?

It is all very well to howl about present conditions but these combinations are the result of the direct line-up to the crack of the party whip for party gain. Stability of office and not stability of the national welfare seems to be the first consideration. It is mighty poor logic to condemn the only party that shows any sign of independence in the house and the present situation is a standing invitation for that party's numerical strength to be increased, even at the expense of old time party-ism.

Parents Delegate Responsibility To Organizations He Charges.

DON'T WORK ENOUGH.

This is Greatest Generation of All, Making Country Better.

CHICAGO, Ill., Jan. 20 (United Press).—There is too much ballyhooing about the "wicked younger generation" and not enough individual work to solve the problem of keeping the wandering feet of youth in the proper path, Charles Brandon Booth, son of General and Mrs. Ballington Booth, internationally famous social workers, said today in an interview with the United Press.

Booth, tall, young, his brown eyes snapping, slammed his fist on a table as he attacked the "superficial social workers" and parents who "are content to talk about and excorciate the younger generation and then leave the problem to other hands."

"There is too much leaving it up to organizations caring for our young generation," Booth snapped, "and just so long as it is left to organization workers, just so long will the problem remain."

Booth is here attending the annual convention of the Big Brother and Big Sister Federation, of which he is national field secretary.

"The automobile is one of the problems," he said, " much of the trouble with the youngsters can be laid to automobiles. Laws can't stop them from using machines.

It is up to the parents—individuals—to solve this particular problem."

Booth brushed away ideas that the younger generation was wicked.

"True, some of the things that our youngsters do were not done by the preceding generation," he said. "But on the whole, this is the greatest generation of all, and the United States is a better place because of and not in spite of it."

LANSDOWNE LODGE INSTALLS OFFICERS

Sons of England Have Annual Installation Ceremony and Programme.

The members of Lansdowne Lodge, held their annual installation of officers on Monday, Jan. 18th, a good representation of the members being present. The installation took place in the S.O.E. Hall. Bro. B. Lemmon, District Deputy Supreme Lodge Officer conducting the ceremonies of the evening.

The following officers were duly installed for the year 1926—Past President, Bro. G. Collis; President, Bro. S. M. Ward; vice-President, Bro. F. J. Parsons; Chaplain, Bro. W. Gray; Financial Secy., Bro. W. G. Shiner; Recording Sec., Bro. P. G. Webb; Treasurer, Bro. C. Wood; 1st Committeeman, Bro. H. Sowden; 2nd Committeeman, Bro. R. Wright; 3rd Committeeman, Bro. J. Curtis and R. Starr; Hall Trust, Bros. H. Beal, G. Benton and C. Wood; Auditors, Bros. E. Gregson, S. Oke, E. Kitney; Physician, Bro. Dr. T. W. H. Young.

After the installation ceremonies had been brought to a conclusion the members gathered around the festive board and enjoyed the good things prepared by Bro. C. Coleman. Toasts were then proposed to The King by Bro. S. M. Ward, the incoming President. The Supreme Lodge proposed by Bro. W. G. Shiner, responded to by Bro. B. J. Lemmon, the Deputy Supreme Lodge officer, whose address was one of timely suggestions to the members with valuable advice to the incoming officers.

The toast to the Retiring Officers was proposed by Bro. P. G. S. Webb who, in his usual witty manner, handed out lots of good advice to the retiring officers to the incoming officers and the would-be officers of the future. This was responded to by Bro. G. Collis, the retiring President, who in turn moved a toast to the New Officers, to which was responded to by Bro. S. M. Ward.

This part of the programme was brought to a close by the singing of Auld Lang Syne, after which the members adjourned to the club room for billiards and cards.

The officers and members of the lodge are looking forward to a propserous new year.

VESSELS COLLIDE AT PHILADELPHIA

Inward and Outward Bound Ships Crash in River.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 20 (Canadian Press).—Misunderstanding of signals, according to the best obtainable information, resulted in a head-on collision of two ocean-going freighters in the Delaware river here yesterday. Both vessels were considerably damaged and a member of the crew of one was injured so severely that he had to be removed to a hospital.

The vessels were the "Manchester Merchant," a British ship, outward bound for Baltimore, and the United States ship, "Margaret," from Port Arthur, Texas.

FORMER OFFICIAL EXECUTED FOR PLOT

Lieut.-Governor of Mexican State Among Those Found Guilty.

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 20 (Canadian Press).—It is reported here that Alfonzo Noyola, a former Lieut.-Governor of the State of Jalisco, has been executed at Guadalajara for alleged complicity in the so-called revolutionary plot there.

Special despatches say that Gilberto Chavez, a ranch owner in the State of Jalisco, has been court martialled and shot because he concealed some of the bandits who committed the recent outrage on a passenger train near Guadalajara. Fourteen men have thus been officially reported executed for the Guadalajara crime.

WEDDING BELLS

BRADBURN-COLLON

OMEMEE, Jan. 20.—A quiet wedding of much interest to Omemee readers was solemnized on Saturday, January 9th, at 3 o'clock in the Ashland Boulevard Methodist Church, Chicago, Ill., when Elizabeth Collon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Angus Campbell, Colborne St., Lindsay, was united in marriage to Mr. Nellice G. Bradburn, eldest son of the late A. W. Bradburn and Mrs. E. Bradburn, Omemee.

The nuptial knot was tied by Rev. J. Barnum, pastor of Ashland Methodist Church. The young couple were unattended.

The bride was handsomely gowned in grey crepe romaine embroidered in silver thread in a beaded rose pattern over pink canton with a small grey velour hat, grey chiffon hose and black satin shoes and carried a bouquet of sweetheart roses mauve sweet-peas, and baby's breath.

Immediately following the ceremony, the happy couple motored to the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. W. Boultbee, where a dainty buffet luncheon was served.

The young couple will reside at Lakewood Avenue, Chicago, where the good wishes of a host of Omemee friends will follow them for a happy wedded life.

ADVICE TO GIRLS

By Annie Laurie

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I am coming to you for advice. I am a young girl of twenty and have been out with a lot of fellows. There was one in particular that I liked, but one night he did something I didn't like, and I have only been out a few times with him since But I still like him and would go often if he only would ask me.

I have been going out with another fellow, from a distance, and I know he likes me by the way he talks. He can not come very often as he lives a long piece away. Every time I go out with him, I am thinking of the other fellow. Should I not pay any attention to this or still continue my friendship with him or should I overlook what the other fellow did and go with him, if he would go with me. I am not very good looking and want to get some one as soon as possible. But I certainly would not like to lose both of them. So please advise me what to do. I remain, yours sincerely,

FRECKLE FACE.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I have been reading your column for some time and have seen good advice for other people.

I am a young man of fifty-nine and am in love with a girl of nineteen But she is going out with another fellow whom I don't like. But I think it is me she really loves, for she will take all the flowers and chocolates I give her. I am sure she would take a ring, but I am too shy to ask her. She would like me to come more often, but as I am young my folks don't care about me being out much at nights.

Now, Dear Annie Laurie, could you tell me how I could cut that other fellow out, without going too often, and how can I let her know I love her without just telling her. should, I wait till I get over this shyness.

Hoping to see my letter in print at the nearest date possible, I remain, yours sincerely,

BASHFUL.

As the two letters printed above came in the same envelope and appear to be in the same handwriting, and as they bear all the earmarks of an attempt to have a little fun with us, we thought we might as well have a general sort of party and all enjoy ourselves together. To BASHFUL, we would recommend that he forget about the young lady altogether, and devote himself to the contemplation of a future life. When he is ready to step into the grave, the young lady will be learning the latest thing in dances, and any girl who will take all she can get in the way of flowers and chocolates is too expensive a proposition for the average young man, As for FRECKLE FACE and her peculiar problem, we would advise hanging on to the fellow from a distance and let the nearer lover go. The absent swain, not having to look at her face so often, will doubtless be able to remember her with more affection.

The Home Kitchen

By Jeannette Norton

Importance of Milk.

A quart of milk for children and a pint for grown-ups a day looks as if we were expected to subsist on milk all our days. The proteins, calcium, vitamines, mineral matter, and other things it contains are considered a necessity to human life. The famous French nightcap is a cup of milk. It is considered a great sleep producer.

The following recipes may be helpful in tempting young appetites.

Milk Soup.

Chop fine one onion, two stalks of celery and a few sprays of parsley, and a tiny piece of blade of mace and a pint of water. Boil until reduced to one half, strain and add to a quart of hot milk. Add pepper, salt and a teaspoonful of sugar. Thicken gradually with two mashed potatoes, mashed very smooth with a tablespoonful of butter and a tablespoonful of hot cream.

Aerated Milk.

Heat gradually a tumblerful of rich milk. When hot enough to smoke from a teaspoon, but not near boiling point, remove from the fire and turn from one tumbler to another eight times. It will then be light, frothy and fully aerated to drink at once.

Eggnog.

Separate a large fresh egg and place the yolk in a tumbler. Beat with a silver fork, add two teaspoonfuls of sugar, a teaspoonful of vanilla, a small grating of nutmeg, and gradually a half glass of light cream, or rich milk. Beat the white of the egg stiff, fold half of it into the egg and milk mixture and add enough milk to fill the glass. Put the rest of the beaten egg on top, dusting with a few grains of sugar and a little nutmeg.

Milk Toast.

Toast seven slices of bread after trimming off the crust and put in a dish. Pour a pint of rich milk into a saucepan, adding a saltspoonful of salt, a teaspoonful of sugar, and a dessertspoonful of butter. When hot, thicken with two teaspoonfuls of cornstarch dissolved in a little cold milk. Dip each slice of toast in the milk and then turn it over all. This is good to serve with marmalade for breakfast, or with chops, sausage or chopped steak balls for luncheon.

FRILLS

(Written for the United Press)

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—(United Press)—Ostrich fans matching exactly the color of one's satin slippers are the only colors worn with the popular white or silver frock of formal type. A white velvet frock worn at the Opera this week had a long, molded bodice with a full skirt cut short in front and dipping at the rear with it's wide hem faced in gold cloth. Matching the hem facing was a huge fan of gold ostrich and gold satin slippers and hosiery. More vivid effects in fan and slipper combinations are also popular this season.

Feathers form the collars of many smart velvet or chiffon evening wraps. For instance a fushia colored chiffon wrap has an enormous collar of fushia-toned ostrich feathes. A flame colored velvet wrap has a fluffy collar of cog feathers. Many pastel rose or pink chiffon wraps are matched with willowed ostrich collars and hem flouncings.

Perfumed flowers are being worn on the shoulders of evening gowns. Th flowers are of silk and are hand painted and perfumed in the natural scent of the flower. The perfume used is of very oily type and the odor and pansies with the faint pansy denias perfumed in the gardenia odor and ansies with the faint pansy scent are those most generally liked.

One Fifth Avenue shop has a window displaying lingerie for Southern wear which is interesting and many women are purchasing it for wear under evening frocks. The color scheme is yellow piped in orange and the material is cerpe de chene. Trimmings of appliqued oranges and leaves of georgette are used in border effects or as medallions.

Bandings of rhinestones and crystal beads trim the majority of chiffon frocks of pastel shades. Necklines are cut deep in the rear and held to the rounded top with strappings of beadwork; belts of rhinestnnes and rhinestone hemborders offer the remainder of the trim.

Handkerchiefs of gold or silver lace are carried at evening time as well as mere wisps of chiffon which match the frock's coloring.

"CLAN DONALD" COLONY.

100 Families on 39,000 Acre Settlement.

WINNIPEG, Man., January 20. — Canadian Press. — A settlement to be known as the "Clan Donald" Colony, comprising 100 families, and embracing 30,000 acres of land, will be established near Vermillion, Alta., next spring, by the joint agency of the Canadian Pacific Railway, the Overseas settlement and the Scottish Immigrant Aid Society, it was announced here Tuesday.

The land has already been purchased and funds are available for the construction of homes and otherwise equipping the farms.

GETTING SKINNIER EVERY DAY

Something Must Be Done and Done Right Now—Quick.

Hollows in Cheeks and Neck Growing Deeper Every Week.

Tens of thousands of thin, rundown men—yes, and women too—are getting discouraged — are giving up all hope of ever being able to take on flesh and look healthy and strong.

All such people can stop worrying and start to smile and enjoy life right now for McCoy's Cod Liver Extract Tablets which any druggist will tell you all about are putting flesh on hosts of skinny folks every day.

One woman, tired, weak and discouraged, gained 15 pounds in five weeks and now feels fine.

We all know that the livers of Cod Fish are full of vitalizing flesh producing vitamines and these same vitamines of the highest class are found in McCoy's Cod Liver Extract Tablets—sugar coated and as easy to take as candy.

And this shows what faith the makers have in McCoy's for they say; if any thin person don't gain at least 5 pounds in 30 days your druggist is authorized to give you your money back— and only 60 cents for 60 tablets. Ask the Harris Drug Store, McDermid & Jury, Jas. Lynch, Bond's Drug Store, or any druggist anywhere in North or South America.

But be sure to get McCoy's, the original and genuine.

THUNBERG SAYS STYLE CRAMPED BY SHARP TURNS

Finn Speed Skater Under Handicap—Already Beaten Twice.

WORLD CHAMPION.

Standard Tracks in Finland Are Quarter Mile Ovals.

NEW YORK, aJn. 20 (Canadian Press).—Clas Thunberg of Finland recognized as the world's amateur speed skating champion, does not like the American style of skating with its "jockeying," "stalling" and "sharp-curved" tracks. He said so yesterday before leaving for St. John, N.B., to participate in the International Outdoor Championships, January 26, 27 and 28

"I am not mourning the loss of my two first races against Joe Moore or Charlie Gorman," said Thunberg, through his interpreter-manager, Tugo Quist. "But everybody agrees, even Moore and Gorman, that I am under a greater handicap skating under American rules than the American skaters were at the last Olympics in competing under European rules.

"There is too much 'jockeying,' 'stalling' and ,pace-making' in the American style of racing. The sharp curves of the American track also are different for me to negotiate. They break up my long stride and impede my momentum."

"In Finland, all standard tracks are quarter-mile ovals with turns which a locomotive could take at full speed without endangering its centre of gravity. We skate against time and not directly against any one opponent. Two skaters start in different lanes and on each lap the skaters change lanes, thereby making each skater negotiate an equal distance.

"But I am not discouraged. I believe I can become accustomed to the American style with a little more practice and show my critics that I am not over-rated."

Loses Interpreter.

Thunberg boarded the train here with only a scrap of paper to lead him to his St. John destination. Unable to speak English, the Finnish flash has had little trouble in conversing with New Yorkers as Quist has always been at his side. His manager, however, was unable to accompany him on his Canadian invasion, but sent Thunberg along in charge of his trainer, another Finn unacquainted with the English language.

Gorman has promised to meet Thunberg and his trainer at the railway station in St. John, but should anything happen to upset the plans of the Canadian speed king their scrap of paper will advise "anyone whom it may concern" of the identity and purpose of the holders.

Thunberg is to go to Binghampton, N.Y., from St. John to compete in the National Outdoor Championships there January 30 and 31. His itinerary after this meet depends upon his success in the two championships.

SCHOOLS MAY HAVE COACH'S SERVICES

Walter Knox Carrying on Under Ontario Commission.

The Ontario Athletic Commission, which did such great work in the way of promoting athletics among the school children last summer, is still carrying on and has even better things mapped out for this year. Secretary J. P. Fitzgerald has made it known that any school in the Province which has a hall or gymnasium suitable for indoor training can have the services of Coach Water Knox for the asking. The announcement follows:

"The Ontario Athletic Commission is again prepared to send its athletic coach, Walter Knox, to any school in the Province which has a gymnasium or hall in which he can teach the boys and girls the correct way to do things athletically. The commission, through the courtesy of the Ontario Government Motion Picture Bureau, has secured a real Canadian picture—made by the best athletes in every line of support in this Province. This is now available with slow and fast motion, and with Mr. Knox explaining the details, it is invaluable to young athletes. Track and field, skating, swimming, skiing and snowshoeing are depicted. Schools wishing any coaching along these lines will be accommodated, as far as possible, on request by letter to Secretary Fitzgerald, 46 Richmond street west, Toronto 2, Ontario. The commission bears all cost, and there is no fee or charge of any kind to the schools."

Soft Ice Caused Cancellation of Monday's Game—League Game Friday.

LAKEFIELD, Jan. 20. — The hockey match announced for Monday night between the Lakefield and Peterboro Juniors was cancelled owing to the soft condition of the ice. It will be played at a later date.

On Friday night The Grove and Warsaw play. This game is in the Lakefield District Hockey League.

COACH'S NEW PLAN.

Players Shoot at Dummy Goaler.

In an endeavor to develop better shooting of his players, Coach Eddie Gerard, of the Montreal Maroons, has had a wooden dummy goaler built, and place in the centre of the net, with about a foot of space on either side. Part of the daily practice period is spent rifling pucks through the openings. Coach Gerard wants his players to pick the corners and not try and knock the dummy down every time they shoot.

BOXING SHADED BY PRO HOCKEY

New York Flocks To See Duel of Ice Teams.

BOXING IS TAME.

NEW YORK, Jan. 20. — A well-known promoter of boxing bouts in New York, dropped in to day to announce that he is going to start a campaign to have professional hockey as it is now being conducted at Tex Rickard's new Madison Square Garden, brought under the supervision or some newly constituted body having jurisdiction over combats.

In this promoter's opinion if boxing were as rough and full of real fighting as pro hockey is the mitt game would not be permitted at all. So if pugilism is regulated why not the sport of assault and battery on skates? Why should Rickard get away with murder?

This at least is the way the boxing impresario in question has reacted to the impressions he has received at the various pro hockey contests at the Garden, culminating in the game between New York and Ottawa on Monday night, when sticks, fists and hurtling bodies were employed as weapons and the police had to keep order between rival players with ruffled feelings.

Boxing is Tame.

According to the promoter in question boxing is like knitting when compared to hockey and most of the real fights that Rickard is holding these days are on the ice rather than in the ring. Consequently he is going to the mayor or the governor or the king of Sweden or some one and see what can be done about it. Nothing can be done of course.

Boxing is not regulated to prevent hammer and tongs fighting but rather to insure that bouts shall partake of this quality. Fake fights, stalling and such spurious devices on the part of fighters, managers and promoters are the reasons for the existence of the boxing commission.

Tex Rickard is selling out the capacity of his arena every time the pro teams play for the same reason that he will sell it out when he stages between boxers who can—and will—fight. The crowd is piling in because it is drawn by the high tempo of the competition. Tex is a great showman and knows what makes the turnstiles click.

Draws Capacity Now.

Hockey has been played in New York off and on for years. But it never made much money for the promoters. Perhaps the spirit of sportsmanship was so high in those days that theer was no call for the police. Anyway it was a languishing-game, and in recent years had been stone dead in the metropolis.

Rickard imported a bunch of players who are either Canadians or have played in Canada, designating them as the "New York team," and told them to go in there and fight for their lives. This they have done, and while all the neat little pro hockey tricks of tripping, prodding, unfair checking are put on exhibition, not forgetting the open flailing of fists and sticks that inevitably grow out of the aforesaid mentioned practices, the capacity crowds of 17,000 roar their approval and howl for more.

It is a great game the way these pro teams play it, and if there is a rougher spot on the calendar it is water polo as played by the pros. As between the two, however, judgment depends upon whether one considers the possibilities of drowning more dreadful than having the skull fractured by a well aimed hockey stick or by contact with the ice.

Going further into this subject it might be said that the only direct fatalities from sport in the history of athletics at Princeton occurred in hockey, in water polo and in baseball.

It seems to be foregone that Rickard is setting an example of personal conflict on his ice rink that the boxers he engages will have to strain themselves to emulate.

RUEL BENCHED.

Catcher In Discard With Peckinpaugh.

TAMPA, Fla., Jan. 20 (Canadian Press). — Roger Peckinpaugh and "Muddy" Ruel, veterans of the Washington American League champions, are to be benched this coming season to make room for youth and speed, Clark Griffith, president of the club, announced here yesterday.

Charles "Buddy" Myers, who substituted for Bluege last year after the third sacker sustained injuries, will succeed Peckinpaugh, and Tate will be Griffith's first-strong catcher, supplanting Ruel, Griffith said.

CURLERS' WIDOWS AND ORPHANS
(When It Thaws)

"Who's that stranger ,mother dear?
Look, he knows us. Ain't that queer?"
"Hush, my child, don't talk so wild
He's your father, dearest child."
"He's my father? Not at all.
Father passed away last fall."
"Father didn't die, you dub,
Father joined the curling club.
Now they've closed the club, so he
Has no place to go, you see.
No place for him to roam
That's why he is coming home.
Kiss him. He won't hurt you child,
All these curling guys look wild."

BASKETBALL

By THE CAPTAIN

NO. 7—FORWARD PLAY ON TAP-OFF

Many teachers of basket-ball leave the subject of individual play too soon to go into the matter of team play and team formation. No basket-ball squad can be successful without co-operation. But remember that no player can fit into team play unless he knows how to hold up his individual end of the game.

Taking up individual play you naturally come to the forwards first. The easiest play on the tap-off is for the forward to take the tap. This he cannot do unless he can elude his guard.

A forward must outwit a guard in more ways than one. Speed alone won't give him the necessary edge to get the ball. He must think faster than his opponent, throw the guard off on wrong paths and generally combine speed physically with quick thinking.

Don't give your opponent an inkling of what you intend to do. Make false starts, get the guard thinking you're laying back, fake attempts to keep him out of plays, but above all get the proper sense of timing when the ball is actually put in motion.

A guard will play between you and the basket, you on the boundary side of the court and he on the inside. Try to reverse the positions and get him outside. It's easier to elude him that way and keep him out of plays.

If the play calls for you to go towards center, make a false start towards the basket. As he follows you, cut around in front of him or pivot and start the other way as shown in drawing. If the play calls for you to take a pass near the basket, make a false start towards center. When your opponent has gained headway, reverse your direction.

Your speed will necessarily be regulated by his. The main thing is to make him think you intend to do something other than that which the play calls for.

BROOKLYN STARS ARE HOLDING OUT

Captain Wheat Wants $18,000 For Season.

NEW YORK, Jan. 20. — The signed contract of James A ("Cotton") Tierney, the veteran infielder, was received at Ebbets Field. The good Wilbert Robinson now has to sign only six more players and his worries over contracts will be at an end. The six unsigned players are Zach Wheat, captain of the team; Milton Stock, the second baseman; Dick Cox, the outfielded, and three budding youngsters.

The signed contracts of the three recruits—Ray Moss, a pitcher, and Frank Kohlbecker, from the Memphis club, and John B. Hollingsworth, a pitcher farmed out last season to the Portland club, are expected at Ebbets field any day now. Wheat, Stock and Cox are real holdouts, and probably will not come to a salary agreement with the Brooklyn club until they confer with Robbie at the training camp in Clearwater,, Fla., in the spring.

Wheat finished third in batting last year and, although getting along in years, he had one of his greatest seasons since becoming a member of the Brooklyn club. The veteran outfielder played in 150 games, scored 125 runs, made 221 hits and finished with a batting average of .359. Only Hornsby and Jim Bottomley turned in a better batting average than this. Only Bottomley made more base hits than the Brooklyn outfielder.

Wants Large Salary.

Wheat and Robbie already have discussed salary terms for the coming season, and it has been reported that Wheat is holding out for a salary of $18,000. While Robbie has admitted that Wheat is more or less a holdout, he has refused to reveal the amount of money that the outfielder demands for his baseball for the coming season. If his terms are met, he will be the highest paid ball player on the Brooklyn club, as Dazzy Vance signed a contract last year for $15,000 a season.

Robbie does not expect to have as much trouble signing Stock and Cox as he does Wheat, as there is only a small salary difference between the club and the first named players. Stock will be moved back to third base next season, while Rabbit Maranville will play second. The genial Mr. Robinson has not decided upon his shortstop as yet, and probably will not until the start of the season.

The failure to put through the deal with the Minneapolis club for Butler, the shortstop, has upset the plans of the manager. The deal for Butler reached its first stages last summer, when Robbie turned over Dick Loftus and Big Wilbur Hubbell to Minneapolis. For Butler he was to give two more players and several thousand dollars in cash.

Robbie expected to compete the deal at the meeting of the National league held in this city last month, but the Minneapolis club decided that they wanted to keep Butler and called off the deal with Robbie. Now Robbie has to scout about for another shortstop. As he believes that Butler is a real big leaguer right now, he may attempt to arrange another deal with Minneapolis.

TENNIS RECORD

Molla Mallory has won the national women's tennis title seven times. She topped the field in 1915-16-17-18-20-21-22. Her efforts stand as a record in the fair sex domain.

The Norse girl estalished another mark by winning the championship four seasons in a row. Helen Wills, present crown-bearer, now has three to her credit, with a chance to equal the record next year.

Mary K. Browne, who also stars on the links, and Hazel Hotchkiss, famous years ago are the two other that have reached the heights three consecutive campaigns.

Molla Bjurstedt Mallory, the famous woman tennis player, was originally a nurse in New York City and learned her game on the municipal courts in that city.

BASEBALL GOSSIP

By Billy Evans

VETERAN STARS.

How many more years do you figure Walter Johnson and Ty Cobb will still be able to go? This was the question fired at me the other day.

These two great players who have made baseball history, are nearing the end of their career. Because of their great popularity with the fans, their wish would be they might go on forever.

However, there must come a time when Ty Cobb and Walter Johnson will be forced to retire from active play. Old Father Time is relentless in his demands.

If Johnson and Cobb care to, I doubt if they do, they could stick around for perhaps five years more. A four or five-day rest would be absolutely imperative for Johnson and 100 games per season would be Cobb's limit.

Johnson has put in 19 seasons in the American League while Cobb's mark is 21 campaigns. Both joined the American League in the fall of their first year.

Last season was a big one for the two veterans. Johnson won 20 gams and lost only seven. Cobb batted .378.

FIVE YEARS MORE.

Those two records speak volumes for the greatness of Johnson and Cobb, for length of service and remarkable performance.

As a matter of fact, Cobb hung up several new batting marks, one of them being the making of five home runs in two days. He's never been noted as a slugger.

Walter Johnson in the opening game of the 1925 world series, after having enjoyed a rest of several weeks, due to an injured leg struck out 10 of the hard-hitting Pirates, known as a team that murdered speed.

"Johnson's speed is just a little bit different," remarked several of the Pirates to me after the opening game. In the final battle the Pittsburg club hit him hard, but he was just a pitcher in the deciding contest, far from the Walter Johnson of the first game.

Experts have been predicting the finish of Johnson and Cobb for the last five years, but these two extraordinary athletes keep fooling 'em in the most approved style.

UNSUAL RECORDS.

In all probability both Johnson and Cobb will quit before the five years I have alloted them is up, but I feel they could hang on that much longer if they cared to. Both are wealthy and the financial inducement is no longer a strong appeal.

One day last season Johnson told me that with a five-day rest his arm feels as strong as ever. As a matter of fact, he remarked that his legs gave him greater concern than his arm.

"Often my poor pitching late in the game on some hot day is due to leg weakness rather than any trouble with my arm. The constant striding so taxes my underpinning that often it feels mighty wobbly at the finish," was the way Johnson explained it.

Last spring at the Augusta training camp, Cobb told me he intended to play 100 games. He took part in 101 in the outfield. In perhaps a dozen more he went in as a pinch hitter.

If Johnson gets a four or five-day rest between starts and Cobb dosn't try to play more than 100 games, perhaps 75 both of them will be up among the elect in 1926 as of yore.

HOCKEY

Cobourg Juniors have two defence players whose aggregate weight is 418 pounds. Both boys are fast and good stickhandlers and make just about the heaviest defence in Junior hockey since Koyl and Stoddart starred for Lindsay in 1907. Cobourg's goal-keeper is a big chap, too, being well over six feet.

Markham will be without the services of one of their best men, Wednesday night, Benning, who was injured in the Peterboro game, being still out of commission.—Lindsay Post.

ERROR RECORD

The St. Louis Browns made the season's record for errors in the American League in that wild game which started the 1925 campaign on April 14. The Browns made 10 in that game, the only time in the league all season that any team reached double figures in the error column.

The clean-fielding Yankees had a great run for perfect or near perfect play from the first day of September to the finish on October 4.

In the 33 games played in this period, the Yanks made but 25 errors, and in 15 of these games they registered perfect play. The largest number of errors in any one game was three, and that happened in two games.

BENTON HANGS UP NICE BOX MARK FOR BRAVES

Larry Benton of the Braves turned in a nice pitching record last season. With a chronic second-division team he won 14 games and won 7. He allowed 3.10 earned runs per fracas.

TWO GOAL TIE OVERTIME GAME IN H.C.H. LEAGUE

Marmora and Stirling Battle Thirty Minutes Overtime at Stirling.

ICE WAS HEAVY.

All Goals of Game Scored in Third Regular Period.

STIRLING, January 20. (Special.) —The unbeaten Marmora team was held to a 2-2 draw here last night by Stirling's fast team in a Hastings County League game. Thirty minutes overtime was played.

Stirling's covered rink proved a veritable boon in that it permitted the playng of this important game in the Hastings county league.

It housed well over a thousand spectators, who witnessed one of the sternest struggles for supremacy that Hastings County hockey fans can recollect.

Every available car made the journey form Marmora and Deloro and enthusiasts in large numbers were present from West Huntingdon and Frankford to swell the Stirling ranks. The applause given meritable play was deafening.

The ice was good for the first period but became quit heavy as the game proceeded, making play difficult. Two periods passed without a score due to the excellent goal keeping on each side. Bond, the Marmora star artist, who was closely marked throughout the game, found the net in the first few minutes of the third period, beating Hulin with the last of three fast consecutive shots. Stirling evened up with a goal which the veteran Whitty scored from a scrimmage. Another rush by the visitors saw Bond score again. Stirling allowed the lead for but a few seconds, Wallace being Next in another scrimmage.

Thrill after thrill marked the overtime in which much long shooting was a feature. Both goals had narrow escapes but fate decreed the draw should stand. The game was not marked by any roughness though penalties were handed out to each team somewhat freely at the first.

Every player in the game gave of his best under the circumstances so that individual mention would be unjust. The unusual finish of the game lends appetite for the return game at Marmora on Friday.

The teams lined up as follows:

Goal Umpires, F. Johnston, Marmora., P. Maguire, Stirling.

Referee, B. Jackson, Peterboro.

It was reported at the conclusion of the game that the gate receipts exceeded $300.

INSPIRING SERVICES AT SCHOOL'S CLOSE

Rev. D. C. Ramsay Was Preacher Both Morning and Evening.

COBOURG, Jan. 20.—The Bay of Quinte Winter school which opened its sessions here a week ago, closed on Sunday with inspiring sevices to mark the day. At 10.30 a.m. the delegates assembled at the Sunday School hall for a brief service of prayer and went in a body to the convention church, where Rev. D. C. Ramsay, Belleville, was the preacher for the day. With Mr. Ramsay upon the pulpit platform were the associate pastors of the church, Rev. Brown, D.D., and Rev. D. A. Bremner, who took charge of the opening part of the service. There was a choir of between forty and fifty present, and two anthems were sung, "Holy Art Thou," and My Faith Looks Up to Thee". The singing was excellent. Mr. Ramsay took as his text a part of the 14th verse of the 18th chapter of Luke; "Every one that exalteth himself shall be abased and he that humbleth himself shall be exalted." My theme, said Mr. Ramsay, is the Divinest act and the deadliest sin!

The Afternoon Service.

In the afternoon the Winter school delegates were invited to attend the opening session of the Sunday school of the Division street United church and were delighted with the large attendance, inspiring service and large orchestra that led the singing. Afterwards they went to the auditorium of the church, where Rev. A. Brown ,D.D. gave a most inspiring and uplifting address. He took for his theme "John the Baptist", and drew uplifting lesson and inspiring counsel, from a study of the Prophet and his life.

The Evening Service.

In the evening a large congregation was present and Mr. Ramsay preached a very able sermon from the words of St. Paul.

"This one thing I do, forgetting those things which are behind and reaching forth unto those things which are before, I press towards the mark, for the prize of the high calling of God, in Christ Jesus."

Consecration Service

At the close of this service a short consecration and communion service was held for the delegates of the Winter school. It was conducted by President F. J. Horwood of Marmora, and the secretary of the school, Rev. H. A. Bunt, Enterprise, assisted by Rev. Dr. Brown, Rev. D. C. Ramsay, Rev. W. A. Bremner.

This closed the sessions of the 1926 Winter school.

LOST TO OMEMEE.

Lindsay School Team Defeated 3-1.

OMEMEE, Jan. 20.—The Central School Junior Hockey team from Lindsay, journeyed to Omemee on the noon train on Saturday, and met the junior team here, known as the Greyhounds. The ice was somewhat soft and the boys worked hard under this difficulty. Rev. E. Rowland was the referee, and at the end of the fourth period Omemee had proved too much for the visitors, and had the big end of the score, it being 3—1.

The line-up was as follows:—

Lindsay, Goal, M. Imery; Defence, G. Wakelin and M. Dickerson; Wings, V. Smith and B. Ingram; Centre, H. Dunk; Subs., C. Clemett and R. Sanderson.

Omemee—Goal, Lorenzo Williamson; Defence, Howard Wilson, Floyd Parsons; Wings, Richard Morton, Jamie MacKey; Centre, Harry McGinness; Subs., Gordon Parsons, Russell Williamson.

SKI CLUB NOTES.

The Ski and Snowshoe Club hike scheduled for tonight has been called off owing to unfavorable weather conditions. A theatre party at the Capitol Theatre has been arranged to take the place of the hike. All members, whether they attend the theatre or not, are asked to be at the Clubhouse at 10 o'clock.

The prisons of England and Wales now number only about forty in all. More than twenty prisons have been closed since 1914.

OTTAWA RETAINS LEAD IN N. H. L.

Beat Canadiens 2-1 in Montreal—Tie Game at Boston.

NEW YORK SHUT OUT.

MONTREAL, Jan. 20 (Canadian Press).—Ottawa kept well to the front in the National Hockey League race, nosing out Canadiens here last night before a packed Arena, 2 to 1. Ottawa forced the breaks to gain the lead, and thereafter resorted to a systematic defensive style of hockey.

Canadiens were unable to penetrate the barrier and tie up the count after Neighbor and Denneney had tallied to give the Senators two goals to one scored by Joliat. Canadiens did beat the Ottawa goalie in the second period on four different occasions, but all the goals were ruled offside.

BOSTON, 3; MONTREAL, 3

BOSTON, Jan. 20 (Canadian Press).—Boston Bruins held Montreal Maroons to a 3 to 3 tie in a scheduled National League game here last night, after 20 minutes overtime.

Boston led 2 to 1 at the end of the first period, but two goals in the second period placed the visitors in the lead. Just as the bell rang for the end of the game, Cooper of Boston, drove in the score that tied the game and overtime play was called for. Two weary sextettes battled vainly for a decision the full 20 minutes of extra time allotted.

PITTSBURG 4, NEW YORK 0

NEW YORK, Jan. 20 (Canadian Press).—Pittsburgh's youthful sextette handed the New York Americans a stinging 4 to 0 shut-out in their National Hockey League battle here last night. The "Smoky City" representatives turned the Garden ice surface into a beehive, and applied a sting in their dazzling drives that brought them swarming into New York territory all the time. Richard's men were clearly outplayed, out-generalled and outchecked from start to finish.

HAMILTON TEAM HERE SATURDAY

Week End Game Arranged in Senior O. H. A. Series.

The postponed Senior O.H.A. game with the Hamilton Rowing Club will be played at the Brock street rink on Saturday night, this date being necessary owing to the fact that the rink will be taken by the curlers during the first three days of next week.

Saturday is an unusual night for hockey in Peterborough, although in Toronto it is the big hockey night of the week. Arrangements have been made to start the game at 9 o'clock, an hour that will give nearly everybody a chance to attend.

The Petes need this game to keep in front of the race and will take no chances with the Scullers.

To-morrow night the local crew invade Toronto for a game with Osgoode Hall, who have been playing fine hockey and will give the blue and white a tough argument for the decision.

ARISTOCRAT DOLORES.

Seventieth Century Unlimited Stars Descendant of Spanish Dons.

BY JACK JUNGMEYER

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—In the dainty person of Dolores Del Rio, 20, descendants of Spanish dons, Mexico considers herself well represented as ambassador to the world via the screen.

Senoro Del Rio—she is married into one of the first families of Mexico—carries herself with the serene assurance of confirmed aristocracy. In the movie realm, so thickly populated with poseurs, she is refreshing and distinctive for her utter lack of pretense.

Entry of Dolore Del Rio into pictures at the instigation of Edwin Carewe, producer for First National, and her recent selection as a Wampas star, has furthered the tentative emancipation of upper class Mexican women from their restricted social world and semi-cloistered home life.

SHOW PAGE——¶¶¶¶¶¶¶¶¶¶

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—So many warnings have been issued against display of "temperament" in movie studios that most young actresses, even when they have it, are careful to curb and conceal it as something wholly pernicious.

Generally it is considered a self-destructive fire.

But for Olive Borden it sparked the fuse of extraordinary progress from minor roles to stellar part in the biggest Fox production for the coming year, "The World of Promise."

It was when things were at their worst for the Bordens that Olive had her chance. Dissatisfied with a small part for which she had been cast, the young lady flared up in hot protest—a dark fury launching honest opinion on an emotional bolt.

And instead of showing her the exit door, the Fox officials for the first time sensed her capabilities, backed off respectfully and handed her a five-year contract.

There will be an important meeting of the league to-morrow (Thursday) evening, at 7.00 o'clock in the office of the Hon. G. N. Gordon.

Each team is asked to have two representatives present.

EMPHATIC DENIAL

semi-ready war policy of Hamilton —"a fit-reform sort of business."

"Behold!" exclaimed Mr. Motherwell, "behold his attempt to execute his abdominal, his craven crawl all the way from Hamilton to Bagot! I think it is a most shameful recantation ever uttered by a public man in Canada, and from now on the leader of the Opposition will be rightly known in this parliament as the great recanter."

Rural Credits Not Bribe

The Speech from the Throne promised the introduction of legislation for rural credits. This promise could not be construed as a bribe, as the Government had introduced a rural credit bill late last session. The Senate, however, "took the cue" from the Opposition in the House of Commons and had thrown out the legislation.

Mr. Motherwell believed that the proposed tariff board would be quite effective in solving many of the tariff problems.

The Speech from the Throne did not contain "bribes." There were suggestions that it did, but when confronted with a request for proof, the Conservatives were 'silent' as King Tut's tomb."

The control of production of eggs "whether good or bad," was not possible unless control of the weatherman could be secured, Mr. Motherwell said. And the Government, said Mr. Motherwell, did not propose to attempt to control the weatherman.

Leon J. Ladner, Conservative, South Vancouver, suggested that Canada should place a higher duty on eggs. Mr. Motherwell said that we would submit the suggestion for the "favorable consideration," of his colleagues, "but my impetuous young friend will have to wait for the Budget to see the result."

Questioned further as to whether or not he would favor a tax on eggs, Mr. Motherwell retorted "We have not come to the Budget yet."

Ruin the C.N.R.

Another Conservative recantation was in regard to the Canadian National Railways. No one knew where the party stood today. Mr. Meighen had said he would stop new capital investments, and criticized the Scribe Hotel, the golf links and the radio. Mr. Motherwell said regarding the Scribe Hotel, that all was well that ended well, and it had proved to be a good deal. As for the Jasper Park golf course and the radio, he was satisfied they were worth the expenditure on them for the business they attracted. If Mr. Meighen's policy of withholding new capital expenditure was carried out, it would ruin the railways. No business could be carried out along those lines.

The Australian treaty had not yet been in force four months, and it was impossible to tell what the effect would be on the poultry and dairy industries. The Government would not see these industries suffer, and the treaty itself would do much to promote Empire trade.

Mr. Motherwell replied to what he described as attempts to disparage his department in the endeavor to grade farm products for export trade. The grading had brought export eggs to the very highest standard in the British market.

The people of Canada were watching this Parliament. The Speech from the Throne was plain enough without further discussion. The Government could not carry out the promises of this speech without the aid of some other group. No Government could. "We should see that Parliament functions until this programme can be carried out," he said.

Former Premier Fleming of New Brunswick, now Conservative member for Carleton-Victoria, pressed for a more Canadian policy in routing of grain and purchasing of coal. He complained that the Canadian National had built a stone wall which prevented grain from flowing through Canadian ports. Elevators at Portland were filled with Canadian grain while only a small quantity was going via St. John and none via Halifax. He pressed for the use of Canadian in preference to American coal, and thus help in keeping Canadian mines running. A. A. Heaps, Labor member of North Winnipeg, observed that from the Labor point of view there was nothing to enthuse about in the Speech from the Throne. He hoped something would be done in regard to old age pensions. The debate continued today.

CANCER FOREMOST PROBLEM OF TIMES

Accounts For One-Tenth of All Adult Deaths at Present.

NEW YORK, Jan. 20. Canadian Press. — America should awaken to the menace of cancer and redouble its efforts to fight the disease as energetically as Europe is doing," said Dr. George A. Soper last night at a dinner of the American Society for the Control of Cancer.

Dr. Soper, who is managing director of the society, reported on extensive and recent investigations abroad.

"Cancer is everywhere regarded as the foremost medical problem of the day," said Dr. Soper. "It accounts for one-tenth of all deaths among grown up people of the United States and the mortality is as high or higher in practically every country in Europe."

FARMER SHOT AT PASSING TRAINS

Two Passengers Wounded—Was Refused Job.

RACINE, Wis., Jan. 20.—Passengers on two crowded North Shore electric trains were thrown into panic Monday night when James Rogan, a farmer, fired at the trains from the darkness, wounded two and showered more than 100 others with broken glass from the car windows.

Rogan admitted the attacks, saying that he "wanted to keep the trains from running, because the road refused me a job."

The two trains, running a few minutes apart, were bound for Chicago from Milwaukee. Both were crowded.

As they were speeding through an open stretch three miles north of Racine, shots came from the darkness, splintered windows, sprayed the passengers with flying glass and sent them scurrying for the exits as the train came to a stop.

Hurriedly organized posses soon apprehended Rogan. He was carrying a rifle and at first professed to be hunting. After several hours of questioning, however, he admitted firing on the trains.

"They would not give me a job," he said, "and so I decided to shoot up the trains and keep them from running."

FRENCH SHELLED DAMASCUS AGAIN

Many Persons Believed To Have Perished in Old City.

JERUSALEM, Jan. 20. — The French Tuesday bombarded the Shagour quarter of Damascus.

Many persons are reported to have perished. Heavy damage was inflicted in this, the second bombardment of the ancient city in recent months.

The best obtainable information from Damascus says that the French had laid siege to the city on the allegation that the inhabitants were assisting the rebels.

A heavy bombardment was the culmination of the siege, and many structures are reported in ruins.

Famine in City.

The siege had reduced the population to virtually a state of famine, and before the bombardment came, some of the hungering had sought to quit their dwelling and fight their way out through the French troops.

Still Dangerous.

Arab sources report the Aleppo situation still dangerous, while at Hama and Homs the authorities are reported whipping villagers who decline to participate in the elections there.

MOONSHINE POISON CAUSES BLINDNESS

Wood Alcohol Often Brings on "Toxia Amblyophia."

TORONTO, Jan. 20.—"It's easy to get moonshine, but not so easy to get your vision restored," was one of the epigrams coined at yesterday's session of the annual convention of the Canadian Optometric Association in the Prince George hotel. Moonshine, it was explained to delegates depends for its potency, or "kick" on wood alcohol, a rank poison, and those foolish enough to accept it as their favorite tipple were as often as not smitten with "toxia amblyophia," a form of blindness. The disease was siad to be quite common in Ontario.

Theatre

AT THE CAPITOL

NORMA TALMADGE IS HIT IN "GRAUSTARK"

Eugene O'Brien and Great Cast Support Star in Film of "Best Seller."

A cat can look at a queen.

And an American can make love to a princess despite conventional barriers and royal objections.

That is conclusively demonstrated in "Graustark," starring Norma Talmadge, which Joseph M. Schenck has produced from the George Barr McCutcheon novel for First National. The romantic story of love and intrigue in a mythical kingdom in southern Europe has been modernized to the ideas of the new generation. It closes its run at the Capitol to-night.

When a dashing young American loses his heart to a princess who happens to be touring this country and then follows her to her plot-torn kingdom, adventures and perils are bound to follow. Add an evil prince who wants to do away with the crusading foreigner and marry the royal beauty himself. And around this situation with kings, ambassadors, conspirators, old-world dungeons and regiments of picturesque soldiers.

Then love vies with intrigue in the unfolding of a story that has thrilled millions of readers and now furnishes tense entertainment for millions of picture-goers.

Lovely Norma has a perfect role as the princess. Romantic Eugene O'Brien plays the young American. Other members of the notable supporting cast include Marc McDermott, Roy D'Arcy, Albert Gran, Lillian Lawrence, Michael Vavitch, Frank Currier, Winter Hall and Wanda Hawley.

Dimitri Buchowetzki directed.

ITALIAN OFFER IS INADEQUATE

British Cabinet Asks For Serious Proposal of Debt Payment.

OFFER £3,000,000.

LONDON, Jan. 20 (Canadian Press)—The Cabinet yesterday rejected the first Italian offer for a debt settlement and instructed Chancellor Winston Churchill to bring all pressure to bear on the Italian delegation to make serious proposals as the offer was wholly inadequate.

The cabinet expressed astonishment at the Italian proposal to pay Great Britain annuities on a sliding scale averaging 3,000,000 pounds a year while they are paying the United States, on a debt only three-quarters as great as that to England, an average, according to British calculations, of 5,500,000 pounds a year over a period of sixty two years.

THIS IS INTERESTING.

Twenty homes are being given an opportunity to instal a new $450.00 piano of first-class make, at a clear saving of $113.00, easy terms of only $6.00 down, and $2.00 a month without interest. That's surely interesting, and there are special club advantages as well. See Greene Music Co., Charlotte street.

OMEMEE WOMAN HURT BY FALL

Mrs. T. J. Parsons Met With Painful Accident at Home.

SOCIAL EVENTS.

OMEMEE, Jan. 19.—Considerable excitement was caused in the village on Saturday night when a horse hitched to a cutter without any driver came racing madly into town. A number of men tried to stop the animal, but it turned south at the Commercial House and ran into the yard where it was caught. The horse belonged to Mr. A. Pogue, who, it was later ascertained, was changing the halter for the bridle when the animal made a bolt for liberty and did not sto until it reached Omemee with neither halter or bridle on.

Fell in Cellar.

The many friends of Mrs. T. J. Parsons, will regret to hear of the sad misfortune which befell her on Sunday. She had reached the bottom step into the cellar, and thinking she was on the ground floor of the cellar, she stepped forward with the result she fell and struck her head against the stone wall, which inflicted a nasty cut which required two stitches to close. She also received a severe shaking up and as she is suffering from a bad cold her condition is very serious.

Tannery Club Euchre.

The weekly euchre of the Omemee Tannery Club was held in the club room on Thursday evening. There was a splendid attendance of members and numerous visitors present, all of whom enjoyed the evening's programme. Mrs. Ryan and Mr. Lewis Adams were fortunate in carrying off the trophies, while the consolation prizes were awarded to Miss Duguid and Mr. Hector Fisher.

Kawartha Club Dance.

The dance held in Coronation Hall, on Friday evening under the auspices of the Kawartha Club was not as well patronized as was expected, owing to so many other attractions and social activities which had been arranged for the same evening. However, those who attended were well pleased with the management and the splendid music provided by Hooper's orchestra, of Lindsay. Mr. T. E. McPherson catered to the gathering in fine style.

Emily Beef Ring.

The annual meeting of the Emily Beef Ring was held on Thursday evening in the U.F.O. hall. Mr. O. G. Williamson, the secretary-treasurer gave a detailed report of the year which was very satisfactory to the members. It was unanimously agreed to reorganize the circle and the same officials were elected, the butcher, Mr. S. D. Vaughan to also continue in office.

Women's Institute.

A meeting of the Women's Institute was held in the U.F.O. Club Room on Thursday afternoon. Only a small percentage of members were present. An encouraging report was given by the Secretary-Treasurer, Mrs. R. J. Cornwall, showing an increase in finances over previous years. It was decided to commence piecing another quilt. It is expected the February meeting will be held in the club rooms.

Series of Sermons.

On Sunday evening the Rev. E. W. Rowland of the United Church began a series of sermons on the Bible which will be continued for four Sundays. The pastor briefly related "How we came to get the Bible," and next Sunday evening purposes to deal briefly with "The contents."

At the close of the service a social half-hour will be held in the Sunday school room in order that the congregation may meet each other and become acquainted with the strangers who are worshiping with us.

Commencing January 25th, a Prayer Service will be held in the Sunday school room, each evening for one week.

Mr. Fred Matchett, of the Canadian West, is renewing old acquaintances in the village.

Miss Florence Rutherford, of Peterborough, spent the week-end at her home here.

N. B. CHEESE OUTPUT INCREASED IN 1925

20 Factories Produced 1,112,894 Pounds.

FREDERICTON, N. B., Jan. 20.—Canadian Press. — New Brunswick's cheese output during 1925 amounted to 1,112,894 pounds, valued at $225,226.85, from 20 of the largest of the 24 factories operating in the province during the year, according to J. R. Sutherland, of Sussex, assistant dairy superintendent of the Provincial Department of Agriculture, who addressed the 50th annual meeting of the New Brunswick farmers and dairymen's associations Tuesday.

This was an increase of 240,000 lbs. over the output of 1924.

The higher prices received for cheese and butter during the year acted as a stimulus to manufacture, said Mr. Sutherland, and there was a noticeable increase in the amount of butter and cheese sold on the Montreal market for export.

WATCH THE KIDNEYS
Fatigue and that tired feeling is the result of poison in the blood. When the kidneys fail to remove this poison from the system it leads to backache, rheumatic pains and sometimes to that fatal ailment known as Bright's disease. When this condition exists, don't delay, go to your druggist and get a box of Dr. Banta's Kidney and Rheumatic Pills and they will quickly correct the cause of your trouble.
Mr. Arthur Pinch of Smith Township states that Dr. Banta's Kidney and Rheumatic Pills give him more speedy relief than any other preparation that he had tried.

The working forces of approximately 5,900 firm reporting averaged 761,131, varying between 690,538 on January 1,1925 and 809,072 on October 1, last index number on latter date was at its highest point for the year, standing at 98.3. In 1924, peak of employment was reached on July 1, when the index was 95.9.

FOUL PLAY FEARED, GAME WARDEN GONE

Missing Since January 8—May Have Slipped Through the Ice.

PEMBROKE, Ont., Jan. 20. — (Canadian Press.) — Sergt. John Billings, game and fisheries inspector at Barry's Bay, has been missing since January 8th and grave fears are entertained for his safety A search party is being organized. Foul play is feared by some, while others are inclined to think that he and his guide may have lost their lives by breaking through the ice on one of the many lakes and rivers in the district to which they went.

ODDFELLOWS ATTENTION.
All Oddfellows are requested to meet to-night (Wednesday) at eight, at the Lodge rooms to make arrangements for the funeral of the late Brother Vickers. James F. Reid, N.G. 1d17-37

OBITUARY.

MRS. JAMES BALDWIN.
Mrs. James Baldwin, a well known resident of Hall's Bridge, for the past five years, and formerly of Peterboro, where she had spent the greater part of her life, passed away on Thursday, January 14. She was 74 years of age.
Left to mourn her loss are two daughters, Mrs. P. J. Bergin of Napanee, Ont., and Mrs. David McGregor, 219 McDonnel street, Peterboro; and two sons, Messrs. William and Hector Smith, at Hall's Bridge.
The funeral took place on Sunday last to the Lakefield cemetery.

SIDNEY R. FISHBOURNE
(Contributed)
The late Sidney R. Fishbourne, who succumbed on Saturday, January 9th, to injuries received while at work in the C.P.R yards, Toronto, was laid to rest on Monday afternoon in Prospect Cemetery, the funeral taking place from his former residence, 741 Indian Road, under the auspices of Fairview lodge, I.O. O.F., of which he was a highly esteemed and beloved member and Brother Rev. D T. L. McKerrol of Victoria Presbyterian Church, conducted the service at the house and spoke of his beautiful Christian character. At home, at work and in the Church and Sunday School he had endeared himself to all with whom he came in contact. Deceased was a brother-in-law of Mrs. A. Jones, Patterson street, and at one time lived here, being at that time connected with the G.T.R. Later he transferred to the C.P.R., in whose services he was when he met his death. Much sympathy is extended to the bereaved young widow and two children in their sad bereavement by their many Peterboro friends.

Silver Dominates Strong Mine Trading Activity

TORONTO, Jan. 20 (Canadian Press).—A good proportion of heavy trading on the Standard Mining Exchange this morning centred around the silvers, which showed a strong tone. The price trend of golds was mixed. Teck Hughes, an active leader, sold down eight at 3.22, and Laval, Quebec, the next most active, sold down to 35, but recovered to 37, two points below yesterday. Canadian Lorrain advanced 10 at 91. Keeley, nine at 190, and Everett a half at 9 1-2, all these showing a turnover of well over 30,000 shares. Nipissing advanced 25 at 6.90, Lake Shore in golds climbed 23 at 11.00. Vipond was also strong, but Chaput-Hughes and Consolidated West Dome were easier.

Stocks Develop Strength After Indefinite Opening

TORONTO, Jan. 20 (Canadian Press).—After an indefinite opening, some strong spots developed on the Toronto Stock Exchange this morning, notably in the mining section. The activity was greatly increased after the first hour, and Smelters, Brazilian, and Atlantic Sugar were heavily dealt in. Brazilian gained a quarter at 82 1-2, but Atlantic Sugar remained steady at 28, and Smelters sold down to 183 3-4, later recovering to close the morning unchanged at 185. Crow's Nest, up two, Industrial Alcohol, up one at 18 1-2, and Sterling Coal and MacKey, each up one, were firm spots. Canadian Canners Common strengthened 1-4 at 13 1-4, and the Preferred 1-2 at 62 1-2. C.P.R. eased 3-4 at 147 1-4, and F. N. Burt and B. C. Fishing were slightly lower. McIntyre, Keeley and Dome gained ten points each. Standard Bank was marked up at 1-1-2 at 200.

Strained Market Situation Results In Wheat Setback

CHICAGO, Jan. 20 (Canadian Press).—Wheat values underwent an early setback today, owing more or less to talk current that the market had been rapidly working into a strained situation similar to that which prevailed on the last crop. The weakness of Liverpool quotations tended further to induce selling here and to depress prices. Reports were also at hand that the movement of new wheat in Argentina is enlarging and that 18,000,000 bushels will be brought to the seaboard this month. Chicago opening figures, 3-4c to 2 -8c lower, May 175 5-8 to 176 1-4 and July 152 to 152 1-2, were followed by some further declines.

Corn and oats went lower with wheat. After opening 1-4 to 5-8c down, May 84 1-4 to 84 3-8, corn continued to sag. Oats started 1-8c to 1-4c off, May 45 1-4 to 45 3-8c. Later the market declined a little more. Downturns in hog values and in grain made the provision market weak.

MIKE RODDEN GETS IN WRONG

MAY BE ARRESTED.

MONTREAL, Jan. 20 (Canadian Press).—The Star today carries the following on its sporting page:
"Mike Rodden, arbiter in the Canadien-Ca... a game at the Mount Royal Arena last night started something likely to prove disastrous to his career as a National Hockey League referee, when he lost his self-control and handed out a stiff punch to one of the box-holders at the north side of the promenade. As a result, it is announced, he will be arrested if he dares to referee here again."

LUMBER YARDS VISITED BY FIRE

Loss in Ottawa Blaze Amounted To About $100,000.

MILL SAVED.

OTTAWA, Jan. 20 (Canadian Press).—The shed and stables of the Mayno D is Lumber Company on Champlain Avenue in this city were destroyed by fire early this morning, entailing a loss of about $100,000. Of this amount the loss of hardwood, lumber, unfinished doors, trimmings, etc., stored in sheds, was valued at $75,000. The cause of the fire is unknown. It is reported that the loss is covered by insurance. The planing mill adjacent to the sheds was saved after a hard fight.

ORILLIA MAN IS UTILITIES HEAD

R. H. Starr Elected President Of Provincial Association at Convention.

MANY PRESENT.

TORONTO, Jan. 20. — Canadian Press. — R. H. Starr, of Orillia, was this afternoon elected president of the Association of Electrical Utilities of Ontario, in succession to V. S. McIntyre of Kitchener, who retired. S. R. Clements of Toronto was elected secretary.
When the annual convention of the Association was commenced to-day, approximately 350 men from all parts of Canada and some from the United States, were present.

OPPOSITION INSIST ON COMMITTEE RULE

Entitled To Five Conservatives To Every Four Liberals is Claim.

OTTAWA, Jan. 20 (Canadian Press).—One of the difficulties confronting the House in the present session is the constitution of committees. Ordinarily the Government can claim, by its numerical strength and by precedent, a majority of the personnel of any Commons committee. This year, the Conservative opposition, with nearly half of the House, will have a commanding position in the House committees and it is understood that it will insist on its full representation of five Conservatives to four Liberals on any committee.

INSULIN USED COST $6.74 PER PATIENT

More Than Half Million Units Distributed in Ontario.

TORONTO, Jan. 20.—(Canadian Press.)— According to a report made to Dr. Forbes Godfrey, the Ontario Minister of Health, this morning, 566,250 units of insulin were distributed by twelve Government distribution points in the province during December. The distribution was carried on at a total cost of $3,112.37 to 426 patients or at an average cost per patient of $6.74 which is slightly lower than that of the previous month.

RISE TO THRONE DRAMATIC TALE

Rize Khan Succeeds Dynasty Noted For Its Cruelty.

TEHERAN (United Press).—After 130 years of rule the Qajar Dynasty which originally won its place by force has succumbed to force.
The story of the overthrow of the Dynasty by a man who began life as a stable boy, reads more like a romance than a political event of modern times.
Agha Mohammed Khan, the founder of the Qajar Dynasty, was a eunuch noted for his cruelty. He mercilessly put to death all who tried to oppose his rule. It is said of him, for instance, that after he had captured the town of Kerman, he ordered that a load of human eyes weighing 42 pounds should be brought to him.
The Qajars were not Persians, but Turks by origin, and they sold the rights and fortune of the people in order to provide themselves with funds for the support of large harems and a style of living of a truly Oriental type.
The accumulated outrages of one hundred years of this misrule culminated in 1896 in the assassination of a Nser-ed-Din Shah. Ten years later this was followed by an uprising of the people which ended in 1906 in the establishment of a Constitutional Monarchy. Two years later there was an unsuccessful attempt to overthrow the Constitutional regime.
The last of the Qajar Shahs Sultan Ahmad Shah was born in 1898 and ascended the throne in 1909 following the abdication of his father Muhammad Ali Shah. From the first he took but little interest in the affairs of his country, devoting himself to accumulating fortunes in Persia and spending them in Paris and on the Riviera.
The fall in the popularity of Sultan Ahmed Shah, had its counter part in the rise to fame of Riza Hhan Pahlavi, the former stable boy, who had successively advanced himself through various army positions to be commander-in-chief of the Persian Army, and later during the enforced absence of the Shah—practically exile, it was—had become virtually dictator of Persia.
With the scenery all set, the last act of the Persian drama came with the pronouncement by the former stable boy that the Shah had been deposed, and that he would rule the country pending the decision of the Majless (Persian parliament) as to the form of government they wished continued and their selection of a leader. As was to be expected they voted for a continuation of their same form of Constitutional Monarchy and by proclamation elevated Riza Khan to full title of Shah.

ST. ANDREW'S W.M.S.

Devotional Meeting Marks First Session of Year in Church Parlor.

The first monthly meeting of St. Andrew's W.M.S. for 1926 was held on Tuesday afternoon in the church parlor and was for the most part devotional. After the reports were read Mrs. A. Porteous led in prayer while Miss Best took the Bible reading.
Mrs. J. W. Gordon gave a very fine talk on prayer, followed by a season of prayer in which a number of the members took part.
A review of the "Messenger" by Miss Craw, which is always so interesting and helpful was then heard. The singing of a hymn and prayer by Mrs. Allen brought the meeting to a close.

FOR CHURCH LEAGUE.

The Men's Association of St. Paul's Church held its regular monthly banquet and entertainment on Monday evening at which dinner was served by the members of the Ladies' Aid. Arthur W. Roebuck, a prominent Toronto lawyer, gave a very interesting talk on "The Democracy of Moses." Mrs. F. G. McNeely, elocutionist, contributed some very fine number towards the programme. The Men's Association of the church has donated a shield to be competed for by the teams which are entered in the Junior Church League.

PERLEY RETURNS TO HOUSE DISCUSSIONS

Sir George Was Conservative Member Between 1904-17 —First Speech To-day.

OTTAWA, Jan. 20 (Canadian Press).—Today's short session in the House will be signalized by the return to parliamentary debate of Sir George Perley, Conservative member for Argenteuil. Sir George represented that riding between 1904 and 1917 and has since represented Canada overseas as Commissioner. He was returned again for the Quebec constituency in the last election He will make his first speech of the new session today.
J. P. Howden, Liberal member for St. Boniface, Man., will be the first speaker to-day. Another probable participant in today's proceedings is F. C. Sanderson, Liberal member for Perth South.

PLAY AT KNOX.

Capable Cast Presented "The Deacon's Honeymoon" Last Night.

"The Deacon's Honeymoon," a three-act comedy of rural life, with amusing situations that kept its audience in a constant state of enjoyment was presented in Knox church lecture hall last evening, to a large crowd of people. The comedy was admirably enacted and staged, the committee in charge, Mesdames J. S. Londerville and N. Gillies, assisted by Miss Annie Crocker, taking special pains with all details which make for a successful amateur production of this type.
"The Deacon's Honeymoon" will be repeate this evening, and should have a capacity audience
Those taking part were: Don Hill, (Deacon Briggs), Mrs. S. Watson, (Mrs. Martha Briggs), Orville Martin (Tom Briggs), Miss C. Clark, (Miss Zackley), John Morrison (Bob Gray), Mrs. R. Williamson, (Esther Horn), Mr. E. Benson, (Silas Pettingill); Mrs. M. Williamson (Miss Perkins), Miss M. Morton (Minnie Briggs), Don Gillespie, (Jim Hooker), and Stan Hunter, (Sam Johnson.)
Between acts, vocal solos were rendered in splendid voice by Mrs. Ross Williamson and violin selections by Mr. Robertson, with accompaniments by Miss Marion McCannan and Mr. Charles Peaker.

ADVERTISE IN THE EXAMINER

IMPROVE HIGHWAY FOR 5 MORE MILES

Macadam To Be Laid From Fraserville To Bailieboro.

Tenders are invited for a macadam roadway to be built from Fraserville to Bailieboro, a distance of 5.24 miles.
This will be a big improvement to the travelling facilities of this district. The highway is macadamized from Peterborough to Fraserville, but as that place there is at present only a gravel road.
With the portion to be macadamized this year there will be an excellent approach to the city from 15 miles out.
Tenders must be received by the Deputy Minister of Highways before noon February 22.

KIWANIS NOTES.

An innovation in Kiwanis activities in Peterborough was made last night when the chairmen of standing committees were formed into an unofficial committee. It is anticipated that the interchange of ideas through the functioning of this committee will work for the good of the club through renewed activity and new effort.
There were present last night: Vice-president Isaac McNabb, chairman; Charles D. Cook; Rev. J. D. Paterson; Harry Boyle; Frank White; Dr. J. J. Craig (president of the club); Charles Elliott; Mark Bredin, and J. R. Heron.
The business discussed related to internal affairs of the Kiwanis Club, and tentative plans were laid for picnics, visits, and service during the year. Jack Heron was appointed secretary of the new committee.

Six Day Exhibition and 40,000 Visitors is 1926 Objective

Roland Denne Elected President of Peterborough Industrial Exhibition for Ninth Successive Term--All Last Year's Officers Returned by Acclamation.

FAIR OPENS ON SEPTEMBER 13 AND RUNS FOR COMPLETE WEEK

Big Shows Booked by Amusement Committee and Local Stock Shows Class That Can Meet Any Visitors' Exhibit—Expansion is Planned.

A six day show and an attendance of 40,000. Roland Denne President for his ninth consecutive term.

These were the high spots in decisions taken at yesterday's annual meeting of the Directors of Peterborough Industrial Exhibition. All the officers of last year were re-elected by acclamation, and six names were added to the Board of Directors. A drive for 1000 members at $2 each will be started, and improvements are planned all along the line.

Mayor Holloway

Mayor Holloway said he would be sorry to see the Peterborough Industrial Exhibition lose the Government grant, and he hoped something would be done to influence the Government. He could not predict the Council's program regarding grants. While everything would be trimmed as far as possible he did not personally favor a cut in the Exhibition grant.

The Mayor spoke enthusiastically about the work of the Exhibition Board, and extended the good wishes of the Council.

President's Address

President Roland Denne said 1925 was one of the most successful years in the eight years the Board had been togther, showing a surplus on the year's show.

The Exhibition is no joke, and any man who is going to be a director must make up his mind to work hard.

The Examiner had done good work in boosting the Exhibition last year, when the attendance was over 36,000. With the program booked for this year the attendance should be 40,000. Shows have been booked the same as at Ottawa and other large fairs.

The objective is 1,000 members. A lot of money is needed for improvements. Every man in the city and county should be a member. The show deserves this support.

The dog show has been criticized, but Mr. Denne thought it alright. The dog show committee might put up a building through a bee. The poultry building should be enlarged and a top should be put on the grand stand. For the parking of cars the south end of the grounds from the sheep pens west should be levelled. To make the people use the grandstand a closed fence should be run from the grand stand easterly along the track.

President Denne thanked the people of city and county for their support, the directors for their work and The Examiner for its publicity services.

General Business

It was moved by Tom Brown and carried that there be no spring stallion show.

Chris Graham moved that the usual field crop competition be entered.—Carried.

The choice of judges was left to the new board of directors, on motion of Reg. Turner.

The fee for affiliation with the Associated Fairs will be forwarded.

On motion of W. S. Merrill the financial report published yesterday was adopted.

W. R. Shields and S. A. Oke were appointed to attend the Ontario Fairs Association in February as delegates from Peterborough Exhibition Board. o

Officers Elected

F. J. A. Hall was chairman during the election of officers.

Roland Denne proposed Reg. Turner as president.

Mr. Turner said he considered Mr. Denne the proper and best person to hold the office. He nominated Mr. Denne.

Mr. Denne recalled that last year's decision was that at the end of the year he would be relieved. He urged that Mr. Turner take the chair.

Vincent Eastwood said Mr. Denne and Mr. Turner have earned the right to their positions and it is the unanimous desire of the Board that they continue.

In accepting under protest Mr. Denne warned that he will insist on every member of every committee working.

Other Officers

Reg. Turner was re-elected first vice-president by acclamation, his nomination being made by Roland M. Glover and Chris. Graham.

Tom McIndoo was re-elected second vice president by acclamation on nomination of Messrs. Merrill and Stewart.

F. J. A. Hall was re-elected secretary by acclamation on nomination of Messrs. Shields and Westlake.

Charles S. Cummer was re-elected treasurer by acclamation on nomination of Messrs. Grandy and Moore.

W. R. Morris and D. J. Lawrie were re-elected auditors by acclamation on motion of Messrs. Fraser and Holmes.

Directors

The directors for the year are: C. H. Ackerman, Walter Bowles, C. W. Seymour, W. Knox, M. Smithson, A. J. Reynolds, S. A. Oke, S. F. Milburn, W. H. Young, J. Williams, J. Seymour, W. Roseborough, W. Breyfogle, C. F. Kitney, R. C. Grandy, W. S. Merrill, Geo. Paxman, E. T. Lillico, Harvey Webber, W. F. Turner, J. W. Fraser, T. H. Hooper, T. Cruikshank, Geo. H. Duncan, Frank Dawson, V. Eastwood, C. H. Westlake, T. D. Young, C. Hanbridge, P. Card, Cecil Wolff, James McMartin, Tom Brown, C. E. Moore, J. O. Ball, W. Steinkrauss, F. Holmes, Thos. Graham, J. Gillespie, C. G. Graham, E. F. Mason, W. H. Shields, D. Jordan, K. Denoon, W. Stewart, Bruce Fowler, M. Geary, Gordon Matthews, W. J. Nesbitt, Vivian Milburn R. M. Glover, H. Lush, J. T. O'Connell, Gus. White, W. Fallis, H. Routley, L. Maguire, E. W. Wood.

Honorary Directors

The Honorary Directors are E. A. Peck, M.P.; Hon. G. N. Gordon; W. H. Bradburn, M.P.P.; Dr. J. A. Embury, M.P.; Lt. Col. Johnston, M.P.P.; Mayor W. T. Holloway, the Warden of the County; H. A. Morrow; George Macdonald; W. G. Morrow; The President of the Ministerial Association; Rev. Father Phelan and the Adjutant of the Salvation Army.

Dog Show

W. S. Merrill said if the dog show is to be carried on a building is required, and there should be a three day show. The latter should be arranged with London giving each city three days. The dog show is a paying proposition and an added attraction.

Six Day Fair

Webber Turner suggested that if a three day dog show is taken up it may be necessary to have a six day Exihibition here.

The motion by Webber Turner and J. O. Ball that the Exhibition run six days carried.

The dates were fixed from September 13 to 18.

R. M. Glover urged the necessity of new features if a six day show is opened, in order to attract the attendance.

Reg. Turner thought an old boys' reunion should not be handled by the Exhibition Board but by all societies in the city.

A. J. Reynolds

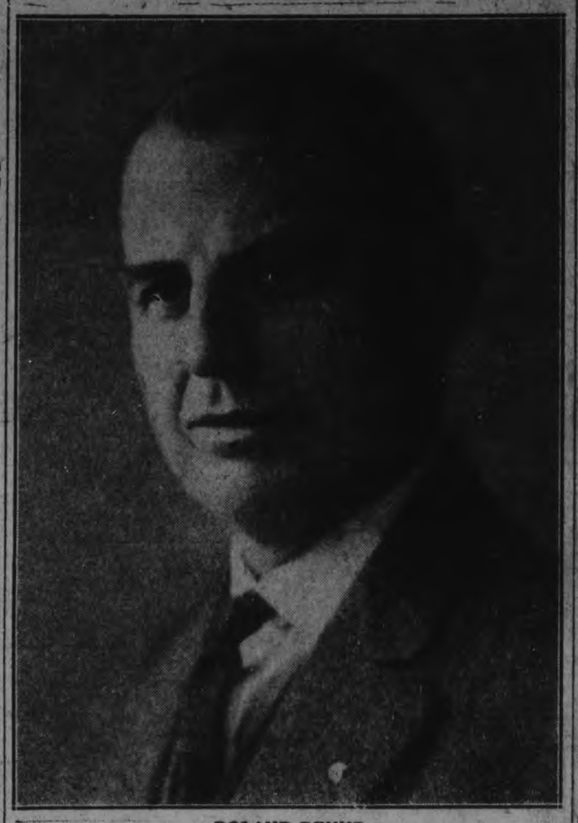
A. J. Reynolds told of fair conditions in the west and complimented the directors on the success of the Peterborough Exhibition last year. He did not see any reason why the six day fair should not go over well

Official Opening

R. M. Glover suggested that there should be a proper opening with an outside speaker, and the matter will be taken up

President Denne said he thought the County Council should give more consideration to the work the Exhibition is doing. The members of the Fair Board are not paid—they are looking out for the farmer; for the betterment of stock; for the education of the farm young people "We should have a bigger grant from the County Council," he said.

STARTS NINTH TERM



ROLAND DENNE

who was yesterday re-elected by acclamation for his ninth term as President of the Peterborough Industrial Exhibition Board.

NOW, HONESTLY—

Every now and then you frown and look kinda sour, don't you?

'Sfoolish! It doesn't make you feel happy—and it has the same effect on everybody else.

Unfortunately a frown is catching. And just suppose you started the whole world to frowning. What a heck of a place this would be to live in.

Don't take a chance.

Smiling is catching, too. And when you see someone else smile—well, dog-gone-it, you just sorta feel good.

Aw, go on—smile!

ELEVEN SEATS FOR G. P. GRAHAM

Minister is Considering Offers of Liberals to Resign.

C.N.R. FORGING AHEAD.

TORONTO, Jan. 21 (Canadian Press). — Rt. Hon. George P Graham, Minister of Railways and Canals, is considering offers made by Hon. C. W. Cross, Athabasca, and others, of resignation in order that he might be provided with a seat in the House of Commons. Mr. Graham told an interviewer here to-day that he had not accepted the "kind offering of Hon. C. W. Cross, but on the other hand," he said, "I have not refused this or any other offer so generously made. I am considering them."

It is stated that Mr. Graham has been offered eleven seats by as many Liberals who are willing to resign in his favor.

"Looks as if the Premier will be accorded a 'walkover' at Prince Albert. But one never can tell. Wait and see," said the Minister.

Concerning railway matters he remarked that the C.N.R. was forging ahead all the time.

HER BUSINESS IS NAMES.

"Nomenclature" is a profession of which a woman, Miss Laura Lee Rogers, Elizabeth, N.J., is believed to have a monopoly. For 20 years Miss Rogers has made a business of supplying catchy names for houses, boats and commercial products. Some of the names suggested by her for prepared foods and similar products have become known throughout America.

CONSULAR CORPS WARNS CHINESE

Of Responsibility For Any Loss During Struggle Over Railway.

TRAFFIC HELD UP.

PEKING, Jan. 21.— (Canadian Press.) — The consular corps at Harbin, headquarters for the Chinese Eastern Railway, has given official notice that the Chinese authorities will be held responsible for any loss of life or property during the present struggle between the Chinese and Soviet Russia for control of the railway.

The contest has arisen out of the Russian refusal to carry Chinese troops free of charge. Yesterday officials issued an order for the resumption of traffic which had been held up by the Russians, but this order was countermanded by the Russian general manager of the road. Chinese crowds who gather about the railway headquarters appear in a menacing mood.

K.K.K. DANCE.

One Hundred Members and Friends Have Enjoyable Gathering.

The Ku Klux Klan of the British Empire held a very enjoyable dance last evening in the Woodmen of the World hall, when members and friends, to the number of about one hundred, were present. Excellent music was supplied by Mrs. J. A. Foster, playing the piano and Mr. Tucker, violin. Ladies in charge were Mrs. H. Gilbert, convenor, Mesdames Lillford and Goodfellow, and Messrs. Clark and Lillford were on the men's committee. During the evening, a specialty dance was given by Messrs. Nazimok and Preston.

GREAT BRITAIN NEEDS ECONOMY TO CHECK TAXES

Winston Churchill Announces Bill Designed to Reduce Expenditure.

ADDRESS AT LEEDS

Lloyd George Denies Rumors of Liberal Union With Labor.

LONDON, Jan. 21.—(Canadian Press).—With the approach of the re-assembling of parliament, February 2, the political guns are becoming active. Former Premier Lloyd George and Winston Churchill, chancellor of the exchequer, were the principal speakers Wednesday. Mr. Lloyd George, at Carnarvon, Wales, put the quietus on recent reports of a possible union of the Liberal and Labor parties, his idea being that both parties were in the wilderness for another three or four years and that there was plenty of time to consider what would happen when the reign of the present Baldwin administration came to an end.

He said that it would be unwise for Liberals to negotiate an alliance with any party, but it should concentrate it energies to reaching the goal of securing a large Liberal representation in the next parliament. When that was achieved it would be time to consider cooperation with men who were prepared to support its programme, whether it involved a coalition government or not.

Paring Expenses.

Mr. Churchill, speaking at Leeds, devoted himself to the urgency of economy in the administration, if further taxation was to be avoided. If the plans of the government for economy were accepted, all would be well, he said; no extra taxation was needed. He announced that a bill would be presented in parliament seeking alterations and modifications of certain legislative decisions that compelled expenditure. These economies covered the whole field; no department escaped; everyone had to make a sacrifice.

CAT SAVES NINE AS HOUSE BURNS

Wakened One Person, Who Called Remainder of Roomers.

NOBODY HURT.

TORONTO, January 21. Canadian Press. — Alarmed by a cat, nine people managed to make their escape from a burning rooming house on Simcoe street, early to-day, suffering little injury other than slight shock.

A cat awakened Mrs. Forence Scott who found the rooms full of smoke, and she in turn roused all the other occupants.

Sheets tied to her bed on the top floor was the method which Mrs. Charlotte Warner was forced to use to escape. She slid down two stories to a shed from which the firemen rescued her.

TWO YOUNG WOMEN ARE CALLED TO BAR

Misses Margaret Hyndman and Ruby Wigle Budding Lawyers.

TORONTO, Jan. 21 (Canadian Press).—Two young women were called to the bar at Osgoode Hall to-day. They are Miss Margaret Hyndman, formerly of Palmerston, Ont., and Miss Ruby Wigle, daughter of the Rev. Dr. Wigle, of Sackville, N.B.

Must Be Something In Notion That Liquor is Devilish Confiscated Bottles Grow Horns; Pickled Lizzard In One

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21 (Canadian Press).—There may be something, after all, in this notion that "Likker" is a concoction of the devil.

Two half gallon jars of moonshine, being held as evidence in the prohibition laboratory here have grown pairs of horns.

Chemists think the liquor was highly acid, and became volatile; that the fumes ate their way through the zinc tops and as they passed off into the air formed little crystaline horns by the combinatjon of metal and acid.

There may also be some reason why the consumer of "likker" sometimes sees snakes. In a jar of confiscated whiskey, chemists found a pickled lizzard. The jar was taken from a pickled lounge lizard.

LIBERAL URGES TARIFF BOARD AS SOLUTION OF NATIONAL PROBLEM TOO LONG A POLITICAL FOOTBALL

Would Place the Tariff on "Sane, Common-Sense Basis."

MID-WEEK SESSION

Manitoba and Maritime Members Present Sectional Claims to House.

OTTAWA, Ont. Jan. 21.—(By Canadian Press).—Supporters of the Government and of the Conservative opposition furnished the speakers during Wednesday's brief sitting of the House of Commons. Debate on the address was continued by J. J. Howden, of St. Boniface, the only Liberal returned from Manitoba. He emphasized the importance of the transportation problem. If the primary products of the Dominion could be moved to the central markets, one of the real difficulties confronting Canadians would have been removed. Immediate construction of the Hudson Bay Railway was essential to the West, he said.

From the Conservative benches, Sir George Perley, member for Argenteuil, declared his belief in a protective tariff, advised economy in the administration of the country's affairs, and emphasized the importance of keeping Canadians in Canada. He was followed by F. G. Sanderson, Liberal member for South Perth, who supported the idea of a tariff advisory board. Such a board would bring the tariff down to a "sane, common-sense basis," Mr. Sanderson said.

Tariff A Political Football.

In the Province of Ontario, especially in the western part, the issue in the last election was mainly on the tariff. The tariff has been the "politicol football" of the two old parties. Agriculture was the basic industry of the country, and he thought that the cities and towns had been stampeded by the tariff and voted for what they called "higher protection."

"The country also," interjected J. D. Chaplin (Conservative-Lincoln).

"Not all the country," replied Mr. Sanderson. Out of six townships in South Perth he had received a majority in five of them.

If, stated Mr. Sanderson, the export of our natural products were increased and farmers prospered, the manufacturers and others would automatically benefit. The establishment of the proposed advisory tariff board would bring this problem down to a "sane common sense basis." Many candidates for parliamentary honors, and even departmental officials had not full knowledge of the "ramifications" of the tariff.

Claims of Maritimes

A. J. Doucet (Conservative-Kent) reviewed the effect of the general election in the Maritime Provinces. The Goverment representations had fallen from sixteen to three in Nova Scotia, and in New Brunswick the Conservatives had returned ten to one. Unlike the Prime Minister who had said he did not know what Maritime rights were, Mr. Meighen gave the people of those provinces to understand that he knew what their grievances were and he proposed to meet the needs of the Maritimes.

Premier King had evaded the issue when he said that he did not know what Maritime rights were, asserted Mr. Doucet. Mr. Meighen had admitted he knew what Maritime rights were, and had expressed his determination to cope with them if he was returned to power. One of the first things to be considered was the transportation of Canadian coal to the Canadian market. If Canada could spend $119,000,000 on anthracite coal from the United States, it should be possible to devise some scheme whereby Canadian coal could be brought to the markets of central Canada. The duty of any Government was to strive to bring about an equalization of conditions in every part of the dominion and to give fair play to the people of the Maritimes or to any other section of the country.

Liberals Lose In Quebec.

Mr. Doucet did not believe that the result of the last election indicated a want of faith by Quebec in the tariff policy of the Conservative party. Other considerations had been exaggerated until they obscured the tariff issue, and he believed that if the average elector of Quebec could be sounded out on the tariff question, it would be found that he was in favor of Mr. Meighen's tariff policy. In any case, an anaylsis of the popular vote in Quebec last October revealed that the Liberal party had lost in comparison with 1921 about 87,000 votes while the Conservatives had gained more than 100,000.

Mr. Doucet had not finished when the House adjourned at the close of the day.

MARINE POLICE SEIZE FINE TUG CARRYING BOOZE

More Than Million Dollars' Worth of Liquor Seized.

CREW ESCAPES.

Sea Cocks Opened, But Policemen Dive Down and Close Them.

NEW YORK, Jan. 21 (Canadian Police).—Marine police early today seized the oil-burning, ocean-going tug, Rescue, with a cargo of liquor said to be worth more than a million dollars after a chase off Sandy Hook in which several hundred rounds from machine guns and half a dozen shots from a one-pounder were fired.

The Rescue, which is valued at about $250,000, was formerly owned by the Merritt Chapman Wrecking Company, but its present owner is unknown to the police. Before the bluecoats could reach the tug's side, the crew had opened the sea cocks and fled from an East River slip. Four men who remained aboard surrendered, but none would talk. The police are searching for other members of the crew, said to number 16 men. Policemen dived into the water in the hold and closed the sea cocks. Coastguard officials said the craft had on board over 25,000 cases of assorted wines and liquors. Coastguard officers said they received a tip three weeks ago that the tug was bound for New York with a million dollar cargo. When the Rescue was first identified by searchlight from the coastguard base off Sandy Hook, a speedy guard boat was sent out to intercept her. When the rum runner put on speed, the engine of the guard boat "died" and the Rescue drew away and was enveloped in mists. The guardsmen swung their one-pound gun into action and blazed at the disappearing rum runner. It was the sound of firing that brought the marine division police into pursuit with a launch.

Briand Is Now Champion French Cigarette Maker

PARIS, Jan. 21 (United Press).—Premier Briand is rapidly developing the record of champion cigarette smoker of France.

Although his doctor has ordered him to smoke not more than eight a day, the great leader, under the strain of nervouse tension involved in his battle to prevent his Cabinet from crashing, is now smoking more than ever.

His record now runs into scores per day—just how many he himself does not know.

Briand does much work alone now in preparation for the coming tempest in the Chamber. He is depicted as determined not to surrender his power and equally determined to retain Finance Minister Doumer in his Cabinet, though politicians of the Left are seeking Doumer's scalp.

THE WEATHER.

Lowest temperature last night, 18 degrees, and the rain has been succeeded by snow, which has fallen to the depth of several inches. Clear and colder weather prevails all through the west and is coming this way. While most of us look forward with a certain amount of dread to the advent of a Canadian winter, our anticipations usually prove worse than the reality. Up to the present time the winter of 1925-26 has been fairly well behaved, and another six weeks should see the worst of it over.—W. P.

Confections Not Replacing Hootch In Topers' Affections Is Finding Of U.S. Officials—Candy Business Declines

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21 (United Press). — Six years of prohibition have apparently failed to cause habitual drinkers to turn to sweets for solace, late statistics of the Department of Commerce show.

Despite the contention in dry and medical circles in 1919 that "old topers" would turn to confectionery for gratification of their cravings with the advent of national prohibition, the manufactured values of candies and sweets have declined nearly 25 per cent. from the value of $252,434,000 in 1919.

There has been a corresponding decrease in the number of manufacturing establishments engaged in the making of confectionery. In 1914 there were a total of 2,317 such establishments; these increased to 3,148 in 1918, and have since decreased until latest available figures of the Department show only 2,024.

WORKMEN KILLED.

Two Men Suffocated When Hopper of Gravel Pot Collapsed.

CHICAGO, Jan. 21.—(Canadian Press.)—Two workmen were killed and two others were injured yesterday when a huge hopper collapsed and buried them under tons of sand and gravel in the basement of a north side building under construction. Other workmen, assisted by policemen and firemen a few minutes after the accident, began digging and reached two of the men before they suffocated.

NEW LONDON POLICE WHY? ASKS HERALD

Authorities Wish To Recruit 100 Weekly—Contrary To Economy Programme.

LONDON, Jan. 21. Canadian Press. — There is a rush in recruiting for the London police, says the Daily Herald, the Labor-Socialist organ.

It is the intention of the authorities, according to the newspaper, to accelerate recruiting during the next few weeks until 100 men are obtained weekly.

The Herald desires to know the reason for this extraordinary increase in the cost of the police force while the government is preaching the necessity for economy in the rising expenditures.

It hints that the enlarging of the police force is in preparation for expected labor troubles next May.

PRESENTATION TO ARMY OFFICIALS

Commandant and Mrs. Smith Get Tea Service From Police Department.

An interesting event took place in the police station on Tuesday night when Commandant and Mrs. Smith the two popular Salvation Army officers, were presented with a silver tea service from the members of the Police Department. Mrs. Smith has served as police matron during the 3 1-2 years she and her husband have been stationed in Peterborough, and are leaving the city today for their new sphere of labor in Toronto, to which city they have been transferred.

Judge Huycke acted as chairman of the meeting and the presentation was made by Mayor Holloway. Inspector Reid, Detective Sergeant Meagher, Sergeant Deannard and J. A. O'Brien made short speeches eulogizing the work that Mrs. Smith had accomplished and wished her every success in the work to which they were going.

Mrs. Smith replied in a few appropriate words, thanking the department for their great kindness to her during her period of service.

KITCHENER PLANNED DAM OPENED TODAY

Irrigation Facilities Will Promote Cotton Growth—Make New Lake.

CAIRO, Egypt, Jan. 21. Canadian Press. — The Makwar dam on the Blue Nile, far down in the Sudan, will be opened to-day by Lord Lloyd the British High Commissioner to Egypt, and will bring under irrigation 300,000 acres of Gezira plain, devoted to cotton raising.

The Egyptian officials estimate that in this area 40,000,000 pounds of cotton can be raised annually, thus providing a new cotton supply for the Lancashire mills, which draw most of their supply at present from the United States.

It was Earl Kitchener who first fostered the plan for a great dam in the Sudan. The dam is two miles long, and will make a lake of 50 miles at its greatest dimensions, holding 140,000,000,000 gallons of water. It cost 13,000,000 pounds (about $53,000,000.)

"HIS UNCLE'S NIECE."

Amusing Three-Act Comedy Presented at St. Luke's Hall.

Opening the first night of its two-night stand at St. Luke's Parish Hall the three-act comedy, "His Uncle's Niece," was received by a capacity audience yesterday. The action of the play centered around two impecunious youths, one of whom had been promised a million should 'he' unite in matrimony with a certain estimable bachelor of his uncle's choosing. It developed early in the first act that the plutocratic uncle had been deluded for years into the belief that Francis was "Frances." Richard Tate, an ingenuous but seldom retained lawyer hit upon the happy scheme of gilding his room-mate in the garb of the opposite sex, and after that continuous laughter was evoked because of the complications which arose. The extempore niece in a fetching blue gown and topped with a henna crown found that the task assigned "her" was no sinecure but played the role gallantly until the denouement when the "niece" was exposed. The satisfaction of the uncle, however, in finding that he had an upstanding nephew instead of a giggling niece was shared by the audience at the successful termination of the fiasco.

The play will be staged again tonight and will likely draw a good crowd.

A five-piece orchestra, consisting of piano, banjo, drums and two violins brightened the moments before the rising of the curtain on the first act and during the subsequent intermissions between the acts. Mrs. Davis sang a solo which was much appreciated.

The cast of characters was as follows: Richard Tate (Ormie Heap), Francis Felton (Cecil Hope), Dora Hale (Flossie Pammett), Alice Malcolm (Queenie Hope), Mrs. Sarah Ann Miller (Mrs. W. Hepburn), Simon Felton (Ormie Heap), Philander Filmore (Delbert Gardener), Timothy Haye (Percy Lindley), Silas Sickelmore (Roland Krant).

GARTER BOUQUET LATEST

The "garter bouquet" is the latest creation as an accessory to Milady's dress. It was designed by a Philadelphia florist, and is worn below the knee. The "garter bouquet" consists of a lily of the valley, sweet peas, heather and feathers, bound with ribbon to match the wearer's gown or hose. It is intended for wear especially at dances.

"BRINGING UP FATHER" — Geo. McManus

The ORACLE

This day we fashion Destiny, our web of Fate we spin. —Whittier.

Fixed fate, free will, foreknowledge absolute. —Milton.

E. B. T.—You are very temperamental and are inclined to want your own way in everything you do. You do not get along well with others, and do not succeed in society. You may be musical, but if so you have not developed your ability. You have a certain business sense that will help you, but you should endeavour to make yourself more agreeable. Your color is green. You were born on a Tuesday.

A. L. H.—You have a high mentality, well developed. You will succeed in almost anything you attempt, except in working with your hands. You are not adept in handling tools, and are not mechanically inclined. You have highly developed observative powers, and are interested in making deductions and following analogies. Your colors are red and brown. Your were born on a Thursday.

A. C. T.—Yours is a highly developed nature, and you will find satisfaction in altruistic service. You are sympathetic and kind hearted, with well grounded affections. You will succeed best in business for yourself, but should beware of speculation. Your color is yellow. You were born on a Friday.

E. A. P.—Look ahead of your present position, and see your objective. Have you one? Then gain it as soon as you can. You will not succeed by drifting. Cultivate initiative and resourcefulness. Assert yourself. Your colors are brown and orange. You were born on a Monday.

G. E. B.—You are too eager for the approbation of others, and not particular enough about how you gain it. Stir up your moral spirit, and look for the solid worth that comes from good deeds well done. You have great adaptability and would appreciate travel. Your color is brick. You were born on a Wednesday.

L.L.B.—You are well developed mentally, but lack initiative and poise. You should study to assert your individuality; don't take a back seat when you know your knowledge and experience entitle you to the front row. You detest routine, yet are in the very way of becoming mired in it. Your color is sand. You were born on a Sunday.

A. A. R.—Yours are joyous indications, but you are inclined to be shallow in your mirth as in your affections. Do not be fickle. Settle your affections on one object and keep them there. Look deeper than the surface if you desire true worth. Be sure you have something to laugh about. Your characteristics vibrate to no color, hence your keynote is black, the absence of color. You were born on a Friday.

Fourth prize, $5, won by L. Conway, Ennismore, ticket No. 1428.

Fifth prize, $10, won by K. O'Connor, Ennismore, ticket No: 1378.

Sixth prize, $10, won by Leo McBirney, ticket No. 700.

Seventh prize, $10, won by D. Holland Peterborough, ticket No. 1301.

Eighth prize, $5, won by Ewin Twomey, Ennismore, ticket No. 1308.

Set of dishes won by Eugene Murphy, Ennismore.

Woollen blanket won by Mrs. James Killen, Ennismore.

Fancy doll won by Mildred Kennedy, Ennismore.

To the citizens of Peterborough, who so kindly bought tickets and the merchants for their generous donations to the fancy booth, the parishioners and pastor are deeply grateful.

WARKWORTH FAIR BOARD HAD SURPLUS

Showed Balance of 411.03 at End of Year—President Re-elected.

(By a Staff Reporter)

WARKWORTH, Jan. 21—George Poole was re-elected president of the Percy Agricultural Society at the annual meeting held here Wednesday and A. B. Armstrong was re-elected secretary-treasurer. Nearly all the directors were retained in office, two of the members, who have served the longest in that capacity, J. F. Freure and H. L. Walker, retiring to the regret of their associates.

The work of President Poole during the year was highly commended by the other member of the society and he was given credit for a large measure of the success which was met with during 1925 in spite of adverse conditions. At the beginning of last year the treasurer had on hand a balance of $20.87 and now the surplus is $411.03. This showing is regarded as remarkable when it is recalled that the Fall fair was held in a snowstorm that cut the attendance to less than half what the directors had every reason to hope it would have been under ordinary weather conditions. As it was the sum of over $1900 was paid out in prize money.

The President's Address

In his annual address President Poole said that the report of Auditors Dr. H. S. Allen and H. L. Walker was highly satisfactory and that the success of the past year was not due to the work of himself but had been made possible by the splendid assistance given him by the directors.

The financial report was read yy W. H. Nelson who was treasurer last year. On motion of C. H. Curtis and H. L. Walker it was decided to apply $400 of the surplus to the principal of what is owing by the society

On motion of C. H. Curtis and H. Aylesworth it was decided to continue in the standing field crop competition this year, the board of directors to decide the crops to be entered.

Left to Directors

The directors will also decide whether the departmental judges are to be employed. This action was taken on the motion of W. H. Nelson and J. F. Freure after C. H. Curtis had argued that the society should select its own judges as in the past, those sent out by the Department, according to Mr. Curtis, having been getting worse for the past 10 years. Freeman White and other members, however, maintain that the work of the latter had been satisfactory in any part of the district where they have officiated.

Delegates Appointed

President Poole will represent the society at the meeting of the Ontario Fairs Association in Toronto next month and H. Aylesworth was elected a delegate to the Central Ontario Fairs Association, the annual meeting of which will be held in Belleville on Wedneday of next week.

Officers Elected

On motion of Director Freure a hearty vote of thanks was tendered President Poole for his efficient services and after Mr. Poole had acknowledged the compliment, he was re-elected president on motion of Messrs. White and Aylesworth.

W. A. Kelly was elected first, and W. H. Nelson, second vice-president

President Poole, Directors Walker, Freure and Moore were, on motion of C. H. Curtis, appointed a committee to select a board of directors for the year. The committee retired and in a few minutes brought in the following list of names which was adopted without change: A. B. Armstrong, W. S. Nelson, C. H. Curtis, H. Aylesworth, W. J. Ross, F. H. Moore, W. E. Hermiston, George Hutchison, John Leonard, Ben Buchanan, C. Sherwin, F. White E. Oliver, J. L. Phillips, George Bowen and A. C. Twiddy.

Messrs. Freure and Walker were urged to remain on the board but both declined although they promised to continue to render the society all the assistance in their power. In the past Mr. Freure has rendered valuable aid as a member of the finance committee while Mr. Walker has excelled in advertising the fair.

Directors in Session

After the meeting adjourned the new board of directors held a brief session and re-elected A. B. Armstrong as secretary. Last year the offices of secretary and treasurer were separate, W. H. Nelson holding the latter position, but the directors decided to combine the duties, Secretary Armstrong to act as treasurer also and to receive the salary that was paid for both positions, $115 a year.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

THE HOLIDAY AND K.K.K.

The Editor of The Examiner.

Dear Sir—Kindly allow me a little space in your valuable paper. In last Saturday's issue of The Examiner, there appeared an article concerning a public meeting in Millbrook in the interests of the K. K. K. movement. A Dr. Hawken was the speaker. In his speech he says that the House of Commons refused to adjourn on Queen Victoria's birthday, but it did adjourn on Ascension day. The Roman Catholics had sufficient authority to accomplish this, Ascension day being a date specially observed by this church. Well, if that isn't a great joke. Since when is Ascension day a special Roman Catholic holiday? If Dr. Hawken is so well acquainted with the Christian doctrine, he ought to know that Ascension day is one of the greatest religious festivals of the Episcopal and also of the Roman Catholic Church. It is one for which the Church of England appoints special psalms and the same church also particularly recommends it as a fitting day for the receiving of the communion. There is Assumption day, which is a purely Roman Catholic Church holiday, but not Ascension day. So rightly the House of Commons refused to adjourn on Queen Victoria's birthday, for why should an earthly queen rank before Christ?

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, I remain, yours truly. —"Tolerance."

The man who thought a buggy was good enough

In the old days, a solid, conservative citizen might sniff and tell you he didn't read advertising.

He didn't think so much of the horseless carriage, either. The telephone was newfangled, and an insult to the United States mails.

As for radio, aeroplanes, wireless photography—if they had been born then, he probably would have thought them a bit immoral.

But he's changed. He's been educated. His point of view has been made broader and more modern. He has been civilized—by the automobile, the telephone, radio, advertising.

Every single one has opened up new paths for him, taught him new things. Advertising, especially. Advertising tells him the newest things to wear, the best things to eat. Advertising tells his wife how to make a home up to date and attractive. Advertising tells him the prices to pay for things he buys, saves him from the old-fashioned ways of doing business—helps him live well, keeps him modern.

Advertising can help you. The advertisements in this newspaper are here to tell you many things that make life more comfortable, more interesting, happier. Read them faithfully. They'll keep you abreast of the times. They'll prevent you from becoming the type of old fogy who—sniff!—doesn't read advertising.

Advertising is the key to modernity

PETERBORO'S BIG FAIR.

That the Peterboro Industrial Exhibition is rapidly developing into the status of "big business" is shown by the financial statement presented at the annual meeting yesterday, showing receipts last year of over $25,000 and assets amounting to nearly $50,000.

An institution which handles $25,000 a year is no small concern, and the evidence of growth and progress that is supplied by the financial statement for last year will be accepted proudly by the citizens of Peterboro and district, who rightly regard the Industrial Exhibition as distinctly their own.

The fact that there is a surplus of over $4,000 to record, despite heavy expenditure on improvements and maintenance during the year, reveals a healthy financial condition that must be gratifying to the Directors, who have carried on courageously in spite of a number of lean years marked by weather conditions that were most disheartening.

The general feeling is that the Peterboro Exhibition has fought through to permanent success.

Last year "made" the Exhibition.

Over 36,000 people attended, many of them coming from a distance, and they all went away "boosting" for the Peterboro Fair.

Its reputation has been made, and with the Directors showing no inclination to be satisfied with the laurels already won, but driving ahead to fresh triumph, there is every reason to expect prosperous years for the big Exhibition.

The enthusiasm shown at yesterday's meeting was in itself a happy augury for the future.

HIS NINTH YEAR.

For the ninth year in succession Roland Denne has been elected President of the Peterboro Industrial Exhibition, the Directors refusing to discuss any probability of any one succeeding him at the head of the big Peterboro Fair.

Mr. Denne's faith in the Exhibition, the ability and vision he has shown in his long term as President and his faculty of being able to inspire all those associated with the Fair with the same enthusiasm that has always permeated himself, have combined to make him a most successful President, and so long as he can be induced to accept the position his fellow-Directors are not likely to even think of a change.

With the attendance objective raised to 40,000 for 1926 and the Exhibition extended another day, making a full week's exhibition, the ninth year of Mr. Denne's tenure of office promises to be a record one.

When the Examiner a few years ago intimated that before long the Peterboro Exhibition would run a whole week the idea was scoffed at by many citizens, but the week's Fair has arrived, even sooner than the Examiner expected.

The extension will immediately raise the status of the Exhibition, making it easier to secure worthwhile attractions and advertising Peterboro from one end of the country to the other.

A bigger Fair than ever before looms up as a probability for 1926.

THE CEMETERY BOARD.

The fact that Tuesday's meeting was the seventy-fifth annual gathering of the Little Lake Cemetery Board calls attention to this organization as one of the oldest in the city.

For three-quarters of a century the Board has been carrying on its task of keeping beautiful the resting place of Peterboro's citizens who have passed on, and the result of the efforts of the various members who have served on the directorate is to be seen in the truly beautiful cemetery, picturesquely located and bearing every evidence of loving and earnest care.

Each year sees new work undertaken and completed, the reports of last year's operations showing a considerable amount of improvement carried out in 1925, and it is apparent that the present Directors, many of whom have served for many years, are alive to their duties and have a keen sense of their responsibility.

Little Lake Cemetery, in its splendid appearance and in the very evident indications it shows of sympathetic attention, is a credit to those men who have given so freely of their time and ability to serve their fellow-citizens on the Board.

The Little Lake Cemetery Board is one of the best managed, as well as one of the oldest institutions in Peterboro, and the reports presented at the annual meeting should be gratifying to the community.

A PROVINCIAL ELECTION?

Evidently both the Liberal and Progressive oppositions in Ontario look for a Provincial election before mid-summer, for both organizations are preparing for a campaign.

Meanwhile all efforts to secure from Premier Ferguson an admission that an election is likely to take place in the spring have met with failure.

Mr. Ferguson, with the amiling urbanity that is a characteristic feature of the Provincial Premier, turns all queries deftly aside.

In spite of his refusal to confirm the reports, however, the impression is gaining ground that an appeal to the people of the Province is not far off, and, furthermore, that in the coming session legislation will be introduced providing for a new liquor policy for Ontario, upon which the Government will go to the country.

Whether that policy will be a straight Government control policy or be based on a system of local option even those who profess to be close to the present administration do not attempt to state, but at all evens they seem to be convinced that a change of front is coming.

Politically, the introduction of such legislation would lead to an interesting situation, in which the Government would monopolize the wet vote while the two opposition parties would divide the dry vote between them.

There is no official confirmation, however, of the rumoured decision of the Government, and dry and wet alike will have to wait until Mr. Ferguson decides to put his cards down on the table.

TWO VETERANS, TWO VIEWS.

The late Adam Brown's philosophy of life was expressed tersely in a public speech last autumn. He gave to young Canada five precepts, or working rules, for long life and happiness:

Work hard in whatever you do.

Don't worry after you have done your best.

Apply the Golden Rule: Do to others as you would that they should do to you.

Be honest in everything.

Keep control of your temper and emotions.

These rules, unlike many counsels of perfection, are practical, says the London Advertiser. They are those of a man who aimed high, yet kept his feet on the solid ground. Not one of them is beyond human power, if the heart and the spirit are right. They are in contrast to the more light-minded views of the Viennese celebrity, Dr. Adolf Lorenz, the "bloodless surgeon," who is re-visiting this continent. Dr. Lorenz is so cynical that he is open to the auspicion of saying things which he does not entirely believe because they are smart and because he wishes to shock the Puritans whom he accuses of imposing a tyrannical regime on the United States. His prescription of "moderation in everything, even goodness," is an epigram, not to be taken too seriously.

Dr. Lorenz attributes his vigor and zest of life at seventy-one to a gland operation. Adam Brown had no need of an artificial method of living joyfully until the verge of a hundred. By attention to nature's laws of health and attuning his mind to the proper key he was vouchsafed an Old age serene and bright,

And lovely as a Lapland night.

It will be a sorry day for humanity when it looks to the surgeon and not to the great physician, nature, for health and happiness past middle life. There is a complete system of wholesome moral and physical discipline in Adam Brown's five precepts, and if generally practiced they would do more for the human race than the whole elaborate science of eugenics, to say nothing of monkey glands.

WASHINGTON'S WARTS.

One begins to wonder whether the modern passion for historical accuracy is a manifestation of the true spirit of scientific inquiry or merely a literary stunt designed to dress up history in more sensational colors. The doubt is inspired by the appearance of Rupert Hughes, the American novelist and playwright, in the role of an historical inquisitor, whose studies appear to have led him to the general conclusion, once expressed by Sir Robert Walpole, that history is all a lie, and later proclaimed by Henry Ford in the ringing slogan, "history is bunk;" and in particular, that in the art of writing fiction he, Rupert Hughes, is an amateur compared with the biographers of George Washington.

The colorful novelist, who loves lurid effects, has startled his countrymen with the discovery that the "Father of the Republic" they have been worshipping is a figure largely legendary, whose true character has been concealed under a cloak of patriotic sentiment and biographic idolatry. The hero of the cherry tree story who never told a lie, the heavenborn military genius and statesman who saved his country and consecrated its independence, the spotless saint of school-book tradition is revealed by Mr. Hughes as "a profane, irreligious and pleasure-loving man," who "gambled, swore profusely, played cards and danced all night."

Nor is this all. The novelist, who claims to have made a special study of his subject with an eye to historical truth, declares that Washington drank freely of beer of his own brew, that he was "a regular sport," that far from being the great and high-souled patriot pictured in history and biography, he neither favored nor meant to fight for independence, and that, in short, the halo drawn around the devoted head of the first President is, to put it mildly, an optical illusion.

It is scarcely surprising that to the perfervidly patriotic Sons of the Revolution who formed Mr. Hughes' audience at Washington, these so-called historical truths suggested "vulgar aspersions upon the memory of the principal founding father," and roused their ire. One may question, indeed, the taste of a speaker who chose such a time and place for his unrefined criticism of the patron saint of the capital and the body he addressed. But as a lady in the gallery at New York is reported to have exclaimed while she listened to Mr. Hughes repeating his disclosures about the drinking, gambling, cursing and dancing habits of the immortal George: "Well, what if he did?"

The fact that Washington would have scorned, and probably violated, the Volstead Act, that he was a good poker player, that he was not always particular in the choice of his language, and that he liked to "trip the ligh' fantastic toe" when occasion offered only goes to prove that like other great men he was but human, and, what is more to the point, a real American.

Macaulay described a certain type of biographer as "a literary vassal, bound by the immemorial law of his tenure to render homage, aids, reliefs, and all other customary services to his lord," and the biographers of Washington largely belong to that class. They were probably unacquainted with the story, the truth of which, it is to be hoped, ruthless historical investigators like Rupert Hughes will not question, that when Cromwell sat for his portrait he commanded the artist to paint him "warts, pimples and all."

What the author of so many best sellers is evidently attempting to do for Washington is to paint him ::warts, pimples and all." That he is eminently fitted for such an exercise in realism no one who has read his works will deny. And yet, Satan reproving sin is a conception not more anomalous than the spectacle of Rupert Hughes, novelist and playwright, reprobating the imaginative productions of those purveyors of popular fiction and romance—the biographers of George Washington.—Ottawa Journal.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

Peterboro's Industrial Exhibition is heading for a new record, judging from yesterday's annual meeting.

The parties at Ottawa will have no difficulty in talking themselves into their $4,000 indemnities.

Reckless drivers in Detroit are to be sent to a mental clinic. A general adoption of that method would considerably reduce the number of motorists.

France proposes new taxes amounting to 4,000,000,000 francs. But will she be able to collect them?

If dancing is the poetry of motion, then modern steps are the "vers libre."—Wall Street Journal.

CATTLE, GRAIN AND PRODUCE

Peterboro—Toronto—Montreal
Winnipeg

TORONTO LIVESTOCK.

TORONTO, Jan. 20.—Discards from this week's export purchases were resold this morning for domestic killing. Steers brought $7 to $7.50 a cwt. and heifers $6.75 a cwt. Included in this week's receipts were 450 export cattle on through billing for the H. P. Kennedy Company.

Export heifers were brought today from $6.50 to $7.25 a cwt. The butchers' trade was not too active, and the market had the appearance of firming it the competition became keener. Prices were not steady. Good butchers' sold from $6.75 to $7.25 a cwt. and just useful killing heifers were $6 to $6.25 a cwt. A couple of prime baby beeves brought $9.50 a cwt. The cow trade was steady, and choice fat cows were around $6 a cwt. Only a few stockers and feeders were traded in at firm prices. The market is slowly cleaning up, and few, if any, will be left tomorrow.

Choice calves were up 50 cents a cwt. to 13¾ cents a pound. More calves can be sold than are arriving.

Lambs are steady at 13¾ to 14 cents a pound on ewes and wethers. Choice lambs will bring 25 to 50 cents a cwt. higher. Sheep are steady at 7½ to 8 cents a pound for choice.

The packers are bidding $12.75 a cwt. f.o.b. on hogs today, but sellers are hopeful of keeping the price at $13 a cwt.

MONTREAL GRAIN AND PRODUCE

MONTREAL, Jan. 20 (Canadian Press) The export demand for Canadian grain on the Montreal market today was practically at a standstill and as a result, the volume of business was small.

Trading in the local market for spring wheat flour was quiet, with business both domestic and export on the dull side. Prices were steady. In the market for winter wheat grades of flour there was reported no change for the quietness that has prevailed of late, with prices holding steady.

Receipts of butter in Montreal today totalled 109 packages, as compared with 96 packages on the same day of last week and 19 packages on the corresponding day of last year. Business was extremely dull, with little do mestic trade and practically no export inquiry. Prices are, however, quoted unchanged.

Dullness also continued to prevail in the local cheese market, with little business reported either for domestic or export. Early makes are quoted at 20 to 21 cents per pound and current receipts go at 17 to 17 1-2 cents per pound. Receipts totalled 103 boxes, as compared with 684 boxes on the same day of last week and 26 moxes on the corresponding day of last year.

Receipts of eggs in Montreal totalled 1 019 cases, as compared with 1,389 cases on the same day of last week and 26 boxes on the corresponding day of last year. There were no new developments in this market, prices holding with a fair amount of business passing.

STERLING RATES

MONTREAL, Jan. 20 (Canadian Press). — Sterling exchange rates were quoted here today as follows:
Sterling demand $4.86 1-2.
Sterling cables $4.87.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Jan. 20 (Canadian Press).—With the movement of new wheat in Argentina reported to be increasing and with timely snowfalls in Kansas and Nebraska, the wheat market today showed a downward slant. Despite rallies, wheat closed unsettled, 7-8 to 1 3-8c lower, new, $1.76 3-8 to $1.76 1-2 and July $1.52 1-2 to $1.52 5-8. Corn finished 1-8 to 3-8c off; oats 1-8 to 1-4 to 3-8c down, and provisions at 12 cents to 22 cents decline.

According to advices which were current, 18,000,000 bushels of Argentine wheat will be brought to the seaboard this month. In connection with this news, weakness of Liverpool and Buenos Aires quotations appeared to be significant, and so, too, did evident lack of European demand for wheat from North America.

LINDSAY FAIR MEETING RENT BY STRIFE OVER PETERBORO GAINS

Executive Resent Criticism at Stormiest Session in Many Years.

FAIR GOING BEHIND

LINDSAY, January 21. — The annual meeting of the South Victoria Agricultural Society was held on Wednesday, and it proved to be one of the stormiest in the history of the Society.

Criticism of the management of the annual fair by past executives flew thick and fast, and the admissions were freely made during the afternoon that Lindsay Central Fair was slipping, while the Peterboro fair was forging ahead.

The report of the secretary-treasurer showed that there was $3000 in the treasury, but this fact was seized upon by some of the speakers, who pointed out that this should not be a cause for congratulation in view of the fact that the fair was going behind. The discussion was heated at times, a number of the speakers being very outspoken in their criticism.

It was thought that there would be quite a contest for the presidency the society, as the names of Joseph Hickson of Manvers, the retiring president, James B. Begg and B. L. McLean, were mentioned for the post.

Mr. Hickson, who has been president for the past two years, was elected by acclamation, Messrs. McLean and Begg declining to stand.

Mr. Begg was re-elected first vice-president, Mr. F. Graham, second vice-president, and H. B. Black, sec.-treasurer. Last year's directorate was re-elected, with the addition of three members from Lindsay: Dr. Irvine, Felix Forbert and C. D. Kellett.

The criticism during the afternoon was of a constructive nature. The speakers emphasized the fact that Peterboro was a strong competitor for fair honors in this section of the province, and that it was to the best interests of the Lindsay fair that the best men possible be elected to the executive. The criticism of last year's executive was resented by some, and this provoked a rather stormy discussion.

ANNUAL MEETING ST. JOHN'S LADIES

Madoc Guild Elected Officers for 1926—To Hold Social.

MADOC, Jan. 21.—The annual meeting of the Ladies' Guild of St. John's church was held in the Guild rooms Tuesday afternoon. Rev. Mr. Strother opened the meeting, and addressed the members asking for their hearty co-operation during the coming year.

The following officers were elected:

Hon. Pres.—Miss J. Aylesworth.
President— Mrs. Fraser Aylesworth.
1st Vice-Pres. — Mrs. Frank Smith.
Secretary—Mrs. W. H. Nugent.
Treasurer—Mrs. Le Brash.

Arrangements were made for an afternoon tea to be held at St. John's rectory on Wednesday, Jan. 27. Plans were also discussed for the holding of a pancake supper on Shrove Tuesday.

On account of the mild weather the Epworth League of the United Church was compelled to cancel the skating party planned for Tuesday evening and change to a bob-sleighing party. Excellent bobbing was enjoyed on Bristol's hill on Tuesday. This hill has long been a favorite with the young people, and is in fine condition with its coat of ice.

The vacant house on the corner of Church and St. Lawrence streets, formerly part of the Young property and recently purchased by Mrs. F. A. Harrison, has been sold to the members of the Standard church, who are tearing it down and intend using the lumber to build a church.

This house is one of the landmarks of Madoc, and of late years has fallen into disrepair. Its removal will be an improvement to the streets on which it is situated. It is understood that the new church is to be built in the vacant lot on St. Lawrence Street next to Mr. R. J. Robinson's house.

MOVIE MACHINE AIDS MODERN SOLOMON AWARD CUSTODY OF CHILD IN DISPUTE

Moving Pictures Secretly Taken Register Emotion of the Natural and Foster Mothers — Film Viewed by Judge and Psychologists.

DETROIT, Mich, Jan. 21.—(Canadian Press.) — Moving pictures yesterday delivered a four-year old child to its foster mother, when Judge Vincent Brennan in Circuit Court awarded custody of little Mabel Irene to Mrs. Irene Goosen. In doing so he denied the habeas corpus petition of the child's mother, Mrs. Julia Przybia.

The child has been under Mrs. Goosen's charge since a few weeks after birth. In an effort to arrive at a just decision on the petition of the natural mother for the return of her child. Judge Brennan had the two women and the child stand before him last Saturday, when he announced that the child was to be sent to an institution. Concealed moving picture machines showed the reaction of the two women to this decision.

Judge Brennan and several pyschologists viewed the film. He said yesterday that he was giving custody of the child to Mrs. Goosen because the film showed a "much more biological emotional reaction on her part," and also because of the willingness of the real mother to permit the child to be sent to an institution.

ALBERTA WHEAT POOL NOT READY FOR ELEVATORS

Purchase Might Entail Destructive Debt, Alberta Farmers Warned.

MUST MOVE SLOWLY

Convention Adopts Advice of President H. W. Woods for Present.

CALGARY, Alta., Jan. 21. — Canadian Press. — The United Farmers of Alberta voted yesterday against acquisition of elevator facilities by the Alberta wheat pool at the present time.

The question came before the contion in the form of a resolution asking the convention to demand that the wheat pool board take immediate action toward acquiring elevator facilities, coupled in interest with the vote of the convention was a lengthy statement on the matter by the president of the United Farmers of Alberta, H. W. Wood. He spoke however in his capacity as chairman of the Board of Directors of the Alberta wheat pool.

Mr. Wood was definite in his opposition to the acquisition of elevator facilities at the present time. "You are going to drive the pools out of business if you drive them into premature elevator development," he said.

Assume Heavy Debt.

He declared that it appeared to him as though there was a movement on foot to wreck the pool through an attempt to force it into acquiring elevator facilities. It would be possible, he said, to force the pool to spend 15 or 20 million dollars for elevators, then while the pool was loaded up with debt, make a real fight against it, while it was financially embarrassed.

"It looked as though this movement might be getting some assistance of some farmers at the convention," he said.

The vote against the resolution followed this statement.

Eleventh Term as President.

Earlier in the day Mr. Wood had been re-elected for his eleventh term as president of the United Farmers of Alberta and had declared that an export duty on wheat was a very visible menace to the farmer and had asked the delegates to fight "this infernal thing to death."

The convention discussed a resolution from the board which would have changed the date of the convention from the winter to the summer, and decided to refer the question back to the locals for discussion.

Co-operating marketing and resolutions on that subject was the main business before the convention.

DURANT IN BED FIGHTS BEARS

Bolstered Weak Market By Spreading Orders Over the Board.

PRICES RECOVER

NEW YORK, January 21 Canadian Press. — From his sick bed in a local hospital, William C. Durant, the motor manufacturer, turned the stock market upward yesterday afternoon by distributing buying orders for thousands of shares of Baldwin Locomotive and other companies in which he is interested.

Baldwin closed at 126 3-4 after selling as low as 123 earlier in the day; United States steel closed nearly 2 points higher at 134 3-8, and American Can., General Electric, Hudson Motors, U. S. Rubber, California Packing and Southern Railway showed net gains of 2 1-2 to nearly 4 points.

Mr. Durant, who was injured in a railroad accident in Florida about 10 days ago, has kept in relatively close touch with the market from the hospital.

During the course of the present bull market, Mr. Durant is reputed to have amassed a fortune of millions of dollars.

Increased Duty Asked By Fruit And Vegetable Men

VERNON, B.C., Jan. 21.—(Canadian Press).—The British Columbia Fruit Growers' Association, in convention here, went on record favoring an increase of 20 per cent., ad valorem on early importations of all kinds of fruit and vegetables grown in Canada.

Tariff matters generolly were considered and the conclusion was reached that the fruit growers of the Province could not consistently ask for tariff reductions on implements and at the same time make requests for an increase in protection on the products of the orchard.

Coughs and Colds

What a weight of responsibility rests on the mother of the family during the cold weather season. In every cough and cold she seems to hear the warning of serious developments. She dreads croup, bronchitis, pneumonia and consumption and realizes that these are the natural result of neglected colds.

But Dr. Chase has provided a prompt relief for coughs and colds and a preventive of more serious ailments of throat and lungs, in his Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine.

This medicine is so well-known that only a reminder is necessary to most people to recall its effectiveness in relieving croup, bronchitis, asthma and all forms of throat and bronchial troubles.

WOMEN WORKERS ARE BEST WIVES

Outside Employment Lessens Domestic Strife.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—There is less domestic strife in homes where married women are employed than where wives have idle hours. Mary N. Winslow, a member of the women's bureau, labor department, and a leader of the industrial women's convention here, said yesterday.

"Married women are in industry for only one purpose — to provide necessities for their families or to raise their standard of living," Miss Winslow said in an exclusive interview with the United Press.

"Few homes are broken by divorce because a wife goes out to work. When a married woman goes to work it is usually to hold her family together by helping out with expenses. Thus the domestic relations of the home are strengthened, rather than weakened.

"Mothers who go out to work do not leave their small children uncared for, as mothers are usually working for their babies. They provide the best care and attention for their young ones."

RUM SCHOONER BLOWN ASHORE

Assertion of Captain of Vessel With Cargo of 500 Cases.

TAKEN TO BOSTON

BOSTON, Mass., Jan. 21.—(Canadian Press.)—The British schooner Oakalee, from Halifax, with a cargo of 500 cases of alcohol was brought here last night by the coastguard cutter Red Wing and turned over to customs officers. The schooner was seized ten miles off Cape Cod Wednesday by the coastguard destroyer McCallon on a charge of bringing liquor illegally within the territorial waters of the United States.

As soon as the schooner had been made fast at the appraiser's stores, the captain and members of the crew were questioned. Aboard the schooner were Captain A. S. Wentzell, William Hyson, mate, E. A. Rowe, cook, and Seamen Louis Belong, Otis Keisler, Robert Norman and George Folen, all from Halifax and vicinity.

It was reported that Captain Wentzell contended the craft was carried off her course by contrary winds and tides during foggy weather. The schooner's hatches were securely fastened and apparently had not been opened recently. The Oakalee will be detained until further investigation by the customs authorities who will report to the United States' attorney for a decision as to whether there is sufficient evidence against the craft to warrant formal seizure.

VETERAN FROZEN DIES IN HOSPITAL

Collapsed From Hunger in British Columbia Yesterday.

MISSION CITY, B.C., Jan. 21.—(Canadian Press)—Lewis E. Harris, 35, of 94 Prospect street, South Hamilton, Ont., who was found with his lower limbs frozen at Suicide Creek, east of here, on Jan. 12, is dead in hospital.

Harris, who gave his name as J. A. Thompson, of Toronto, when first brought to the hospital later recovered somewhat. He said that he was walking from Vancouver to the Interior of British Columbia and that he collapsed through weakness and hunger when he stopped to drink at the stream. He said he had suffered from "trench feet" when he served overseas during the great war.

SUPER-POWER PLAN IN EASTERN STATES

Property Valued at More Than $500,000,000.

NEW YORK, Jan. 21.—(Canadian Press).—Complete details of the gigantic super-power system created through the affiliation of public utility interests in New York and New England, having a combined property valuation in excess of $500,000,000, were revealed for the first time Wednesday in the announcement of the final organization of the Northeastern Power Corporation.

The new corporation, which has the backing of leading public utility and electrical generating interests in the United States, will have interconnecting transmission lines stretching across New York and Massachusetts from Buffalo to Boston, and reaching into Connecticut, Rhode Island and Vermont. The territory served consumed over six billion kilowatt hours of electrical energy during 1925.

Tax of Eighteen Cents Asked by Poultrymen.

MILNER, B.C., Jan. 21.—(Canadian Press).—Milner and Langley prairie district poultrymen are asking for a duty of 18 cents a dozen on all eggs imported into Canada. It is pointed out that under the recent Australian treaty eggs came in to Canada free, while there is a tax of 18 cents a dozen on Canadian eggs entering Australia.

INSURANCE FIRM HAD RECORD YEAR

Confederation Life's 54th Report Shows Great Progress.

The 54th Annual General Meeting of the Confederation Life Association was held at the Head Office in Toronto on Tuesday, January 19. The venerable President, Mr. J. K. Macdonald, occupied the chair. The meeting was largely attended both by shareholders and policy-holders. The report placed before policy-holders and shareholders showed every department to be making excellent progress, and reflected great credit upon the management.

New business for the year constituted a record, amounting to $40,484,133, an increase of more than $6,000,000 over the previous year, which brings the total insurance in force at the close of the year to $206,717,691, being a net increase for the year of $22,236,889 or 55% of the amount written during the year.

Another record was broken in the surplus earned, the amount being $1,526,001 showing an increase over the preceding year of $88,336.

The total assets as at the 31st December, 1925, amounted to $45,179,252 an increase over the previous year of $4,553,762. The Association made payments to policy-holders during the year amounting to over $4,000,000.

It is interesting to note that the amount of death claims paid during the year after deducting re-assurances, amounted to $1,234,500 which was only 43.8 per cent. of the expected mortality, a very satisfactory showing and one reflecting the care with which risks are selected.

HABITUAL

'Course I ain't a kicking, er nuthin' like that, but sometimes the chores round the household fall flat. Folks wonder why men oft get peevish and such. I guess that they don't stop ta think, very much.

A married man rises at break of the day and gets lots of little tasks out of the way. He dassant ferget 'em; he dassant jes' shirk. They gotta be done ere he goes down to work.

The house is quite chilly; the kids throw a fit. The coffee's put on, the oven is lit. The cat is let out and the milk is brought in. These have to be done 'fore the day kin begin.

The heater's turned up and the furnace is fed. No wonder it's morning that men often dread. It isn't what's done with the work-a-day mob, but the work round the house that's his "reguiar" job.

PROHIBITION UNION NORWOOD MEETING

Rev. Dr. F. J. Oaten Was Speaker at Gathering on Sunday.

NORWOOD, Jan. 21.—A mass meeting under the auspices of the Ontario Prohibition Union was held in the Town Hall, Norwood, on Sunday evening, at 8.15 o'clock, following the regular church services. The meeting was opened by singing a hymn, "All Hail the Power of Jesus' Name", followed by prayer by Rev. T. M. Wesley. The scripture reading was given by Rev. F. Stillman and a quartette rendered by Messrs. Stares, Squire Finlay and Wright, entitled "Just As I Am".

The speaker of the evening, Rev. Dr. F. J. Oaten of Toronto was then introduced by the chairman. After a few preliminary remarks Dr. Oaten launched out into his subject and kept the attention of the whole audience until the close of his address which was both interesting and instructive. Another number was rendered by the quartette and the meeting closed with prayer by Rev. F. Stillman.

Prayer services during this week under the leadership of some of the elders of the United church were schedule for the following places:

Monday evening at Mrs. Sloans' on the 10th line of Dummer.

Tuesday evening at Wildman's school house and Mr. Ben Parker's residence, on the Havelock Road.

Wednesday evening in the United Sunday school room and at South Dummer church.

Thursday evening at Elgin school house, at the North school house and at Mr. Gilbert Barton's home on Spring street.

Friday evening at Mr. Will Carberry's home, Peterboro street and at Mr. F. Webster's home on the 7th line of Asphodel.

The January meeting of the W. C.T.U. was held on Thursday afternoon last at the home of Mrs. R. G. Lawlor, Queen street. There was a large attendance and a very interesting meeting. Miss S. McDonald was appointed the delegate from the Union to the convention being held in Toronto on January 26th.

The Y.W.A. of the United church (formerly Presbyterian) held its regular meeting on Thursday evening last at the home of the president, Mrs. J. Weir. A very interesting talk was given by Mrs. (Rev.) T. M. Wesley. A letter was read from Mrs. (Rev.) Mackinnon of Peterboro, secretary of Y.W.A. work for the former Peterboro Presbyterial congratulating the members of the auxiliary on the work they had done. Although with depleted numbers the auxiliary was able to reach its objectives.

Two rinks of curlers composed of Messrs. J. W. Rork, H. McDonald, J. A. Finlay, N. Wellman, F. Kempt W. A. Smith, P. Kempt and W. J. Stares went up to Peterbro on Monday to compete in the bonspiel.

YOUR OWN SHAKESPEARE

Students of dramatic art, who object to the modern scenic investiture of Shakespearean plays, will have an opportunity to attend a soul satisfying production of Hamlet. The WGY players will present Hamlet Friday night, January 22, through WGY, Schenectady, N.Y., and listeners will have the privilege of building a mind setting for each act of the play.

DOUMER CAUSES ANOTHER CRISIS OVER TAX BILLS

Measures Proposed by Radicals Insufficient to Balance Budget.

BRIAND CALLED IN

Finance Committee Incensed at Minister's Criticism of Plans.

PARIS, Jan. 21. — (Canadian Press).—The battle between Premier Briand's government and the cartel of the left reached another critical point yesterday when the finance committee of the Chamber of Deputies declared that it would have nothing more to do with finance minister Doumer.

This radical step was due to the sharp manner in which M. Doumer criticized the financial proposals put forward by the cartel and the methods of the operation of the finance committee. A resolution demanding that Premier Briand come before it in person has been adopted by the committee.

The Premier has accepted this invitation and pending his appearance committee yesterday continued its discussion of the bills it proposes to offer as substitutes for the government plans. Premier Briand is understood to be in accord with his finance minister and it is thought he would welcome a vote in the chamber on the cartel's bills. A poll of the chamber made by friends of the cabinet indicates that a small majority could be obtained against these measures since the whole moderate and conservative opposition would vote solidly against them.

Insufficient Yield.

It is believed, however, that the result would be more doubtful if the vote were to come at once on M. Doumer's bills without amendment. The minister of finance says that experts of his ministry have carefully examined the cartel's measures and estimate that they would yield only about 200,000,000 francs of additional revenue annually, while 4,500,000,000 francs are required to balance the budget. M. Doumer told the finance committee again Wednesday that something must be done to obtain additional resources immediately to avoid the issue of more paper money. He placed the responsibility for the present delay on the committee.

EDUCATED BOYS FROM OLD LAND FOR FARM WORK

Overtures Already Made by Premier Ferguson for Migration.

TO THIS PROVINCE

Satiric Allusion to Financial Means Required by Australian Plan.

LONDON, Jan. 21. — (Canadian Press Cable).—Proposals from the Ontario Government with regard to a scheme for the migration of boys to Ontario, as was suggested by Premier G. Howard Ferguson last summer when he was in London, are expected shortly.

Premier Ferguson opened conversation with the British Government while on his visit here with a view to providing some scheme for the migration of well-educated boys of 16, 17 or 18 years of age. In an interview later he was quoted as saying that if the British Government would bear part of the expense of such migration the Ontario Government would stand its share of the cost. The idea was that the boys could be trained for farm work in Ontario and the Provincial Government could see that the boys were given a square deal.

At present there is no largely recognized scheme of giving agricultural training to youths on this side of the ocean, so far as Canada is concerned. Some attention, however, is being directed to the Australian training college in Norfolk which is designed for the training of university graduates and youths of like status. Entrants must possess £250 each as the minimum capital which they will have on arrival in Australia. The authorities, of course, will just as readily appreciate those young immigrants who have more than £250.

Big Brother Scheme.

Cable advices from Sydney, Australia, describe the cordial reception given Tuesday to the initial group of boy immigrants under the "Big Brother" movement by which the boys are assured of the prospect of finding definite guardians awaiting them on arrival. There were 85 boys in this first group. Many of them were met at the port by their particular "big brothers," who were unanimous in their praises of the boys allotted to them.

The Canadian Pacific Railway Company's immigration scheme by which youths of good attainments will be given passage to Canada at £4 ($20) each has received favorable notice here. The company hopes to arrange for its first party of 25 boys to sail on March 6.

RED ROSE "is good COFFEE"

INTERESTING DEBATE HELD AT WARSAW

Negative Won Debate on Happiness Brought by Automobile.

WARSAW, Jan. 21.—A very interesting and pleasant debate took place in the United Church basement on Friday evening. A good crowd was out. Mr. Currie was chairman. The debaters were:

Affirmatives—Mr. Blakeley and Miss Quinn.

Negatives — Messrs. Maitland Forsythe and Cecil Bolton.

Since their school days neither Mr. Blakeley nor Mr. Forsythe had debated. Miss Quinn did not know she was to be a debater until almost the last minute. The subject was, "Resolved, that the automobile has increased the sum total of human happiness."

Mr. Blakeley claimed that the inventors and all working in the manufacture of autos had gotten pay for their work, were able to raise the standard of living; that it shortened the time of a journey, farmers could do a little business with their cars while their horses rested, ministers could visit the people more conveniently; the whole family could go out together and enjoy an outing, it kept the family together, and more could go to church than if there were only a buggy. Mr. Blakeley pointed out that it was good for the rubber trade, and whatever made anything better or more convenient for happiness. His points were well put and well sustained.

Mr. Forsythe thought autos had caused much unhappiness. There had not been so many toys sold last Christmas. People did not have money to buy them, because they had to spend so much on the upkeep of their cars, so little children were unhappy for lack of toys. These are needless worry, as many cars are not paid for. Paying for gas, oil and general upkeep is often a problem. One man bought three dozen eggs in one store for credit and sold them at another for cash and bought gas. Sunday's happiness has decreased because the ministers feel the auto has taken people away from church. People do without convcniences and books to have autos. Speeding kills and maims great numbers, and city people have ill-health from breathing the carbon dioxide-laden air.

Miss Quinn, good hummoredly and wittily, touched on Mr. Forsythe's points. The little children were getting out in the cars for fresh air and enjoyment much of the time and that was more happiness than just the toys at Christmas. Anyway, often children had more toys than they could use. Men are not going to buy a car and not try to pay for it. People are quite willing to do without books and have the cars. They can get so much by radio and they can exchange books, and so have as much reading as they want. And as for the carbon-dioxide, they have their cars to get away from the city and get fresh air in the country. Other points: A man who owns an auto can be with his own home more; he and family can visit places they had longed to see, but had been unable to take time away from home to go by train. The mother has a chance with the car. It brings city and country together.

Mr. Bolton repeated one of Mr. Forsythe's points. He asked if money did bring happiness. Thirty-nine millionaires committed suicide. He said airplanes, tanks, submarines were all run as motors, and they had caused endless suffering and sorrow. One in seventy was killed in the United States. There is increased taxation to make good roads. The auto brings in its wake many things people do not want.

Mr. Blakely replied that people would spend money anyway. Ambulances were autos and they had done a great deal of good by saving life. Airplanes, submarines, tanks, were not automobiles.

"Why cannot people have a cultivated mind and a car too?" In China and Africa there are practically no cars, but there is more disease and illness there than in Canadian cities full of cars. The judges were Dr. Munro, Rev. H. B. Herrington, and Mr. F. Crowe. The decision was by a small margin in favor of the negatives.

Besides the debate, there was a recitation by F. Crowe, a song by H. Batten, an "author" contest, hunting peanuts, and refreshments.

After the crowd had dispersed two gentlemen had an argument on Happiness and pleasure, which held several much interested listeners.

The young people's next meeting will be a devotional one, led by Mr. Herrington, on Tuesday, February 2. They are changing to Tuesday evening instead of Friday.

The United Church Missionary Society is planning a "poverty" social on Friday January 29. It hopes to be able to keep up the subscription of $100.

The Orangemen are holding a social evening on Tuesday, January 26.

A Bible study class is being held at the United Parsonage from 8 until 9 o'clock each Thursday evening.

The Millinery (Feb. 1 to 12) Classes, and Sewing Class (Feb. 15 to 26) will be held in the same house as the Institute meetings are held. There will have to be a small fee of 50 cents charged each student to pay for extra rooms, fuel and other incidentals. Each student will need note book and pencil, scissors, thimble, needles, pins, and a good tape line. The articles they make will be made from their own materials. The Department furnishes the instructors, and their entertainment.

A certain poultry yard boasts a little late pullet that lays an egg in her nest before daylight every few days.

No one has to draw water, or drive cattle far for water this winter. There has been a great depth of snow for this time, but the rain Monday is settled in. It also filled the swamps. So far, it is generally felt that this has been a very good winter.

Voting for or against a new school takes place on Wednesday, January 27.

OPPONENTS OF COURT WEAKEN

Hard Pressed to Continue Filibuster Debate in U. S. Senate.

CAN'T AVERT VOTE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—(Canadian Press.)— Senate proponents of the World Court found themselves far apart last night as to the time for a vote on this issue.

At a conference late yesterday, those opposing United States' adhesion to the court decided to propose that the vote be taken after the tax bill is passed, without a definite date being fixed.

This proposition is unsatisfactory to pro-court leaders on both the Republican and Democratic sides. They insist that the court question must be put out of the way before the Senate takes up the revenue measure, with its highly controversial provision for repeal of the inheritance tax and of the income publicity clause.

Some pro-court leaders doubt now that even in the absence of an agreement to vote it will be necessary to resort to cloture. They say the opposition is hard pressed to which they must do if a vote is to carry on the debate continuously, be averted before the tax bill is taken up.

DOURO RATEPAYERS OPPOSED TO CHANGE

Consider That Township School Boards Are Unnecessary.

DOURO, Jan. 21.—A meeting of the ratepayers and trustees of Douro Township was held in S.S. No. 7, Douro, on January 12, for the purpose of discussing the election of Township School Boards.

Addresses were given by Mr. Richard Lees, county school inspector, and Mr. Dalton Johnston, M.P.

Mr. Lees gave a very interesting and instructive address, pointing out that the present local trustee system came from America to Canada some time about 1865, it being an American idea in the first place.

Since then 22 states in the U.S.A. have adopted a township system and there is no record of any state ever reverting to the local trustee system after having adopted the township system. The state of Ohio has gone a step further and established a county system.

Mr. Lees also pointed out that the proposed township board bill provides that no township school board shall consist of less than 3 or more than 10 members, depending on the number of schools in the township.

Members of the board would receive no salary although their expenses would be paid on the same basis as the township councillors.

Mr. Lees also pointed out that the township school board is more democratic as its members would have more control over the money spent for school purposes within the township.

Mr. Dalton Johnston, M.P., also spoke briefly, pointing out that the establishing of township school boards would, in his opinion, gradually lead to consolidation and the closing up of many of the small rural schools, which now have only 4 or 5 pupils, and where the cost of educating each pupil ranges between $200 and $300 per year.

He also expressed the opinion that a township system would very likely lead to an increase in taxation. This view was not held by Mr. Lees.

A brisk discussion followed Mr. Johnston's address, but finally the following resolution was adopted almost unanimously:

"That we, the ratepayers and trustees of Douro township, disapprove of establishing of a township school board in our township, because in our opinion it is entirely unnecessary and therefore undesirable, and that a copy of this resolution be sent to the Minister of Education."

Signed on behalf of the trustees and ratepayers.

CECIL BOLTON, Secretary.
JAMES HEALEY, Chairman.

WEDDING BELLS

PETTIFER—TRUAX.

CAMPBELLFORD, Jan. 21.—A quiet marriage was solemnized at St. John's Parsonage on Wednesday evening, January 20, when Miss Jean Truax of Toronto became the wife of Roland J. Pettifer, the Rev. W. Elliot officiating. The young couple were unattended. They will reside in Campbellford.

QUINN—FORRESTEL.

CAMPBELLFORD, Jan. 21.—A pretty wedding took place in the Roman Catholic Church on Wednesday, Jan. 20, at 8.30 a.m., when Cecilia, daughter of Mr. John L. Forrestel, of Seymour, became the bride of Mr. Jos. Quinn, of Seymour. The ceremony was performed by the bride's brother, Father Daniel Forrestel, of St. Basil's Parish, Toronto, in the presence of a large number of friends.

The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a blue ensemble suit, with fox fur, biege hat and shoes. The bridesmaid was a niece of the bride, Miss O'Connel, and the groom was supported by the bride's brother, Mr. Ed. Forrestel.

Mrs. Wm. Welsh, organist, supplied the music, and Mrs. Frank Daly sang, "Ave Maria" during the ceremony. After the wedding dinner, Mr. and Mrs. Quinn left on the 1.30 train for Montreal and points east.

To Relieve Catarrh, Catarrhal Deafness and Head Noises

If you have catarrh, catarrhal deafness or are hard of hearing and have buzzing, ringing noises in your head—don't waste time with unknown, unreliable medicines, but go to your nearest druggist and ask for an inexpensive package of Geero Wormwood Balm.

No atomizers, no syringes and nothing to take internally—you simply apply a little of this clean, fragrant balm right into your nostrils, and then comes sweet relief! Clogged nostrils quickly open up, breathing is easier, head noises vanish and the annoying mucus stops dropping into the throat. This is a simple, pleasant and inexpensive home treatment that anyone bothered by catarrh or catarrhal deafness should give a good trial at once. All good druggists—only cost a few cents.

There are approximately 161 arboreseent species of hardwoods and 31 coniferous softwoods in Canada, but of these only 23 species of softwoods and 32 species of hardwoods can be considered of commercial importance.

97 FLU PATIENTS.

No Fatalities in Epidemic Near Kingston.

KINGSTON, Jan. 21 (Canadian Press).—The Enterprise district is suffering with a general epidemic of the "flu." Dr. Horton reports that he is attending 97 cases and that more are being added every day. While the epidemic is not as violent or fatal as it was when the country was first attacked during the war, the patients are quite ill.

Easy to Gain With Yeast and Iron

New Combination of Yeast with Vegetable Iron Builds Up Weight in Three Weeks

This new combination of yeast vitamines with vegetable iron, renews the action of sluggish blood cells, drives out dangerous body poisons, increases energy and endurance and supplies the system with the vitamines that build up weight.

For years yeast has been known as a rich vitamine food, but not until we perfected "ironized yeast" which comes in concentrated tablet form, was it possible to take yeast and iron in the right proportions to build up weight.

Vegetable "Iron" when combined with yeast is quite easy to digest, therefore better for the system. And "yeast" when ironized, becomes just twice as beneficial as ordinary fresh or cake yeast.

Ironized Yeast tablets are composed of concentrated food elements, therefore, they are pleasant to take and free from drug-like effects. It makes no difference how old you are—or how young you are—how long you have been underweight—or how much under-weight you are, "ironized yeast" tablets are positively guaranteed to pick you right up, and add from five to twenty pounds of good firm flesh in three weeks' time. If they fail get your money back.

Sold by druggists, at $1.00 for a large 60-tablet package. Harold F. Ritchie & Co., Ltd., Toronto, Canada.

CANADIAN EGGS ARE PLENTIFUL

Poultrymen Suggest Advertising Present Low Price to Public.

POULTRY CONGRESS.

OTTAWA, Jan. 21 (Canadian Press)—Important resolutions bearing on business practice in the produce trade, endorsation of the work of government departments in connection with the trade, and other decisions, were arrived at yesterday at the concluding session of the 14th annual convention of the Canadian Produce Association, at the Chateau Laurier.

During the afternoon an interesting address was delivered by F. C. Elford, Dominion husbandman, on the world's poultry congress, to be held in Ottawa in 1927. Canada was chosen as the place of the congress gathering because of the stir made at the Barcelona Congress last year by Canadian poultry, Mr. Elford said.

Mr. Elford declared several thousand United States citizens and delegates with exhibits from some forty countries would be in Ottawa for the big congress.

An intensive national advertising campaign to inform Canada that Canadian eggs are plentiful and moderately low in price, so that the trade and Canadian business in general benefit, was suggested in one of the resolutions.

The resolution asks the Minister of Agriculture to finance and direct the campaign, which should be launched immediately, it was stated.

It was further resolved that the Government be asked to change the regulations concerning the responsibility for improperly graded eggs.

The meeting resolved that, in transactions between wholesalers or between a wholesaler and a retailer, complaints concerning eggs should be made by the purchaser to the vendor within 24 hours of delivery.

Suggested changes in the regulations will mean changes in Dominion Acts and Provincial legislation, if they are accepted by the various governments concerned. Suggestions that the penalty for infringement of the egg regulations be made more severe, were made by A. E. Boyle, and generally endorsed by the convention.

WOULD REDUCE OCCUPATION ARMY

Germany Hints That Force Should Be Cut Down on Rhineland.

PARIS, Jan. 20 (United Press)—Germany has asked France for a further reduction of the Rhineland occupation army to a point equal to the force Germany had in the second and third zones before the war. Premier Briand has told Ambassador Von Hesch that the question is one for the Allies as a whole and that therefore a conference of ambassadors would be competent.

Of the total land area of Canada 3,729,665 square miles, over 100,000 square miles are covered with water.

Over 50 per cent. of the pulpwood used in British Columbia is western hemlock and it makes excellent groundwood or sulphite pulp.

Salt, either in the form of natural brines or in beds of rock salt, is found in nearly every province of Canada. Production at present, however, is confined to Ontario, Nova Scotia and Alberta.

GUNMAN CAUGHT IN POLICE TRAP

Chicago Murderer Overpowered in Drawing Room of Train.

PISTOL ON TABLE.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Jan. 21 (Canadian Press).—Trailed three months by epartment of Justice agents, one of whose number he had slain, Martin J. Durkin, 26, notorious Chicago criminal was captured here yesterday. The much-sought slayer, described in police circulars as "very dangerous," "quick to draw," fell into a trap prepared by Department agents, city detectives and railroad employes ando was overpowered in the drawingroom of a Frsico-Katy train upon arrival at Webster Groves, a suburb, from San Antonio.

A revolver, an automatic pistol and a belt of cartridges were lying on a card table in the drawing-room.

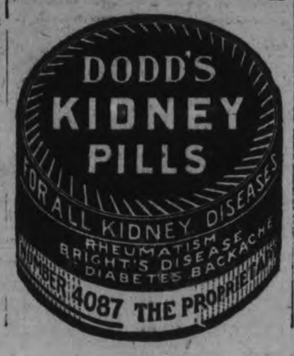
"I would have shot it out with you if you had given me a chance," Durkin told his captors. "You got me too quick."

With Durkkin was an attractive woman, his bride since December 4. They were married in East St. Louis. She said she was formerly Miss Irma Sullivan, 21, of Cornell, Ills., and had no idea her husband was wanted by the police. She did not have suspicions, she said, until he abandoned an automobile at San Antonio.

The "Sheik Robber."

Durkin, who gave his name as Jame Durkie of St. Louis in applying for the marriage license, has been variously called the "Sheik robber," and "Prince Charming." He continued to smile after his arrest and nonchalantly admitted his desperate escapades.

Durkin is charged wit hthe murder of Edward C. Shanahan, dportment of justice operator, who was shoa to death at Chicago last October 11 when he attempted to arrest Durkin for automobile theft. He also is charged with the murder of police sergeant Harry Gray, who was fatally wounded October 29, when he trappey Durkin in a Chicago house, only to have Durkin shoot his way out. Lloyd Austin, a civilian, was killed in the exchange of bullets.



CHEESE FACTORY HAD GOOD SEASON

Warkworth Patrons Turned in Four Million Pounds of Milk.

(By a Staff Reporter.)

WARKWORTH, Jan. 21.—The cheese factory here during the past season handled four million pounds of milk and the total output was, butter and cheese included, worth $72,000. The amount of milk required for a pound of cheese was 11.43 pounds and the price of milk per standard was $48.

The number of patrons of this factory, which is owned by W. V. Drewry, is 84. Mr. Drewry is also president and W. H. Nelson is secretary-treasurer. The annual meeting will be held in March.

JAILED IN PARIS.

CANNES, France, Jan. 21 (Canadian Press Cable, via Reuter's).—Sam Wimberg, aged 30, a native of Quebec, was sentenced to six months' imprisonment by the Grasse correctional court yesterday on a charge of passing fraudulent cheques. His passion for gambling is said to have led him to the fraud.

In 1924 there were 4,647,201 cords of pulpwood cut in Canada, the second largest quantity ever produced being exceeded in 1923 when 4,654,662 cords were cut.

YOUR HEALTH

By ROYAL S COPELAND, M.D.,
Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

I am more and more impressed with the idea that too many folks are going through life half blind. One thing you should never forget is that medical science has made great strides during the past twenty years. A lot of men and women are putting up with bad eyesight who really don't need to do it.

Just what I mean is that many persons with defective sight can get relief by applying for it.

In this life there is too much of this: "My eyes are just like Mr. So and So's, and he did everything without getting relief. There's no use in my trying to be helped."

If you will forgive me for resorting to slang, I want to say such a conclusion is pure "bunk."

No one case is exactly like another, any more than one person is exactly like another. But, anyhow, how do you know your case is like Mr. So and So's?

Blindness or partial blindness is too terrible a condition to be meekly accepted. I wouldn't settle down to be blind till consultants decided that fate. Even then I wouldn't wait longer than a few years before I knocked again at the door of science, to inquire what progress, if any, had been made in the relief of a case like mine.

Never give up, is a good rule. That is why there are so few doctors ready to agree that taking human life is ever justifiable. For what now appears to be a hopeless case, there may be found a means of relief next year.

Not so long ago a friend of mine had made all his plans for death. He settled his affairs, instructed his family, and had his lawyer fully prepared for what would soon become his duty. Along came the knowledge of insulin, and the deadly diabetes was placed under control. My friend has made a fortune in his business since the date he expected to die.

What about you? Are they really as bad as you think? Perhaps new glasses would help a lot. Possibly a trifling operation would restore sight. Isn't it worth while to find out for sure?

One of the greatest privileges of my profession is to restore sight to a blind person. I shall never get over the thrill of seeing a cataract removed and hearing the exclamation of the patient, "I see light!"

Perhaps your case is hopeless. It may be I am exciting hope when there is no hope. But at least, find out if it really is hopeless, and pray that science may go forward in its march till it catches up to you.

A BLACK EYE—AND HOW TO CURE IT

Carry This Hint Around For Use as Occasion Requires.

What should be done for a black eye?

To relieve the condition, we should first help nature to reduce the swelling by applying to the closed lids every three or four minutes, little squares or circles of clean, white absorbent cotton or linen, four-fold and about as large as a silver dollar which have laid on a piece of ice until thoroughly cold.

The treatment is most effective when kept up more or less continuously for some twelve to twenty-four hours. Do not permit the compresses to overlap the nose or the patient may develop a cold.

When the swelling has subsided, the removal of the discoloration may be hastened by applying more or less constantly below the lower lid, little pieces of flannel dipped in water as hot as can be borne. Keep up the treatment for half an hour; then, let the patient rest for a couple of hours and repeat the treatment for another half hour, continuing in this alternating manner until the desired result is obtained.

Wounds and burns about the eyes—slight wounds of the inner surfaces of the lids may be treated by dropping into the eye a tepid solution of boric acid, 10 grains to the ounce, or as much as will dissolve.

Burns produced by lime may be immediately treated by dropping a solution of one part of vinegar to four parts of water into the eye and washing the eye with clean water freely. If the eye is burned by acids, and you see it immediately afterwards, you may wash the eyes with lime water or water to which a little baking soda has been added—one-half teaspoonful of baking soda to a glass of water.

If you have none of these remedies, then wash the eye by pouring clean tap water gently, but freely, into the eye from a small clean pitcher, until you are sure that you have thoroughly washed out all of the caustic substance.

Later wash the eye at intervals with boric acid solution and apply cold compresses until you are sure there is no serious damage or until the patient can see a physician, preferably an oculist.

Congestion of the eyelids may be regarded as a very mild conjunctivitis or inflammation of the eyes. It may be caused by smoke or dust or by exposure to an excessive glare as in the case of firemen. Sometimes, congested eyelids are due to constant reading or to embroidering or perhaps it is caused by the steady use of the eyes, particularly when the work is done in a poor light.

The germs which accompany a cold in the head may be carried to the eyes by the fingers in rubbing or they may find their way to the eyes direct by passing up the tear duct which leads from the nose to the inner corners of the eyes.

In congestion of the lids, the eyes feel heavy or weary as if there were little grains of sand in them. There may be smarting, burning or itching of the lids and there is a disinclination to prolong the use of the eyes.

The treatment for congested lids is better light, proper glasses if required, rest, attention to the usual requirements of personal hygiene such as balanced diet, as well as the daily bath and adequate sleep. Dark glasses may be used if found helpful but they are seldom necessary. A few drops of a solution of zinc sulphate made by dissolving one grain of zinc sulphate to an ounce of water may be dropped into the eye two or three times a day as an astringent.

FAMOUS FORTUNES

By Barbara Bayne

EDWARD C SIMMONS, THE HARDWARE KING

A lad who was to become the owner of the largest pocket knife factory in the world was born in Frederick, Maryland, Sept. 21, 1839. Turned into the world at sixteen to earn his bread and maybe a little butter, he trekked to St. Louis in 1855, the last day of the year.

According to legend, he walked into the hardware store of Child, Pratt & Company and asked the proprietor if he didn't want a boy. "What can you do, my lad?" countered the merchant. "I can do as much as any other boy of my age—where shall I hang my hat?"

The hardware dealer decided that if the youngster could work as quickly as he could talk, there was an opening for him, and they entered into a three-year agreement at $150 the first year, $200 the second and $300 the third. He began by dusting every article on every shelf in the place. From errand boy he became a salesman.

At Sixteen He Clerked in a HardwaStore

Another firm, Wilson, Livering & Waters, had an eye on the wide-awake young clerk, and when his apprenticeship ended he went over to them at an increased salary.

There were no railroads then, and the country merchants arrived by boat during the night. The store was located only a few blocks from the wharf, and young Simmons was on hand early in the morning to "grab" the patronage of those country retail dealers. His enterprise resulted in a partnership in the firm, from which the present Simmons Hardware Company is the outgrowth.

Edward C. Simmons has blazed many new trails in the mercantile world. His was the first mercantile firm in the United States to incorporate, in 1874, to facilitate the profit-sharing system, which he also introduced long before it was used by others. Employees were given an opportunity to acquire stock, and the original capital of $200,000 has increased to $6,000,000, wholly from earnings.

Every salesman brought his record to Mr. Simmons, and a generous percentage of the year's total sales was awarded him. From that originated the word "velvet" by his veteran salesmen. He first introduced the traveling salesman, and his firm now employs 500.

The firm introduced the first "house magazine" in business annals—a weekly letter to its salesmen. In 1870 Mr. Simmons inaugurated the idea of manufacturing a complete line of high-grade tools.

Mr. Simmons retired in 1897 and handed the active management of his great organization over to his sons, Wallace D. Simmons succeeded him as president.

One of Edward C. Simmon's famous epigrams is: "The difference between failure and success is doing a thing nearly right and doing it exactly right."

LADIES' AID HELD OPENING MEETING

Fraserville Ladies Quilted at Opening—Interesting Lecture.

FRASERVILLE, Jan. 21.— The first Ladies' Aid meeting of the new year was held at the home of the president, Mrs. R. Waterman, on the afternoon of Thursday, January 14, 1926.

During the afternoon the ladies quilted a quilt after which everyone partook of the abundance of good food spread out before them. Next month it was decided to have a social evening. Two new members were added to the roll.

Mr. Walter Johnson was taken to Nicholls Hospital on Sunday night, where he was operated on. He is progressing favorably.

Quite a number in the surrounding country took advantage of the ice at Fraserville on Saturday night and enjoyed a good skate.

Miss M. Weir was the guest of her friend, Miss V. Bradshaw on Sunday.

Many Fraserville folks enjoyed the lecture on Wednesday night, Jan. 13, given by Rev. Mr. Steed. Mr. Steed is a returned missionary from Africa and delighted his audience for an hour and a half. The lecture was made even more interesting by the use of slides illustrating his work there. Silver collection was taken and given to Mr. Steed to help buy a lantern to take back to Africa when he goes in the Spring.

Fraserville Y.P.S. invited Springville Y.P.L. to hear Rev. Mr. Steed on Wednesday evening. Quite a number responded to the invitation and enjoyed a social time together.

The friends of Mrs. Jas. Walters are sorry to learn that she is ill at the home of her son, Mr. Wm. Walters, South Monaghan.

Mr. and Mrs. Perry Moncrief spent Sunday with the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton Gainer, Bailieboro.

Mr. W. A. Wood, U.F.O. shipper, loaded a car of fifty-seven hogs and a car of twenty-five cattle at Fraserville on Monday afternoon. Many of the latter car are choice export cattle.

MARMORA, Jan. 21.—Mrs. Lily Proudman of Ottawa, Grand Mistress of Ontario East L.O.B.A. was the speaker at an open meeting of Harmony L.O.B.A. held in the Orange Hall on Monday afternoon. Rain interfered with the attendance but those present were privileged to hear a very impressive address.

Tomorrow's HOROSCOPE

By Genevieve Kemble.

FRIDAY, JANUARY 22

Although a lively and important day in many particulars is predicted from the lunar and mutual configurations, yet there are certain auguries of obstruction and disappointment. There are likely to be fresh opportunities for change, involving travel or removal, yet new projects are seen as beset with complications, possibly through an element of fraud or treachery. All moves should be given most careful consideration. Affairs of heart and home are also under a disconcerting figure and should be most discreetly handled.

Those whose birthday it is may have a year of good opportunities, but they should consider all change most carefully, guarding against deception and preparing for setback and delay. Personal affairs should also be managed with discretion. A child born on this day may reach a position of prominence or power, attaining to a degree of financial success, but it should be trained to be careful to avoid fraud and treachery, probably through alleged friends.

THE SPOTTED SANDPIPER

If one is fortunate enough to find a family of young Spotted Sandpipers running about under the direction of the parents, he should spend a few minutes observing the birds' behavior. The agitated calls of the mother are sufficient to cause the young birds to "freeze" in their tracks. A brood of young observed on an island disappeared practically under the observer's gaze. The mother bird was very excited, while her young ones were crouched low among the pebbles in the open, she would run about pretending to be feeding, but frequently climbing a little plateau about a foot and a half high, from whence the young could be watched. As no danger approached, one of the young birds dashed for the bank, and upon our approach huddled close to the bank, as though trying to protect itself from being stepped upon. As soon as our gaze was averted, they were off for the tall grass. The protective coloration of the young birds when "freezing" in a group of stones makes it hard to detect them.

GOOD NIGHT STORIES

By Blanche Silver

DOTTY FINDS A NEW NEIGHBOR.

"Good-morning, Dotty," came a squeaky voice from the bushes beside the brook, as Dotty turned around the bend in the path.

"Good-morning yourself, whoever you are," laughed Dotty. "I suppose its the new neighbor I saw busy carrying sticks back and forth around here yesterday. Come on out and let's see who you are. I won't harm you."

"I know you won't," answered the squeaky voice and out from the bushes came a dear little furry creature. "I'm your new neighbor."

"Mrs. Beaver!" Dotty exclaimed all excited. "Oh! I'm so glad."

"Mrs. Beaver nothing," cried the furry one, "I'm not even a relative of Mrs. Beaver. I'm Mrs. Muskrat, if you please. But don't get me confused with that horried old relative of mine, Brown Rat. He's a regular thief. Do I look like a beaver to you?"

"Well, no, you're not as large as Mrs. Beaver," replied Dotty. "But your coat is dark brown like hers. Have you an undersuit like Mrs. Beaver's?"

"Yes, I have," replied Mrs. Muskrat. "I need that when in the water. You see I swim like Mrs. Beaver, too. My feet are not webbed quite as much as hers, but I can swim just as well.

"I'm Mrs. Muskrat."

Another thing you'll notice, my tail is bare and scaly and instead of being flat on top and bottom, like Mrs. Beaver's, mine is flat on both sides. I can use my tail to better advantage in swimming, than she can. I use my tail as a propeller."

"So you are a new neighbor of mine," said Dotty. "I'm so glad. I suppose you build a house like Mrs. Beaver's?"

"Well, no and yes," squeaked Mrs. Muskrat. "I never bother about building dams, and my house is much smaller than hers but on the same principle as hers. The one I'm building now is over in the bank at the edge of your Daddy's place. Come on and see how you're going to like it," and Dotty trotted after Mrs. Muskrat to the edge of the bank. Mrs. Muskrat took Dotty's hand and pulled her under the water.

"You see I have my entrance way under the water so my enemies can't find my house," she declared. They came to a hole in the side of the bank quite a way down under water. This was Mrs. Muskrat's doorway and she led Dotty up through a long tunnel to a lovely little bedroom. "You wouldn't believe we're just a wee bit under ground here."

"I thought that hallway ran up hill," said Dotty. "What's this doorway over here?"

"A tunnel that connects with the other tunnel farther down," replied Mrs. Muskrat. "In case of an unpleasant caller I can go out the other way. I guess Daddy Muskrat has taken the two children out for a swim. Will you stay and have dinner with us? I'm going to have apples, clams, potatoes and carrots."

"Oh, I'd love to stay," answered Dotty. "But mama wouldn't know where I was. I'll come some other time."

"All right," squeaked Mrs. Muskrat and she led Dotty down the little hallway, up through the water to the bank once more. "Come and see me again."

Dotty promised and bidding her new neighbor good-by, she ran into the house to help her mother.

ARTICLE No. 29

In every evening's play one or more hands are always bound to come up that bring out interesting principles of play or bidding. The writer noted two such hands the other evening.

Hand No. 1

Hearts — A, 7, 2
Clubs — Q, 10, 8
Diamonds — 7, 6, 4, 2
Spades — Q, 8, 3

Hearts — K, Q, 10, 6, 4
Clubs — 7, 5, 4
Diamonds — 8
Spades — J, 10, 9, 4

Y / A B / Z

Hearts — 9, 8, 5, 3
Clubs — A, K, 2
Diamonds — A, Q, 10, 9, 3
Spades — 6

Hearts — J
Clubs — J, 9, 6, 3
Diamonds — K, J, 5
Spades — A, K, 7, 5, 2

No score, first game. B dealt and bid one diamond, Z one spade, A two hearts and Y two spades. B bid three hearts, Z three spades, A doubled and all passed. A opened the king of hearts and Y won the trick with the ace. How should Z play the hand? Z must lead the deuce of diamonds from Y's hand. In order to be sure of two diamond tricks, the suit must be led twice from Y's hand. The only other sure reentry is the queen of spades so that if diamonds are to be led twice from Y's hand, they must be led at trick two and when the queen of spades is played; otherwise Z would be compelled to lead diamonds from his own hand for the sure loss of a trick. Note this play for it is one that comes up every day. Be sure which hand you want in the lead and why. When a hand is in the lead think to yourself: "Can I lead a suit from this hand to more advantage than I can from the other? If so, must I do it now or can I get the hand in later?" If you will ask yourself these questions and answer them correctly before you plan the play of the hand, you will save many a trick. There is another point worthy of considering in the play of this hand. At trick two Z should play the deuce of diamonds. B should win the trick with the ace and lead a low heart. Z should trump this trick and then lead three rounds of trumps winning the third trick in Y's hand with the queen. He should then lead the four of diamonds and finesse the jack. A should trump this trick with his last spade and lead another heart. Here is the other point of play for if Z trumps this trick with his last trump, he will never get another trick for B still has another heart. Z should discard the trey of clubs. On the next lead of hearts, Z should trump and lead the clubs. As B has the ace king of clubs and no more hearts, Z must make a club trick provided B has discarded two diamonds, his best discard before he finds out A's cards. It is an interesting hand and well worthy of careful study.

Hand No. 2

Hearts — K
Clubs — K, Q, 9
Diamonds — J, 8, 5
Spades — K, 5

Hearts — none
Clubs — J, 8, 7, 6, 5, 3
Diamonds — 7, 3
Spades — J

Y / A B / Z

Hearts — A, J, 6, 4
Clubs — none
Diamonds — K, Q
Spades — Q, 4, 3

Hearts — 8, 7, 5, 3, 2
Clubs — none
Diamonds — 10, 6
Spades — 9, 7

In this hand spades were trumps and Z was in the lead. How can he play the hand so that he and his partner can win four of the nine tricks against any defense? An analysis of this hand will be given in the next article.

Answer to Problem No. 14

Hearts — A, 7, 6
Clubs — 9, 4
Diamonds — none
Spades — Q, 2

Hearts — K, 10, 8, 5
Clubs — J, 10
Diamonds — none
Spades — J

Y / A B / Z

Hearts — J, 3
Clubs — A, 7, 5
Diamonds — none
Spades — K, 3

Hearts — Q, 9
Clubs — K, Q, 6
Diamonds — none
Spades — 7, 5

Spades are trumps and Z is in the lead. How can YZ win four of the seven tricks against any defense? Z should lead the king of clubs and Y should play the nine of clubs. B can either (1) win this trick with the ace of clubs or (2) allow Z to hold the trick. Suppose B wins the trick with the ace of clubs. If he now leads a heart or club, Z will be able to trump the third round of clubs in Y's hand and therefore make four tricks. B is forced at trick two to play the king and follow with the trey of spades. Y should play the queen of spades on B's lead of the king and thus allow Z to win the third trick with the seven of spades. A is forced to discard on the second round of spades. If he discards the jack of clubs, Z will put Y in the lead with the ace of hearts and lead the four of clubs through B's hand, thus enabling Z to win two club tricks. At trick three therefore A must discard the five of hearts. Z should then lead the six of clubs and force A in the lead. A must now lead hearts up to Z's hand and YZ must win the balance of the tricks. (2) Suppose B allows Z to hold the first trick with the king of clubs. Z should then lead the queen of hearts and if A covers, play a low heart from Y's hand. A can now lead (a) a spade or (b) a club or (c) a heart. If A leads the jack of spades, Y covers and B is forced to win the trick. No matter what he now plays, YZ must win three more tricks. If A (b) leads the jack of clubs, B is forced to win the trick or allow Y to trump the third round. No matter what he now plays, YZ must win three more tricks. If A (c) leads the five of hearts, Y should win the trick with the ace and lead the four of clubs. No matter what B does, YZ must now win a spade and a club trick.

The foregoing is a very tricky problem and its variations very interesting and puzzling. Work them all out for practice.

The 57th Regimental Chapter I.O.D.E. held a very successful bridge tea yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. W. H. Bradburn, Homewood Avenue. Eighteen tables of bridge were played, an individual prize, a pretty colored handkerchief, being given to the winner at each table. The consolation award was won by Mrs. S. Newhall. A number of ladies dropped in later also for tea, which was served from a table daintily arranged with a large silver basket of spring flowers—hyacinths, tulips, narcissus and daffodils. Cluny lace and yellow candles in silver holders also ornamented the table, and spring flowers in profusion were arranged throughout the handsome rooms. Tea was poured by Mrs. T. W. H. Young and Mrs. Harry Rush, assisted by Mesdames Fanning, Sharpe, Clark, Cottrill, Gillespie and Miss S. Robinson, Mrs. Gilgour and Mrs. H. Cooke. The guests were received by Mrs. Bradburn and Mrs. E. B. Clegg, regent of the Chapter. Mrs. C. S. Stapleton was general convenor, assisted by Miss Laura Belleghem.

BEWARE THE COUGH OR COLD THAT HANGS ON

Chronic coughs and persistent colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action, it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and kills the germ.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and destroys the germs that lead to consumption.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of chronic coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, catarrhal bronchitis and other forms of throat and respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. Creomulsion Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

Exclusive Patterns by Hazel Bayne

Underwear of Charming Design

If your under-apparel is not form-fitting and comfortable you cannot expect to attain the perfect ensemble you desire. With an undergarment like the one pictured, there is no unsightly bunchiness to mar the straight silhouette. You may make this attractive bit of underwear of fine linen, nainsook, crêpe de chine or wash satin, and trim it with wide lace, ribbon bows and straps over the shoulders. No. 1084 is in sizes 36, 40 and 44 inches bust. Size 36 is suitable for 34 and 36 bust; size 40 for 38 and 40 bust; and size 44 for 42 and 44 bust. Size 36 bust requires 1¾ yards 36 or 40 inch material. Price 20 cents.

Every woman's desire is to achieve that smart different appearance which draws favorable comment from the observing public. The designs illustrated in our new Fashion Book are originated in the heart of the style centers and will help you to acquire that much desired air of individuality. Price of the book 10 cents the copy.

The Silhouette of Motion

With flared circular skirt attached to slender bodice, this design cannot fail to please. It has the sophisticated simplicity that Paris sponsors this season for the dansant and semi-evening occasion, and would be equally as lovely in satin as in velvet. A sash which defines the hips and ties in front, is a new and distinctive feature. The diagram pictures the simple design of pattern No. 1254, which is in sizes 16, 18 and 20 years (or 34, 36 and 38 inches bust only). Size 18 years (36 bust) requires 4¾ yards 36-inch, or 2½ yards 54-inch material. The sash requires 2¾ yards ribbon 5 inches wide. Price 20 cents.

The secret of distinctive dress lies in good taste rather than a lavish expenditure of money. Every woman should want to make her own clothes, and the home dressmaker will find the designs illustrated in our new Fashion Book to be practical and simple, yet maintaining the spirit of the mode of the moment. Price of the book 10 cents the copy.

HEDDA HOYT TALKS ABOUT THINGS THAT INTEREST THE BUSY WOMAN OF 1925

GREEN HATS.

By HEDDA HOYT
(Written for the United Press)

NEW YORK, Jan. 21.—(United Press).—Green is by far the most popular of the new Mid-Winter hat shades. The production of the play, "The Green Hat" coupled with the popularity of the book by that name is considered the cause for this general rush for green millinery, which extends from New York to the Pacific coast.

All shades of green are being worn from a very pale Nile to brilliant peacock and dark moss. At Palm Beach a shade known as "peppermint" green is most popular for both dresses and bonnets. Miss Norma Talmadge of screen fame wears a velvet hat of brilliant green with a suit of similar shade and Miss Constance, her sister, chooses a dark green felt of tailored type with her mannish little street suit.

Of course, one still sees soft, pliable felts which have become almost a staple millinery asset. They are adaptable to the present short-haired mode and will doubtless remain in existence for some time to come. The new notes in millinery are color and shape since materials do not alter. As to color when one says "green" the smartest of the new colors is mentioned with black, coral, pale shades of rose and certain greenish yellows following in demand. Shapes of the Beret type and shapes with the new Gigolo crown are each pressing into prominence.

Lest one doesn't know the Beret, it is the snug little tam shape which is worn slightly over the eye and folded high at the rear. Usually there is a bandeau about the head and a tam shaped crown made of pliable felt or other soft material. The Gigolo crown which is high is draped to suit the face of the wearer. Nothing is smarter than a well draped crown on a small brimmed bonnet these days. Such shapes are particularly smart on the matron as there is considerable dignity expressed in the clever crown manipulation. The Beret shape, on the other hand, is far more suited to youthfullness.

ADVICE TO GIRLS

By Annie Laurie

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I am a girl in my teens, engaged to a boy twenty-two years old. Another girl came to town and asked him to call. He broke a "date" with me. Does he care anything for me or did he do this to see if I was jealous?

UNDECIDED.

UNDECIDED: Although it was not proper for the young man to call on this girl, do not let it mar your friendship for each other. He may have believed that this was a way to test your affection for each other. He may have believed that this was a way to test your affection for him. Talk with him, frankly, and I am sure that you will both come to a friendly agreement on the matter which will prevent any such heartaches again.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

(1) I have been going with a young man and he left to go to another state. He told me he was going to write me. He did, but he left for another State before I got it, and I don't know his present address. What must I do? (2) When a girl goes to church with her parents, is it proper for her to come home with a young man?

JOE AND SUE.

JOE AND SUE: (1) Send your letter to the last address that you have of this young man. If you write "Please forward" on the envelope, he will probably receive the letter. Be sure, however, that you put a return address on the back of the envelope so that you may know whether or not he received your note. (2) This depends entirely upon your parents' point of view. If they give you their permission to allow the young man to escort you home, there is no reason why you may not do this.

Annie Laurie will welcome letters of inquiry on subject of feminine interest from young women readers of this paper and will reply to them in these columns. Letters to Miss Laurie should be addressed to her in care of this office.

DRESSING TABLE ACCESSORIES

By Annette Bradshaw

Idleness is not agreeable. A diverting, simple pastime is a pleasure in anticipation, in realization and in reflection.

Leisure time used to good advantage will make a difference in your surroundings. Your family and friends will appreciate and admire the delightful changes you will accomplish.

Perhaps you have a lamp at home that through its length of service is just taken for granted. Nobody likes or admires it, it adds nothing to the appearance of your living room, it's just necessary.

Here are two good-looking shades that give you an idea of how to go about the rejuvenation. Use the wire frame yuo have in your old shade. Gold colored mull for lining and natural colored theatrical gauze are the materials. There need be no tedious hours of sewing. A good quality of liquid glue does the trick in short order and to much better advantage.

It's best to do one or two of the several sections into which your wire frame is divided, at a time. Cut a piece of your lining about big enough for a single or double section. Apply an even layer of glue to the wires of the section you intend to cover. (If the wires of your frame are not already wound in a binding tape this should be done before commencing.) If the glue is exposed to the air for a half-hour previous to use it will be less liquid, more adhesive. Stretch your lining over the glued section. Do each section so, one after another. When glue has dried, cut edges of lining close.

Bind the edges with a narrow black satin ribbon glued in place. Narrow gold braid is also suitable to this shade of gold and tan. The decorative motif of fruit and leaves is cut from odds and ends of gay colored moire or satin ribbon appliqued to the shade with the ribbon or braid used for the lamp edge binding.

Another attractive suggestion is found in the bright green pineapple silk shade trimmed in shaded scalloped ribbon. A cream or tan mull lining is used. The pineapple silk, though very inexpensive, has a sheer dainty quality which makes it especially lovely for lampshade use.

The French powder set, so luxurious in appearance, has its origin in two small glass bowls and a bud vase from the nearest economy store. Bands of narrow and wide ribbon are glued in place as the materials at hand and the fancy may suggest.

Dainty powder boxes are the small round and oblong ones covered with fancy ribbon trifles.

HOME MAKING HELPS

BASKETS AND THEIR USES.

Baskets were never as alluring in shape, color, or make as they are today. When we speak of baskets we usually mean the straw, willow, bamboo and braided husks. Nowadays, we must add the painted tin in basket shapes, papier mache, and metal baskets. All have their uses and admirers.

Logwood for open fires may be carried in the Chinese soft, willow woven baskets with braided handles that look like a coolie's hat upside down. These baskets are popular and come in three sizes. Then, there is the willow basket, open at the end and turned up at the sides, with a stiff handle. The basket is generally painted attractively, red or leaf green being the favorite colors. There is a folded matting basket which is Japanese and is attractive though not as handy as the others.

Scrap baskets come in every weave imaginable of variously colored straw, painted black with brilliant motifs in peasant fashions, ribbon run, finished with big bow, gilded and painted with odd designs.

Clothes baskets come in the old-fashioned shapes, oblong, round, and square ones with folding legs. The latter are coming into great favor for they are very convenient, indoors or out. Another innovation is the basket with a white oilcloth lining that saves delicate things from the danger of being torn by splinters. Most of the baskets are willow. Many housewives are painting their baskets white with waterproof paint, claiming it protects and makes them wear longer.

Modern baskets for babies are most alluring. Some are in fine white willow ornamented with dainty plaster flowers delicately painted in their natural colors. The baskets wear well despite their delicate appearance. They have all the needed little pockets around the sides and big bows of pink of blue ribbon adorn the handles. Another form in which the baskets are arranged is in a frame that holds three of the same size. The upper basket is the toilet or bath basket, the lower two for clothing for immediate use. Little sets include the mother's armless rocker, the triple basket, and a most adorable little clothes tree, all painted and decorated alike. The chair is cane seated with a soft cushion. The clothes tree is a wooden stork who lends his bill and wings for the hanging of babies' clothing.

A Fashion Model's Diary

SHE TELLS ABOUT THE NEW JACKET SUITS

"Have you noticed how many of the smartest girls one sees are wearing suits with rather short jackets?" Pam asked to-day as we walked down the Avenue at lunch time.

"I have," I replied. "And I think they are so youthful and effective, after a season when so many of the coats were long."

"This young thing coming toward us has on a nice one," Pam commented.

I followed the direction of her glances, and saw a pretty young girl advancing in a suit of dark blue and bright green.

As is my usual custom when I see a costume that is out of the ordinary, I watched it closely until the girl had passed.

"Straight from Paris," I announced in a low voice.

"Maybe so," answered Pam. "Perhaps by a very clever designer on this side."

"Awfully clever," was Pam's comment.

The jacket, of navy woolen club with a slight nap, had smart little tabs for its only trimming, with buttons covered in the cloth.

The skirt was of the same blue, on which there were stripes of green, worked in bright woolen yarn placed in very close horizontal lines.

That was all, except a little close-fitting hat of green, with velour brim, very narrow, and matching crown of felt.

"Madame has been making a number of her suits for Southern wear with short jackets instead of long ones, and I like it a lot," Pam said, approvingly.

"I think her Southern suits of white basket weave material with white fur collars are simply stunning," I assured Pam.

We saw another suit, the new "Apache" model from Paris, of navy blue, with short fingertip length jacket, and wide skirt cut on the circular.

The Jacket Is of Navy Woolen Material, While the Skirt Is Navy and Green

The girl who wore it had on a small felt hat, and there was a bright silk handkerchief knotted about her neck.

"That settles it," said Pam. "These short jackets are undoubtedly youthful. I shall get one for Spring."

WHY HEALTH MEANS BEAUTY

I maintain that the standard of general health is quite high among the present generation partly because the standard of beauty is high—and the enlightened woman knows she cannot have beauty without health.

Men are prone to say that woman's vanity is the indispensable preserver of her health, and I am inclined to agree with this viewpoint.

Of course her vanity enters, in wanting to preserve this state. But there is more than vanity at stake. Any woman likes to feel well so she can put the best that is in her into everything she does. In order to do this she must feel well, and she must look well. If she is conscious of not looking well, she cannot feel at her best.

To look her best she must feel well and alert and vigorous. Exercise is the best means to this end. The woman who grows sluggish in her movements, who allows herself to become veiled in an eternal lassitude, soon shows the effects of this. Her eyes lose their sparkle, and her movement lo their charm.

If you want to acquire this lasting state of health, the best thing you can do is to exercise and make your body strong. The best time to exercise is when you awake in the morning. This early stirring of yourself to action may be difficult at first, but once you become accustomed to it, you will rejoice in the feeling of power that it gives you. Your lungs will yearn to be filled with fresh air. The new feeling of alertness which this gives you will be a lasting pleasure, I assure you, so resolve to take it up at once. This morning exercise only begins your day, but you can find some time in the daylight hours get your outdoor exercise as well. If you do not have a chance for outdoor sports, you can take brisk walks in the open air. This is a wonderful way to keep your body fit and your beauty fine.

The first English society woman to manage a motion-picture theatre is the Hon. Mrs. Richard Norton, who has taken over the active management of one of the prominent film houses in London.

The Secrets Of Charm

By Lucrezia Bori

Are you one of these beauty-seekers who knows how to take a general survey of herself from time to time in order to keep her beauty in a shining condition?

I ask you this question because I find that practically all women need an occasional stirring-up when it comes to questions of beauty. Even the most scrupulously attentive may concentrate on one beauty-point to the exclusion of others.

This reminds me of a family of sisters whom I know. Only the oldest is married, and she lives in a distant town. She is a very pretty girl and most attractive. Occasionally she comes to visit her younger sisters, and the latter make these visits occasions to give their sister's beauty a good survey.

This is not always an approving survey, for they invariably find that she is neglecting the care of her hair, according to their views of how hair should be cared for, or that she has allowed her hands to become unduly roughened from housework, or that she is growing a bit plumper than she should. They make the poor thing diet, even while visiting, and they instruct fher over again about brushing her hair nightly, and acquiring a good tonic if it is needed.

Now, many of us would find this kind of taking-to-task a bit irksome. But if we are strong-minded we can do it for ourselves.

Watch your hair, your hands and your nails. Don't give them added care only when you are lunching or dining out. Think of them at the time and give them the small daily care that is necessary to make them look their best, no matter who is judging you, or how unaware you are of the fact that you are being judged by these things.

"The Wife Who Wasn't Wanted"

BY S. GERTRUDE DE WENTWORTH-JAMES

A NEW IDEA!

"THE WIFE WHO WASN'T WANTED"

will run as a serial with long weekly instalments for Sunday reading.

It is a story that raises the question, "What would your mother do to save you from a jury's verdict of guilty of manslaughter?"

It opens up a view of the escapades of youths—speeding while on a liquor drinking jazz ride—unwanted wives.

It is true to today's life.

Remember, "THE WIFE WHO WASN'T WANTED" is not a daily serial. IT WILL APPEAR EVERY SATURDAY.

SPECIAL COURSE AT C.P.C. PLANT

Young Farmers Are Studying Hog Raising and Grading.

31 ATTENDING.

A special educational course in swine is being conducted at the local plant of the Canadian Packing Company under the auspices of the Canadian Swine Breeders' Association, The Industrial and Development Council of Canadian Meat Packers, and the Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto. There are thirty-one boys taking the course, which is under the management of S. E. Todd, secretary, Industrial and Development Council of Canadian Meat Packers, and R. S. Duncan, director of agricultural representatives of the Provincial Department of Agriculture.

The course which started yesterday consists of a series of lectures on everything pertaining to hogs by experts in each class, together with competitions in judging and grading the different hogs that are used for demonstration purposes. Last night, the boys who are taking the course were the guests of the local branch of the Canadian Packing Company at a banquet and theatre party. The programme for to-day was as follows:

9.00 a.m.—Trip of inspection through packing plant.

10.00 a.m.—Lecture on animal diseases and meat inspection. Dr. R. Barnes, Health of Animals Branch, Ottawa.

11.00 a.m.—Lecture and demonstration on lamb carcasses—F. W. Trickey, Swift Canadian Co., of Toronto.

1.30 p.m.—Lecture and demonstration on judging and grading swine carcasses — S. E. Todd and L. C. McOuat.

Wheat Market Weakens On News From Liverpool

CHICAGO, January 21. — Canadian Press. — Preceded by sharp breaks in price at Liverpool and Buenos Aires, the Chicago wheat market took a sudden downward swing to-day as soon as trading began and then continued to weaken. Heavy arrivals of wheat from Germany were reported by Liverpool and it was further explained that with Argentine sales to Europe has ed on a certain test weight per bushel the quality of this year's Argentine crop has made a reduction in the test weight necessary together with a corresponding big price discount. General selling here disclosed that the market was bare of adequate support. The opening 2 1-8c off to ¼c up, May 174 to 173 3-4 and July 150½ to 151, was followed by an irregular set back all around that in some cases went nearly 4c under yesterday's finish.

Corn and oats weakened with wheat and as a result of prospective weather likely to increase the movement of corn. After opening ½c to 7-8c lower, May 83 3-4 to 83 7-8, corn suffered a material further drop. Oats started 1-8 to 3-8c off, May 45 to 45 1-8. Later the weakness increased. Downturns in hog values and in grain made the provision market decline.

Market Quiet But Firm Most Issues Holding Price

TORONTO, Jan. 21.—(Canadian Press.)—The market was quiet but firm on the Toronto Stock Exchange this morning with the majority of issues holding steady at yesterday's level. Brazilian and Smelters, the leaders, fluctuated narrowly, and both closed the morning 3-4 higher 83 and 187 respectively. A point advance in Atlantic Sugar and slight improvement in International Nickel and British Columbia Fishing took place. Barcelona was a half lower at 27. Mines were inclined to be easier and Lake Shore declined five at 11.05, while Keeley receded two at 188. Bank of Toronto and Standard also lost a small part of their recent gains.

Silver Stocks Feature Mine Exchange To-day

TORONTO, Jan. 21 (Canadian Press).—Despite occasional recessions, the price trend was distinctly upward on the Standard Mining Exchange this morning, with victory Silver, Noranda, Laval, and Beaver, all silver stocks, the active leaders. Noranda was run up 50 at 15.50, and Victory Silver, suddenly in demand, advanced 2 1- 2at 81 1-2. Laval also was 2 1-2 higher at 56. Canadian Lorrain and Crown Reserve were steady and Lorrain a half point stronger. Vipond, leading the golds, gained four at 192 and Teck Hughes advanced two at 3.30.

Return Of William C. Durant Caused Rise at New York

NEW YORK (Jn. 21 (Canadian Press).—Speculative sentiment in today's stock market was again bullish with the resumption of pool operations encouraged by the sudden re-appearance of William C. Durant in the market on the long side. The recovery, which embraced a wide variety of issues, ran from 2 to 5 points is such stocks as California Packing, American Waterworks, Pullman, Foundation Co., Savage Arms, International Business Machines and South Porto Rican Sugar. Waves of profit taking swept over the list at intervals, but offerings were generally well absorbed and there was a marked absence of the bear pressure that had characterized the sessions earlier in the week.

BIG INCREASE IN NUMBER OF CARS

Passenger Motor Cars Up 32,395—Trucks Up 3,202.

MANY IN TORONTO.

TORONTO, Jan. 21 (Canadian Press).—Passenger motor cars in Ontario increased by 32,395 last year, according to figures published today, and total 303,736; commercial vehicles numbered 34,690, an increase of 3,202. Figures do not include motorcycles. Toronto has 56,841 of the passenger cars and 9,039 of the commercial vehicles.

DISCUSS INSURANCE.

Representatives of Motor Car Insurance Companies Meet Officials.

TORONTO, Jan. 21 (Canadian Press)—rom New York, Montreal, Ottawa, Hamilton and Windsor, representatives of motor car insurance companies gathered at the Parliament buildings here today to discuss with R. Leighton Foster, superintendent of insurance for Ontario, proposed changes in the insurance laws of the province which relate to motor car insurance.

The discussion today centred on the mass insurance scheme by which all cars turned out by certain manufacturers are automatically covered by fire and theft insurance when purchased on the time payment plan. Mr. Foster pointed out that this emthod was at variance with Ontario insrance leigslation and that a general survey of the situation should be taken.

The agreement will then be forwarded to the Dominion Minister of Agriculture for his signature.

CANADIAN FURS VERY POPULAR

European Buyers Bid High For Stone Marten and Silver Fox.

OTHERS UNCHANGED.

MONTREAL, January 21. Canadian Press. — The popularity of Canadian furs among buyers from many parts of Europe, was again in evidence yesterday, in the rooms of the Canadian Fur Auction Sales Co., Ltd, when representatives from large commercial houses in several old world capitals, bid high for stone and baum marten and for silver fox.

Compared with the sales of last September the prices offered yesterday on otter, Russian sable and ordinary marten, were unchanged.

STUDENTS BEAT JEWS.

Were Incited By Presentation of John Galsworthy's Play,, "Loyalties."

VIENNA, Jan. 21. Canadian Press. —Productions of John Galsworthy's play, "Loyalties," at the Rumanian National Theatre at Gross Warde in Transylvania, was the cause of serious rioting. The Nationalist students taking violent exception to the attitude of the British aristocrats towards the Jews as exemplified by the characters in the play, fell upon and beat the Jews in the audience, forced the abandonment of the performance and the withdrawal of the play.

PIANIST DISAPPEARS.

Ethel Leginska Departs Suddenly From Evansville Hotel.

EVANSVILLE, Ind., Jan. 21. — (Canadian Press).—Ethel Leginska, temperamental English pianist, who failed to appear last night to play a concert here, was still missing today. At the hotel where she registered when she arrived yesterday, it was said she had not returned.

S. E. MacMillan, Miss Lekinska's manager, departed for Chicago this morning, and left word that Leginska's contracts had been cancelled.

FARM WOMEN HEAR OF HEALTH MATTERS

At Annual Convention of Alberta Body Question is Discussed.

CALGARY, Jan. 2. — Canadian Press. — Measures taken to combat disease and matters generally relating to health promotion, child welfare and the care of mental defectives were outlined today at the annual convention of the United Farm women by Mrs. J. W. Field, convenor of the Health and Child Welfare Committee.

The establishment of health districts with permanent staffs, to conduct all clinical work in the province, to carry out the examination of all school children and to organize surveys, was urged.

DEACON'S HONEYMOON.

Comedy Repeated in Knox Church For Good Audience.

"The Deacon's Honeymoon," a three-act comedy, was repeated for the second time in Knox Church lecture hall last evening, to a very good audience. The efforts of the performers were received with applause, as were also the instrumental pianoforte numbers by Mr. Charles Peaker, and Robert and Tom Allen, with vocal solos by Mrs. Ross Williamson and violin selections by Mr. Robertson.

"The Deacon's Honeymoon" will be repeated for the third time in the Knox Church lecture hall, on Monday evening next.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE.

SKATING ON PARK RINKS

Editor, The Examiner:

Dear Sir.—Your recent editorial as to skating on rinks in the public parks as an exercise was to the point. With reference to lack of accommodation for budding hockey players; may I make the suggestion that one hour each night be set apart on the rinks for hockey practice. At present, on the Inverlea Park rink, hockeyists monopolize the ice, and it is practically impossible for one to see young ladies and children skating without being buffeted about by hockey players. As there is no supervision at this rink, perhaps this note will call attention to lack of supervision and also provide hockeyists with a regular time for practice.

Yours truly; Interested.

SHEIKS VAMP GIRLS IN 'GOOD' TORONTO

Maids Now Demand Escorts Before Taking Night Jobs as Waitresses.

TORONTO, Jan. 21 (Canadian Press). —Annoyances to young girls upon the streets of Toronto at night have become so frequent in their occurrence that walking abroad at night without an escort is being shunned by many girls.

So widespread has this nuisance become that girls who are accustomed to going out at night to assist in serving dinners or at other functions are now stipulating before accepting employment that they shall be given an escort home.

PROVINCIAL HOUSES FOR DEVELOPMENT

Premier Ferguson Assures Utilities of Desire To Co-operate With Quebec.

TORONTO, Jan. 21 (Canadian Press) —Assurance that the Ontario Government would gladly co-operate with the government of Quebec in developing electrical energy in the St. Lawrence River was given by Premier Ferguson last night at the annual dinner of the Electrical Utilities Association.

Charles A. Magrath, chairman of the Ontario Hydro-Electric Commission, who was introduced by Premier Ferguson declared there was no cause for alarm with respect to the furnishing of electrical energy to meet the requirements of the province and that the commission before long would be able to make a definite announcement as to the future expansions of system.

NEW DISCOVERY MAY ERADICATE LEPROSY

Tree Oil Will Afford Relief Says Report of the Association.

LONDON, Jan. 21 (Canadian Press.) —The definite eradication of leprosy as a result of the discovery of tree oil which is said to cure disease is predicted in a report of the British Empire Leprosy relief association for last year, which has just been published. A passage in the leprosy society's report which gives rise to much hope reads as follows—

"Leprosy was formerly regarded as incurable, but recent researches have led to the discovery of methods of treatment which, if given at a sufficiently early stage, will cause the disappearance of all signs of the disease. It is now certain that leprosy can be eradicated from any country where adequate arrangements are made for the proper treatment of all persons contracting the disease."

MRS. J. N. WELBOURN.

(Contributed.)

The late Mrs. J. N. Welbourn who died suddenly at her home, 218 Reid Street, on Sunday, January 10th, was laid to rest on Tuesday at Fife Cemetery, near Keene. The funeral service was conducted by Rev. J. D. Richardson, of St. James United Church. The pallbearers were Mr. J. O. Fife, Mr. H. A. Fife, Mr. G. A. Welbourn and Mr. W. Welbourn.

Since coming to Peterboro 14 years ago, Mrs. Welbourn has been an active worker in St. James' Church. She was president of the Women's Missionary Society, of which she was a life member, and was also a member of the Ladies' Aid Society. For the past ten years she has been a capable and faithful teacher of the Cheerful Workers Bible Class, by whom she will be sadly missed.

The floral tributes were exceedingly beautiful, including: A pillow from Mr. J. N. Welbourn and daughter; Baskets, Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Welbourn; Cross, Mr. and Mrs. H. Welbourn; Baskets, Mr. H. A. Fife and daughter; St. James' Choir; Mr. and Mrs. Fairbrother and family. Wreaths: Cheerful Workers' Bible Class; The Fraction Horse-Power Dept., C.G.E.; The Cognawaga Athletic Club; Railroad Brotherhood Lodge, 426; Essex and Windsor Friends. Anchor: The Sunday School, The Board and the Ladies' Aid, St. James' Church. Sprays: L.O.L. No. 50; The Staff Halls' Store; Young Men's Bible Class; The Young People's League; Mr. Wigar's Class; Miss Greta Welbourn's Sunday School Class; Mr. D. S. Mix and Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Bouney; Mr. and Mrs. F. Delahaye; Mrs. Freeburn.

The sympathy of the community is extended to the bereaved husband and family. No greater tribute can be paid the memory of the deceased than the words of Edgar Hunt:

"To play the friend, to plant a rose;
To rise above the commonplace
And leave some memory here which shows
That I had touched my life with grace."

Canada's favourable foreign trade balance in October amounted to $62,748,355.

PROGRESSIVES TALK OF THRONE SPEECH

Discuss Document Clause By Clause — Want Some More Specific.

OTTAWA, Jan. 21. — (Canadian Press).—Members of the Progressive group in the House spent this morning in a caucus where the Speech from the Throne was under scrutiny. The group went over the Speech clause by clause and considered its position. The meeting lasted for two hours, and at the conclusion the general opinion was that certain of the promised legislation must be made more specific.

Progressive members on the whole are prepared to accept and support legislation along the lines indicated in the Speech, particularly in reference to rural credits, Hudson Bay Railway completion, and immigration plan.

COAL FOREMAN WAS VICTIM OF GUNMEN

Relieved of $500 While Cranking Car—Money Belonged to Firm.

TORONTO, Jan. 21 (CAnadian Press) —Held up by two men as he was cranking his car preparatory to going home last evening, Thomas Hankin, yard foreman for the Central Coal Co., was robbed of almost $500 of the firm's money. Robbers got away by way of the railroad tracks at the rear of the coal yard.

The manager of the plant had just departed with the half day's receipts and Hankin was preparing to carry the other portion to his home for night, when one man entered the shed and ordered him to stick up his hands. Hankin ceased cranking and looked up. He saw one man confronting him with a levelled revolver, behind this man stood another, but whether the latter had a gun, Hankin could not discern. Without further ado, while the armed man kept Hankin covered, the other fellow went through the foreman's pockets and relieved him of the cash. The robbery was witnessed by a nearby resident.

HAMILTON TEAM IN GOOD SHAPE

...ision of Petes Appreciated by the Rowing Club.

GAME SATURDAY.

HAMILTON, Jan. 21.—If ice is available, the Rowing Club Seniors will play in Peterboro on Saturday night of this week.

This was decided Tuesday night. Bob White, of the Rowing Club executive, was called on the long distance telephone by the secretary of the Peterboro club, who announced that the Petes were perfectly willing to follow the suggestion of the locals and stage the game as soon as possible. If the mild weather continues, however, the game will have to be postponed again, probably until the end of the season.

The decision of the Peterboro club is appreciated by the Scullers in view of the fact that the Parkerites are scheduled to play Thursday night. While the Petes are better equipped to stand two game in three days, there was no obligation for them to accede to the request of the locals, consequently, the Petes went up a notch in the estimation of the Scullers.

In preparation for this game, the Oarsmen will have only one more practise. They were idle Tuesday night, but they will work out tonight, and will have to be content with that. The team is in fairly good shape, however, and the management has little worry.

LENGLEN WOULD WIN GAME TODAY

Appears in Much Better Tennis Form Than Helen Wills.

EASY VICTORIES.

CANNES, France, Jan. 21 (Canadian Press).—Helen Wills received her first genuine tennis test of her Riveira season Wednesday in her second match of the Metropole tournament. Miss Wills' string of love games, started Tuesday in her match against Miss E. M. Green of England, was ended after running to 15 straight, when Peggy Saunder's, one of England's brightest youthful hopes for world tennis honors, captured the fourth and fifth games in her match against Miss Wills yesterday.

Miss Saunders won the fifth game at love, but Miss Wills, always playing well within her best game, took the match, 6—2, 6—1.

Miss Saunders, only 19 years old, hailed by British experts as a second Joan Fry, put up a plucky struggle.

Meanwhile Suzanne Lenglen ,was having a busy day on the courts. She played in the women's doubles paired with Mlle. Vlasto, and in the mixed doubles with Jacques Brugnon, winning both matches with ridiculous ease.

Mlle. Lenglen appears to be in much better form than Miss Wills. She has been playing steadily for six weeks, while the California girl had not touched a racquet for the same length of time until last Monday. The experts agree that if Suzanne and Helen were to meet tomorrow, the United States champion would have little chance of victory.

SCOTTISH CUP PLAY SATURDAY

Celtic Assured of Battle at Rugby Park in the First Round.

64 TEAMS START.

Saturday will see the Scottish Cup competition on its way, but games calculated to cause considerable heart fluttering will be few and far between. The system which brings out 64 clubs for the first round may work all right in England, but in Scotland it makes far too many non-competitive matches. Clubs that loom more or less on the soccer horizon are bracketed with others that are very seldom mentioned. Third Lanark must entertain Buckie, Dundee travel to Inverness Caleys, which last mentioned club comes into the limelight at the same period each year. Aird... nians are due to visit Queen of the South and St. Mirren meet Mid-Annandale at Paisley. There are one or two bright spots, however, and interest in the meeting between Kilmarnock and Celtic at Rugby Park will be keen. Celts are regarded generally as the premier team in Scotland, and on a fair way to landing the league honors may be depended to go after the double-crown. The "Killies" are a hard lot to beat at home at times and the least Kilmarnock folks are looking for is a draw, but in the long run Celtic should pull through.

Several Clubs in Clover.

Dundee United and Hearts at Tannadice Park should furnish another breezy contest. Bill Browlee's outfit has the happy knack of doing big things at times, as witness their victories over Celtic and Rangers. Had the game been scheduled for Tynecastle there would have been reason for gloom in the Dundee camp, but at home United will give the "Maroons" a warm time even if they do not finish on top. Partick Thistle are not expected to weather the storm Motherwell will raise. Teams with a strong winnings chance are St. Johnstone, Alloa Athletic, Arbroath, Cowdenbeath, Dunfermline, Hibernians, Dumbarton, Third Lanark, Aberdeen, Dundee, Raith Rovers, Stenhousemuir, Airdrieonians, Falkirk, St. Mirren and Morton. The games are as follows:

Scottish Cup—First Round

Nairn County vs. St. Johnstone.
Peebles Rovers vs. Keith.
Royal Albert vs. Alloa Athletic.
Arbroath vs. Berwick Rangers.
Cowdenbeath vs. Hamilton Acad.
Kilmarnock vs. Celtic.

BOWLING

LADIES' LEAGUE, Y. M. C. A.

The two leading teams in the Ladies' League met on Tuesday and the Bluejays managed to take the odd game from the Nightingales by the close margin of five pins. The Nightingales were, however, up in the total pinnage. This leaves the teams tied for first place in the league. Miss McConnachie's 184 and Miss Coulter's 181 were the high singles of the night.

Nightingales—
Miss Burgess, D.	155	148	96	399

CHURCH LEAGUE, Y.M.C.A.

St. John's dropped handicapped by a dummy in the last two games, dropped them both to St. Andrew's, but captured the first one by a good margin, so there was only a few pins difference in total pinneage. Perry had the high single with 243, while other nice singles were Jack Hall's 218 and 194, Batten's 218, Wood's 191, Ham's 204, Jim McClellan's 200 and Stephenson's 196.

BASKETBALL

By THE CAPTAIN

NO. 8—FORWARD PLAY ON FLOOR GAME

A forward's efforts to elude a guard do not end with the tap-off. He cannot lay back to the basket, let his teammates play for possession of the ball, take a pass and shoot for goal. He must go up the floor the same as the others.

It must always be remembered that a team to score must have the ball in its possession. Don't worry about the fellow on the other side when your team is on the offensive. Your opponent's position is his lookout when your side has the ball.

When possession changes then you do have something to guard against. The ball in the other team's hands means that you've got to watch your man, no matter whether he's a forward, center or guard.

When on the defense keep between your man and his goal, as shown in diagram No. 1, follow him about the floor, always remembering that he's harmless so long as you are in his path to the basket. Play close while he's within half the length of the court to the goal, but don't chase him past mid-floor.

On the offense let your man worry about you. Keep on the move, passing and receiving the ball as it is exchanged among your teammates, "Cut" for the basket at the least indication of an opening, as in Diagram 2, and if the pass is made to someone else and thus kept in play return and take up your former position.

"Cut" and pass, weave in to and out from the basket. You can't score unless you outwit your opponent and you can't do that unless you keep moving.

ECONOMY BASIS OF LOWER TAXES SAYS CHURCHILL

Bill To Be Presented Seeking Modification of Legislative Expense.

RUMOR ROUTED.

Lloyd George Denies Possibility of Union of Liberal and Labor Parties.

LONDON, Jan. 21.— (Canadian Press.)—With the approach of the re-assembling of parliament, February 2, political guns are becoming active. Former Premier Lloyd George and Winston Churchill, Chancellor of the Exchequer, were principal speakers yesterday. Lloyd George at Carnarvon, Wales, put a quietus on recent reports of a possible union of the Liberal and Labor parties, his idea being that both parties were in the wilderness for another three or four years and that there was plenty of time to consider what would happen when the reign of the present Baldwin administration came to an end.

Mr. Churchill, speaking at Leeds, devoted himself to the urgency of economic administration, if further taxation was to be avoided. If the plans of the government for economics were accepted all would be well, he said. No extra taxation was needed. He announced that a bill would be presented in parliament seeking alterations and modifications of certain legislative decisions that compelled expenditure. These economies covered the whole field. No department escaped, everyone had to make a sacrifice.

A communication from Belleville General Hospital was received. No action was taken.

Brown and Stiles: That the truant officers be paid. Carried.

The clerk was instructed to bill Sidney for work on boundary less $405 for an account presented from Sidney.

Bateman and Johnson: That the hospital for sick children be given the usual grant of $5. Carried.

NEW YORK, Jan. 21 (Canadian Press).—Balked so far in their efforts to obtain Marty McManus, hard-hitting second sacker, the New York Yankees yesterday purchased another second baseman, Spencer Adams, from Washington, in a straight cash deal. Details were not given out.

Eddie Shea, the little Chicago battler, who has been forging to the front rapidly of late, is to have a chance to cop the featherweight championship on February 26, when he is to meet the present titleholder, Louis "Kid" Kaplan, in a 12-round contest in Cleveland.

SHOCKED TORONTO

Toronto the Good received a rude shock during New Year's Eve "wild celebration" revelations, when it was reoprted that a semi-nude dancer had been appearing at several private parties. The outcome of a police investigation was the arrest of "Leoni," a professional dancer, together with officials of a local baseball club, charged with "doing an indecent act." The dancing girl is shown above.

LAKEFIELD FAIR BALANCE $43.76

Albert Darling Elected President at Annual Meeting of Society.

RECEIPTS $1,133.50.

LAKEFIELD, January 20. — The annual meeting of the Lakefield Agricultural Society was held in the Council chamber on Tuesday afternoon with a fair attendance. The president, Mr. Henry D. Coones, was in the chair and opened the meeting reviewing the past year's work, which was as successful at least as the average of the smaller fairs. The motor car, which has revolutionized transportation, has hurt the smaller fairs in many ways as the large ones are now within reach of practically every one and the zest of the smaller fairs is not as great. However, the result of last year's exhibition was very good and the society has a small balance on hand.

The secretary-treasurer, Mr. J. E. Galvin, read his report, showing the receipts for the past year $1133.50, the expenses $1089.74, leaving a balance on hand of $43.76.

The treasurer's statement had been audited and found correct by Richard Graham, the auditor.

Reports of the committees of the last year showed satisfactory conditions. A discussion took place as to whether the elimination of some of the classes and larger prizes would be a wise move; no action was taken.

It was decided to send the $2 affiliation fee to the Ontario Fall Fairs Association.

It was decided to employ government judges for horses, cattle, sheep and swine, and also a lady judge.

Among the members of the society are at present two government judges —Messrs. R. H. Graham and A. B. Mann.

Join with School Fair.

A deputation from the Public School Boards addressed the society on the question of combining the local fall fair with a school fair. Mr. J. W. Ridpath spoke first on the subject. He felt that the combined fair would be a benefit to both school and the society. If the idea is adopted the board will co-operate to do all in their power to make it a success. The speaker recommended that the secretary write for information as to whether or not the government would make a grant to this sort of a school fair.

Mr. Wagar thought that Lakefield should have a school fair as did all the schools in the neighborhood but this. The school yard looks like a desert with the bare brick walls of the school and the rocks in the yard. The children should be taught to take an interest in the surroundings of the school, and the speaker suggested writing to the agricultural representative at Norwood for all information possible.

Mr. Ridpath said the members of the present Board of Fair directors were growing old and they needed new blood and this encouragement of the young people would be an incentive to them to take a greater interest.

The result of last year's field crop competition was excellent and on motion of Messrs. G. A. Graham and N. S. Higgins it was voted to hold a similar competition this year in white oats and corn.

A. Darling, President.

The officers were elected as follows:

President: Mr. Albert Darling.

1st vice-president: Mr. Wallace Anderson.

2nd vice-president: Mr. John Blakeley.

Directors: Messrs. Henry Coones, T. Braden, Richard Graham, Bruce Garbutt, Harry Wagar, George Spence, George Mullin, Stanley Higgins, Stephen Harrison, David Simmons, Robert Duff, T. Garvey, James Ridpath, Howard Beavis, Herb J. Abbott, Howard Bullock, G. A. Graham and Dr. Smith.

It was moved, seconded and carried unanimously that Mr. James Walton's name be added to the list of honorary directors.

Messrs. Judson Hull and Richard Graham were appointed auditors.

Mr. Darling thanked the members of the board for his election, and while he did not feel "big enough for it," with the assistance of the splendid board of directors he will hope for good results.

The meeting adjourned and a meeting of the Board of Directors was held immediately following. Mr. J. E Galvin was elected secretary treasurer of the society.

The following were elected to the Property Committee: Messrs. O. Simmons (convenor), H. Wagar, T. Braden, G. Graham, J. Blakeley and R. Duff.

It was decided to send a delegate from the society to the Fall Fairs Association Convention held in Toronto next month.

CANADA'S CHAMPION FIDDLER

Canada's champion fiddler is Thomas Selby Thorpe, over 90 years of age, of Bradford, Ont. Mr. Thorpe has been playing the fiddle for 75 years in his earlier days he was in great demand as a fiddler at barn dances in the country districts.

MILLBROOK FAIR HAD GOOD YEAR

Reports Show Society To Be in Good Shape Financially.

OFFICERS ELECTED.

MILLBROOK, an. 21.—The annual meeting of the Millbrook Agricultural Society was held in the Town Hall on Wednesday, Jan. 20, at 2 p.m., the retiring president, H. A. Fallis, being in the chair.

There was a good attendance of those interested, and reports read by the secretary-treasurer, J. N. McGill, showed the society in good condition, financially and otherwise.

The following motions were made:

Vance—Tait: That the same field crop competitions be held under the auspices of the society as last year; carried.

Hamilton—McCamus: That the same number of Departmental judges be secured for the Fair in 1926 as last year; carried.

Smith—Winslow: That the annual affiliation fee be paid to the Fairs and Exhibitions Board; carried.

Hamilton—R. McCamus: That H. Belch be delegate to the annual Fairs and Exhibitions Convention to be held in Toronto, February 3 and 4.

Tate—Hunter: That J. A. Vance also be delegate.

Thos. Donaldson, veteran member of the board of directors, suggests some practical questions the delegates should take up with J. Lockie Wilson, while attending the convention.

The election of officers for 1926 resulted as follows:

President—H. A. Fallis.

1st Vice-President—H. Tate.

2nd Vice-President—G. A. Fair.

Secretary-Treasurer—J. N. McGill.

Directors—W. T. Donaldson, L. W. Smith, I. W. Larmer, R. O. Larmer, A. J. Henderson J. Whittington, R. I. Fallis, J. L. Fair, P. Stinson, L. C. McNeil, L. M. Winslow, H. Seymour, R. McCamus, T. W. McCamus, , V. Hamilton, J. A. Vance, J. H. Paul, John Greer, W. B. Ball, N. Belch, R. J. McKnight, J. L. McCamus, and V. R. Hunter (the last named being appointed in place of T. A. Kelly, deceased).

Lady Directors—Mrs. C. Thorndyke, Mrs. H. A. Fallis, Mrs. J. W. Hamilton, Mrs. G. F. Harrington, Miss M. E. Needham.

MISSING GIRL DEAD.

Bottle Which Had Contained Poison Lay Beside Her.

LONDON, Jan. 21 (United Press).—A body answering the description of Victoria Max Edwards, long missing San Francisco girl, was found today at the Village of Greenstreet, near Farnboro. Beside the corpse lay a bottle which had apparently contained poison.

Miss Edwards disappeared many week ago while on a visit to relatives.

AT THE CAPITOL

WHOLE CARAVAN OF MOTORISTS IN DENNY FILM

An elaborately built bungalow on wheels, and an entire caravan of typical tourists was part of the cast of "California Straight Ahead," the Universal-Jewel picture starring Reginald Denny, which comes to the Capitol Theatre today.

Most of the pictures takes place out on the open road, with Denny in the role of a disconsolate suitor trying to forget the fact that his fiancee had changed her mind. He tours the country in the palatial honeymoon trailer he had built with which to take his bride to California.

Harry Pollard, who directed the picture, spent a week in picking representative types of motor tourists to use in the caravan of automobiles accompanying Denny.

The picture, from a story by Byron Morgan and Pollard, follows the trail of the auto camper from east to west coast, through all manner of trials and tribulations, including speed traps, public camp grounds, blowouts and engine trouble, with a thrilling finish in Los Angeles when Denny gets back in the good graces of his bride by driving her father's racing car in the famous Ascot Track Handicap.

Denny in "California Straight Ahead" is reported to have found an ideal role to fit his ability as a light comedian. He is supported by a strong cast, including Gertrude Olmstead, Tom Wilson, Charles Gerrard, Lucille Ward, John Steppling, Fred Esmelton and others.

FOUR BIG THRILLS IN ASTOUNDING PHOTO-PLAY.

Strong Scenes of "Steel Preferred" Will Hold Spectators to Final Fadeout.

More than ninety-five per cent of the motion pictures offered to the screen public to-day contain only one big thrill or "punch" scene, but in "Steel Preferred," which was filmed in and around the gigantic steel mills of Pittsburgh and McKeesport, Pa., there are four distinct new thrills — and they are real thrillers.

No manufacturing organization offers such possibilities for spectacular scenes as those of a big steel mill and it was in the great plant of the National Tube Company at McKeesport, Pa., where the scenes were filmed. Hundred of the 8000 men employed in the plant are seen in the picture.

The four thrilling scenes referred to are the most daring ever filmed with a motion picture camera—in situations where a misstep meant instant death—and they are filmed amid the cheers of the mill workers who watched the proceedings. The scenes are:

The dangling of Waldron, a steel mill executive, in the grip of a giant tongs, over the red hot Bessemers—a perilous position for any man to find himself.

The battle in the crane house, in which the tongs are controlled, and which results in aldron's rescue.

The wreck of the ladle train, by which hundreds of tons of molten steel is sent hurtling down a hillside.

The trapping of Amy Creeth, the heroine, by the avalanche of red hot steel and her rescue by Wally, the hero at the risk of his own life.

Vera Reynolds, William Boyd, Hobart Bosworth and Charles Murray are the featured players. Others in the cast include Walter Long, William V. Mong, Nigel Barrie, Ben Turpin and Helene Sullivan. The story deals with the struggles of a mill worker to rise in the world. How he wins promotion and the love of the daughter of his employer is thrillingly pictured. The fist fight of Wally with a strike leader is exceptionally well done. The action is dramatic from start to finish and never lags.

"Steel Preferred" now playing at the Regent Theatre, for the next 3 days, is a picturization of a novel, and stories, by Herschel S. Hall. James Hogan was the director.

BOTH TEAMS WILL BE IN CONDITION

Hamilton Rowing Club and Petes Clash Here Saturday.

Good ice conditions are assured for Saturday night's game at Brock street rink, and the Hamilton Rowing Club - Peterborough clash should be an argument well worth seeing. The Petes should be right on edge after their game with Osgoode Hall to-night, while the Scullers have been practising hard all week and reports from Hamilton say they are in the best shape of the season.

Harry Batstone, of baseball and rugby fame, will handle the bell, and the fans are asked to note that the game will start at 9 o'clock, the start being delayed in order to make it possible for fans who are employed in the early part of the evening to see the battle.

The Petes deserve a big house, and indications are that they will get it.

CITY HOCKEY LEAGUE.

Games Postponed From Wednesday Evening To Be Played on Friday.

The games postponed from last night by the City League will be played to-morrow night. The schedule is:

6 to 7—St. James' vs. St. Peter's.
7 to 8—St. Andrew's vs. Raybestos.
8 to 9—Brintons vs. De Laval.
9 to 10—Crescents vs. Raybestos.

TEACHER'S STEED CAUSED HER DEATH

Horse Galloped Home Riderless—Parents Found Daughter By Roadside

ALTOONA, Pa., Jan. 21 (United Press.—When the horse Miss Ethel Keller, 20-year-old school teacher, rode to and from classes, galloped riderless into the barn yard, her parents started a frantic search for her. They found her dead body along the route she took daily. It is believed that the horse stumbled and threw Miss Keller, causing instant death.

GETS DEATH SENTENCE.

Youthful Soldier Emptied Service Revolver in Body of Salesman.

DEVIZES, Wiltshire, Jan. 21.—(Canadian Press). — Ignatius Lincoln, twenty-three years old, and said to be the son of a wartime spy, Tribich Lincoln, was found guilty to-day and sentenced to death for the murder of Edward Richards, a brewer's salesman, at Trowbridge, on Christmas Eve.

Lincoln, who with a fellow-soldier, Ian Stewart, was alleged to have waylaid Richards while he was on his way home from Christmas festivities, and Lincoln emptied his service revolver at him. Richards was known frequently to carry large sums of money.

FOREIGN GOLF STARS ARE SENSATION

Score victory number two for the foreign golf invaders.

Arnaud Massy and Archie Comptson began their American tour by defeating Bobby Jones and Watts Gunn 3 and 2. They followed this by trimming Jim Barnes and Johnny Farrell 1 up on the 39th hole.

Massy is the French open champion, Comptson is the British professional golfers title holder, while Jim Barnes owns the British open crown.

The fine putting of Massy was responsible for both victories scored by the invaders.

Massy and Comptson are regarded as the two most colorful foreign golfers to visit us in years. Massy is 50 years old, has been playing golf 30 years, and is still going strong.

Comptson is 6 feet 4 inches and a regular Babe Ruth for distance. In the match with Jones and Gunn, he consistently outdrove Jones, one of the longest hitters in the game.

Massy and Compton have been brought over by D. P. Davis, millionaire Florida realtor, to represent St. Augustine on the links.

CHURCH REFUSED TO PRESBYTERIANS

Commission Recommends That They Buy One of Three in Owen Sound.

TORONTO, Jan. 21 (Canadian Press).—The Ontario Church Property Commission has unanimously refused the application of the Presbyterian minority of the Owen Sound Churches that the Division Street Church be awarded to them. Under the "hardship" clause, the majority of the Commission recommended that subject to the payment of $20,000, either Knox Church, Division Street Church or First Methodist Church be given to the applicants, the United Church members to have the right to decide which of the three properties they will relinquish.

CHICAGO'S SUPER-CRIMINAL WITH AID OF LAWYER LIKE DARROW AND STOUT ALIBI LAUGHS AT THE LAW

Two Indictments for Murder Drafted by State Against Ruthless Bandit.

ARRAIGNED TODAY

Boasts of Evading Police in Chicago—Bride Pledges Loyalty.

CHICAGO, Jan. 22 (Canadian Press)—Which of two murder indictments the State will select as the basis of its demand for the death of Martin James Durkin, automobile thief and pistol fighter, was to be decided upon his arraignment this morning.

One of the three bills alleges the murder of Edward C. Shanahan, federal department of justice operative, and the other the slaying of Harry Gray, Chicago detective-sergeant. Durkin admitted promptly upon his capture at St. Louis Wednesday that he killed the United States officer, but thought he was a bandit attempting to obtain $2,000 Durkin carried. He blamed nervous Chicago detectives for slaying Gray as they did Lloyd Austin, Durkin's uncle in whose home the police laid a vain trap for Durkin.

The decision to arraign Durkin and choose the indictment best fitted to halt his criminal career by the noose was the net result of a day of activity in the State's attorney's office. Durkin, his young bride, until a few weeks ago, Irma Sullivan, 18-year-old old daughter of the village blacksmith at Cornell, Ills., and Betty Werner, formerly Durkin's sweetheart were questioned in the State's Attorney's office but the examinations brought forth no revelations.

Where Slayer Fled

Statements made early yesterday by Durkin and his wife were made public by the prosecutor. That of the young desperado gave in minute detail his wide ramblings in an attempt to evade capture. He fled from Chicago to Valpraiso, Ind., first, thence to Cleveland O., to Kansas City, Mo., back to Chicago, then to the Eastern seaboard, back to Chicago and across country to the Pacific Coast.

Boastfully he told of passing under the very nose of officers, jeeringly he remarked upon watching as they seized others who were mistaken for himself.

A statement by his young bride revealed that she "went with" him several months in Chicago, and had known him two years.

"Die on the gallows That's a laugh," said Durkin yesterday. "A good alibi, a clever lawyer—Clarence Darrow, maybe—and, shucks, it's a cinch."

Worried About Wife

But there is one thing that Durkin is worried about.. That is for the safety of pretty 18-year-old Irma Sullivan, the village blacksmith's daughter, of Cornell, Ills. with whom he eloped and with whom he was found when captured in St. Louis.

On the long train ride from Saint Louis to Chicago Durkin was allowed to sit beside his bride and bury his head in her soft mink coat—a $2,000 coat he had given her as a wedding gift.

But on their arrival here they were separated. Marty objected when they led her away.

Pledges Loyalty

"He's my husband and I'm his wife," she said in a voice that was ever so soft. "I have been taught that it's a wife's duty to be loyal to her husband and I'll stick by him to the very end."

But it was only a few moments later that Irma saw something that made her apprehensive. She didn't know that when she ran off to

That's the funny part of it—you SHOULD worry.

Surely you want to stand on your own feet. Well, tidiness counts for a lot, and you'll find people will think more of you if you apply a bit o' polish, now and then.

Shine the shoes you wear, and you'll find it a lot easier to stand on the feet that are in them.

DOCTORS CROWD CABINET SEATS

All But One of German Ministers Have Some Degree or Other.

LAW, MEDICINE, ETC.

BERLIN, January 22. — Canadian Press. — The second Luther Government may well be called the "cabinet of doctors," as all the members, with the exception of Karl Stingl, hold academic doctor's degrees.

Wilhelm Marx and Heinrich Brauns are honorary doctors in addition to having won the degree in the regular course, Marx holding an honorary LL.D., of Bonn University, and Brauns one from Cologne.

Chancellor Luther, Otto Gessler, Wilhelm Kuelz, Gustav Stresemann, R Krohne, Julius Curtius and Wilhelm Marx holding degrees from law faculties, while Brauns and Peter Reinhold are doctors of economics and political science.

Gustav Stresemann, who studied economics, history and literature besides law, wrote perhaps the most interesting doctor's thesis—"The Development of Berlin's Bottled Beer Business."—which in later days has been the subject of much amused comment.

Dr. Reinhold, the finance minister, a newcomer in the cabinet has devoted himself to the study of economics, history and ethnology. Dr. Gessler holds the record for appointments to the cabinet, as he has been minister of defence nine times since 1918.

Next comes Brauns, who has held the office of chancellor twice, and that of foreign minister four times.

Hans Luther has been food minister twice, minister of finance twice, and chancellor twice.

THE WEATHER.

Last night's lowest temperature was 12 degrees below zero. There was quite a breeze from the north-west, and outside conditions were not pleasant for driving or walking. This is the second decidedly cold period that has settled over the country. — W. P.

Ask That 10 Commandments Be Read in New York Schools

NEW YORK, Jan. 22 (United Press) — Believing that the prevalence of crime among the youth of the city is the result of ignorance of the Ten Commandments, Jews, Protestants and Roman Catholics will appear before the Board of Education here on January 25 and urge that the commandments be read every week in the public schools.

BRIAND STRIVES TO AVOID VOTE OF CONFIDENCE

Would Welcome Practicable Plan of Filling the Treasury.

DEBATE NEXT WEEK

Premier Hopes to Find Solution of Financial Dispute.

PARIS, Jan. 22. — (Canadian Press).—The daily change in tactics on the part of the Radicals and Socialists in the fight with the Government over financial measures has brought no change of front. Both parties remain on their positions, awaiting the next move by the adversary.

Premier Briand's policy seems to be to await the result of the cartel's deliberations in the finance committee, then demand a vote in the Chamber. The debate on the question will probably come early next week.

M. Briand, speaking in the Chamber lobbies yesterday, let it be understood that he would not put a question of confidence on M. Doumer's project for a stamp tax if the Chamber could furnish him with a solution capable of bringing in immediately receipts for the Treasury. He emphasized that the Treasury's position was becoming very difficult and he was trying to find a formula for an agreement between the viewpoints of the Government and the majority.

Like an old doctor of long experience the Premier seems wiser than to take sides yet in advocation of remedies for the invalid franc. He prefers to wait a little and when the remedies have been fully discussed to base his opinions on the needs of the situation. If he is convinced, and the Chamber is convinced, that the Commission's plans will secure the balancing of the budget he will encourage their adoption. If he is convinced during the debate that they will not, as M Doumer says they will not, he will most probably intervene with warm support of his Finance Minister.

But all through he will play safe with the Chamber, because he has this card up his sleeve, that the Senate will deal with the Commission's bill strictly on its merits and if it proves insufficient or burdensome on the wrong people the elder house, to which M. Doumer belongs, can be surely counted on to amend it so radically that it will be sent down again to the Chamber in a state which will be almost unrecognizable. It is then that Premier Briand seems to be calculating to wage his battle.

SETTLEMENT OF VACANT MANITOBA LAND PROPOSED AT OPENING OF LEGISLATURE

Curtailment of Horse Racing Season Mentioned in Speech From Throne.

BETTER MARKETING.

WINNIPEG, Man., Jan. 22. — (Canadian Press).—Legislation providing for special aid to the agricultural industry, a general pledge to encourage development of Manitoba's industrial and natural resources, creation of local government board and the curtailment of the horse racing season in the Province, were outlined in the Speech from the Throne, read by Lieutenant-Governor James Aikins as the ceremonial opening Thursday afternoon of the fifth session of the seventeenth Legislature of Manitoba.

The agricultural aid schemes involve a survey of the vacant lands of the Province and encouraging of settlement upon such of these as can be economically developed. It is also proposed to utilize the provincial share of the Canadian Wheat Board surplus to work designed to promote more efficient marketing of farm products.

The Throne Speech further indicated that steps would be taken to obtain railway facilities for the mineral belt of Northern Manitoba, while the introduction of a bill to make provisions of the Dominion Industrial Disputes Investigation Act of 907, applicable to industrial disputes within the Province was forecast. Reference was made to pulpwood development, freight rates and satisfaction was expressed for the general improvement in the business outlook in Manitoba.

Having completed routine business, the House adjourned until Monday night.

Buses Start Running On Peterboro Streets On Sunday Morning

Four Large Red Vehicles Arrived in Town Last Night—Are of Most Modern Type of Construction—Fifteen Minute Service.

TEN TICKETS FOR 50 CENTS IS NEW RATE.

Four great red buses ambled into the city last night and now are housed in the car barns on King Street, awaiting their initial trip along the routes assigned for them. The service will be changed on Sunday. The buses will lend a distinctly modern air to Peterborough streets, as they represent the most advanced stage of motorized vehicles for public use

With the buses has come a change in the tariff exacted from the passengers. Ten tickets cost 50 cents, making the fee five cents per ride. As the straight fare remains at seven cents, it is needless to point out the economy of purchasing tickets. Children under the age of 12 years receive ten tickets for 25 cents, while school children between the ages of 12 and 18 years may purchase a book of 60 tickets at the nominal sum of $1.50 on the production of a certificate bearing the signature of the school principal. These tickets are good only between the hours of 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. on school days.

J. O. Clifford, superintendent of the street railway system said that he had at one time contemplated using the weekly pass plan, passes being purchaseable for $1.00 and good on all lines for a term of one week. He said that he rejected the plan as not feasible for this city after much careful study of local conditions.

Mr. Clifford said this morning: "The 'buses are here. We are anxious to give the people of this city the best service possible at a reasonable rate. If there is cause for complaint, we hope that the people will not hesitate in coming to us and we will attempt to rectify any wrong or make any readjustment which will benefit the service. The time-table, as drafted, is merely temporary, and may be changed if conditions warrant it.

"The routes have been carefully planned to give the maximum of service, and special arrangements have been made to accommodate rush hour crowds from factories or other places of employment. In summer we hope to arrange for trips to various attractive places in the surrounding country, and this will be possible at a rate of sixty cents a mile. This will not mean much in excess of 1 cent per mile per passenger."

After considering the most efficient manner of collecting fares, Mr. Clifford came to the conclusion that the "pay-as-you-leave" plan was best, and, accordingly, that system will be used. In addition to the provisions made in the time-table, a copy of which will be placed in every street car, a 'bus will operate on Park Street, from McDonnel to Lansdowne, from 6 to 8 a.m., at noon hours and from 5 to 6 p.m.

'Buses will call at De Laval, Western Clock and Bonner-Worth factories at 12 a.m., 1 p.m., and 5

ELEVEN CANDLES MARK AGE OF KIWANIS ORGANIZATION AT PETERBOORO CLUB LUNCH

Big Birthday Cake and Home Talent Speeches Celebrate Occasion.

HIGH IDEALS.

Accomplishments of Local Club Show Spirit of Growth and Energy.

Peterborough Kiwanians today celebrated the eleventh anniversary of the organizatioin of the Kiwanis Club. A magnificent birthday cake, topped by eleven candles, graced the head table until it was cut by past-President Charles Cook and distributed by Sergeant-at-Arms Art. Kimmel. Kiwanis songs were sung with the usual gusto, and to cap it all there were four splendid five-minute addresses by members of the Kiwanis Educational Committee on Kiwanis ideals and work. President John J. Craig presided.

Charles Lacheur was the booster of the day, telling of the efforts of the Post Office to give service to the public. A Sunshine Committee was formed to care for needy persons and families. Herb McCannon is Chairman, and he will be assisted by Walter Oke and E. Taylor.

Two visitors were entertained, J. J. Seitz of the Underwood Typewriter Company, Toronto, the guest of Kiwanian John A. McKone, and Roy D. Taylor, newly appointed Secretary-Treasurer of The Examiner, the guest of Kiwanian John R. Heron.

Next Friday will be observed as Farmers' Day, when the members of the County Council and other County officials will be entertained. There will be a special speaker who will emphasize the Kiwanis ideal of bringing closer relations between city and country.

Rev. J. D. Paterson

Doug Paterson, speaking to the event of the day with special reference to Kiwanis inception, recalled the organization of the first club eleven years ago yesterday. In 1917 there were 75 clubs in United States, but in that year the organization spread over the boundary into Canada. By the Constitution, the Kiwanis organization is limited to United States and Canada. There have been nine international presidents in history of the club, and it is significant that two of these have been Canadians—so that Canada has taken more than her proportionate share in the leadership of the movement. There are 1,450 Clubs, with a membership of nearly 100,000.

Today we should remember that the name "Kiwanis" is a coined word, the speaker said. It is defined by Kiwanians as meaning constructive, unselfish, work, and a great deal is conveyed by these two words. It is constructive work because we build: it is unselfish because we build for others.

The worth of the organization is seen when the calibre of the men attracted to Kiwanis is noticed. Its progressive note appeals to young men. There are two classes

TAKING NO CHANCES.

An Irishman in New York was married, and on three successive years there came a baby Irish-American to the family. Then on the fourth year, when there was no new arrival, a friend asked the head of the house the reason.

"Sure," he said, "I was readin' that every fourth baby born in New York is a Jew, and I'm not going to have any Jews in my family."

Ice Breaker In Hudson Bay Next Summer Company Says

WINNIPEG, January 22. Canadia Press. — The Board of Directors of the Hudson Bay Company, announce that a large steel ice breaker will be put into service in the Hudson Bay next summer. The ice breaker is now under construction in England and it is expected will be completed by July.

Reports have been revived that the Canadian Pacific Railway will commence survey work in Northern Manitoba at an early date and according to despatches from The Pas, the company has commissioned several dog teams to convey the survey crews.

MOVE TO UNSEAT HON. C. W. CROSS

Corrupt Practices Alleged by Progressives in Athabasca, Alberta.

$1,000 REQUIRED

EDMONTON, Alta., Jan. 22. — (Canadian Press).—A petition under the Corrupt Practices Act is now being circulated among electors in the Athabasca Federal constituency, R. W. Tighe, barrister, of Edmonton, stated yesterday, which has for its object the unseating of Hon. C. W. Cross, Liberal, declared elected over D. F. Kellner, Progressive, and the holding of a new election, on the grounds that corrupt practices did exist, which prevented a fair election being held.

Twenty-five petitioners must sign the declaration, and a deposit of one thousand dollars is required with the document, before action can be taken. This money, states Mr. Tighe, is being raised among the electors of the riding, and it is not anticipated that the U.F.A. will be asked to assist financially, though this is evidently the intention of the resolution passed at Thursday's session of the U.F.A. convention being held in Calgary.

The petition will go forward to Ottawa some time next week, it is anticipated. Procedure requires that it be considered by the House of Commons, when, if the request is agreed to by the House, a commission is named to conduct the enquiry under the Corrupt Practices Act, the commissioner being usually a judge of the Supreme Court.

The enquiry is then held at the expense of the Federal Government. If corruption is established, the House of Commons then decides what further action to take in regard to the seat. If corrupt practices are not proved, the petitioners lose their $1,000, and the election of Mr. Cross stands.

ALOIS GOES, TOO.

PRESSBURG, Czechoslovakia, Jan. 22.—Alois Boza has disappeared, and police fear he has killed himself. Boza despaired because meals which once tickled the palates of kings failed to appeal to the people. He was once chef to Edward VII., Franz Josef I. and Peter I. of Serbia. A sign left on his cafe door said: "Those who relished my food are gone. I must go too."

GOVERNMENT LIQUOR OVERTURE REPORTED AS MADE IN LONDON DENIED BY PREMIER FERGUSON

ILL AT OTTAWA.

OTTAWA, Jan. 22. — Canadian Press. — Premier King is confined to his room with a cold. No serious results are expected.

No Representative of the Government Authorized To Submit Plans.

STORY DEFINITE.

Complete Legislation Programme Outlined in Despatch to Toronto Paper.

TORONTO, Jan. 22 (Special to The Examiner).—Emphatic official denial was given at Parliament Buildings this morning to the story emanating from London that a representative of the Provincial Government had submitted in confidence at a meeting of certain hotel proprietors and party leaders what was stated to be the Government's liquor legislation to become effective on May first. Premier Ferguson asserted that no such policy had been considered by the Government, and no legislation of the kind was in preparation. Attorney-General Nickle affirmed he knew nothing about the matter, and Provincial Treasurer Price, whose name was linked up with the introduction of the reported measure, declared he had no instructions in connection with any such bill, and he did not believe any representative of the Government ever made the statements indicated in the London report.

"Nobody had any authority to make any such statements," declared the Premier. "If the Government decides on any policy, I will announce it myself. This will not be done by any subterranean methods but in a way the public will understand. There will be no mistake about it. There is no legislation in preparation, and nobody has been consulted about it. The only reason I can give for these stories is that when I have traced them I have invariably found they have originated with somebody opposed to this Government."

"I know nothing about the mat-

MERCIER HAPPY AT MEETING HALIFAX

Belgian Queen Also Called on Cardinal.

BRUSSELS, Jan. 22 (Canadian Press).—Cardinal Mercier, far from being fatigued by the earnest talks he has had with Viscount Halifax, president of the English Church Union and Queen Elizabeth, actually seems to thrive under the stimulus of such visits.

After Lord Halifax's departure yesterday the Cardinal began to write for the first time in many days, presumably concerning the project of the union of Christian churches, which has been occupying his every waking thought.

The meeting of the Cardinal and Lord Halifax yesterday morning deeply moved all witnesses. The head of the English Church Union kneeled at the prelate's bedside, grasping his hand, which he kissed fervently. Suddenly the Cardinal, in a supreme effort, sat upright, tendering both hands to Halifax, whose devotion during the mass said in the sick room inspired all.

CANCER EXPERT DEAD.

London Doctor Was Opposed To Operations.

LONDON, January 22. Canadian Press Cable. — Dr. Robert Bell, the famous cancer expert, whose opposition to operating as a cure for cancer, brought him in conflict with many surgeons, died here yesterday, aged 80 years. He was vice-president of the International Cancer Research Society and superintendent of cancer research at Battersea Hospital. Of late years he has practiced as a consulting physician.

Dr. Bell held pronounced views on dietetics and strongly advocated the eating of uncooked fruit and vegetables.

He believed that cheese, eggs and milk were the chief items of food necessary for good health.

PRESENTATION MADE.

Campbellford Bell Operators Present Umbrella To Lady Leaving City.

CAMPBELLFORD, Jan. 22.—The Bell Telephone operators met Wednesday evening in their office to present Miss Clara Rowe, who is leaving the service, with a handsome silk umbrella. Miss Rowe has been an operator here for some time, and is leaving next week for Cleveland, Ohio, where she will spend some time with her brother, Mr. Wm. Rowe.

Mrs. Irvine Frederick, Simpson street received word of the death of her aunt, Mrs. Jos. Teskey of Orillia, last week.

W.M.S. Tea.

The Ladies of the W.M.S. of St. John's whose names began with A, B, C, D or E gave tea Tuesday afternoon in the basement of the church. The tea was well attended. There was an instrumental solo by Miss Stephens, a duet by Mrs. Malcolm and Miss Young and vocal solos by Mrs. Free and Misses Meiklejohn, Wood, Turner and Dunk. Mesdames Bell, Hammond and Kingston gave readings.

WORLD COURT CONTROVERSY IN UNITED STATES SENATE WAR OF ATTRITION

Longer Sessions Arranged To Wear Out Die-hard Opponents.

WANT EARLY VOTE.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22—(Canadian Press).—A war of attrition on opponents of the world court was begun Thursday in the Senate.

The campaign was inaugrated by administration leaders after negotiations looking to an agreement for a time to vote had failed with the two sides so far apart that further conversations were regarded by each as uselesss.

A seven hours' session of the Senate today was arranged for, with indications that even longer hours would follow in the effort to wear down the opposition and bring about a vote at an early date.

While this warfare is being waged, the $352,000,000 tax reduction bill remains on the Senate calendar. It became definitely involved in the court row, and proved one stumbling block in the way of an agreement for a vote on the resolution of adhesion to the Geneva tribunal.

Opponents of the court have consolidated their forces and are determined to carry the battle along to the point where they believe the administration forces would be obliged to take up the revenue measure, which must be passed next month if taxpayers are to get the benefit of the reduction in the returns which they must make on March 15.

Indian Land Rich.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—An Interior Department estimate places the total value of property owned by Indians in the United States at $1,500,000,000.

DRY LEADER DEAD.

Sixth Fatality From Stand Collapse.

LONG BEACH, Cal., Jan. 22.—Miss Marie C. Brehm, 65, candidate for vice-president of the United States on the prohibition ticket in 1924, died at her home here Thursday from injuries received in the Pasadena football grand stand collapse New Year's Day.

The noted prohibitionist is the sixth fatality of the tournament of roses disaster, in which 114 persons were injured.

MRS. A. STEVENSON RE-ELECTED PRESIDENT OF LOCAL COUNCIL AT ANNUAL MEETING YESTERDAY

In Address She Referred To Several Important Points.

REPORTS RECEIVED.

Treasurer Shows That Council Has Good Balance on Hand.

The annual meeting of the Local Council of Women was held yesterday afternoon in the green room of the Young Women's Christian Association, with a good attendance. The election of officers was announced, with practical acclamation by the affiliated societies, who consider nominations and make a return of their chosen list to the secretary, who compiles the totals and then announces the net result, of the officers of last year. The offices of the vice-presidents and of the convenor on Laws were the only offices left unfilled, and these were voted on yesterday at the meeting. Reports were also given by the secretary and treasurer and by representatives of the affiliated societies present at the meeting.

The results of the deliberations of the societies and of yesterday's voting were as follows:

President, Mrs. Arthur Stevenson; Vice-presidents, Mrs. J. Mills, Mrs. G. Helson, Mrs. S. F. Touchburn, Mrs. F. H. Dearborn, Miss A. Lancaster; Corresponding secretary, Mrs. A. Mowat; Recording secretary, Mrs. Joseph Wearing; Treasurer, Mrs. N. D. Seaton; Convenors of Standing committees: Citizenship, Mrs. K. Wightman; Equal Moral Standard, Mrs. A. Stevenson; Films and Printed Matter, Miss A. Walton; Household Economics, Mrs. G. Helson; Public Health, Mrs. N. H. Sutton; Education, Mrs. C. E. Jamieson; Laws, Miss H. Moffat; Professions and Employments for Women, Mrs. J. Mills; Soldiers' Pensions and Dependents, Mrs. W. R. Morris; Mental Hygiene, Miss H. Bonnycastle; Fine and Applied Arts, Mrs. W. M. Blackwell, president of the Women's Art Association; League of Nations, Mrs. H. R. H. Kenner; Immigration, Miss Leta Brownscombe.

Urges Increased Interest.

Mrs. A. Stevenson, the re-elected president, speaking briefly, referred to one point emphasized in the recent Provincial meeting of the National Council, when Dr. Stowe-Gullen brought to the attention of the delegates the question of drug addiction in the Collegiate Institutes of the province. Mrs. Stevenson, referring also to the recent agitation over the use of liquor at public dances, thought that women were too prone to think they had done their duty when they voted for prohibition. She advocated strongly an increased measure of interest and the use of influence in the way of guarding against the use of intoxicants in any way. An increased interest in municipal politics was also advocated by the president.

Mrs. A. Mowat read a letter from the Women's Liberal-Conservative Association of the city, applying for membership in the Council, and same was unanimously accorded by the meeting.

Mrs. Mowat also gave a very comprehensive review of the endeavors of the Local Council during the past year, showing an increasing interest being taken by the members, with good attendance at the meetings, and reviewing in interesting fashion the work of the society, showing the wide scope of the Council's efforts. Thirty-six societies are now in affiliation with the Local Council, making one of the largest memberships among the Local Councils of the Dominion.

Financial Report

Mrs. N. D. Seaton, the treasurer, gave the financial report for the year, as follows:

Balance from 1924, $22.94; Fees, $62.00; Receipts from Mrs. Thorburn's lecture, $18.61; Donations, $21.50; Receipts of memorial service for nurses, $17.00; sale of theatre tickets for "Drusilla with a Million" $390.80; Interest, $3.58; Donations to Miners' Relief fund (collected by the ouncil), $169.00. Total receipts, $705.43.

Expenditures: For Mrs. Thorburn's lecture, $17.00; Lady Aberdeen pin fund, $1.00; Miner's Relief Fund, $169.00; Stamps, typing, etc., $6.40; Nurses' Memorial service, $3; G.W.V.A. Hall, $5.00; To Royal Theatre in connection with "Drusilla with a Million," $228.53; National Council fees, $67.00; Peterboro Floral Company, $1.50; Y.W.C.A. (rental,) $13.52; Peterboro Examiner, $37.70. Total expenditures, $349.80.

Balance on hand, $155.56.

Reports from Societies

Representatives of affiliated societies, present at the meeting, gave brief reports of the activities of their organizations, showing, as was commented on by the president at the conclusion, an immense amount of relief work done in the city, as nearly all of the societies recorded a certain amount of this type of endeavor. The reports showed flourishing organizations in every instance. Societies reported on, and the ladies speaking for them, were as follows:

All Saints' Auxiliary (Mrs. W. J. Lundy); Ashburnham Women's Patriotic League (Miss E. Scott); Catholic Women's League (Mrs. F. A. Hodgson); Female Voice Choir (Mrs. J. Brealey); Registered Nurses' Association (Miss M. A. Ferguson); King Edward Home and School Association (Mrs. J. J. Pollock); King George Home and School Association (Mrs. E. Scott); Queen Alexandra Home and School Association (Mrs. J. H. Vance); Queen Mary Home and School Association, (Mrs. H. S. Huffman); Otonabee Chapter I.O.D.E. (Miss A. Lancaster); Ladies' Auxiliary Knox Church (Mrs. G. Davis); Ladies' Auxiliary Trinity Church (Mrs. J. A. Wolstenholm); Ladies' Aid Mark street Church (Mrs. W. Pomeroy); Women's Missionary Society Trinity Church (Mrs. E. Storey); W.M.S. George street Church (Mrs. H. S. Strong); Nicholls Hospital Alumnae (Miss F. Dixon); Women's Art Association (Mrs. Wm. Blackwell); Women's Auxiliary St. Luke's Church (Mrs. H. Butcher); St. John's Churchwoman's Association (Mrs. J. Howden); Women's Auxiliary to the G. W.V.A. (Mrs. R. Bugg); Women's Liberal Club (Miss M. F. Maloney).

Brief reports of their work were also given by Mrs. W. R. Morris, for the committee on Soldiers' Pensions and Dependents, and by Miss A. Walton, convenor of the committee on Films and Printed Matter. Mrs. Morris reported on legislation which had been put through this year with regard to soldiers' dependents, speaking of the permanent bonus, the extra help afforded parents of deceased soldiers, when such were dependent on them, and the law recently passed which allows a soldier's widow who has re-married and lost her pension, to regain the same, should her second husband die within five years' time.

Miss A. Walton reported little activity in her work this year, owing to very few complaints having been received with regard to objectionable films or printed matter.

Mrs. A. Mowat referred to the question of the National Council's budget, which has been the cause of much discussion and disagreement among the Local Councils during the past year, and asked the members if they wished to take back to their societies a suggestion to discuss the budget for 1926, with a view to eliminating certain items which have been disagreed on. The members decided to do this and report at the next meeting.

A hearty vote of appreciation of the excellent service given by The Examiner during the past year, in reports and publicity accorded the doings of the Local Council through its columns, was tendered by the secretary, and unanimously endorsed by the meeting.

OGDENSBURG LOSES ITS FINE CITY HALL

Boiler Explosion Blew Off Half Roof and Fire Finished Work.

OGDENSBURG, N.Y., Jan. 22.—(Canadian Press).—The worst fire in the history of Ogdensburg broke out shortly after midnight this morning, when a boiler exploded in the City Hall. The explosion tore off half of the roof and opened a vent that within a short time furnished the draught for a roaring furnace within the building.

When the fire apparatus arrived the building was doomed, and, in spite of the assistance given by 400 volunteers, the walls fell in half an hour after the explosion.

ST. ANDREW'S CHURCH REPORTS SHOW THAT CONGREGATION HAS PASSED VERY SUCCESSFUL YEAR

Campbellford Presbyterians Raised Altogether More Than $6,000.

37 NAMES ADDED.

Reports of Societies Show That All Branches Were Prosperous.

CAMPBELLFORD, Jan. 22. — The congregation of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, at the annual meeting, which was held on Thursday night, presented their pastor, Rev. James Grier, who has occupied the pulpit for the past six months, with a cheque for $100, an amount which represents a voluntary contribution on the part of the members and adherents and was altogether independent of the regular church funds. The presentation was made by Dr. G. A. Hay, the retiring member of the board of management, of which he had been chairman.

In returning thanks for the gift, Mr. Grier said that he had enjoyed his pastorate in St. Andrew's and that he had been encouraged in his labors by the conviction that his efforts had been appreciated by his people.

One Year's Record.

Mr. Grier was elected chairman of the meeting, which was well attended and the reports of the work of the year were most most gratifying. The congregation started the year 1925 with a balance on hand of $164.01 and now has a surplus of $308.77. The total regular revenue during the year was $5,527.79 and in addition to this there were the various amounts raised by the different auxiliary societies, which would bring the grand total up to an amount in excess of $6,000. The contributions to mission totalled $600, and the Ladies' Aid, as usual, proved one of the best assistants in the work of the year.

"The Apple of Discord"

In presenting the report of the session the pastor said that "the apples of discord, church union, had during the year borne fruit of its kind" but the people had not lost confidence but had carried on with greater courage than ever. During the year 37 names had been added to the membership roll, and nine had been called by death, the audience standing while the names of the departed were read by the pastor.

The session thanked all the officers for their loyal co-operation and special mention was made of J. A. Anderson for his excellent services as superintendent of the Sunday School, a position which he is now giving up. The choir, under the leadership of Mr. William Pearson, was also complimented and Mr. Pearson was commended for his services in training the junior girls' choir.

"If," concluded Mr. Grier, "the congregation is as fortunate in its board of management as it was in 1925 when the financial burden was beyond all precedent, it will be fortunate indeed."

Dr. G. A. Hay, as chairman of the board of management, thanked the congregation for the liberal response that was made to every call for financial assistance.

Auxiliary Reports.

The different Auxiliary reports were then read as follows: Trustees, by Allan G. Watson, acting for C. L. Owen, the senior trustee, who is ill. the Sunday school report by Joe Townsend, who stated that the average attendance was now 88, and that there is a staff of 14 teachers. The report spoke highly of the retiring superintendent, J. A. Anderson, who has been connected with the school for the past 13 years, and who in that time has always done his best to encourage scholars and teachers.

Mrs. George Dickson as secretary and Miss Jessie Neil, treasurer of the W.M.S. reported that the society now has 31 members and that the receipts during the year were $355.75. There is a balance on hand of $5.91.

Mrs. R. McCulloch reported for the Mission Circle and the report of the Mission Band was read by R. J. Allan, who acted as secretary of the meeting.

Mr. Allan also read the report of the Ladies' Aid, of which Mrs. A. G. Watson is secretary, and Mrs. C. McKelvie is treasurer. The society has 32 members. The receipts last year were $314.01 and the balance on hand is $21.15.

For the Young Peoples' Society, W. Anderson reported receipts of $135.85 during the year.

Gerald Bailey, treasurer of the Sunday school, reported that the receipts were $286.17 and that there is on hand a balance of $120.63.

Officers Elected.

On motion of J. A. Anderson the number of managers was increased from nine to eleven in order to have more members actitvely interested in the work of the congregation. This change made the election of six necessary as Dr. Hay resigned and the terms of three others expired. Of these Harry Townsend and R. J. Allan declined to stand for re-election as they believed that the offices should be passed around. George Whitelaw was elected to fill out the unexpired two-year term of Dr. Hay and the following were chosen to serve for three years: Glen Thompson, A. C. Connor, Garnet Curle, Robert Bell and Dr. O. C. Watson.

Neil Morrison was re-elected treasurer and the auditors chosen were Wesley Stephens and Dr. G. A. Hay.

After the business session the ladies served refreshments and the members and adherents of the congregation spent a pleasant social hour together, the occasion marking the close of one of the most prosperous years in the long history of the congregation and the beginning of another twelve months of endeavor under material and spiritual auspices that augur still greater success in the future.

ONE HUNDREDTH BIRTHDAY WAS KEPT QUIETLY

Children, Grandchildren and Great Grandchildren Surrounded Centenarian.

BORN IN 1826.

Joshua Anderson Has Lived in Same Place For 89 Years.

NORHAM, Jan. 22—Surrounded by a number of their six children, twenty grandchildren, and twenty-two great-grandchildren, Mr. and Mrs. Joshua Anderson, of Anderson's Island, Hastings County, on Thursday quietly celebrated the 100th anniversary of Mr. Anderson's birth. Mr. Anderson was born in Murray Township, Northumberland County, on Jan. 21st, 1826, one mile from his present home where he has resided for 89 years. He has always been a Conservative and has voted in every Federal and Provincial election in the past 76 years and always in the same sub-division. He has used tobacco in moderation but never drank.

Mrs. Anderson, nee Mahala Parcel, will be 90 years old in April, and was born in Murray Township, Northumberland County, a short distance from her present home, on April 3, 1836

Mr. and Mrs. Anderson are in good health with all their faculties well preserved. Mr. Anderson has only required the services of a doctor one in these hundred years. His mother passed away at 95 years, and up to the present no older person has been interred in Stirling Cemetery. Mrs. Anderson's grandfather, the late John Parcels, lacked one month of being 101 years old when he passed away.

Out of a family of ten children, six are living: Mrs. William Hanna, Stirling; Mrs. William Reaume, Wallaceburg; Mrs. Chester Hoard, Anderson Island; Lester, Hoard's Station; John, Saskatchewan; Fred, at home.

Mr. and Mrs Anderson celebrated the 70th anniversary of their marriage on Octber 29, 1925.

CHICAGO'S SUPER-CRIMINAL

marry Marty that he had another sweetheart in Chicago—Betty Andrews Werner, a girl who helped Marty out of many scrapes.

Meanwhile, Durkin, the sheik, conversed happily with his "women folks." There were no male comrades to greet him—he had gone his way along the crime path alone, with unsuspecting sweethearts, a forgiving mother, and sisters that tried to induce him to change his ways.

Promised Vengeance

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22 — With the arrest of Martin James Durkinn, super-criminal, at St. Louis, the countryl was freed of the last of the Jesse James type bandit who preyed on society justice department agents said today.

Durkin's capture ended the greatest man-hunt in a decade. He murdered a justice department agent in cold blood and every federal officer in the service had pledged himself to avenge his comrade.

Three of th most notorious criminals—termed as master minds and desperate gunmen—have now fallen into the hands of the law in less than six months. Gerald Chapman, train robber and slayer, is in the Connecticut state prison with a death sentence hanging over his head. George "Dutch" Anderson, Chapman's pal, was killed in Muskegon, Mich., in a gun battle with police, and Durkin is now in the hands of the Chicago police.

G. B. S. IS ANGRY.

MANCHESTER, Eng., Jan. 22.—George Bernard Shaw hates the movies and will not permit any of his plays to be filmed. Here is the reason his friends give: Recently while attending a production of his "Saint Joan," he was horrified to see a moving picture advertisement flashed on the curtain in one of the intermissions.

YOU POOR KID. WHY ARE YOU SO SKINNY?

Don't your mother know that Cod Liver Oil will put pounds of good healthy flesh on your bones in just a few weeks?

Tell her every druggist has it in sugar-coated tablet form now so that in just a few weeks she can help you get back your appetite—make your body stronger—your feet nimble, and your mind keener. Tell her if they don't help greatly in thirty days she can get her money back.

Tell her that McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets are chock-full of vitalizing vitamines and are the greatest flesh producers and health builders she can find.

One sickly thin kid, age 9, gained 12 pounds in 7 months.

She must ask McDermid and Jun., James Lynch, Bond's Drug Store or any good druggist for McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets—60 tablets—60 cents—as pleasant to take as candy.

PROFESSIONAL EXHIBITORS OF WOMEN'S WORK SHOULD BE BARRED

Suggestion at Annual Meeting of Campbellford Agricultural Society.

BALANCE OF $67

CAMPBELLFORD, Jan. 22.—At the annual meeting of the Seymour Agricultural Society held Thursday afternoon, W. A. Lynn was elected president and J. Nelson Stone was re-elected secretary-treasurer. All the reports submitted showed that the society had a good year and plans were made to ahve fair of 1926 the best ever yet held.

Retiring President Locke, who has held that position for the past two years, in his opening address, gave some practical advice as to how the fair could be improved and for his counsel he was on motion of Alex Hume, given a vote of thanks.

One of the suggestions of Mr. Locke was that the exhibiting of old articles in the ladies' department be prohibited. Mesdames William Hume, A. J. Meyers and T. L. Diamond who were present, agreed with the president, Mrs. Hume stating that it was impossible to induce local ladies to exhibit at the fair so long as professional exhibitors were permitted to come in and carry off the prizes with machine made goods. This is a matter that will be taken up by the directors before the next fall fair.

The Financial Report.

The financial report of Secretary-Treasurer Stone showed that total receipts during the year were $3,840.96 and that the expenditures had amounted to $3,773.94, leaving a balance on hand of $67.02. The value of the property held by the society is $7,332.02 and the liabilities are $2080. One year ago the liabilities were $3300.

Routine Business.

It was decided to hold a field crop competition in oats and ensilage corn this year and to engage departmental judges for the fall fair. The new board of directors will decide the question of holding a celebration on Victoria Day.

The president and secretary will represent the society at the annual meeting of the Ontario Fairs Association and W. M. Stephens and George Van Volkenburg were elected delegates to attend the meeting of the General Fairs Association at Belleville next Wednesday. If either of these delegates to Belleville is chosen a district director he, too, will go to the Toronto meeting.

Officers Elected.

The following officers were elected:

President—W. A. Wynn.

First Vice-President—Henry Watters.

Second Vice-President— T. J. Horkins.

Directors — W. M. Stephens, George Van Volkenburg, Dr. S. L. O'Hara, Alex Hume, Garnet Kerr, W. H. Locke, W. S. Grills, G. A. Kingston, Robt. Innis, E. A. McCook, John Locke, W. J. Abernethy, Fred Hendy.

Honorary directors—Fred Dinwoodie, J. A. Murray, Henry Dunham, Russel Peake, T. H. Rowe, C. E. Bonnycastle.

Lady directors—Mesdames Charles Macoun, T. L. Diamond, John Locke, Wm. Hume, A. J. Meyers and John Simpson.

At a meeting of the directors Mr. Stone was unanimously reelected secretary-treasurer and the board adjourned subject to the call of President Wynn.

WHY NOT 2,000 MEMBERS?

The Examiner was asked the other day what had become of the membership campaign of the Peterboro Industrial Exhibition, the question being inspired by a recollection of an appeal made by the Examiner during last year's Exhibition to the people generally to become members.

There was no membership campaign beyond that appeal, but the inquiry is of value, inasmuch as it may remind other citizens who have not yet become members that right now is as good a time as any to join.

The Exhibition has just had its annual meeting, raised its objective so far as attendance is concerned to 40,000, and has decided to operate for a full week.

That is real progress that should inspire many people of Peterboro and district to ally themselves with such a live-wire organization which smashes triumphantly ahead to new levels of achievement year after year.

The moral effect of a membership, say of 2,000 people, would be a tremendous encouragement to the Directors, and the Examiner is sure there is no better way in which citizens can show their appreciation of what has been accomplished and of the ambitious programme launched for this year than by becoming members of the organization.

The decision of the Directors to institute a campaign at this time should be heartily supported.

VETERANS' RELIEF.

The announcement made in the House yesterday by Hon. Ernest Lapointe, Government leader, that in deference to the strong representations which had been made on the subject soldiers' unemployment relief would be distributed by the Government on the same basis as last year, will be very welcome, not only to the veterans directly affected, but by returned soldiers' organizations and municipal relief departments, upon whom the burden had been thrown.

The 26 per cent. disability limitation which had been announced some time ago and which those who knew the conditions felt was a serious mistake, hae been eliminated.

The Government has done well in restoring the former basis of relief.

Much as the people favour retrenchment they certainly are not anxious to save at the expense of those who fought and suffered for this country, and the limitation proposed would undoubtedly have had that effect.

While unemployment conditions are perhaps not as serious as they were, there are enough veterans out of work to constitute a problem, and the Government relief administered on the same scale as last year will do much to solve the question, which otherwise would have represented a heavy drain upon civic relief departments in centres where the effects of unemployment are most felt.

A SMALLER CABINET.

The tight corner in which the Liberal Government has found itself as a result of the election is not without its compensations from the viewpoint of the public welfare, judging by the intimations from Ottawa that the Cabinet is to be re-arranged by the dropping of a number of portfolios.

It has long been a complaint that the Canadian system of government was top-heavy with Cabinet Ministers, and, as a matter of fact, Canada's Federal Cabinet, governing the affairs of fewer than nine million people, has outnumbered the United States Cabinet.

Everybody realized that the amalgamation of a number of departments and thus doing away with several Cabinet Ministers could easily be carried out without loss in the efficiency of the Cabinet, but being a convenient method of rewarding party stalwarts, political parties have held to the larger organization.

"Necessity's sharp pinch" has, however, caused the Government to cut down the size of the Cabinet, and thus out of a political crisis has come a very decided reform that otherwise would have been long delayed.

It is hoped that once these portfolios have been dispensed with their loss will be so lightly felt that there will be no move later on to restore them.

Canada can get along nicely with a smaller executive.

RURAL CREDITS.

The question of rural credits about which not much has been heard recently is again brought to the fore by the fact that the Speech from the Throne foreshadows Federal legislation along this line.

The problem of financing his operations has undoubtedly been a serious one for the Western farmer, especially during a period of lean years, and it is not to be surprised at that a few years ago there was an agitation for Governmental assistance.

But it is not clear that at the present time the need of such help is acute enough to warrant the Federal Government into plunging into any very extensive rural credits scheme.

Paternalism at any time means that the whole people are being taxed to take care of one section of the population, and after the good crops of the last three years there will be a tendency to believe that the necessity of assistance has to a considerable extent disappeared.

The difficulty involved in all such schemes is that the Government, and thereby the people are inevitably losers.

It is a matter of record that of the loans advanced by the Federal Government during the second year of the war to farmers for seed grain a large amount have not yet been paid, while, as the Examiner pointed out the other day, the Provincial Government of Manitoba in carrying on a rural credits scheme has already lost $670,000, it costing the Government 10 per cent. for money which it loaned to borrowers at 7 per cent.

The difference of 3 per cent., of course, came out of the pockets of the general public.

THE QUESTION OF HABITS.

An exchange remarks that among the old year's ubiquitous habits of which we must rid ourselves in 1926 is that of indicating the year in our correspondence with the numerals "1925," says the Kingston Standard. The rubber and ink used since January 1 in erasing and re-erasing fives and supplanting them with sixes will be measured in tons or carloads by the efficiency experts. Ink and erasers are cheap and some people are too extravagant to concern selves over stenographic supplies, but this annual struggle with the new year's numeral exposes a multitude of habits of the old year's accumulation. A little introspection brings into mind a number of "ruts," and deep ones, into which mankind individually and collectively has run itself in the just completed twelve month. The habit of writing 1925 is exemplary of the new collection.

Looking over the list of possibilities and probabilities, there is recalled the thousands, young and old and of both sexes, who acquired the smoking habit in 1925. Many are those who acquired it, but few have broken it. Then there is the fast driving habit contracted by thousands and, if "accident experience is the best teacher," probably broken by as many more. These are only two of the habits of which there are legion more, yet if the old year brought its bad habits it must also have brought some good among the bad. Perhaps some fortunate or wise ones in 1925 acquired the enviable habit of being cheerful and contented, others must have cultivated the habit of health and work, increased Christmas business was concrete evidence of the spread of the habit of cheerful giving. Good habits are just as easily contracted as bad habits and just as hard to break. Habit decides the destiny of man. It is well to make habits of life's duties and toil for as habits they become easier of execution. Successful men and women are those who have made a habit of hard work.

SHOULD BRITAIN ADVERTISE?

(London Spectator.)

"But what the English need is not self-confidence but self-advertisement. The more they conquer their modesty, the more rapid will be their success. Their foundation is sound, but they must learn to advertise." So says Lord Beaverbrook. He has said, as usual, what a great many people are thinking. Travellers returned from America, Americans who are well-wishers of this country, English captains of industry, all tell us that our national fault is over-modesty, our national vice self-depreciation.

We are particularly interested by Lord Beaverbrook's phrase because of the antithesis which, he implies, exists between self-confidence and self-advertisement. We believe that he is right. The man who is genuinely confident in his own strength and ability, his capacity to meet and overcome his difficulties, is not a self-advertiser. It is the man in doubt of his capacity and his future who needs the encouragement of the sound of his own voice, loudly extolling his own virtues. Lord Beaverbrook has himself supplies us with the reason for disagreeing fundamentally with him and the others who tell us that what England needs is self-advertisement.

The traditional Englishman has always been a grumbler; the country has always been going to the dogs. It is only the grossest historical ignorance which can suppose that the present day has the monopoly of grumbling. Indeed, we may suggest that so long as people dare to say or to pretend that matters are going from bad to worse with us, so long may we feel pretty certain that their real confidence in the future of the nation is unshaken. Should that profound and rocky faith in the future of England begin to give way, then people will instinctively keep silent about their real fears and begin to put a brave face on a bad business. We shall not, therefore, really be alarmed until we see genuine signs of the nation following Lord Beaverbrook's advice, and talking, when they travel, about their native land as "God's Own Country," instead of as "a forsaken foghole toppling towards an utter smash."

We may be told that this attitude may be all very well amongst ourselves, but that it leads to terrible misunderstanding and confusion abroad. The American, who, it will be said, has not yet the unconscious self-confidence of a citizen of an old and tried civilization, is absolutely bewildered by our British unwillingness to "write up" our country. He supposes, we are told, that it can only mean a complete breakdown in national energy and drive. Yet there has always been something impressive to foreigners in the long run in British reticence. If there has been a genuine doubt in America and elsewhere as to Britain's future, it has been due not to the forebodings of British travellers but to their exaggerated estimate of the real economic difficulty with which we have been faced; and no amount of self-advertisement will remove this impression. It can be removed only by real economic recovery, and, when that takes place, self-advertisement will be superfluous. Should we begin to write ourselves up in the manner of the modern advertiser before economic reality justifies us in doing so, the effect might be wholly unfortunate. The American business man can see quite easily for himself the tangible evidence of our economic condition. He can read our unemployment figures, our trade statistics and our health statistics.

There is, however, a certain kind of pessimism which is undoubtedly unhealthy and which may really do us harm abroad; and that is a deliberate misrepresentation of some institution or system for party ends. For instance, to quote one of the examples which we understand is much talked of in America, many speakers and writers represent the so-called dole or unemployment allowance as if it were an indiscriminate broadcast gift to anybody who represents himself as being out of work.

The intention, except perhaps in the "extended benefit," has always been that a recipient of the "dole" should have paid contributions while he was employed and so have earned a right to the benefit. If employment was normal these contributions added to those of the taxpayer and the employer would make a sound and solvent insurance scheme. It is true that the present abnormal degree of unemployment has necessitated in many cases the payment of "extended benefit" to men who have been out of work so long as to have entirely exhausted the benefit to which they had a legal right. We understand that in America it is usually thought that as the "dole" is granted to anyone who applies for it no one need work who does not want to.

A THOUGHT.

A SACK OF WORRIES.

A wayfarer carried a heavy sack, under which he toiled and complained unceasingly From none could he get help or comfort.

And as he slowly journeyed, groaning under his burden, the Angel of Knowledge came to him and spoke kindly, saying:

"Brother, what carriest thou?"

And the man answered surily: "My worries."

The Angel smiled pityingly upon him and said: "Let us look into the bundle and examine thy worries."

And so they looked in. But lo, the sack was empty.

"Why, surely," cried the man, "there were two great worries, too heavy for man to bear, But—ah, yes, I had forgot—one was a worry of yesterday, and so it is gone."

"But the other?"

"That—why that was a worry of tomorrow, and it—it has not yet come."

Then the Angel smiled with infinite pity, saying:

"Hearken: He who bows himself down under the worries of yesterday and tomorrow wears himself out for naught. But he who carries only the worries of today hath no need of a sack for his sorrows. If thou will cast this black thing aside and give all thy strength and cheer and courage to the things of today, then misfortune never can overcome thee."

Whereupon the man did as the Angel commanded.

And he took up his journey and went swiftly on, his heart and his hands were free not only to do his duties well and cheerily, but, to relieve many a brother wayfarer of his burdens, and to pluck for himself sweet fruits and flowers along the wayside.

And when he came at last to the setting of the sun, it was with smiles and a song.

RHEUMATISM AND NEURITIS GIVEN AMAZING RELIEF

Everyone who has suffered with rheumatism or neuritis knows what real pain is.

And when they get relief from pain they want to give the benefit of their experience to other sufferers.

Here is a letter from a man in Wilkes-Barre, Pa., who tried numerous remedies without relief, and then got genuine help from a simple home treatment.

"I had neuritis in my arm and shoulder, and the treatments I took did me no good. A friend told me to try Sloan's Liniment, and in less than ten applications my affliction was gone."

What is the magic of this amazingly effective remedy? Sloan's sends an increased supply of healing, germ-destroying blood right to the spot that hurts. That's what conquers the pain. No need to rub. Sloan's does the whole job. Just pat it on. Quickly and surely, it kills pain, reduces swelling and inflammation, drives out stiffness and pain. Get a bottle today and have it on hand. PLOUGHMEN HAD ANNUAL MEETING

Election and Bad Weather Caused Postponement of Match Last Year.

GRANT REFUSED.

MILLBROOK, Jan. 22—The annual meeting of the Cavan and South Monaghan Ploughmen's Association was held on Wednesday, January 20, in the Town Hall, the president, L. H. Winslow occupying the chair.

The minutes of the last meeting were read by the secretary, L. C. McNeil, who also gave treasurer's report showing a fair balance in the bank.

Contrary to custom Association did not hold its annual plowing match in the fall of 1925, the president explaining that the election, and unfavorable weather, influenced the decision that this event be postponed until 1926 when a special effort will be put forth to make it an unqualified success.

A report was received from Messrs. Donaldson Henderson, and Winslow who waited upon the Counties' Council asking for a grant from the Association, but were turned down upon this, their initial appearance. However, not at all discouraged, another effort will be put forth this year, the president explaining the need. The plowing match in 1924 had the largest class of boys entered in the history of the Association, and also the largest number of beginners, that is, those who had never won a prize at a plowing-match, and the feeling is strong that the work should be encouraged by every possible means.

Hunter-Fallis: That the annual plowing match be held in the fall of 1926.

An early meeting of the directors to make arrangements for the match was urged by R. McCamus, and the last week in June was decided upon for the president to call the meeting.

Messrs. Winslow, V. R. Hunter, and H. A. Fallis were appointed delegates to the annual convention of the Ontario Ploughmen to be held in Toronto on Tuesday, Feb. 2, opening at 10.30 a.m.

The deputation to wait upon the Counties' Council included Messrs. Winslow, Henderson, Donaldson, and R. McCamus.

The officers elected for 1926 are:
President—L. H. Winslow.
Vice-President—H. A. Fallis.
2nd Vice-President—G. Berry, Jr.
Secretary-Treasurer—L. C. McNeil.

Directors—A. J. Henderson, G. Berry, Jr., R. McCamus, J. L. McCamus, W. R. N. Sharpe, A. J. Fallis, G. A. Fair, G. D. Armstrong, R O. Larmer, L. M. Fallis, L. W. Smith, I. W. Larmer, Jos. Whyte, R. J. McKnight, Jas. Eagleston, H. Tate, Donald Rutherford, J. A. Vance, John Greer, A. B. Kennedy, V. R. Hunter, W. Atchison, Russell Bonner, Thomas Donaldson.

The association has now 110 members, and the president urged the importance of increasing the number

GRAFTON, Ill., Jan. 22. — (By N.E.A.).—Henry Rand never registered at the hotel where he was found dead. This came to light in cross-questioning of the shady-looking clerks of the dead man's son, James. The room where the body was found was rented to a "H. A. Jones" of New York, who is described as having red hair.

The police are searching for "H. A. Jones."

STOLE $25,000 OFF INVESTORS

Toronto Youth Pleaded Guilty to Operating Bucket Shop in Edmonton.

TEACHERS FLEECED

EDMONTON, January 21. — Nelles C. H. Neville, the young stock operator of Toronto, whose winning ways secured nearly $25,000 in cash from school teachers and others in Edmonton, before his spectacular career in this city was cut short by the city police, appeared in the Supreme Court on Thursday afternoon, before Chief Justice Simmons, and pleaded guilty to the bucket shop charge which had been laid against him.

The indictment was that the accused having received the sum of $5,412.47, with directions for the investment of said sum, in certain securities, in violation of good faith, did unlawfully apply the same to other purposes and did thereby steal.

Sentence was postponed until Feb. 5th.

M. R. Howson, appearing for the accused, made a plea for leniency and asked for suspended sentence. Chief Justice Simmons stated that suspended sentence could not be granted without the consent of the crown, which was not forthcoming. Counsel for Howson also stated that approximately $500 was available for restitution.

The father of the prisoner, Rev. P. H. Neville of Richard, Sask., was also in court and a plea on his behalf was submitted by P. G. Thompson.

In Toronto three warrants have been issued against Neville, covering a sum in the neighborhood of $25,000.

200 SUSPECTED COMMUNISTS ARE ARRESTED IN BELGRADE CHARGED WITH PLOT AGAINST GOVERNMENT

Homes Raided by Police and Papers Seized Implicating Leaders.

CROWDS DISPERSED

All Unions Declared Illegal and Must be Disbanded.

BELGRADE, Jan. 22 (Canadian Press). — Intense excitement prevails among the syndicalist workmen in consequence of the arrests throughout Jugo-Slava yesterday of more than two hundred suspects, after the discovery of an alleged Communist plot to overthrow the Government.

The police Wednesday forbade demonstrations which had been planned but the workmen were determined to hold them, and gathered in large numbers before the National Assembly building. It required mounted troops to disperse the crowds, and numerous arrests were made at that time.

The Minister of the Interior on Thursday morning issued a declaration that all unions were illegal and must be disbanded. This was considered a blow by the syndicalists, who have called a party congress for January 25.

Fifty Homes Raided.

The homes of fifty Communists in Zagreb and Sarayevo were raided by the police, and through documents seized it is asserted the plot against the Government was unearthed. Among those arrested are men of importance, including Professors Novkovic, Simon and Timotijevitch, the last named the son of a former Minister of Justice. A number of opposition newspapers have been seized. It is reported that the Communists have received orders from Moscow to re-organize the party throughout the country and resume their former activity. Trouble may be looked for when the party congress is held.

MOTOR PARTY TO NEW ORLEANS IS WINNIPEG PLAN

Twenty-five Cars Leave Saturday on Tour to Gulf of Mexico.

PUBLICITY STROKE

Emphasize Proximity of Winnipeg to Cities of Central States.

OTTAWA, Jan. 22. — (Canadian Press).—The Canadian Government will be represented in a special automobile party which leaves Winnipeg on Saturday on a tour to New Orleans and return as a demonstration of the accessibility of Winnipeg to motorists in all parts of the United States at all times of the year. Hon. Charles Stewart, Acting Minister of Immigration and Colonization, has delegated Robert J. C. Stead, director of publicity of that department, to accompany the party.

Stops will be made on the principal cities en route, including St. Paul, Minneapolis, St. Joseph, Kansas City, Dallas, New Orleans, Memphis, St. Louis and Chicago. At these points the visitors from Canada will be met by Chambers of Commerce, Rotary and Kiwanis Clubs, and similar organizations, where information concerning the attractions which Canada offers to tourists, investors and settlers will be circulated.

Aside from cementing friendly and business relations between Winnipeg and the American cities visited, it is believed that the spectacle of 25 automobile loads of Canadians from Manitoba making the trip direct from Winnipeg by automobile in mid-winter will help to correct the misunderstandings concerning the climate in Western Canada and road conditions in that country.

Eyes that betray

EYES with circles under them . . . eyes with spots before them . . . eyes that lack luster . . . eyes that betray the hateful, treacherous inroads of constipation—one of the worst diseases to afflict the human race. Fight it off before it drags you down into the valley of sickness and despair.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is the safest, surest way to permanent relief from dreadful constipation—and the most pleasant! Eat two tablespoonfuls daily—or in chronic cases, with every meal.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is what doctors call a bulk food. As it travels through the system, its fiber remains unchanged. Therefore, it sweeps the intestines clean and drives out the vicious poisons of constipation. Kellogg's ALL-BRAN also absorbs and carries moisture through the intestinal tract, stimulating it to healthy and normal action. Kellogg's ALL-BRAN works as nature works.

Its delightful nutty flavor makes it good as a cereal. Serve with milk or cream alone or with fresh or preserved fruit; sprinkle over cereals or cook with cereals; use in soups, or make into the many recipes given on the package. If eaten regularly, it is guaranteed to bring permanent relief, or your grocer refunds the purchase price.

Beware! Be sure to get Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. Only ALL-BRAN brings sure relief. Doctors recommend it. Kellogg's is the original and only ALL-BRAN—a 100% bran product. Leading hotels and restaurants serve it. All grocers sell it. Buy a package today.

HON. ROBERT ROGERS CHARGES RAILWAY COMMISSION GIVEN DIRECTONS TO GIVE DECISIONS

Returns To House of Commons After Absence of Eight Years.

CONDEMNS SPEECH.

Throne Address Born of Political Fight, He Says.

OTTAWA, Jan. 22.—(Canadian Press.)—After an absence of eight years, the voice of the Hon. Robert Rogers was again heard in the House of Commons. He spoke in the debate on the address which promises to continue till the end of the week. He described the speech from the Throne as born of "political fright and political contradictions." He declared that the raw materials of Canada were being poured into the United States and coming back as finished products. And he charged that every member of the House knew that Chief Commissioner McKeowan of the Railway Commission, has directions to do and give certain decisions concerning cases. "I do not propose," Mr. Rogers went on, "to deal with that now, but I will deal with it a later period."

"It is a rather serious charge," observed Mr. Lapointe.

"It is a serious charge," agreed Mr. Rogers.

"Worse than that," commented Hon. H. H. Stevens.

Hon. Robert Rogers

Hon. Robert Rogers (Conservative, Winnipeg South), said that of all the changes he had noted in Parliament on his return to it, the most conspicuous was the spectacle of a House from which the leader had been "consigned to the outside wings." Premier King's followers, he said, were calling on him to sidestep quickly, because they realized that Parliament and the country desired his resignation. When Mr. King had asked for the dissolution of Parliament on the ground that he could not carry on with the support he then had, he did not realize that his support in the House was going to be reduced, both in Liberal and Progressive ranks, to the vanishing point, and that he and eight of his ministers were going to be presented by the electorate with "portmanteaus instead of portfolios."

Mr. Rogers said that he proposed to deal with the problems of the Prairies—"that great, expansive territory for which the English language had no name." He hoped to see a better understanding between East and West in Canada. The career of the King Government had not helped to that end, and any success it had achieved had been to the detriment of Canada because it had lessened stability and destroyed confidence.

The Speech from the Throne, Mr. Rogers thought was "born of political contradictions. "The promise of economy through a decrease in the number of Cabinet portfolios was prompted only by he Government's fear that it could not secure re-election for its defeated ministers. It was another case of "when the Devil was sick, the devil a saint would be."

Loss in Population

The Governme...'s immigration policy had resulted in serious loss for Canada. During its reign, hundreds of thousands ... citizens had left Canada than had been brought into it. The present government had secured some 200,000 actual immigrants compared with about 1,140,000 secured by the Conservative Government between 1911 and the beginning of the war, and the King Government had spent much more in doing it than its Conservative predecessor.

Immigration was the only cure for the national railway conditions of this country. When three transcontinental lines had been built, a stationary population of eight and a half million people had not been counted on, neither had an incapable Government been counted on. Fifteen million people would carry the burden lightly, which was being carried today by the Canadian people who could see no hope.

The raw products of Canada were being poured into the United States, and poured back again as finished articles. Canada would only prosper when a fiscal policy was created to suit the immediate needs of the country. Canada must employ the same weapons as those countries with which she contended in the world market.

Mr. King had gone to North York and there met the president of the Liberal Association during the campaign. This gentleman was a pencil manufacturer whose business was being ruined because of the tariff policy. Mr. King immediately took steps which brought relief to his stricken friend and an order went out to customs officials all through Canada not to allow pencils out of the warehouses until the duty had been increased from $1.50 to $3.00 a gross.

Hides Behind Commission

Now a tariff commission was announced. When the Government got into trouble, it hid behind a commission, but the Government was always careful to select the members of the commission. Referring to "a recent appointment to the Railway Commission," Mr. Rogers said that surely everyone knew that he had been given directions before his appointment.

Hon. Ernest Lapointe asked if Mr. Rogers was referring to a recently appointed railway commissioner.

"——To the chairman," said Mr. Rogers.

"That is a rather serious charge," said Mr. Lapointe.

"It is a serious charge," was the reply.

Hudson Bay Railway.

For many long years, said Mr. Rogers, the people of Western Canada had been anxious to secure completion of the Hudson Bay Railway. The Liberal Government of Sir Wilfrid Laurier had promised its completion. Following it, the Conservative Government had pledged itself to complete the road, and in pursuance of this pledge, grading work had been done right through to the terminal at Port Nelson. All that was left to do now was to lay 90 miles of steel. He understood that there was steel on the ground to complete 20 miles more of the railway. Therefore, if 70 miles of steel could be supplied and laid, the road would be completed. A large sum of money had been tied up in this railway, and he thought that even if it served only to satisfy local needs, it was worth completing. He pointed out that the road ran for some distance along the Nelson River, where there was "the greatest opportunity for power development to be found anywhere in Canada."

There should not be much difficulty about the return of the natural resources to the Western Provinces, said Mr. Rogers. The Conservatives, under Sir Robert Borden, had conducted negotiations with the provincial premiers looking to the return of the resources. These negotiations showed that not only did the Western Provinces want their resources, but they also wanted the subsidy for the 20 years or more which they had been without the resources. The Dominion Government was prepared at that time to be generous, and pay the provinces the Turn rule—House of Commons ..... subsidy for two or three years until they had set up the machinery necessary to the administration of their own resources. But this did not satisfy the provinces. If the Western Provinces were willing to make a reasonable arrangement and accept the subsidy for a period of two or three years the resources should be returned to them.

Hon. W. R. Motherwell, Minister of Agriculture, had not always been as friendly to the Progressive party as his recent speech in the House of Commons might indicate, Mr. Rogers said. He quoted from a report of a speech by Mr. Motherwell during the recent election campaign in which the minister said that "a third party in the House of Commons is like a third hockey team on the ice." In the report, Mr. Motherwell was quoted as criticizing Hon. T. A. Crerar, former member for Marquette.

For six months, said Mr. Rogers, Canada had had no government. The administration had been experimental and opportunist. One of its tentative moves had been the addition of Hon. Vincent Massey, "a rich young man, a liberal spender and the Government thought he would be a valuable addition to its fold." Mr. Massey, Mr. Rogers continued, had "led Mackenzie King into a cul de sac and left him there," while United States branches of the Massey-Harris Company reaped benefits which the farmers of Canada knew nothing about.

This was what Premier King had called "the elimination of any tariff uncertainty," said Mr. Rogers.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE ANSWERS CORONER

Letter to Oshawa Reformer Replies To His Statements.

The following official communication was received by the Oshawa "Reformer" from Britton Foster, Christian Science Committee on Publication for the Province of Ontario, in connection with the statements of Coroner Dr. Rundle concerning the death of Gwendoline McMahon:

To the Editor.

Sir: May I be allowed to comment briefly on the procedure of Coroner Dr. F. J. Rundle, last week, in connection with the death of little Gwendoline McMahon, and to correct some misstatements reported to have been made by him, which misrepresent and do grave injustice to Christian Science. I am sure, sir, this being the case, your usual journalistic courtesy will accord this official correction equal prominence to that given the reports necessitating it.

Doubtless the coroner, holding, as he does, a position under the government, regrets the unenviable situation in which he has placed himself through ignorance of the laws of the state. Losing the poise and dignity usually characteristic of the majority of the members of his own profession, and indulging in personal and professional animosity, he unfeelingly and with Middle Age intolerance, invaded a home of mourning, and publicly displayed the grief of parents in the loss of a little daughter.

Christian Science practice is under the protection of the laws of Ontario.

The Act to amend the Ontario Medical Act of 1923, passed by the Drury Farmer-Labour Government, and The Drugless Practitioners Act of 1925, passed by the Ferguson Conservative Government, legally recognise spiritual healing by the following clause: "Nothing in this Act contained shall apply to or affect 'persons treating human ailments by prayer or spiritual means as an enjoyment or exercise of religious freedom.'"

The alert and impartial Crown Attorneys know the law, as the coroner in Oshawa discovered after but not before, issuing the unfortunate publicity. The Medical Association, whom the coroner then stated would consider the matter, and it would "receive such attention at an early date," I might point out, will obviously be no legal nor even moral support to him. The Association is largely composed of Christian gentlemen, who concurred in the passing of the above-mentioned legislation because they, with all other thinking people, concede as unthinkable the passing of man-made laws to deprive the individual from appealing to God, the Great Physician, "who healeth all thy diseases and redeemeth thy life from destruction." Psalm 103. Religious freedom has been painfully won through the centuries, and is assuredly not being lost in the twentieth.

Mary Baker Eddy, discoverer, founder, and leader, of Christian Science, writes in "Science and Health With Key to the Scriptures," the text book of Christian Science, P. 151, "Great respect is due the motives and philanthropies of the higher class of physicians"; and again in "Miscellany," P. 4, "A Genuine Christian Scientist loves Protestant and Catholic, D. D. and M. D.—loves all who love God, good, and he loves his enemies." This is reciprocated by many physicians who recommend Christian Science to their patients after having done their best for them. Dr. Charles Hunter, Associate Professor of Clinical Medicine in the University of Manitoba, Winnipeg, addressing the annual convention of the Canadian Medical Association, in Regina, last June, is reported by the Canadian Press as follows:

"Christian Science has helped many persons suffering from diseases which, to the medical practitioner, had defied diagnosis. This he attributed to a 'peace of mind' which the medical man too often failed to impart as the result of not looking at the case from a psychic angle. Christian Science, furthermore, had brought relief to individuals who were victims of some organic disorder, proving that psychotherapy was not solely confined to functional diseases."

To keep abreast of progress would seem the duty of all who are devoting time and energy to alleviating human suffering, especially those occupying public positions.

In concluding, may I say that the statement of Dr. Rundle that the modus operandi of Christian Science is to call, if necessary, a distant medical practitioner, to eliminate any interference with spiritual healing, is without foundation in fact. Christian Scientists obey the law. In the case of contagious diseases, a medical practitioner is at once called, and the necessary quarantine regulations complied with. While maintaining unswerving reliance on the spiritual law of health, they consider the well-being of their neighbours, who rely largely on material therapeutical methods. The Ontario Department of Health will confirm, to any inquirer, this ready compliance with law by Christian Scientists. It is thus difficult to understand Dr. Rundle's critical observation of a Bowmanville physician, and all others who might visit professionally the home of a Christian Scientist.

Greater familiarity with the law is sound advice offered to Dr. Rundle, or others entrusted in a measure with noting its proper observance.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE.

To the Editor of The Examiner.

That Fundamentalism vs. Modernism was not the reason for the dismissal of Rev. G. W. Allen of the Ossington Avenue Baptist Church, Toronto, is widely proven. A statement from Mr. Thos. McGillicuddy shows that the question is not a theological one.

This statement is: "The question of Fundamentalism did not in any way affect the action of the Church in dismissing its pastor. The congregation is one of the most conservative in the city, and only one member is regarded as being too liberal in his theological views. He declares that he is thoroughly evangelical. All the others are Baptists of the prayer, promise, and testimony type — Fundamentalists, but always loyal to the denominational leaders whom they believe to be as good men as themselves and as true to Baptist principles."

FAILED TO ORGANIZE

Merchants at Regina Are Dissatisfied.

REGINA, Sask., Jan. 22.—(Canadian Press) —Dissatisfaction with the Provincial organization of the Retail Merchants' Association resulted in failure of the local branch to reorganize at the annual meeting yesterday. Opinions were expressed that the fee extracted by the Provincial body did not bring adequate return; and that headquarters were in the wrong place—Saskatoon—since the greater part of the work was legislative. The meeting adjourned without replacing its officers and the resignation of the executive is expected. An independent organization is under discussion.

NIPIGON POWER TO BE INCREASED

Fifty Thousand Horse Power to be Developed at Alexandria Falls.

TO COST $7,000,000.

TORONTO, Jan. 22 (Canadian Press)—Announcement of a $7,000,000 power development at Alexandria Falls upon the Nipigon River, was made yesterday afternoon at the Parliament Buildings, following one of the most important Cabinet meetings which the Ferguson Government has held in some time. The development contemplates for the Nipigon Hydro system an additional 50,000 horse power to supplement the 65,000 horse power already developed there, and will bring the Government's investment there up to more than $18,000,000. All additional power has been contracted for.

The delivery of power from the new development is to commence in 1928. The exact location of the development is about one mile and a half below Cameron Falls.

PROHIBITION FARCE ASSERTS SENATOR

Was Passed Over Wilson's Veto By Subservient Congress, He Adds.

WILMINGTON, Delaware, Jan. 22 (Canadian Press) — "Prohibition is a farce and every adult human being knows it," Senator Edwards, Democrat, New Jersey, declared in an address here last night before the Delaware division of the association against the prohibition amendment.

Describing the Volstead Act as the "most despotic, corrupt, tyrannical an autocratic piece of class legislation ever placed upon the statute books in a once free country," he said it was passed over President Wilson's veto "by a subservient Congress" because a "sinister minority lobby of 'we're better than those' enthusiasts sat in the senate and house galleries juggling the destinies of the legislators in the hollow of their hands."

She Coughed Night and Day

Until She Used Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup

Mrs. S. E. Little, 103 Inkerman St., London, Ont., writes:—"I got a very severe cold which settled in my bronchial tubes.

I coughed night and day, and although I tried several different remedies I could get no relief until a friend advised me to take Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. This I did, and I must say that it gave me almost immediate relief as I got rid of my cough very quickly. I hope this testimonial will be the means of helping others."

"Dr. Wood's" is put up only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.
